PARK BOARD GETS SITE OF 14-ACRES

Will Be Village's Third Major Park

Agreement between the park district and Hasbrook construction company over 14 acres in north Arlington Heights has paved the way for development of a third major park in the village.

At a Saturday morning meeting Albert Riley, president of the construction company, agreed to pay the park district a $2,733 cost estimate for initial development of the acreage which he donated to the district.

This sum will provide for reseeding and additional landscaping plus construction of a sidewalk through the area, bounded by Maude and Thomas streets.

LONG-RANGE plans of the park district are to improve the site until its facilities rank on a par with those of Recreation and Pioneer parks. This would include a fieldhouse, swimming pool, ball diamonds, and other recreational facilities.

An already existing facility is a 1-acre pond, built by the construction company as a safety valve to prevent flooding of homes. The park district hopes to have the pond ready for ice skating this winter, according to Tom Thornton, director of parks. He also notes that the pond could be stocked with fish in the summer. A 7-foot wire fence encloses the pond.

Another unique feature of the site is its sloping terrain which lends itself to a toboggan slide, says Thornton. He notes this is the only land owned by the park district that is suitable for such a project.

SLIGHTLY LARGER than Recreation park in area, the Hasbrook site was the subject of controversy in July when the park board and Riley differed as to the young construction company president's commitments to improve the park.

This week's agreement, however, according to Robert Skallerup, park board president, "Reflects credit on Mr. Riley and is quite a satisfactory final development."

Skallerup noted that he knows of no other instance where a builder has donated such a large tract of improved land to a park district.

Thornton said the park district would work with the Hasbrook Civic association in determining the rate of development of the park. Major improvements would likely require a bond issue, he noted.

Suburbs To Research Causes of Cancer

Stalking America's No. 2 killer is going to be one of the northwest suburban area's major projects.

The killer—cancer—is currently the subject of a nationwide probe in which area families will be asked to participate. Each family which does participate must have at least one person in it over the age of 45 years. Everyone in the family over 30 will fill out a questionnaire.

Purpose of the probe is to learn how and why certain invividuals develop cancer and others do not. For this, cancer research scientists must know how people live, where they work, what they eat and drink, their personal habits, their illnesses and symptoms and their family

A TOTAL OF half a million families will be enrolled in this tremendous research project and will be followed through for a period of six years, on the basis of questionnaires supplied by the families.

The individual can serve in this important task by cooperating with the volunteer researcher who may visit him. Those who have not been contacted and wish to participate in the nation's top drive to ferret out the killer, cancer, are urged to call one of the following:

Mr. Lippke, Arlington Heights CL. 3-4746; Charles Kimball, Mt. Prospect, CL. 5-7446; Mrs. J. Schmoeller, Wheeling, LE. 7-0586; Clifford R. Johnson, Park Ridge, TA 5-1824; Eugene Di Blassi, Niles, TA. 3-5280; Mrs. S. R. Paddock, Palatine, FL. 8-0100, or Mrs. Helen Buxton, Palatine, FL 8-1472 or the Cancer Society branch, CL 3-8148.

The research project is being made possible through the efforts of the American Cancer Society, which is not asking for funds at this time.

Historical Exhibits

Edward G. Carlisle, president of Arlington Heights' village board, has proclaimed this week "Hidsorical Week" and in commemoration of the event, the Historical society of Arlington Heights is planning its second annual tea and exhibit on Sunday, Oct. 18.

The tea-exhibit will be given between 4 and 7 p.m. at the Miner Junior high school, Miner and Dryden.

Neighbors and vsitors of surrounding communities will see a wealth of historical material dating back to the previous century, with pictures, maps, household articles and clothing, as well as pamphlets, newspapers and magazines.

Officers of the historical society urge neighbors to see the pioneer background and documents and pictures of the incorporation and ordinances of Arlington Heights.

Change Bus Schedule

Busses for the park district's Saturday horseback riding classes at Idle Hour Stables will pick up their students five minutes earlier than originally scheduled. The change is necessary in order to allow more time for the 10 mile trip.

$25,000 Given Hospital Fund

A $25,000 contribution to the Northwest Community hospital by C. P. Clare, 625 Newbury, Arlington Heights, sparked the $1½ million dedication drive, reports N. M. Lattof, chairman.

A resident of the village, Clare, who heads a company with plant and offices in Chicago, gave the $25,000 gift on top of a $10,000 contribution made during the original drive two years ago.

"Mr. Clare's profound interest," said Lattof, "in the Northwest Community hospital is more striking when it is realized that he conducts his business enterprise in Chicago. Few of his employes ever may have the opportunity to avail themselves of the services of the Northwest Community hospital.

"MR. CLARE has given me the privilege of making another announcement," Lattof went on to say. "He has advised me that he has included in his will a bequest of $50,000 to the Northwest Community hospital. It is difficult for me to find words to express the gratitude of the hospital board and myself for Mr. Clare's great concern for this sorely-needed health center."

The hospital dedication is expected to take place early in November, and as the opening date approaches, the need for additional contributions and payment of pledges becomes increasingly pressing, Lattof said.

Alert Mother Saves Family

A $9000 blaze almost proved fatal to an Arlington Heights mom and her three children Monday. The near tragedy was averted by a matter of minutes through the intuition and quick action of the mother, Mrs. Clifton H. Grassly, 1414 N. Yale. A second fire was doused after its discovery by an 8-year-old youth.

The first blaze began in the furnace room of the home on Yale, and after the furnace room was gutted, the flames raced through the bathroom and attic of the building and burned, but did not destroy, the living-room.

Shortly before 3:22 a.m., Mrs. Grassly awoke, smelled the smoke, seized her three children, one of whom was a baby lying in a basinette and fled.

"SHE WAS mighty lucky," said Fire Chief Harvey Carothers. "In another five minutes or less, they wouldn't have made it.

"The smoke was really rolling when we got there and the whole house was full of it. The family narrowly escaped death."

The plucky woman called the fire department after she had saved herself and the children, and they were there within minutes, fighting the blaze and the smoke until 4:39 a.m. The Grassly home is in the Virginia Terrace subdivision in northwestern Arlington Heights. Mr. Grassly, the husband, who was on his way to California via plane when the fire occurred, was summoned and quickly returned. The family is presently living with neighbors across the street.

IN A SECOND fire, the day before, an eight-year-old boy is credited with discovering it and thus preventing more serious damage early Sunday morning.

The fire occurred at 7:15 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Harvey Zimmerman, 730 S. Walnut, and was discovered by young Allan John, who smelled smoke and roused the family.

Twenty three men, including 16 volunteers and seven regulars fought to extinguish the blaze, which started in storage space under the basement steps. Smoke damaged the house to the extent of $1500, firemen estimated.

Jaycees to See Hypnotist Work

A demonstration of hypnotism will be given at the Arlington Heights Jaycees monthly dinner meeting, Thursday, Oct. 22, 7:30 p.m. at the Old Orchard country club.

Bob Blume will lecture as well as demonstrate. He has taught doctors and dentists the technique of hypnotism.

Attends Court Confab

Police Magistrate Robert Buckley of Arlington Heights is attending the 13th Annual Traffic Court conference at Northwestern University this week.

Police Court—Drama of 'Little People'

by BILL DULANEY

The young suburban matron sits ramrod straight in her chair, twisting her white gloves and nervously clearing her throat.

A teenage boy and his mother huddle in a hushed conference at the rear of the room.

Sleepy police officers, just off the midnight to 8 a.m. shift, wander in and lean against the wall.

A ruddy-faced workman scuffs a brogan back and forth across the cement floor to the annoyance of a brown suited executive-type commuter who balances his hat on his knee and blances repeatedly at the clock on the wall.

It's 9:17 a.m. Wednesday in Arlington Heights' Police Magistrate's Court. The low muttering ceases, and some 30 pairs of eyes swing anxiously toward the front of the room as the magistrate enters and takes his place behind the bench. Seated on his right is the village prosecutor; on his left is the court clerk.

The rap of a gavel is accompanied by the pronouncement that, "The Magistrate's Court of Arlington Heights is now in session." And thus, as on each Wednesday morning, the triangular shaped village board room is transformed into a stage, across which pathos, humor, and sometimes tragedy move with the routine business of the law.

MAGISTRATE Robert Buckley, a short, clean-cut man in his mid-thirties, with a law practice in Chicago, looks over the docket (a list of the morning's cases) and calls the first case.

It's a routine speeding case, 55 mph in a 35 mph zone on the Northwest hwy. A guilty plea brings a $20 fine and a warning to the neatly dressed young man that three moving auto violations means a loss of his driver's license.

Some more traffic cases are called — failure to yield the right-of-way, speeding, improper backing—and then comes a charge of "not having vehicle under control." The defendant, a plump housewife, comes before the magistate's bench carrying her yellow ticket in one hand and a baby in pink rompers under the other arm.

She pleads guilty to the charge and, under questioning by Village Prosecutor Sam Miller, reveals that she was on her way to take a road test for a driver's license when she made a left turn, lost control, and struck a parked car. She had a temporary license at the time.

"No," she hadn't taken the road test. She was too upset, she replies to the magistrate's query.

A COUPLE of traffic violation cases are dismissed when the defendants plead "not guilty" and the necessary witnesses don't show up.

Then what is probably the most cooperative defendant of the day pleads guilty to a 'driving too fast for conditions" charge.

Standing beside the tiny, well-groomed lady whose car he rammed from the rear, the khaki-clad man is asked by the prosecutor, "What happened. Didn't you see her?"

"I sure did," he replies affably, "The visibility was perfect and driving conditions were excellent. I just came up behind her and went to step on the brake when I must have sneezed and WHAM! that was it." He pays a $10 fine.

SHUFFLING UP to the bar is a grey thatched septuagenarian in a blue denim jacket and corduroy pants. He pleads guilty to failing to yield the right-of-way and with hands shaking attempts to explain how he was confused by a passing train's action on the Northwest hwy. traffic signals. He notes this is his first traffic violation and is fined $5.

That finishes up the traffic cases for the morning and the magistrate, noting the arrival of the state's attorney, calls a 10 minute recess.

The state's attorney, Eldred Benz, prosecutes all cases involving state charges except traffic violations.

Benz, a cigar smoking, mustachioed marine corps veteran, could pass for television's idea of a U.S. marshall if it weren't for his glasses and ever present briefcase. What looks like a busy morning for him ends in disposal of only one case.

AN ATTORNEY for four Chicago men charged with disorderly conduct wins a third continuance to November 4 after he and Benz snipe at one another and are warned by Magistrate Buckley that, "This is my court and I'll run it. That's enough out of both of you."

The attorney for two local youths charged with contributing to the delinquency of two teenage girls also seeks a continuance for his clients. He tells the court he has the flu and doesn't feel well. The girls, subpoenaed as witnesses by the state, stand with bowed heads, the object of spectator curiosity. One, a pretty brunette with too much makeup around her eyes, tugs at her tight skirt and glances nervously at her father, a stooped, somber looking man. The continuance is granted.

An Arlington Heights man involved in an auto accident and charged with driving while intoxicated fails to show up; nor is he represented by counsel. Following the state's attorney recommendation, the magistrate agrees to forfeit the defendant's $200 bond and issue a warrant for his arrest with the new bond to be set at $400.

A WITNESS for the state complains that it's costing him money each time he misses work to come to court. Magistrate Buckley guarantees him November 4 will be his last appearance. That is the date set for the defendant's trial.

The last case of the day is called, and a tall, balding man in his early forties comes slowly forward.

The charge is "driving under the influence," and the man is aware that if found guilty he'll lose his license for a year and possibly his job, for he works for a service station and must drive a truck, he says.

Jamming his hands into his poplin jacket pockets, he hunches his shoulders and listens intently as the state's attorney reads the charge. He pleads "not guilty."

The record indicates that at 7:05 a.m., Wednesday, Sept. 23, the defendant was found by village police officers slumped in the front seat of a car that had been driven over the curb at Wilke rd. and Euclid ave.

The prosecutor asks for a description of the defendant's condition at the time of his arrest, and one of the officers replies, "Alcohol on breath, pupils bloodshot and watering, speech slurred and balance poor." Results of a drunkometer test taken at the station registered .159. The dividing line is .15.

NOW IT IS the defendant's turn, and, without counsel, he haltingly explains that he had been drinking with two friends at the corner of York and Higgins rds. They had driven him and his car to where the officers found him, he says.

When asked why his friends abandoned him on the parkway, the defendant answers simply, "They didn't know where I lived."

Noting that the evidence is circumstantial, the magistrate nevertheless finds him guilty and fines him $100 for driving while intoxicated and $10 for driving over the curb.

The man pays his fine and slouches out through the knee-high swinging doors leading to the magistrate's bench, no doubt thinking of his job and lost driver's license.

Editor's Column

by STUART R. PADDOCK

The Enterprise edition of Paddock Publications did not have a part in the naming of the world's first nuclear aircraft carrier—The Enterprise, but we were pleased to receive a souvenir taken from the elevator of the famous Enterprise, of World War II which is being scrapped.

A notation sent to us by Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co. read, "since your newspaper has the name of this historic ship in its title we thought you might like the enclosed souvenir."

After spending three weeks in a Nato operation on the Carrier Bennington, we have been interested in aircraft carriers.

Have you ever tried, after you have moved, to bow to the wishes of the postmaster to have your correct address sent to all your magazines, newspapers and correspondents? We know. We are just going through such a chore.

Should we also notify the circular distributors, or just tell the postmaster to junk 3rd class mail?

How long does the patience of postoffice employes last in redirecting mail?

In the face of the communistic attitude towards religion of all denominations all churches have a common cause. They should not be in competition with each other.

It was a good omen last Sunday in Barrington when a Methodist minister and a large group of his parishioners attended the Catholic mass.

The priest made announcement of their presence during the service and invited the visitors to stay over a few minutes giving him the opportunity to explain the meaning of the Mass. They did.

We do not know how much sleep members of the Palatine high school board lose worrying about the size of future enrollments but we are passing on to our readers some of their worries.

Without taking into account the present kindergarten enrollment there are 900 more elementary school enrollments this year than last.

Indications are that next year's freshman class will number 540, which will require staggered sessions.

Two school elections are coming up.

Mt. Prospect voters will (or should) go to the polls the coming Saturday.

Elk Grove voters have the same obligation October 24.

The school districts of both districts need the additional school facilities.

To insure success every school minded man or woman must go to the polls.

The voting precincts in Mt. Prospect are at Central school for northsiders and at Lincoln school for those who live south of the tracks.

In Elk Grove District 59 the polling places are at Rupley and Hertzog schools.

The interest of residents of the new village of Hoffman Estates is evidenced by their interest in the forth-coming election.

There are nine positions to be filled. There are 27 candidates. The voters will have a wide choice.

We hope they will profit by the experience of a similar new village of recent years and avoid personal recriminations.

Albert Riley, president of Hasbrook Construction Co. deserves a vote of thanks from Arlington residents. He has made good to the park district's satisfaction on his promise to donate and improve 14 acres of land for a park in north Arlington Heights.

Let us hope other builders will follow suit.

The Northwest Community hospital drive for additional funds needs the support of everyone. There has been difficulty incurred in recruiting local businessmen to solicit funds. The hospital will benefit the area as a whole, businessmen as well as commuters, and doctors.

The life of many a resident may depend upon the dollars and cooperation that are being pledged today for the hospital.

Requests for money and workers should be received with open arms.

Mixed Up Fall Hunters Get Fish For Partridge, Kitten for Deer

Sure signs of autumn: falling leaves with temperatures to match and items in social columns about hunting trips and football games, weekend visits and indoor birthday parties.

Among the local hunters is one who started out for partridge and ended up fishing and another who went after deer Robin Hood style and came home with a kitten.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Webster, 5 W. Olive, returned Sunday night from 10 days in Newberry, Mich. where a hunting license mix-up kept partridge safe from the Webster aim so the Websters went fishing instead. No sense in going all the way to the Upper Peninsula just for the ride.

The Melvin Coobs family, 1145 enjoyed a recent weekend in Oregon, the town in southern Illinois not the Pacific coastal state. There they were the guests of friends, the Lee Wrights, and hunting deer with bow and arrow was on the weekend schedule. The hunt was on schedule, the deer were not. The Coobs children were given a kitten and now the happiness ration at 1145 N. Mitchell is about 4 to one.

THE GUY DAVISES, 408 N. Evergreen, partially enjoyed Mom and Dad day on the campus of Carrol college in Waukesha, Wis., where their daughter, Jan, is in her senior year. They didn't enjoy watching the Carroll football team get clobbered, but the talent show and other special events for the parents offset the misery of the Carroll gridiron defeat.

Other parents who attended the Carroll college festivities were the Ralph Paneks, 825 S. Evergreen, whose daughter, Judy, is a sophomore there.

A week ago Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Bradle, 534 S. Chestnut, overnighted in Bloomington and attended the Army-Illinois football game in Champaign, cheering the half-time Army show almost as much as the Illini 20-14 victory. With all due respect to the 600 cadets who participated, the Bradles express like enthusiasm for the two famed Army mules and their trick riders.

Plans for an all-fun weekend stay in Chicago materialized for the Sam Clarks, 608 S. Walnut, and the Bod Lemmonses, 624 S. Walnut, whose quest for a mutually convenient date ended last weekend. On the quartette's schedule was attending the musical "Westside Story" at the Erlanger, dinner in the Empire room and watching the spectacular but sad defeat of the Chicago Bears as professional football returned to Wrigley field.

Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Boman of Maderia Beach, Fla. are visiting their son and his family, the Dr. Vernon Bomans, 739 S. Evergreen. They arrived a week ago Tuesday for a 3-week stay.

Sunday guests at the K. N. Hull home, 713 S. Dunton, were Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Vance of Springfield.

MR. AND MRS. Elmer Crane, 626 N. Belmont, returned a week ago Saturday from a colorful tour of northern Michigan and a visit with old friends and former Arlington Heighters, the Leslie Elliotts now of Bangor, Mich. who asked to be remembered to other friends here. The Cranes crossed the famed Mackinac bridge, toured the Soo locks, came back through the Canadian side and full acknowledge Michigan's claim to exceptionally brilliant fall foliage.

John Anthony, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Merton Taylor, 439 S. Evergreen, was christened Sunday in Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic Church of Arlington Heights and honored later at a family dinner for 18 in the Taylor home. Among the guests were his paternal grandparents, the E. A. Taylors and his godfather, James Millay and his family, all of Arlington Heights. Godmother by proxy is Miss Janice Overtoom of Downey, Cal.

A week ago Sunday, James Jeffrey, infant son of the Leander Gatewoods, 1303 N. Walnut, was christened in St. James Catholic Church of Arlington Heights and the occasion was commemorated with open house at the Gatewood home. Local friends and neighbors added their blessings to those of the baby's grandmother, Mrs. Estelle Cichon, his godmother, Miss Patricia Carson, and his godfather, Michael Matheu, all of Chicago.

THE NORMALLY super-active 1000 block of S. Dunton has been quiet lately, usually an indication that something's going to pop soon. Eighteen neighborhood housewives met Tuesday night for cards and "coffee and" at the Louis Sorensen home, 1051 S. Dunton and of course it was fun. And the junior Thomas Boyles, 1042 S. Dunton, were delighted to have the senior Boyles of New York City visit them last week. These things were planned and anticipated however and impromptu, en masse parties are the past history of this block.

Mrs. Alma Ihle, 418 S. Evergreen, was hostess last Wednesday afternoon to seven local ladies at a dessert card party, the first of regularly scheduled sessions that the ladies plan.

Bonnie Lee Clausing, 913 S. Vail, was 9 years old Sunday and gladder than most local youngsters that the Reed Marionettes came to town the day bebore. Taking six friends to a marionette show and then having a gala luncheon at home with them is a fine way to celebrate a ninth birthday and that's what Bonnie Lee did. Mary Condon, Cindy Johnson, Barbara Mendl, Linda McDougall, Linda Anderson and Mary Bowen like the idea too. To make the actual birth date fun too, 16 Chicago, Willow Spring and local relatives honored the birthday girl at a family dinner in the Clausing home Sunday.

PAULA SCHOMBURG, 305 S. Evergreen, reports that the very same schedule works fine when one becomes 10 years old. Paula, too, had a birthday Sunday which she celebrated with a family dinner for 12, and Saturday morning she, too, took a group of friends to the marionette show and was hostess at a party luncheon later in her home. Paula's guests were fellow Petite Debonaires, precision baton twirlers Carol Herda, Lynly Jarvis, Sue Kastning, Martha Glantz, Pat Doran and Karen Lawler.

At a Campfire meeting last Wednesday, Paula shared a birthday cake and congratulations with two other girls whose birthdays were last week, Diane Sharp and Lynn Carter. Names of the three girls were written in frosting on the cake that honored them and fed the 19 girls at the meeting.

Saturday night, Paula's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schomburg, entertained eight Northbrook, Palatine and Chicago friends with an evening of cards.

Jan Gow, sweet 16 daughter of the David Gows, 824 S. Dunton, celebrated her October 1 birthday with a dinner party at home for three girl friends, then attended the local high school football game with her guests.

Friends and neighbors of the Henry Taylor family, 1201 N. Dunton, extend sympathy to Mrs. Taylor in the loss of her mother, Mrs. Edmund Whitney who died in a Bloomington hospital Saturday night. Services were held Tuesday afternoon in Hayworth, family home town for three generations.

The Howard Lips family, 711 N. Evergreen, enjoyed an unexpected weekend visit from their daughter, Judy, a sophomore at Monmouth college, who couldn't resist the combination of the local high school homecoming weekend and an opportunity to come home.

MISS LEOTTA Hampton, 550 N. Walnut, returned Sunday from a 5-day guidance conference at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology where she was among 90 guests of the institute selected from the nation's high school and college counsellors. She visited the outstanding colleges and universities in the area and met with the deans of admission of Harvard and Radcliffe universities. Miss Hampton also spent some time with Radcliffe freshman, Miss Jill Guiliani, daughter of the Chester Guilianis, 1314 Watling rd., who is one of six students, four Harvard men and two Radcliffe women, in a freshman seminar in chemistry.

Miss Hampton also recently attended a meeting of the National Association of College Admissions Counsellors in the Congress hotel in Chicago with Miss Leslie Behrend and David Whiteside, also on the local high school staff. Mr. Whiteside is this week the guest of Washington university in St. Louis at an invitational conference patterned after the M.I.T. meeting last week.

SEVENTY LOCAL and out-of-state friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kolze, 933 N. Highland, celebrated with the Kolzes their silver wedding anniversary Saturday night. Open house at the Kolze home followed a festive anniversary dinner in the Community Hall of Arlington Heights. Here from Lansing, Mich. for the occasion was the Kolzes' daughter, Mrs. Horace Kimber and her family, and from Wisconsin came family friends, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Othmer and Mr. and Mrs. Al Meyer.

Carole Roeske, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Roeske, 407 W. Campbell, a student at Elmhurst college, spent last weekend at home attending the Arlington high school homecoming game. Carole's guest for the weekend was Gail Steve of Buffalo, N.Y., who is also an Elmhurst college student.

THE KEN KUFFERS have said good-by to their friends in Arlington Heights and left Friday by auto for their new home in Grand Rapids, where Mr. Kuffer has been transferred because of business. Mrs. H. L. Lussow gave a luncheon and bridge for Mrs. Kuffer Wednesday; Mrs. Earl Strehlow, Mrs. M. Edwards, Mrs. E. Wendling, Mrs. F. E. Treat, Mrs. J. Hogan, Mrs. P. Thiese and Mrs. H. McCarthy were the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. George Rose, 1300 Mayfair, gave an anniversary dinner October 6 for 20 guests at the Illinois Athletic club. The Roses, who are celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary this month, were feted at a surprise dinner party last week, given in their home by their daughter, Marilyn.

The varied interests and activities of the L. W. Bredehofts, 201 Wilshire, have taken them away from Arlington Heights during the past week. Mr. and Mrs. Bredehoft spent four days at the Edgewater Beach hotel in Chicago attending the Robert Morris conference. Their elder son, Bill, was at Lake Geneva, with the Junior Tuxis of the Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights, and Carl attended the Boy Scout Camporee, near Richmond.

Of interest to Stonegate residents is news of the Orofino family. Visiting here at the home of their sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Krupicka, of Arlington Heights are Miss Gloria Orofino and Dr. and Mrs. Ricardo Cruz and their young son, Gregory. Mrs. Cruz is the former Joan Orofino. Dr. Cruz has been associated during the past four years in the research and specialized surgery department of the Michael Reese hospital, and will soon begin practice in Mexico City. Mr. Krupicka accompanied the Cruzes to Mexico.

Miss Gloria Orofino will be here until October 21, when she will leave to spend eight weeks at the basic naval training center at Newport, R.I., after which she will be stationed permanently at the naval hospital at Camp Pendleton navy marine base. Miss Orofino will begin her navy nursing career at a Lt. j. g.

MR. AND MRS. Don Traver have returned to Arlington Heights after spending the summer at Lake of the Woods, Canada, where they operate the Obabikon Bay fishing camp. James, their eldest son, went on to Minneapolis, where he is enrolled in the N.R.Q.T.C. program at the University of Minnesota.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Jurco, 217 Windsor, entertained at a supper party Saturday at the Villa D'Este, to announce the engagement of Miss Pegge Turbin to Dr. C. Urban of Roselle.

Weekend guests of the Lester Schreibers, 123 S. Brighton, were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dalakar of Minneapolis. Saturday, they attended the Northwestern-Minnesota football game which was of special interest to Mr. Dalakar, as he is an alumnus of the University of Minnesota and his father is professor of mathematics there.

Sergeant and Mrs. George Boroski, on leave from Ft. Eustis, near Williamsburg, Va., were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Koenig, 1312 Woodford.

MR. AND MRS. Karl Shuart, 214 Stratford, were in Pittsburgh, Saturday to attend the University of Pittsburgh-Duke football game.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gow, 348 Wilshire, planned a family reunion Saturday for her brother-in-law, Lee Boucher, who stopped here for the weekend while enroute from his home in Oswego, Ore. to attend the General Electric convention in Louisville.

Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Davenport, 314 S. Beverly, were in Madison during the past week, visiting their daughter and son-in-law, the Clarke Garretts.

Miss Judy Anderson, 635 S. Beverly lane, celebrated her 16th birthday Sunday with a family dinner party at the Biltmore country club.

Mrs. Jack Cushing, 330 S. Beverly, entertained at a coffee recently to welcome Mrs. Walter Sherk to Scarsdale. Mr. and Mrs. Sherk and their three children moved to 704 Iynden lane from Baltimore.

MISS JOSEPHINE DURO, 510 Banbury, was hostess Sunday at a wedding shower for Miss Dorothy Balch of Scarsdale. Miss Balch will be married October 17 to Clive Duque of Chicago in First Presbyterian Church of Park Ridge.

Miss Gloria Beckway, 421 Bristol ln., returned Sunday from a 10-day visit at the home of her uncle, James A. McDonough in Glen Cove, Long Island. She also visited friends with whom she toured New York City, attending the theater and visiting points of interest.

The W. G. Franke home, 126 S. Pine, was the scene of a whirl of parties for their daughter, Mrs. Vance Gustafson, the former Marilyn Franke, who was here for a week's visit from her home in San Diego. Her sister, Mrs. John Eakins, came from Minneapolis to spend a weekend with her.

Among those who entertained for Mrs. Gustafson were Mrs. Bob Hoffman, who gave a bridge party, and Mrs. Hoyt Mathews of Mt. Prospect, who gave a luncheon. There was also a reunion of all the Franke relatives at a dinner party given at home.

While Mrs. Gustafson was here, she entertained her former Arlington high school friends at a luncheon, attended a performance of "The Music Man" and visited Honey Bear Farm. The week ended all too soon and Mrs. Gustafson is on her way back to California.

Before the Frankes had a chance to relax, they took off again over the past weekend, accompanying their daughter, Sana, to Ft. Wayne, to attend a pre-nuptial luncheon and then to participate in the afternoon wedding of a Pi Beta Phi sorority sister, Miss Linde Schmidt to James Wiedow of St. Louis in the Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church of Ft. Wayne.

Returning home, they stopped briefly in Chicago to extend their congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carlson, who were celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES O. Hill and their daughter, Ann, and W. J. Schruhl of Charleston, W.Va., spent the past five days as guests of Mrs. Hill's sister and family, the J. H. Peerys, 504 Beverly lane.

Their visit included a trip to West LaFayette, Ind. to get acquainted with the Peerys' first grandson and his parents, the Junior Peerys.

Sharon Peery and her cousin, Ann, a senior at Charleston high school, found the weekend in Arlington exciting and fun. They attended the homecoming game, watched the parades and took part in all the festivities.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Flemming, 436 Lincoln lane, flew to Detroit recently for a weekend of business and pleasure. After business affairs were attended to, they saw the Michigan State-University of Michigan game and then went on to Birmingham, Mich. for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Colley, former Inverness and Arlington Heights residents. No Solution in Sight

Residents Pay Taxes To 2 Park Districts

There's a group of residents in a new section of Arlington Heights who are paying taxes to two park districts and, oddly enough, there's no immediate solution in sight.

The double-taxation dilemma exists in the Stolzner-Fischer subdivision at the extreme eastern edge of Arlington Heights where the boundary lines butt up against Mt. Prospect.

At present, some 100 home owners along Waterman ave. and nearby streets are being billed an estimated $15 to $18 more than they should.

The Greenview Homeowners assn., an organization of residents in eastern Arlington Heights, has been aware of the situation and has attempted to correct matters. But their efforts have produced no immediate relief.

RECENTLY, THE League of Women Voters assigned themselves the task of making sense out of chaos and is digging deep into what the league calls "one of the most unfair taxing situations ever to come to their attention." Illinois' Constitution prohibits double taxation.

How it all started has not been determined, but all officias—both county and village—agree that such things are bound to happen when suburbia grows by leaps and bounds and loosely-defined boundary lines begin to conflict.

Complicating the picture, however, is the fact that park district boundaries and village boundaries do not necessarily coincide. The park districts are predetermined and entered in county records. From these records taxation rolls are prepared. If there has been overlapping, the error would not be caught at the county level.

BUT THE PARK districts, themselves, are equally adamant in stating they are not to blame.

Charles Bobinette, attorney for the Arlington Heights park district, said:

"We were formed in the early 1920s. The Mt. Prospect district is much newer. If there's a mistake, it's theirs."

Farrington B. Kinne, attorney for the Mt. Prospect park district, said:

"This matter has not been brought to the attention of our park district. I've been attorney since the district was formed more than five years ago, and this is the first I've heard of it. However, I'm sure we are right. If there is a mistake, it must be (1) because of improper description of the property or (2) improper filing with the county recorder."

RUSSELL CONKLIN, a resident of the Greenview section but not one who is being double-taxed, said:

"The section of overlapping at present includes about 100 homes and, of course, more are being added as the homes are finished and occupied.

"It takes a while before the home is put on the tax rolls but the discrepancy continues to appear with each new house.

"We've obtained attorneys and have been advised that individual tax protests must be filed.

"At present, the courts are four years behind in such cases so it's impossible to get immediate action."

OFFICIALS AT the Court House disagreed with Conklin. They said other avenues exist for righting the wrong.

A spokesman in the County Clerk's office, who refused to be quoted by name, said:

"All they have to do is go to court and get a restraining order. That would force the park districts into court where the matter could be settled."

As to the continuance of double billing, another county official said:

"There's nothing we can do. If the park districts claim a certain section of land, we're obligated to bill the home owners in that section. We're sorry, but that's the way it is."

WHERE TO TURN?

Mrs. R. B. Yadon, the League of Women's Voters emissary who is spearheading the group's action, may provide the answer.

She's planning a trip to the courthouse and intends to start checking maps. Already, she has obtained a huge map of the controversial area and has traced the boundaries claimed by the rival park districts on to the base map.

The spokesman in the county clerk's said they would welcome Mrs. Yadon and would instruct the office's map department to cooperate in searching the records.

State Police Arsenal Ready To Handle All Emergencies

ARMED WITH A VARIETY of weapons employed by District 3 state police are, left to right: Trooper D. Thompson of Elmwood Park, holding the Reising machine gun; Sgt. Edward A. Marcoline of Arlington Heights, with the Thompson sub-machine gun; Trooper J. T. O'Connor of Des Plaines, showing the Federal gas gun; and Trooper Ronald Adair of Northlake, District 3's weapons instructor, with shotgun.

DISPLAYING ARSENAL of weapons at District 3 state police headquarters at Irving Park rd. and Harlem ave. is Trooper Ronald Adair, weapons instructor. In front of him is Reising machine gun, while he holds Federal gas gun. In case directly behind him is Thompson sub-machine gun, with shotgun (riot gun) lying across cases. Case to the left holds gas gun and some of the projectiles it fires.

In order to assure accurate scores, one of the requirements of qualification shoots is that a range officer from another district keep score.

So the next time you see a trooper's qualification badge you'll know he earned it. (B-8

by DICK HOFFMAN

It appears that one of Hollywood's script requirements in movies on crime is to have the mobster invariably field a tear gas bomb and loft it back at his tormenters.

But it is a scene of improbable duplication in a real-life situation, according to Trooper Ronald Adair, weapons instructor for District 3 state police.

"The tear gas grenade's casing gets too hot to allow it to be thrown back. All you'd get out of the effort would be a scorched hand," he explained.

ADAIR'S eyes smarted as he talked. He had the doors to District three's arsenal of weapons open, and even when dormant the tear gas grenades and shells give off a sharp odor.

But while state troopers must occasionally employ the riot guns, gases and machine guns to maintain the peace, just a display of such artillery is often enough to convince the most recalcitrant offender of the virtues of law-abiding behavior.

For the service revolver strapped to the hip, the awesome appearance of the wide, abbreviated barrel of the riot gun - even the uniform - are psychological weapons which can turn a street brawl into something akin to an afternoon tea.

OTHER BADGES of authority include the Thompson sub-machine gun whose cylindrical clip completes its deadly design; the Reising machine gun which has all the innocent appearances of a rifle until the trigger is squeezed; the Federal gas gun which looks like a Puritan blunderbuss, and which can hurl a smoke, sickening or tear gas projectile some 250 yards.

District 3's 49 squad cars are all equipped with riot or modified shotguns, Adair related, with a reserve that can be tapped if the emergency demands it.

On occasion it has.

There was the time in Maywood, for instance, when some 1,000 persons were intent on pulverizing each other at a carnival and tear gas grenades had to be dispensed to dissuade them.

SGT. EDWARD A. Marcoline, of Arlington Heights, a veteran of 17 years duty, recalled another time in 1952 when 1,500 long termers seized control of Menard state penitentiary. Troopers, along with just about every law enforcement agency down to constabulary, stormed the prison to regain possession. The convicts were taken by surprise and not a shot was fired. But District three's gun lockers were emptied for the event.

Another time, Sgt. James Novak of Barrington and three other troopers were dispatched to apprehend a man who was digging graves in his front yard for imagined enemies.

The troopers naturally displayed caution when they saw the variety of grave sizes the man had dug. He was holed up in the crawl space of an attic, and the troopers began shoveling tear gas into the opening. "We started to get sick ourselves from the gas before we got him out," Novak, a 15-year veteran, remembers.

BUT WHEN the man did come out the troopers expressed some misgivings over the fact. Although slightly built, he fought like one possessed. Novak, whose shoulder spread would qualify him for duty on the Wrigley field gridiron, said he and the other troopers of almost equal dimensions had difficulty subduing the man even with their 4-1 odds.

A more intangible weapon the troopers possess is Judo, which they are taught while receiving basic training at the State Police academy in Springfield.

An intelligence of all these weapons is necessary for District three's 59 men who are under the command of Lt. William A. Moffat. District three, which covers the northern end of Cook county, (including the northwest suburban areas), is the smallest district in size and largest in population and activity. This district and District two, which includes Lake, McHenry, DuPage and Kane counties under the command of Lt. Donald Barnes, makes up Battalion two (Chicago-Elgin) which is commanded by Captain Edwin J. Dvorak.

ALL TROOPERS, including Captain Dvorak, (who had one of the higher shooting scores), must participate in three qualifying shoots during the year. "The average of the three shoots is figured, and the men then placed in catagories of marksmen, sharpshooter, expert or master," Adair said.

The weapons instructor, incidentally, is the only trooper in District three to have qualified for the master medal. At the last qualifying shoot, Adair fired a 470 score out of a possible 500.

All qualifying shoots are held at an outdoor range at Joliet to allow for wind and inclement weather which troopers might experience during duty hours. ("It rained all three days for our last shoot," Adair reported gloomily). Additional practice can be acquired at the District two armory in Elgin.

TROOPERS fire slow, time and rapid fire at stationary silhouettes, Adair said. In addition to the .38 caliber special service revolver, they fire the Thompson and Reising machine guns in five rounds of slow fire, 10 rounds of bursts of two to three, and on full automatic for 10 rounds.

They familiarize themselves with the riot gun (a 12 gauge cylinder bore weapon loaded with .33 caliber buckshot) on a skeet range. Indiscriminate firing of the gas gun, however, which is also employed to loft illuminating flares with parachute attachments, would place too large a burden on the budget. The gas projectiles cost about $4 each.

Adair, 23, of Northlake, said that District three has one Thompson and one Reising machine gun at its disposal, in addition to two gas guns. The Thompson is capable of firing 60 rounds per minute compared to the Reising's 390 rounds per minute.

ALL OF THE gases used produce about the same effects. The sickening gas promotes nausea; the tear gas' effects are apparent by the name given it; the smoke bombs create a situation similar to what a fire might produce in smoke.

Just how fast tear gas will ferret out someone barricaded in is a mute question. "It usually depends on the construction of the house. If it's a tight house it may be from five to 15 minutes. With windows open or in a strong wind it can take up to an hour or more," said Sgt. Marcoline, who served as weapons instructor before Adair.

Adair said that the riot gun has a range of about 200 yards and is accurate up to 75 yards. "It will hold a fairly tight pattern at close range," he added. And it will do to a person what a shotgun will accomplish on a rabbit when discharged.

...."THE MACHINE gun is accurate in slow fire or bursts," Adair continued. But he said it takes skilled hands to fire it on full automatic. "If you can train yourself to hold the gun loosely, it compensates for its own recoil," he noted. But by gripping it, the firer in effect "pushes" the gun upward.

Chicago and North Western Plans New Suburban Trains

America's first dieselized "push-pull" suburban train will be put through its paces in trial runs today and tomorrow by the Chicago and North Western Railway Company preliminary to assignment in regular suburban service.

The train will be revolutionary in operating characteristics: its diesel locomotive will always be at the same end of the train, pushing the coaches inbound to Chicago and pulling them on outbound trips. Several such trains will result from the delivery during the next three months of 36 new double-deck suburban coaches which cost $5,600,000.

The first train was open for inspection at North Western station, Canal and Madison sts., Wednesday from noon to 7 p.m.

"This completely new method of diesel-powered train operation, with benefits to both our commuters and the railroad, is the latest step in our plans to develop the finest suburban service in the country," said Clyde J. Fitzpatrick, president of the railroad. "We believe the new coaches we are now receiving and the 'push-pull' method by which they will operate in trains will be the prototype of what we hope can eventually be applied to our entire suburban system."

TRAINS WITH the new cars in many respects will be like multi-unit electric trains. They will never need turning around. The result will be immediate availability of trains arriving at terminals for return movements, a greater flexibility of train size and reduced switching of trains in terminals, with consequent reduction in delays.

"Push-pull" trains will work like this: a diesel locomotive at one end of the train will provide the necessary power. However, in addition to operating controls in the locomotive, there will be similar controls in "cabs" in the upper level of certain coaches at intervals throughout each train. The last Coach of such a train will always have a cab. In operation, each "push-pull" train will move toward the Chicago terminal with the locomotive at the rear end and actually pushing the train. The engineer and fireman in such an operation, however, are in a cab located at the head end of the leading car. Upon arrival in Chicago, the engine crew needs only to enter the locomotive cab at the other end of the train for immediate departure, this time with the locomotive pulling the train in conventional manner. If only a part of the train is needed on the return movement only that part is uncoupled from the rest of the train, without any need for switching.

Fitzpatrick said delivery of the 36 new coaches will be made at the rate of about two a week with the final car scheduled for delivery early in January. Eight of the coaches are equipped with locomotive control cabs. All the cars are being constructed by Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company at South Chicago.

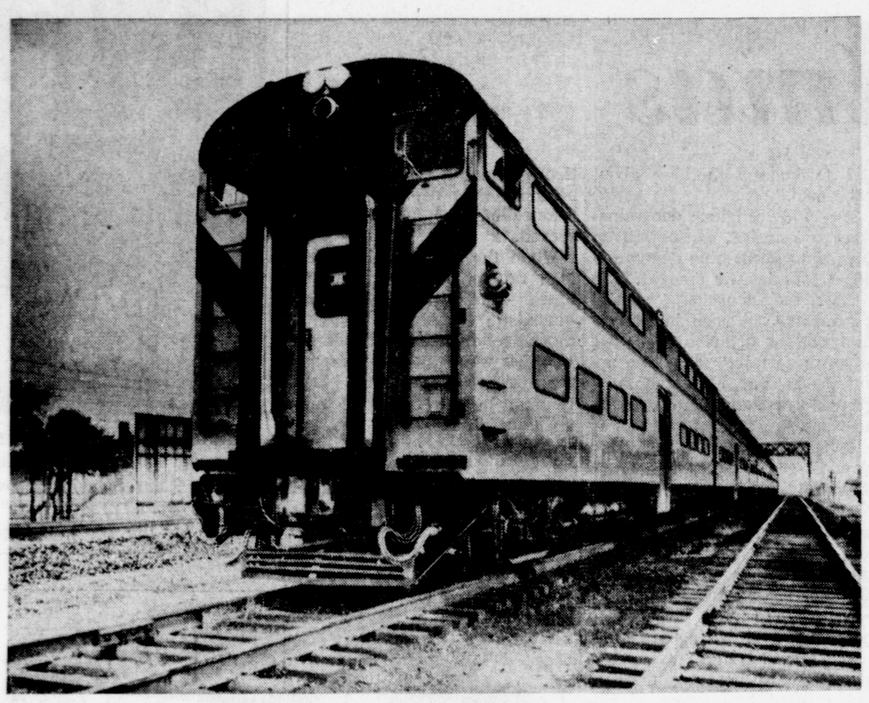
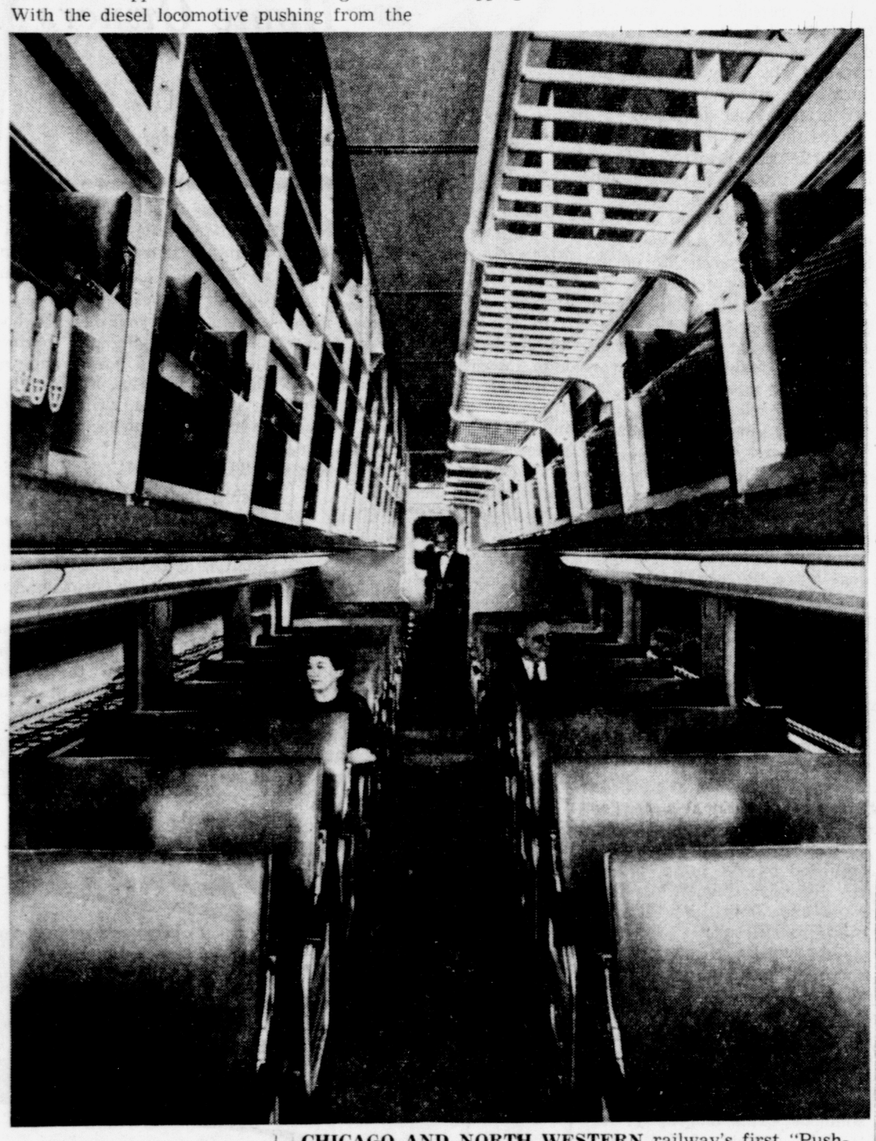
ALTHOUGH similar in general appearance to 48 double-deck cars acquired during the past four years, the new coaches contain a number of improvements. All electric power for heating, lighting, air-conditioning and other appliances in the new coaches will come from a power plant in the locomotive. For that reason there are no heavy steam pipes or electric generators under the cars. The reduction in weight makes the "push-pull" cars about 10 tons lighter than North Western's other double-deck cars. Twenty-eight of the coaches will have 161 seats each; eight cars with engineer's control cabs will have 155 seats each.

Fitzpatrick said interiors have been styled in stainless steel, aluminum and a variety of synthetic materials with walls and ceilings of durable vinyl plastics bonded to steel. As a result, no paint is used on interior surfaces. Continuous fluorescent lighting also has replaced conventional incandescent lighting. The extra large windows are similar to those used on the railroad's through trains in that they have heat-absorbing glass tinted to reduce sun glare.

"Within the short span of four years, this railroad has invested more than $22,000,000 in new suburban coaches and complete dieselization of the service," said Fitzpatrick. "With the delivery of these new cars, we will have 84 air-conditioned double-deck suburban coaches containing more than 13,600 seats, the largest such fleet in the country. While we hope to continue our program of replacing all conventional old cars with new equipment, this will depend entirely on availability of funds and the ability of our suburban service to operate on a self-supporting basis."



HEAD-ON VIEW OF A TRAIN that is not going backwards. On inbound trips into Chicago, engine crews control North Western railway's new "push-pull" trains from special cabs in the upper deck of the leading coach. With the diesel locomotive pushing from the other end, engineers operate the train by remote control from these cabs. Cab-equipped coaches have air horns, headlights, bells, rail sanders for braking, and automatic signal and stopping devices as in locomotives.



CHICAGO AND NORTH WESTERN railway's first "Push-Pull" suburban train was on display in the road's downtown station from noon to 7 p. m. Wednesday. The 36 new coaches for the unique trains have the latest electric heating to eliminate troublesome steam lines between the coaches in winter months. All electric power for heat, lights, air-conditioning and other appliances in the cars is provided by the locomotive. This eliminates the usual undercar motors and generators. Cost of the coaches is approximately $155,000 each.

Inspection Soon For Tax Records

County Assessor P. J. Cullerton revealed that Elk Grove, Hanover, Northfield, Maine and New Trier are among the first group of townships for which tax valuations will be presented to taxpayers for public inspection.

"We can tell you," he wrote Editor Stuart R. Paddock in reply to Paddock's inquiry, "that the first group (named above) of five townships is verging on completion.

"Palatine, Wheeling, Barrington, Schaumburg and Proviso are scheduled for completion in the next grouping of five townships."

"We are keeping your file open from day-to-day," he concluded, "and as soon as it is determined when the first group of five towns will be available for inspection, you will be notified promptly."

The county assessor, in talking of the completion of the 1959 quadrennial assessment in Northwest townships, stated that a long-planned improvement in the method of identification of real estate records through the use of IBM machines was being undertaken.

"Unfortunately," he added, ,"the problems and compli "the problems and complications are superimposed on the normal work of preparing a quadrennial assessment.

"This, of itself, is a tremendous task, as you doubtless know from your long experience in handling the news arising from the placing of new valuations. Therefore, it is difficult to predict the exact time at which all knots will be untied and the tax valuations can be presented to taxpayers for public inspection in your township."

Communication Is Key To Unity of Christmas

Council Hears Minister Discuss Future Outlook

by DICK HOFFMANN

Warren Austin, while U.S. delegate to the United Nations, was once reported to have asked in attempting to mediate a dispute between an Israeli and Arab delegate: "Why can't we settle this like Christian gentlemen?"

This seems to be the prevailing habit of mind one encounters when the question is asked: "Why don't the churches get together?" the Rev. Dr. Martin E. Marty suggested in an address before the Opportunity Council, Inc.

Speaking before a gathering Wednesday, October 7 in Arlington Heights, the Rev. Marty, pastor of the Church of the Holy Spirit, Elk Grove Village, said that there appears to be a wider diversity of religious expression in approximate rather than ultimate views.

"Americans have been taught that religion is a rather grim business," Rev. Marty reflected. "While we find ourselves informally agreeing and having a good time, we start to speak in negative terms when we sit around a table to discuss the same questions."

WHO ASKS THIS question of "Why don't the churches get together?" The pastor, who is also an associate editor of Christian Century magazine, told his audience that persons such as themselves — those concerned with human relations — ask it in expressing frustration in the use of "profound sentiments employed against each other."

It is also stated in the form of an "escape clause" by those persons "who see too many brands on the supermarket shelf and want to settle for just one brand," Marty illustrated metaphorically.

The clergyman proposed five ways in which the question might be answered: 1) They shouldn't (get together); 2) they can't; 3) they are; 4) they won't; 5 they should.

This first answer — that they shouldn't — is seen in the work of Jewish Novelist Herman Wouk ("The Caine Mutiny," "Marjorie Morningstar" whose most recent writing, "This Is My God," seems to symbolize the resistance to assimilation.

"When we ask this question, however, the Jewish minority isn't included. It doesn't imply merger of church and synagog. And particularity and community are two desired goals of Judaism," the speaker considered.

BUT THE HEART of the controversy between Roman Catholics and Protestants, he reminded his audience, appeared to be a question of authority. While there is little difference in the "approach" to grace or faith, in matters of scripture Protestants feel the need for individual reason being applied while Catholics see a "greater authority as applied to one institution."

"We can't picture the question being answered in an institutional form, but the need for discussing and exchanging views on the various faiths remains," he noted.

And in other instances, he added, there is a "creative conversation" beginning to emerge between Protestant and Roman Catholic.

That the churches "are" getting together is illustrated by the ecumenical movement whose most inclusive symbol is the World Council of Churches.

IT GREW, Marty ventured, out of two movements, one of which was a widening missionary activity which encountered the multiplicity of the Christian division, and a world relief program following the war which transcended national boundaries.

"A by-product of this was a second movement which could be called a 'Renaissance' in the reading of the articles of faith. Before persons could talk about other faiths, they realized they had to know something about their own."

The 258 religious denominations in America, can be broken down into about nine denominational families, he thought.

That the churches "won't" get together is seen in the assumption of doctrine that "we have the truth," which is apparent in the Fundamentalist groups' resistance to seeking answers.

And the answer that "They should" get together is seen in the unifying impulses of the New Testament. With the extension of missionary service and the expansion of mass media, there has evolved what Marty termed "the scramble to recover" to the challenges posed by a shrinking globe.

But the barriers to understanding are not now national but erected by variety of history, social forces, class structure and ethos. It is a smugness best stated: "You worship God your way, and I'll worship Him His."

Marty recalled the story of the little girl who cried in the dark at her grandmother's house. "Why do you cry in the dark here, you don't at home?" her grandmother inquired.

"Yes, but it's my own dark," the little girl retorted. "There is a certain coziness about our own dark," he considered.

ANOTHER example of this ethnocentric approach was seen in the early church life of the Puritans, Marty continued. Because the church also served places of worship. This, however, developed into a fetish: it became fashionable to worship in the cold (although the more utilitarian Puritans took their dogs along with them as foot-warmers).

When the "liberals," i.e., pro-stove faction, succeeded in getting a stove installed in one such parish, the "anti-stoves" came bundled-up and carrying dogs while the liberals huddled around the stove for warmth. "What neither group realized was that the stove wasn't hooked up yet," Marty smiled.

Marty suggested four options which are exercised in responding to this situation:

—the "blur of apathy," or "why bother";

—the "gloss-over gambit," or "we can if we'll just be good fellows";

—the "pragmatic escape" (typified by the early days of the National Council of Christians and Jews), or "let's all make sacrifices"; —dialogue, e.g., commitment, cooperation and, consequently, risk.

Of this last option, Marty saw it as holding the most promise. As he said, "It is the bringing together of different ultimate commitments; it is learning someone else's biography; it is 'I thou' instead of 'I it'; it is not making people things but seeing them as persons."

MUCH OF THE lack of understanding between faiths is an unreasoning anxiety. "While fear is a proportionate response to a certain threat—as in the difference between a feather or a shotput being thrown at you—anxiety is when you think its a car bearing down on you out of the corner of your eye when it's really only a feather. The ignorance seen from the corner of the eye caused the trauma.

"Similarly, we look more to the other person's religion in terms of a national or international monolith rather than the neighbor next door as a practitioner of that faith," he observed.

While the diversity in American religion — as in art and music — is a safeguard in our pluralistic country against a mono-denominational behemoth ("which would be sluggish and corrupt"), we must still "participate in the famiy of man as men," he stressed.

And unhealthy is any division or amputation which creates conflict instead of cooperation, he felt. "You would not seek me if you had not already found me," he said he often quotes in this regard.

Hints To Home Owners

James Fizzell

Assistant Farm Advisor

There are at this time only two major countries in the world which do not have a national flower; the United States and Russia.

In the past 50 years, many bills have been presented to both houses of the Congress proposing many different flowers as our national Flower. During the last session of Congress, several flowers were proposed, but none could muster enough votes to gain passage.

Florists, after watching the situation of last year, have decided that the question of a national flower should be decided by the general public.

During the month of October, florists throughout the country are cooperating by holding a national flower election.

Flowers listed on the ballot are: carnation, corn tassel, black eyed susan, camellia, chrysanthemum, daffodil, geranium, gladiolus, goldenrod, grass, lily-of-the-valley, magnolia, mountain laurel, orchid, peony, rhododendron, shasta daisy and tulip.

Stop in at your neighborhood florist displaying the national flower election poster and vote for your favorite. If your flower is not listed, write in whichever one you please.

THE AMERICAN Carnation society has just released a color film for use by garden clubs and other organizations on the production of carnations. It covers the propagation, growing, and harvesting of these flowers, as well as the marketing and uses. I understand there are some good tips on how to use carnations in arrangement around the home. Contact the Chicago Carnation Growers or my office on how and when the film is available.

Sen. Douglas Speaker At Education Meeting

Sen. Paul Douglas and an "Aisle of Ideas" will highlight this year's Illinois Education association (IEA) institute, tomorrow at Arlington high school.

Douglas will speak to teachers and administrators from 10:35 to 11:45 a.m., in the boys' gym.

The aisle of ideas compared to elementary school "Show and Tell," by Mrs. Gladys Ackley, publicity director for the meeting, will feature displays from each elementary school and high school in the Palatine, Arlington districts.

ALL TEACHERS from schools feeding into these high schools will attend the day-long institute. This is the first section of the IEA Lake Shore division.

Displays from Palatine township high school picture its IBM grading system, the school's guidance counseling program, and "How the Student council promotes citizenship in the school."

The emphasis in this year's institute according to Marvin M. Plate, assistant superintendent at Palatine is "Articulation between grade and high school."

"BECAUSE THE two high schools and the elementary schools are autonomous bodies with separate superintendents and boards, (unlike the Chicago system where one board serves both elementary and high) often liaison between curricula is lost," he said.

Mrs. Ackley, principal of Mt. Prospect's Sunset Park school, said that discussion groups this year were smaller than those in the past three years. Therefore, the institute hopes to accomplish more by bringing allied teachers together in workable units.

The day's program starts with a general session at 9 a.m. The Arlington Heights' Cardette color guard will present the colors.

SEN. PAUL DOUGLAS

Two speakers will precede the aisle of ideas exhibit and Sen. Douglas' address. Miss Lucy Driscoll will deliver a message from the county superintendent of schools.

Wilfred J. Goreham, administrative assistant to the State IEA office, will address the general session after Mis Driscoll.

AFTER LUNCHEON, teachers and administrators may attend one of six panels. These are: language arts and social sciences; science and mathematics; arts (music, art and home ec); health and guidance; physical education; foreign languages.

After these panels, teachers will attend discussion workshops held for each grade level, special subjects and school activities.

Officers of Section I of the Lake Shore IEA division are: Chester F. Raasch, Windsor school, Arlington Heights, section chairman; Robert Bright, South junior high school, Arlington Heights, public relations chairman; LeRoy Marks, Schaumberg junior high school, Roselle, research chairman; Robert Ferguson, Central school, Mt. Prospect, welfare and ethics chairman; Donald Holtzee, Jonas Salk school, Rolling Meadows, legislative chairman; Herman C. Meiners, Sunset Park school, Mt. Prospect, membership and finance chairman; Wayne Schaible, Twinbrook school, Roselle, and Robert Spinks, Dryden school, Arlington Heights, nominating committee chairmen.

Members of the program committee for tomorrow's institute are: W. David Whiteside, chairman, Arlington high school; John R. Murray, Pospect high school, Donald Holtzee, Palatine; Mary Anne Zimmerman, Hoffman school, Schaumberg, and Mrs. Ackley.

Thrift Week Scheduled Next Week

"How are you fixed for savings?"

Next week, during National Thrift Week, is the time to get your savings program off dead center, says Paul E. Collins, president of the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan association.

The association has joined 585 savings infstitutions throughout Illinois in observing "Savings and Loan Month" during October as a result of Governor Stratton's proclamation, which urges Illinoisans to "SAVE — it's the American way to success."

THROUGHOUT THE country, Americans are being reminded next week that thrift, industry, initiative and independence are important characteristics contributing to their success.

These characteristics are responsible for the strength of America, it is being pointed out. Through the accumulated savings of millions the free enterprise system will continue to grow and prosper.

"In our own Association, the thrift of savers means $15,000,000 bulwarking their security and independence," said Collins. "It also means $15,000,000 of capital serving local communities by encouraging home ownership." (B

Young Adult Fellowship Open to All

The Young Adult Fellowship invites all Protestant young adults from the ages of 18 to 30 to attend its next meeting October 18 in the parlor of the First Methodist church of Des Plaines at 7:30 p.m.

The speaker for the evening will be The Rev. Edwin I. Stevens of the South Community Baptist church, Mt. Prospect. Rev. Steven's topic will be: "The Innocent and Suffering."

Refreshments will be served after the talk and discussion period which will folllow.

Anyone wishing additional information about the group or who needs transportation for this activity, may call Edie Helfers, CL 3-1876 or Barbara Wraas, VA 4-1591.

The group has planned many interesting and varied activities for the coming months and hopes to see many new faces at its coming meetings. (ACM

Your Handwriting Gives You Away, Says Grapho Analyist

MISS ELVIRA BEHRENS, 2100 Hintz rd., Arlington Heights, examines the handwriting shown elsewhere on this page to determine the character of the writers. Miss Behrens, a grapho analyst, claims that her system is 98 per cent correct in determining the traits of people.

by TOM McSHANE

"This one couldn't hurt a fly. But that one! That one could murder if he was pushed too far."

"And this one is extremely nervous, and often gets very irritated. You can tell by the way he dots his 'i'.

"Here's a person who is very acquisitive. He wants many material things, and cares little for the philosophical."

And so it went. This is grapho analysis, handwriting interpretation, what some people call a coming science, and a helpful adjunct in the various studies of the make-up of man.

The person doing the talking was Miss Elvira Behrens, 2100 Hintz rd., Arlington Heights, a certified grapho analyst, and a member of the Illinois and International Grapho Analysis societies.

SHE WAS talking of her experiences with the "hobby" she took up a few years back when she was an invalid recovering from a disease of the spine.

Miss Behrens, who is a high school graduate, took correspondence courses for two years from a grapho analysis school in Springfield, Mo.

The school is run by M. N. Bunker, who has assumed the title, Doctor of Grapho Analysis.

The school confers general and master's degrees in "grapho-analytical psychology" during the two years.

The student does an assignment about once every 10 days and sends it in. At the end of one year he gets the general degree. Another year of courses brings the master's.

The students are not required to have any training in psychology or any of the advanced social sciences.

"Everything I know about those things I learned from private reading," Miss Behrens said.

NOR ARE THE students supposed to set themselves up as guidance counsellors when they have completed the courses, according to Miss Behrens.

"We can look at a person's handwriting, and immediately tell what that person is like," she claims. "Every stroke, forward, upward, and downward means something.

"Whether your writing is beautiful or illegible it shows your true character. Grapho analysis is not guess work.

"It is an accurate science revealing your thinking habits, personality, and emotional reactions. With it we can determine how a person will react under any given circumstances."

Miss Behrens and other handwriting experts claim that grapho analysis would be an invaluable skill for a school teacher or someone who had to guide or discipline people.

The idea of judging people's character by their handwriting dates back to early Roman times. Goethe, Thomas Carlyle, Robert and Elizabeth Barrett Bowning, and the great American short story writer, Edgar Allen Poe, all were great students of the art.

Bunker's method, however, differs from those of the earlier analysts, in that he attributes something to each of the characters used by the writer, while the others studied whole words or phrases.

BUNKER CLAIMS his method to be 98 per cent correct. He says he has used it on thousands of subjects with very little error.

Miss Behrens has experimented with the method extensively. She claims she has recognized symptoms of mental illness, emotional disturbances, and various complexes that could lead to heinous crimes.

She recently wrote an article for a trade magazine in which she says she has successfully been able to anlyse the scribblings of a 3-year-old child.

She is currently trying to organize classes in private homes.

The Chicagoland chapter of the society to which she belongs boasts about 50 members from what she terms the "professional" class. Among the members are several doctors, nurses, and school teachers.

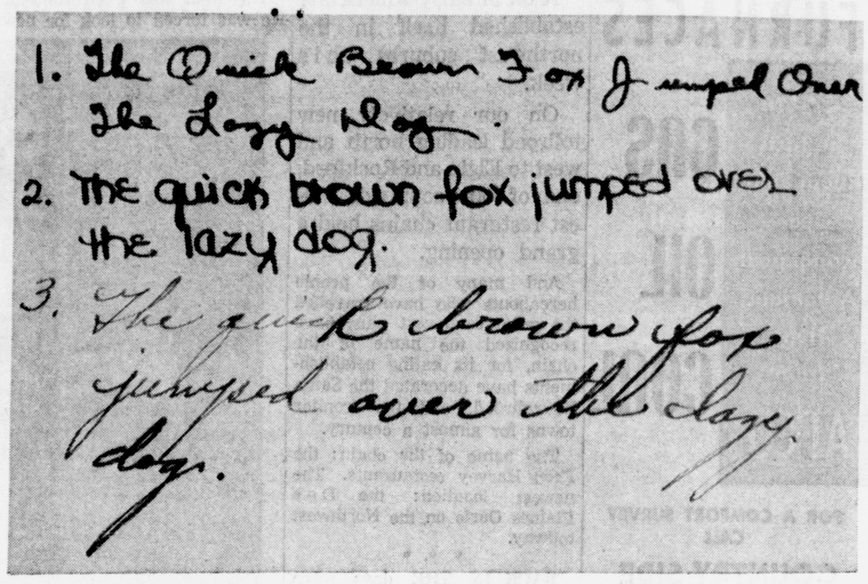
Miss Behrens admits that the handwriting analysts have been called "quacks" by medical and psychological groups.

"But," she says, "when we tell them to submit their own writing samples or those of their friends so that we can prove our system to them, they seldom accept."

Las Vegas Nite At Old Orchard

"A Las Vegas Nite" is to be held Saturday, Oct., 24, at 9 p.m. Old Orchard country club, Rand and Euclid. Ticket price includes dancing, smorgasbord and games. Anyone interested in tickets, may call Arlene Verbeck, CL 5- 0689 or Esther Van Bladel, CL 3-0701.

(AMPhW



CAN YOU DESCRIBE the character and personality traits of the people whose handwriting you see above? Miss Behrens says that number one is a versatile, poised, literary person with ability to handle important issues, one who likes to travel but who does not like physical activity. Number two is an extremely reserved, poised, cultured, and exacting person who likes creative work and music, but who often doubts her capabilities. Number three is very responsibe to emotional situations. He is a very acquisitive person with great imagination along materialistic lines. He also has a definite purpose and great determination coupled with intelligence and the ability to think fast. This person also likes to travel and move about.

The only thing, according to Miss Behrens, that a grapho analyst cannot determine about an individual from his or her handwriting is the sex of the person.

Historic Harvey Name Reigns Over Tollway

A bit of early Americana established itself in the northwest suburbs this week.

On our relatively new tollroad leading north and west to Elgin and Rockford, one of our country's oldest resturant chains held a grand opening.

And many of the people hereabouts who have travelled the great southwest must have recognized the name of the chain, for its eating establishments have decorated the Santa Fe railroad, and the frontier towns for almost a century.

The name of the chain: the Fred Harvey restaurants. The newest location: the Des Plaines Oasis on the Northwest tollway.

BACK IN THE days when the west was truly wild and woolly, just after the Civil war, an Englishman, who came to this country in 1850, began to travel the new railheads that were creeping across the southwestern wilderness.

The man was Fred Harvey. He was forced to look for new horizons for a restaurant business that had collapsed in St. Louis during the war.

What he saw in his travels convinced him that the railroads could support a flourishing business as they crept toward the Pacific. On the whole the food was poor and the travelers miserable after their trips.

In 1876, he was able to convince the Sante Fe railroad that his ideas were sound, and he was permitted to open his first eating house in the Topeka, Kan. depot.

Thus began a business destined to enrich the west with many colorful traditions.

HARVEY HOUSES were established in the 1800s and 1890s every 100 miles along the Sante Fe, through Kansas, Colorado, Texas, Alabama, New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Newspapers of the day said that Harvey "made the desert blossom with beefsteak."

Probably the most heralded tradition was that of the Harvey Girls, hand-picked waitresses specially trained to serve the Harvey patrons.

Legend has it that at least 20,000 Harvey Girls, from good homes in the east and middle west, became the brides of ranchers, railroad men, and cowboys, founding many of the first families of the west.

Since trains had to stop in those days before the invention of the dining car, passengers were welcomed to Harvey hospitality with "30 minutes for dinner" by the bong of a large brass gong.

Then, for 75 cents, the Harvey Girls would serve an unhurried seven course dinner in a half hour.

The appeal of the Harvey girls, good food and service, attractive appointments, and honest business methods earned for Fred Harvey the honorary title "Civilizer of the West."

Today Fred Harvey operations extend from Cleveland to the Pacific coast, running the gamut from meals to mules, over 3,000 miles of hospitality.

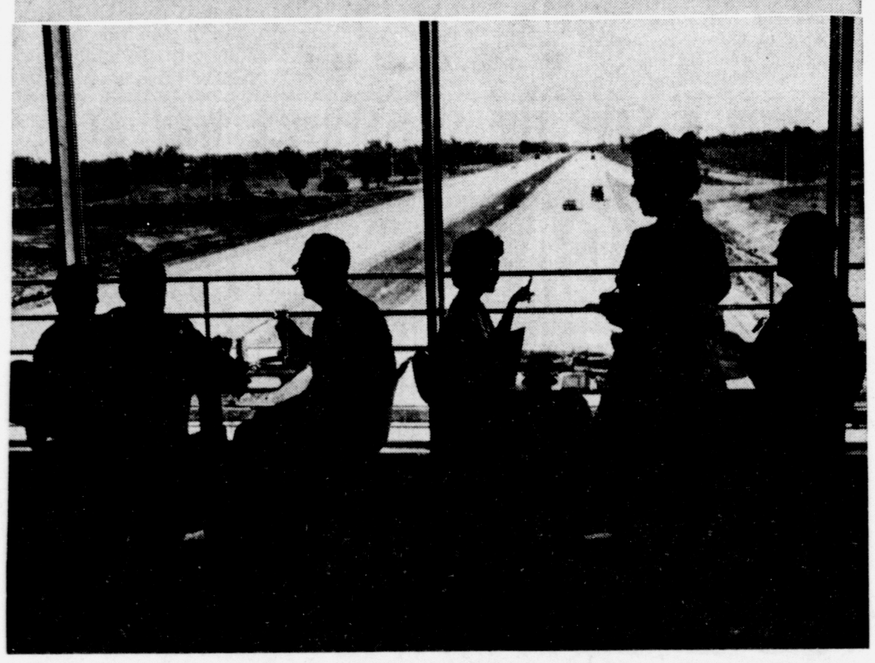
THEY INCLUDE resorts, hotels, restaurants, retail shops and services, newsstands, and the supervision of dining car service on the Santa Fe.

The company has been under the Harvey family management since its founding. Fred Harvey's grandsons, Byron, Stewart, and Daggett, head the company today.

Other Harvey restaurants in the Chicago area include the Old Spinning Wheel in Hinsdale, the Kungsholm, rooms in the Continental Companies and Palmolive buildings, and railway terminal operations in the Union and Dearbron stations.

The Fred Harvey System had its beginning in 1876, when Fred Harvey opened his first restaurant in Topeka, Kansas.



PATRONS OF THE NEW Fred Harvey restaurants dotting the Illinois tollroads dine in comfort as they watch the traffic streaming under them. The historic national chain last weekend opened one of five new dining spots in the Des Plaines oasis. The standard Oil company owns and leases the service areas.

Paul Bunnelle, 1115 N. Belmont ave., celebrated his sixth birthday October 3 with a luncheon party. Guests enjoying the goodies and a trip to O'Hare field to watch the 707's land included Craig Lasher, Larry Andres, Gary Brosseit, Tom Kemp and Glenn Warman.

Also celebrating birthdays last week were 3-year-old Cathy and 4-year-old Mary Margaret Ponter of 612 E. Oakton st. whose combined afternoon party October 7 included their house guest, Alison Schmidt of Glen Ellyn, who had been visiting for several days. Other guests were Robby Bee, Judy and Margo Lasher, Laurie Sage, Gail and Joan Zimmer, Joe Nelson, Tommy O'Connor, Linda and Chris Miller, Leigh Egger, Nancy Flynn, Tom Shanahan and Patty Lindsey.

The Pine Court Canasta club met in the home of Mrs. George Wotruba, 208 E. Oakton, last Wednesday evening. Members Kay Hedberg, Sylvia Damiano, Marie Duxbury, Helen Foreman, Frances Brosseit and Dorothy Swoboda enjoyed an evening of cards and refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bradshaw of 1118 N. Dryden announce the birth of a daughter, Mary Kay, born October 5 in Resurrection hospital, Chicago, weighing 8 pounds 8 ounces. Brother and sister of Mary Kay are Robert, 5, and Ellen, 7. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George Burns and Mr. and Mrs. John Bradshaw, both of St. Albans, N.Y. Grandmother Burns has been visiting the Bradshaws for the past two weeks.

GREGORY PHILIP, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Emis Metzel, 1106 N. Dryden, was christened at St. James Catholic church October 4, during an afternoon ceremony, with Father John Lane officiating. Godparents were cousins of the baby, Miss Mary Eckel of Chicago and Jay Chaiser of Prospect Meadows. A buffet supper following the ceremony was attended by the godparents and their families, grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Metzel Sr., of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Blais of Des Plaines.

Also christened October 4 was Christine Ann, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Swoboda, 1119 N. Belmont, during a morning ceremony at Our Saviour Lutheran church. Godparents were Mr. and Mrs. Allen Rankin of Virden, Ill., great aunt and uncle of the baby. A dinner later in the day included grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ciegele of Chicago, aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Boyd of Cary, and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. A. Hahn of Norridge.

House guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Woehlck, 1112 N. Pine ct., last week were grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Woehlck and a great grandfather, Harry Hart, who drove from their home in Webster, Wis., for a week's visit.

THE SENIOR Earl B. Stouts of Reseda, Cal., arrived last Sunday evening at the home of their son and family, the Earl Stouts, 620 E. Clarendon, whom they plan to visit for several weeks.

Not expecting any festivities, the surprise birthday party for Ed Zelsmann, 710 E. Clarendon ave., arranged by his wife, Jeanne, was just that when their guests began arriving last Saturday evening. Wishing their host "many happy returns" were the William Kellys, Al Baugouses, Olen Culpeppers, David Salbergs, Robert Nicols, Richard Hoppes, Cedric Crains and the Ted Fonfaras.

Newcomers to the Greens are the George Mahoney family, who moved into their new home at 817 E. Olive Monday. They are former residents of Rolling Meadows and have three children, Kevin, 12, Mary, 8, and Maureen, 6. Mr. Mahoney is sales promotion manager for the Motorola corporation in Chicago.

Bob and Betty Frank, 116 N. Reuter, had Frank and Aquinas Powers over September 26, for a lobster dinner to celebrate Bob's birthday.

The American Legion of Arlington Heights held its installation last Saturday. Fred Hauth, 512 N. Yale, acted as the installing sergeant-at-arms, and his wife, Arlene, was on the serving committee.

The Little League dance last Saturday was such a success that 10 Westgate couples just couldn't stop dancing, so they finished the evening at the home of Carolyn and Dick Burkett, 1405 Euclid. A potluck smorgasbord was served.

It's a boy for Clarence and Phyllis Wrobel, 1404 Fremont. He was born September 30 in Resurrection hospital. William John is his name and he weighed 7 pounds 14 ounces. At home to welcome the new addition to the family were Lucille, 15, and Catherine, 13. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Bemis, Oak Lawn.

MARY LOU BEYER and daughter, Susan Ann, are visiting her mother and dad, Olive and Pat Moran, 1500 Fremont. Mary Lou is the wife of S/Sgt. Earl G. Beyer, who is stationed at the Marine Corps schools, Quantico, Va., and also a sister-in-law of Esther and Tony Van Bladel, 108 N. Reuter.

Betty and Bob Frank, 116 N. Reuter, celebrated their 18th anniversary October 4 with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Van Duyes of Chicago. They had dinner at the Azuma Sukiyaki restaurant in Chicago. It was a novel experience according to Betty. They had to remove their shoes before entering the Japanese dining room, sat on cushions and ate from a low table, where they were served by a Geisha.

Lori Lynn, daughter of Lorry and Richard Cahill, 1301 Euclid, celebrated her sixth birthday October 12 with classmates and neighbors at an after school party. There to help her make the day extra nice were Sharon McMurry, George Knight, Jim Hutter, Nancy Dalley, Patricia Maley, Tina Nielson, Stevie Bakas, David Timson, Denise Hauth, Kathy and Jimmie Johnson and Jackie and Jimmie Fitzpatrick. Ann and Joe Pecoraro, 727 N. Kennicott, attended dinner, dance and initiation of new members of The Forresters at Tam-O-Shanter country club last Friday night. Their guests for the evening were the Charles O'Dors of Arlington Heights and the Douglas Carneys of Palatine. Sunday Ann's brother and family, the Bob Morgans of Gary, dropped in on them unexpectedly.

Nancy Urbanowicz was 5 October 7 and invited the following children to an after school party at her home: Pam Rosheger, Gale Kamin, Kathy Donahue, Michaele Intravartolo, Michael and Brucie Topp, Terrence Platt, Gary Braunsreuter, David Mills, Johnny Koriath and Nancy's brother, Joey. Nancy is the daughter of the J. F. Urbanowiczes, 803 N. Kennicott.

The World Series brought Mrs. Walter Corda's sister and brother-in-law, the Ray Tregembos, here from Minnesota for some of the games and a visit with the Cordas, 923 N. Kaspar. Sandwiched in between baseball, the ladies managed to do a little shopping in the loop and get caught up on news of each other.

October 8 was a special day for Jimmy Polites, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. James E. Polites, 944 N. Salem. Jimmy was 3 that day and his grandparents, aunts, uncles and cousins came to help him celebrate the occasion. Friends from the neighborhood—the Stafford Machas children and Jerry Sorensen, also came for ice cream and cupcakes.

Ruth Platt, Flo Braunsreuter, Marlyn and former Ridge Parker Vivian Hadden went to a luncheon in Barrington last Wednesday for the benefit of a retarded children's school in the area.

ALTHOUGH Larry Kay was 2 last Friday, he and his family celebrated Sunday with his grandparents Piner, Grandmother Kay, and aunts and uncle.

Sunday was an important day in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Hedger, 924 N. Fernandez. Month-old Peter Gerard was baptized at St. James at 3 with Father Ross officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Robert McDonough of Niles were his godparents.

Last Thursday Jackie Cummings, son of the R. N. Cummings, 1115 W. Elm, was 8. Friends who came to a party in his home were Bobby Jensen, Bruce Marshall, Don Vogel, David Drachman, John Ewalt and Tom, John and David Merges. In the evening his aunt, uncle and cousin, Mr. and Mrs. John Iverson and Renee came for ice cream and cake. Over the weekend, Mr. Cummings' aunt and uncle, the Herman Hornes, came from LaCrosse, Wis., for for a visit.

It's a boy for the James Turners, 921 N. Salem. Brett Randall was born October 9 in Evanston hospital, weighing 7 pounds 15 ounces. He is their first child.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Psota and their friends, the William Rudys, began an exciting evening Monday with dinner at the Buttery before going to see "Carmen." Opening night at the opera, with all the glitter and glamour, has always intrigued them and Monday night was more than they anticipated.

The James Spiels, 730 N. Harvard, took his sister, Mary, to the airport Sunday to see her off to a 3-week vacation in California. She has Palm Springs and Disneyland on her list of places to see.

THERE IS something about a visit from old friends that perk up a weekend like nothing else can, according to Margaret Schlickman. Friends from Rockford, Bob and Barbara Roman came Saturday night and rather than have dinner with Gene and Margaret in their home, the two couples went out to eat and found it quite a treat. Barbara was Margaret's maid-of-honor.

John Valois of Washington, D.C., spent the night with them Sunday. When the Schlickmans lived in Washington, they got to know John and his family very well, so they had to cram a great deal of news in the short time he was here.

News from the C. J. Tews, 935 N. Kennicott, is that their daughter, Joan, and her husband have left for Lexington, Ky. From there they will go to Florida.

The house was really buzzing at the John Durgoms, 1007 Oakton, Saturday night. After the homecoming game, Sandy brought 10 friends home for a pizza party. Judy brought Karen Palmer and Susie Cornelius home, too, and there was pizza for everyone.

There was a birthday party at the Vincent Cumminghams', 802 N. Harvard, Monday. Peggy was 6 and had several friends in for a hot dog supper. Karen Munsen was there, along with Patty Webber, Vivian Faitz, Janice Balfour, Patty Givens, Jan Holmquist, Patty Gleason and Tabby and Barbara Lightner. Several of the girls had school that day, so they all came in the late afternoon for games, supper, ice cream and cake.

Father Sees Son Hurt In Accident

A 6-year-old Arlington Heights youngster — Edward Henning of 1222 E. Olive—was injured last week when struck by a car on N. State rd.

Police said the youngster had just gotten out of his father's car parked opposite St. James school and was struck while crossing to school by an auto driven by Grant M. Broome, 37, of Route 3, Palatine, who was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way.

The youngster's father saw him lying on the road through the rear-view mirror of his car. He put the boy in the car and rushed him to Resurrection hospital where his injuries were reported as a broken left leg and forehead cuts. (A wood evening bridge group to get Mrs. Hal Sortor to Mrs. Robert Chodera's home last Thursday evening, but when she finally arrived she found a baby shower waiting for her. Eight of the group were there, at least one of them having seen her only that afternoon and keeping the secret. Mrs. Palmer, cohostess, decorated the table with paper mache storks, one pink, one blue, just in case.

The Walter E. Thwaites, 1122 Watling rd., are back from a week at a resort hotel in Cooperstown, N. Y. The baseball hall of fame is there which attracts many tourists, but the wonderful weather that week attracted them even more, with the temperature soaring in the 80's, they went swimming in the outdoor pool. Oakton Opponents Get 60-Days to Organize Opponents of Oakton st. widening and extension will have at least 60 days in which to organize their arguments for or against the project, Mayor Edward Carlisle told more than 200 noisy Arlington Heights residents last week.

This statement concluded a three hour meeting of the Ridge Park Community association that was punctuated by clapping, jeers and a threat to call off the meeting "this minute if the normal courtesies aren't observed."

A majority of the Oakton st. area residents appeared to be in favor of some improvement to the east-west street in north Arlington Heights. They objected, however, to any proposals to widen the street "excessively" or make a major thoroughfare out of it.

ONLY A FEW of those attending the meeting were unalterably opposed to any improvement on the street. One brave soul voiced the opinion that he thought the objectors were being selfish and "thinking of their pocketbooks instead of their kids."

"I moved out to the suburbs to escape city problems. But I also like to get my kids to school on time and get to church on time and drive on Oakton without breaking an axle," he said.

While Mayor Carlisle was the main target of questioners, he shared the stage with Trustee Eugene Schlickman and Plan Commission Chairman Harold Carlson along with officers of the Ridge Park association.

THE VILLAGE officials emphasized repeatedly that while the master plan recommends making Oakton a major thoroughfare from Wilke to Rand rds., the plan is only a guide and does not necessarily bind the village board in any decision.

Carlisle also assured the doubtful audience that no decision had thus far been reached as to what improvement would be made on the street or how it would be financed.

He further noted it would perhaps "take years to get the necessary dedications before work can begin on the street."

The audience became irritated when the mayor refused to be more specific and told them, "You're trying to nail me down to a statement and I don't want to be nailed down."

"That's the first true statement you've made tonight," came a shout from a homeowner, accompanied by clapping.

AN EXCITED mother took her feet to tell Carlisle, "You make that street (Oakton) four-lane and I'll guarantee you that the first time there is a drag race in front of my house, you'll have a mothers' march to contend with."

A joint meeting between the village board and board of local improvement to discuss the project is scheduled for tonight. A formal hearing on the matter, however, is still "at least 60 days away," according to Carlisle and Harold Klinger, chairman of the board of local improvements.

Eight and Forty To Meet Oct. 19

Northwest Ridge salon 573 of the 8 and 40, honor society of the American Legion auxiliary, will meet Monday, Oct. 19, at 8 p.m., in Billy Caldwell Memorial home, 6038 N. Cicero.

Plans for the coming year will be discussed and a report on the Pouvoir meeting will be given by Mrs. Charles Johnson. Mrs. Fred Holtz, of Park Ridge, newly installed Petite Chapeau will preside.

Also installed into office with Mrs. Holtz and other officers of the 8 and 40 September 21 in Mel Tierney Legion home, Park Ridge, was Mrs. Joseph Wisersky of Arlington Heights as L'Aummonier. (AM ECONOMY AND BEAUTY are promised in the architects' plans for High School District 214's third building, which is the subject of a $3.9 million bond issue to be voted upon Nov. 14. The 2,500 student structure is scheduled for completion by the fall of 1962, when student enrollments will exceed Arlington and Prospect highs' facilities. The third high school is slated for a 40 acre plot on Goebert rd., between Golf and Algonquin rds., in Elk Grove township. (AF

Roller Skating Is Added To Recreation Program

by JOEL CARTER

Roller skating is one of the newest activities offered by the Arlington Heights park district. The Recreation park fieldhouse on Miner st., becomes a rink five days a week for the enjoyment of both kids and grownups.

The sport is ideal for recreation because it is easy enough for anyone who will give it a try, but it can be exacting for those who want to develop intricate figures and tricks. It requires no special clothing or elaborate equipment and, being an inside activity, it does not depend on the weather. Many more people can use a gym for skating than for basketball or other team sports.

You don't need any experience to skate, Most people did sidewalk skating as kids but even a rank beginner can learn to circle the floor with ease after maybe a few minutes of wobbly clutching the rail Skating on a smooth floor is much more graceful and effortless than on concrete. You can glide the whole length of the floor on one push.

IT'S FUNNY how people raise their eyebrows when roller skating in a public recreation program is mentioned. Most of the dire predictions they make just don't come off. No, you answer it doesn't ruin the floor. Using the proper kind of skate wheels, the wear per "foot-hour" is no more than dancing, public meetings or athletics. The floor needs a new coat of gym seal after a heavy skating season but this has to be done periodically anyway. Besides, park buildings are made to be used, not looked at.

Other people anticipate a catastrophy of broken arms and bruised posteriors but there hasn't been a single reported injury during the first week at Recreation park.

WE ARE also cautioned that skating rinks become a gathering place for the rougher element and respectable people won't go or send their children. This problem is easily avoided by proper supervision. Don Paluch, the skating supervisor, admits only those who want to skate and who behave themselves. The burly but popular fifth grade teacher will brook no cut-ups or trouble-makers and the young people who attend have always stuck strictly to the enjoyable business of skating. He is assisted by Mrs. Paluch who teaches at South junior high and alternately by high school students Jane Schaefer, John Lacina, and Tom Clark.

An admission fee of 25 cents for children and 50 cents for adults is charged and skates are furnished free. The fee is partly regulatory and partly revenue producing. The park board would like for the proceeds to pay the supervisors salaries and eventuallly cover the cost of the skates but it is more important to regulate entrance and egress. If the rink were free there would be a constant coming and going that would enormously multiply the attendant's work. It would make supervision impossible as skaters floated in and out.

WHEN THE skaters pay the cashier they take their skates into the dressing room where an attendant sees that they are fitted properly and attached safely. The skater then proceeds onto the rink where a guard keeps everyone rolling together, helps beginners, and directs special stunts and games. Skating music is played through two speakers.

The dressing room is also used for a lounge and resting area. Rrefreshments are available from the vending machines. A spectators room is open but is separated from the skating area by glass doors.

Whenever the skater is ready to leave, the dressing room attendant will help remove his skates and return them to the cashier.

THE RINK IS open on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday from 3:30-5:30 p.m. and 7-9:30 p.m.; on Saturdays from 1-5:30 p.m. and 7-10:30 p.m. and on Sundays from 1-5:30 p.m. Weekday afternoons are restricted to kids but other times are open to everybody.

If you haven't tried it, come on out. Skating is fun for everyone from Junior to Grand ad. Just be sure to wear a sturdy pair of shoes with protruding leather soles.

The fieldhouse activites this week are:

Name Scout Drive Business Chairman

Herbert Carl, vice-president and sales manager of Charles H. Wilson Realty Co., has been named chairman of the business section of the annual scout finance campaign by Robert Campbell, Arlington Heghts community chairman.

This part of the drive will be launched prior to the residents' campaign, which begins on Sunday, Oct. 25.

Mr. Carl, who has served in the Family Service drive, the YMCA drive and various health agency drives, stated that no worker in the business section will be asked to call on more than six prospects if current recruiting prevails.

Money raised in this drive will help support the Northwest Suburban council to provide benefits to 1244 boys in the village's 17 cub scout packs, 12 Boy scout troops and six Explorer posts.

Among the groups sponsoring the scout activities are the Wilson, Ridge, Dryden, North and Miner and South Junior high PTA's, and the First Presbyterian, St. Peter's Lutheran, Faith Lutheran, St. James Roman Catholic, First Methodist, United Church of St. John and Our Lady of the Wayside churches.

Also, the Lions club, the Westgate association, the VFW Post 981, Stonegate association and the Forest View School Mothers club.

Six additional cub packs and scout troops are being organized currently in the village. (A

GEORGE HARRIS

Remember the old axiom, "Don't do as I do, do as I tell you." You also remember that I have been telling you to take vitamins and to be sure to give them to the children.

Well, for the past two or three weeks I hadn't been feeling very well, so Marian said, "Why not take some of your free advice and take some vitamins. You always make sure that the children take theirs." Naturally, I said that I didn't need vitamins. But, when I got to the store, I decided to give it a try, so I started taking a very good therapeutic vitamin. Needless to say, I started feeling better in about two days, so, my friends, I think there is something to what I've been saying. Regardless of how old we get (and particularly the older we get) our bodies need and demand vitamins, because our diets do not supply what our bodies need.

Taking vitamins will in no way supplement the advice of your family doctor, but you'll find that you will feel better and peppier if you will take a daily vitamin. I'm certain your physician would be the first to recommend it.

Palatine Masonic Lodge 314 Observes Centennial Year

PALATINE MASONIC LODGE celebrated its centennial Saturday night. Seated at the head table, adorned with a floral centerpiece and Masonic emblem were: left to right, Mrs. Elmer Crane, Elmer Crane, Mrs. Charles Rowell, Charles Rowell, Miss Georgia Barnes, Charles Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Almgren and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Parker. The dinner and program, held in St. Paul church, Palatine, was also to honor the past masters of the lodge. The men pictured are identified with their lodge participation in an adjoining article.

The centennial observance of the formation of Palatine Masonic lodge, 314 A F and A M, was fittingly observed Saturday night, Oct. 3, with a banquet and entertainment in St. Paul church, Palatine.

The event was almost a replica of the observance in Battermann Opera house 50 years ago.

During the celebration, past masters of the lodge were honored, including Herman Waseman, who was master in 1918; Elmer Crane, Adolph Kunze, Albert De Pue, John De Pue, Frank Kloboucnik, David Terrill, George Schaffer, Rudolph Pauli and Arthur Parker, lodge instructor, who was the spokesman for the past masters.

Charles Rowell, Palatine, master of ceremonies, introducede the past masters, his wife, and Charles Barnes, present master, and his daughter of Mt. Prospect, and Mr. and Mrs. Hans Almgren. Almgren, district grand deputy for the 30th district in Illinois, spoke to the 200 assembled.

A RESUME of the 28-page history of the lodge, compiled by Thomas A. Brehm, Stuart R. Paddock Sr. and Elmer Crane, was reported by Mr. Crane. Mr. Paddock, who had been a member of the lodge for more than half a century and Mr. Brehm were introduced also.

Edward Fritzsche, in charge of arrangements, was honored and spoke briefly, citing members and wives who had assisted him in the evening's program.

The program included "mental mysteries and magic" by Carl Fyhries and his daughter, Gail, of Wheaton.

Ray Prehn, of Mt. Prospect, assisted in the fun, and all three involved the audience in participation of the program.

A GROUP representing the 60-voice women's barbershop chorus. the Mt. Prospect chapter of Sweet Adelines, and a quartet, the Hi-Tones, of the same group, directed by Charles Lukes, of Mt. Prospect, concluded the evening's entertainment on a specially sweet note.

Officers of the lodge for this centennial year, 1959, are: Charles A. Barnes, master; George R. Richter, senior warden; Edward H. Fritzsche, junior warden; M. William Richter, senior deacon; Howard S. Helgesen, junior deacon; Alfred T. Helgesen, senior steward; Gerald B. Conklin, junior steward; William H. Doggett, chaplain; Clarence Uncapher, marshall; David W. Terrill, treasurer; Frank E. Klobouchik, secretary; and John H. Seip, tyler.

THE MINUTE books of 100 years tells this story: (B8

Palatine lodge No. 314 AF & AM had its beginning January 15, 1859 when eight members entered the home of Lucius J. Hall for the purpose of organizing a lodge of Masons. The first meeting of the lodge under dispensation was held in Palatine February 1, of that year. Its officers were pioneers of the new village then only five years old. The first officers were Peter C. Lusk, W.M.; Morgan S. Johnson, S.W.; Richard Filkins, J.W.; Daniel H. Johnson, Treasurer; John H. Pahlman, Secretary; Lucius J. Hall, S.D.; Joseph Slade, J.D.

The early meetings were held on the third floor of a hall at the corner of Wilson and Bothwell streets. The lodge acquired an interest in the third floor of the building for $800. Interest rate was 10 per cent annually. When the funds of the lodge exceeded $50 above amount required payable for payment was applied against the principal.

The minute books revealed the following interesting information.

Lightning rods were ordered purchased April 21, 1861 at a cost of $6.

In May, 1861, meeting nights were changed to the Tuesday on or before the full moon.

January 14, 1862, a resolution read, "That we, the brethren, who are in the habit of using tobacco, refrain entirely while in the lodge room or provide a spittoon and keep same in a cleanly condition."

The first Civil War casualty of a member was Captain Mason Sutherland who had organized a company in the old Methodist church, which became a part of the 113th Regiment Illinois Volunteers. He was killed near Vicksburg, Miss. His body lies in Hillside cemetery.

The Sutherland Women's Relief Corps was named after him.

During 1863, other members lost their lives.

In November, 1865, the minute book recorded the names of 45 brethren who had been raised during the 6 years of existence of the lodge.

In 1867, the lodge voted to rent the lodge hall to Royal Arch chapter for one year free of rent with the provision that they furnish their own fuel and light and keep the hall neat and clean.

Palatine lodge gave its consent in 1869 to the formation of a Masonic lodge in Barrington.

May 28, 1869, the lodge voted to participate in decorating the graves of all deceaesd soldiers on Memorial Day.

The petition to form a German lodge in Palatine was presented October 22, 1870 but was deferred.

The first O.E.S. chapter was given rent free in 1871.

November 14, 1871, the lodge donated $100 for the relief of Worthy Masons and families who suffered from the Chicago fire.

March 8, 1873, a petition was presented to start a new lodge at Des Plaines Station but the committee gave an unfavorable report.

November 29, 1873, the lodge purchased a coffin for the daughter of a needy family for $18.70.

July 11, 1874, clothing valued at $89.50 and $26.70 cash was sent to New Orleans for the aid of flood sufferers.

December 2, 1876, a brother read an article on the subject of profanity and after discussion, all present, addicted to that habit, promised to abandon it in the future.

April 2, 1881, the lodge purchased an organ at the cost of $85.32.

September 26, 1881, the lodge decided to attend Memorial service for President James A. Garfield in Chicago.

December 31, 1881, the lodge voted to purchase the lower half of the building for the sum of $500; or as much less as possible, thus making the lodge owner of the building.

Taxes on the lodge property for 1887 amounted to $18.35.

The lower part of the lodge building was leased in 1884 to Hunneberg & Kuebler, barbers, for $100 per year.

March 1, 1890, a magic lantern was purchased.

November 6, 1890, the lodge declined to participate in laying the cornerstone for the new Masonic building at the corner of Randolph and State in Chicago.

June 20, 1891, request for a lodge at Des Plaines was granted.

January 5, 1895, the lodge voted to rent the lower hall at $2 for each date used, to the Methodist church.

For some time the only transportation between Arlington Heights and Palatine was the C&NW railroad. The last train east left Palatine at 10:59. The story is told that Arlington Heights members occasionally used a hand-car to attend lodge in Palatine.

July 20, 1895, the Methodist church was permitted to use the lower hall until the new church was built which was dedicated October 27, 1895.

Life memberships were granted for brethren on completion of 25 years of continuous membership.

September 18, 1897, the secretary signed a petition for waterworks.

January 17, 1903, the lodge voted to dispose of the lodge hall. The lodge property was sold for $1600; and the site of the present lodge building, was purchased from Mrs. Henry Meyer for $400.

November 20, 1904, a cornerstone ceremony of the new Masonic Temple was held. It was dedicated April 29, 1905.

October 30, 1909, the 50th anniversary was celebrated with a dinner at the Batterman Opera House. (The C.&N.W. Ry. furnished a special late train to Chicago that evening).

March 4, 1911, electric lights were ordered and installed.

October 25, 1912, the Grand Master prohibited smoking in open lodge.

April 1, 1914, rent of the lodge was raised to $200 per year.

The original dining room was at the west end of the second floor, accommodating only 25 people at a time.

December 2, 1916, a committee was appointed to remove the bowling alley on the first floor and use the space for a dining room.

At a stated meeting June 16, 1917, a proclamation by the Grand Master was read in regard to the state of war and the duties of Masons and all citizens to defend their country.

October 5, 1918, a communication from the Grand Master ordered that only the English language be used by Illinois lodges. Following World War No. 1, the flag ceremony was made part of the opening ceremonies.

In 1922, the lodge voted favorably for the formation of a lodge in Lake Zurich.

May 2, 1924, the rental of the lodge building was raised to a total of $600 for the Masonic bodies.

October 20, 1928, permission was granted to form a lodge at Arlington Heights.

During the depression of 1932, there was no degree work, although regular and special meetings were held.

February 20, 1934, the Grand Master ordered that brethren be admonished to take no part as Masons in any political campaign.

November 6, 1934, the lodge celebrated its 75th anniversary.

October 5, 1943, title to the lodge building was transferred by the Palatine Lodge Association to the Masonic Lodge.

During 100 years, 514 men have received the Master degree.

Membership in the lodge is given at 16 in 1860; 46 in 1885; 88 in 1910; 121 in 1935 and 165 in 1959.

Palatine lodge holds stated meetings the first and third Tuesdays of each month, to which all Masons in the area are welcome to attend. They are held in the temple at Plum Grove rd. and Chicago ave. in Palatine.

Information concerning the lodge may be secured from any of the following officers: Charles Barnes, master, CLearbrook 3-1963; George Richter, senior warden, FLanders 9-1984; Edward Fritzsche, FLanders 8-0409; or Frank Klobouchik, FLanders 8-0107.

(Note: The resume of the history of the lodge was compiled by Elmer Crane, P.M. from minute books)

"Every Man Is The Builder of a Temple Called His Body"*

The average life-span is now more than the biblical three score and ten. But, average means that some people will live to be more than a hundred and others, unfortunately, will not be so privileged.

Modern research has discovered that early treatment of any disease, before it ravages the body, can add years to life. If you depend less on self-treatments and visit your physician at the very first symptoms of an illness, the odds are you will live a longer, healthier life.

Arlington Man Is Named To Scout Nominating Group

Charles Perrin, 808 S. Vail, Arlington Heights, has recently been selected as a member of the nominating committee of the Northwest Suburban Council, Boy Scouts of America, according to Fred E. Welsh, Council President.

Perrin will serve as the Blackhawk district representative on the committee, which includes the suburban communities of Arlington Heights, Prospect Heights, Mt. Prospect, and Elk Grove Village.

The Scouting nominating committee is responsible, each year for the nominations, to the council membership, of the 55 man Council executive board and Council members at large.

Perrin is married and has a son and a daughter. He is a member of the First Methodist church of Arlington Heights; International Association of Chiefs of Police; Illinois Association of Chiefs of Police; Society of Former Special Agents of the FBI; Illinois Athletic Club; American Society for Industrial Security; Chicago Association of Credit Men; National Retail Credit association; and is vice-president of the Special Agents Association of Chicago.

PERRIN JOINED the Federal Bureau of Investigation in 1940, and served as a Special Agent for seven years. In 1947 he resigned from his position with the FBI to accept a position with the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau, an organization created to police the Thoroughbred Racing industry.

In 1950 he accepted the position of Assistant Chief Special Agent of the Illinois Central railroad. In 1955 he was named director of security for the Edward J. Hines Lumber company and presently is credit manager for the same company.

Perrin has been active in the Northwest Suburban Council for the past 10 years, having served on Cub Pack and Scout troop committees; as a district committeeman; chairman of finance for a Scout district; district committee chairman; and presently is a member at large of the executive board of the Northwest Suburban Council.

DAR Members Hear De Love

Twenty-five members of Daughters of the Revolution, Eli Skinner chapter, travelled to Independence Hall association in Chicago, October 1. Sidney De Love, founder of the non-profit association, whose purpose is to teach the basic doctrine of American heritage, was guest speaker.

DeLove has received many awards for being an outstanding patriot and is president of Cook County Federal Savings & Loan assn., Chicago.

November 5 meeting of DAR will be held in the home of Mrs. G. F. Schneberger. Members are asked to bring family heirlooms and mementoes.

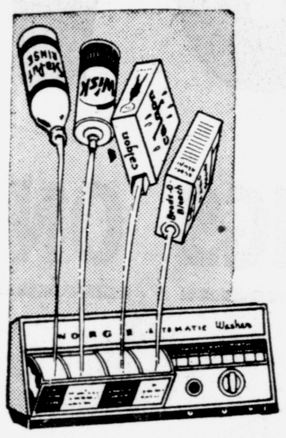
New 1960 NORGE Automatic GAS DRYER

SAFETY MISER IGNITION
A tiny pin-point pilot light with safety Shield . . . will not go out. Gives fast instant heat yet uses two-thirds less fuel than other gas ignition systems.

AUTOMATIC SAFETY CONTROLS
Stops dryer or drying operation automatically if electric current fails, or gas supply is interrupted, or if pilot is not lighted. During cycle main burner turns off when clothes door is open, turns on when door is closed.

EXCLUSIVE TIME-LINE CONTROL
Easiest to see, easiest to use drying control ever designed. Simply select desired drying time on measured straight line panel — up to 120 minutes without resetting for heaviest loads — and drying action starts. Completely automatic from start to finish.

HEAT-AIR SELECTOR
Simply turn control knob to HEAT for Balanced Speed Drying, or to ROOM TEMPERATURE for Super Air Flow Drying.



NORGE DISPENSOMAT WASHER
Pre-loads up to 4 different laundry aids — adds them automatically at exactly the right instant. Load it — Set it — Forget it.

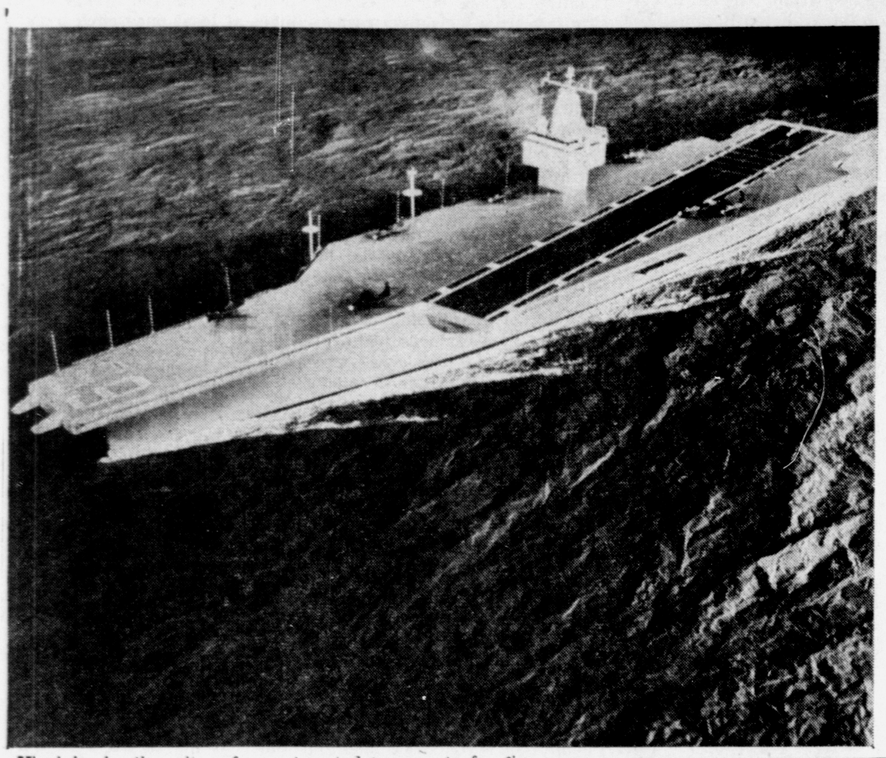
'Enterprise' Is World's First Atomic Carrier



Virginia is the site of construction of the world's first atomic aircraft carrier, The Enterprise.

Christening of this 1,100 foot Navy warship is slated for the summer of 1960. The ship, being built at the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company, will be powered by eight nuclear reactors that are expected to operate for five years on their first charge of fuel. This will enable the mobile air base to operate anywhere around the globe at a sustained speed of better than 30 knots for almost unlimited periods of time.

The ship will have an extreme width across the flight deck of 252 feet. It will be manned by a crew of 3,500 men.

It is expected that this nuclear-powered propulsion system will be the prototype for similiar installations made on the four-propeller passenger superline of the future. (WUS

Lucky B. Dodge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burt Dodge of 573 S. Milwaukee ave., and John D. Heppner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Heppner of 213 S. Milwaukee ave. Wheeling, graduated from recruit training October 9 at the Naval Training center, San Diego, Cal.

The graduation exercises, marking the end of nine weeks of "boot camp," included a full dress parade and review before military officials and civilian dignitaries.

Aboard USS Lofberg

Thomas W. Thornbary, boilerman third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Thornbary of 3040 N. Villa ave., Addison, is serving aboard the destroyer USS Lofberg operating with the U.S. Pacific Fleet out of San Diego, Cal.

Aboard USS Green County

Robert A. Lehman, electrician's mate fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Lehman of 209 N. Church rd., Bensenville, is serving aboard the tank landing ship USS Tom Green County operating with the U.S. Pacific Fleet of San Diego Calif. The Green County transports men and supplies for operational exercises involving naval and marine forces.

On Okinawa

CPL. PHILLIP J. SLOAN

Graduated from the Third Marine Division's Demolitions school on Okinawa September 25 was Marine Acting Cpl. Phillip J. Sloan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Sloan of 177 S. Center st., Bensenville.

He enlisted in February 1957.

Students in the school learned to identify, handle and employ with safety, all items of military demolitions.

The course gives students classroom and practical knowledge of priming devices, firing systems, and the various military demolitions used extensively both in combat and in training for combat.

MARY OLSON, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Harold E. Olson, 240 E. Colfax, Palatine, had a difficult time convincing the family pet poodle that higher education was desirable. Mary and her pet parted when she enrolled at Iowa Wesleyan college, Mt. Pleasant, Iowa. The pooch thought the trip and the dormitory were just fine until the time came to leave Mary at college.

In Alaska

Pfc. Richard A. Kasnick, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell A. Kasnick, Bensenville, recently graduated from the Yukon Command Non-Commissioned Officer academy in Alaska.

Kasnick received training in tactics, methods of instruction, map reading and military leadership.

A mechanic in the command's 136th Ordnance company, Ladd air force base, he completed basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., and arrived in Alaska last June.

Kasnick attended Fenton high school. His wife, Maria, lives in Fairbanks, Alaska.

A&P Food Stores Are Expanded in Chicago

As a part of its 100th birthday celebration, A & P Food Stores has opened six new super markets in the Chicago area in the last six weeks to keep pace with growing business, H. Wayne Carver, president of the middle western division, announced Wednesday.

More than $2,000,000 has been invested in buildings and equipment for the new super markets by both the developers and A & P, Carver said.

"This rate of expansion has never been surpassed by A & P in this section of the country," Carver said. "It denotes the company's intention to grow with Chicago. And it is particularly fitting that this big growth is recorded in October, the 100th anniversary month of the founding of the company."

THE SIX super markets, all containing the newest innovations for shopping efficiency and convenience, are spotted in strategic locations from Dolton on the south to Palatine on the north. Each has ample free parking space for customer convenience, relieving congestion on streets.

Each store is especially designed and stocked to provide maximum service for its particular neighborhood, it was pointed out. For example, Swedish, Kosher, Italian or Spanish specialties are carried in stores where there is special demand for those foods, as part of the more than 3,000 items found in all A & P super markets.

The Palatine store, opened September 29 at 275 N. Northwest hwy., features the company's Early American style of architecture. It embraces 12,000 square feet of floor space and the interior is finished in Wedgewood blue with accents of black and white. Gourmet foods are featured in one department, in addition to the regular lines of groceries, produce and meat. Parking space is provided for 106 cars.

The newest super market, opened October 13, is located at 2019 W. Chicago ave. It contains 14,000 square feet and has parking space for 61 cars.

ONE OF THE features of the Dolton store, at 15441 Cottage Grove ave., is its large non-foods department which contains a variety of houseware staples and other family needs. The floor space is 15,000 square feet and there is room for 380 cars in the Almar Plaza shopping center, in which the super market is located.

The location, size and parking facilities of the other recently-opened A & P super markets follows: 2601 E 79th st., 12,000 square feet, 60 cars; St. Charles — 1415 W. Main st., 12,000 square feet, 450 cars in shopping center; Northbrook — 1965 Cherry lane, 12,000 square feet, 488 cars in shopping center.

Ninth Night of Harmony Set by Barber Shoppers

Four silken voiced residents of Rock Island, Ill., will combine their talents in a barber shop quartet for the Ninth Annual "Night of Harmony" November 7 at the Arlington high school auditorium.

These men are known as the Vi-Counts and have been singing together since September of 1957. They have sung in more than 50 engagements in clubs, hotels, theatres, hospitals and at many community charitable functions. They have appeared throughout the East and Midwest and have won the Illinois District Barber Shop Quartet title.

In July of 1959 the Vi-Counts were International Finalists in the International Competition held in Chicago, which is no easy task.

BOB MAURUS, baritone and insurance agent; Jack Moore, lead and an industrial relations consultant; Max Lauser, tenor and a retail store proprietor; Bob Livesay, bass and newspaper circulation man make up the four voices of the Vi-Count quartet.

They were all members of the Rock Island SPEBSQSA chapter where they met and organized their smooth singing quartet.

Tickets for this show may be obtained from Allen's Paint Store in Arlington Heights, Tower Cleaners in Mt. Prospect or any member of the Arlington Chorus. (B8

Cornerstone Laid Sunday For Lutheran Hospital

In spite of adverse weather conditions, an estimated 5,000 persons attended the cornerstone laying ceremony at Lutheran General Hospital Sunday. Strong winds made it necessary to hold the program inside the new hospital located on Dempster st. in Park Ridge.

N. M. Nesset, hospital board president, placed a time capsule containing historical documents in the cornerstone. These documents included the names of 10,679 contributors of the building fund, articles of incorporation, building contracts, Lutheran Deaconess hospital and its school of nursing materials, hospital trustees' names, newspaper clippings, and membership lists of the women's service organizations of Lutheran deaconess and Lutheran General hospitals.

IN THE FEATURED address, Ray E. Brown, president of the Illinois Hospital association, described Lutheran General as "one of the most magnificent plants to go up in the United States in many years." He said, "When the plans for this hospital came before the Hill-Durton Agency, they were so impressive that the largest grant in the history of the program in Illinois was made." The hospital received a federal grant of $1,375,000.

Brown also stated that at 326 beds, the new hospital is one of the largest completely new hospitals in the country. He referred to a seminar put on by the Lutheran General trustees as a "pioneer move," and expressed the wish that other groups will duplicate this.

In discussing the many schools that will operate in connection with the hospital, he said, "Hospitals are not only a haven for the sick, they are also one of the most important educational institutions we have in this country. Educational programs at a hospital mean a high level of patient care."

ALTHOUGH THE hospital will not begin serving until late this year, the entire second and third floors and part of the main floor were open for inspection. Many of the patient rooms have been decorated, and a patient room completely furnished was on display. A motorized bed, which is standard equipment in the new hospital, was demonstrated.

Plans are now under way for the Open House which will be held just prior to the opening of the hospital. The community will be invited to see all parts of the hospital and to inspect the vast amount of equipment which is to be installed in the coming weeks. 8

Communist Techniques Is Topic

The kickoff meeting of the Northwest Industrial council for 1959-60 was held at Gunnell's restaurant, Mt. Prospect, September 16.

A group of more than 30 turned out to hear a tape recording entitled "Communist Indoctrination." A talk followed, presented by an army major, who discussed brainwashing techniques used on American soldiers during the Korean war.

"It was through systematic education, not torture, that many American soldiers lost the will to escape," he said.

Z. J. Lansky, of Hannifin company, Des Plaines, was instrumental in making the recording available to the group. He has an extensive background in the navy and the naval reserve.

The group is looking forward to the November meeting, when Sen. Everett Dirksen (R., Ill.) will address the group. His speech will center around the effects of exports on American industry.

Study Commissions For Legislators

It is a common misconception that in the interim between legislative sessions our Legislators are free from legislative responsibilities. True enough, the Legislature meets in regular session only once every two years, and then only for a six-month period. On occasion, such as in June, 1958, special sessions of the Legislature are called to deal with special and urgent problems. These, though, are generally of short duration, although in the early 1930s the Legislature was in almost continuous session for the full 24 months of the biennium when a series of continuous and overlapping special sessions were called. That was a most unique situation, however, for the extraordinary problems created by the depression produced that unusual result.

But even though the Legislature is normally out of session fo r18 months, the Legislator nevertheles keeps rather busy working with legislative commissions of various types.

DURING THE last session of the Legislature there were created or continued 40 working commissions, ranging in legislative membership from 4 to 22 legislators each. These working commissions conduct studies and investigations which will be reported to the 72nd General Assembly which will convene in January, 1961. Almost every member of the Legislature serves on at least one of these commissions and many of the Legislators serve on several.

In view of the Governor's extensive use of his veto authority, it can be said that the many commissions authorized by the Legislature have been reduced to an absolute minimum.

Even so, these commissions will expend an aggregate of approximately $1,400,000 in performing their functions. No member of the Legislature serving on any of these commissions will receive any compensation whatsoever, for this is prohibited by your State Constitution. Each will, of course, be reimbursed for his actual expenses, such as travel, lodging and the like.

MANY OF THE commissions, such as the Legislative Audit Commission of which I am chairman, are required by statute to meet at least once each month. Some of them will be required to meet even more frequently.

A number of the commissions are required to maintain staffs to carry on the studies, analyses, investigations and research which are necessary to enable the commission to reach decisions and determine upon recommendations which will be reported back to the Legislature.

Many of the commissions, such as the School Problems Commission and the Commission on Higher Education, are required to conduct numerous hearings throughout the State. In some cases, each hearing will extend over a 3 or 4 day period.

I have been much impressed with the fidelity with which legislative members of such commissions attend these meetings and study and evaluate the material presented to them.

Most Legislators treat their responsibilities as commission members extremely seriously. On very rare occasions does partisan politics assume a large importance. Particularly is this true at the present time. Inasmuch as the Democrats control the House and the Republicans control the Senate, most of the commissions are made up of an equal number of the members of each party. I have heard of no instance to date where any commission's work has been hampered or complicated because of any political deadlock that conceivably could occur because of the lack of a party majority in such membership.

THE STUDIES and recommendations which will emanate from these commissions will prove enormously helpful to the Legislature in 1961. Many of the important problems that will be facing the next session of the Legislature will be much simplified because of the intensive commission studies which will be conducted between now and that time.

This is made possible only because the legislative members have devoted much time to their commission responsibilities.

Special Assessment Notice

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS
SPECIAL ASSESSMENT
NO. 140

NOTICE is hereby given to all persons interested that the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Arlington Heights, Illinois, having ordered that a local improvement be made, (including the cost of making, levying and collecting the assessment) which is described as and consists of Constructing a sanitary sewer in Forrest Avenue to serve Lots 4 to 13, inclusive, and Lots 34 to 43, inclusive, in the C. H. Taylor's Arlington Town Gardens Subdivision, being a subdivision of the West one-half of the East one-half of the Northwest one-quarter of Section 28, Township 42 North, Range 11 East of the Third Principal Meridian the ordinance for the improvement being on file in the office of the Village Clerk, having applied to the County Court of Cook County for an assessment of the costs of the improvement, according to benefits, and an assessment therefor having been made and returned to that court, the final hearing thereon will be had on the 9th day of November A.D., 1959, at 10:00 o'clock A.M., or as soon thereafter as the business of the Court will permit. All persons desiring may file objections in that court before that day, and may appear on the hearing and make their defense.

Said assessment is divided into ten (10) annual installments and bears interest at the rate of six per cent per annum.

ROY E. ANDERSON
Commissioner appointed by the President of the Board of Local Improvements of the Village of Arlington Heights, Illinois, to make the assessment.

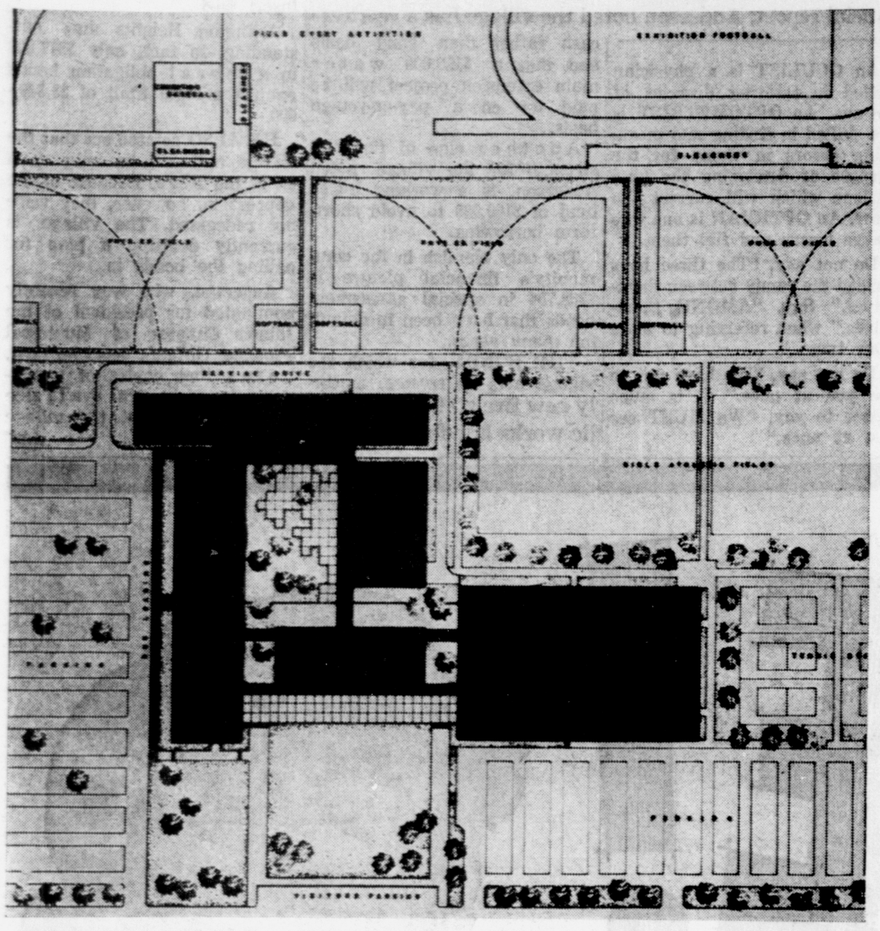
Third High School Building Combines Economy, Beauty



SITE DEVELOPMENT plan for High School District 214's proposed third building shows the school in relation to the 40 acres on which it will be constructed. The District already owns the site on Goebbert rd. in Elk Grove township, and will ask for $3.9 million to finance the school at a November 14 election.

Arlington High School District 214's board of education has been so concerned with publicizing the proposed third building's economic factors that they may have overlooked one thing—it's a beautiful architectural plan.

Superintendent H. L. Slichenmyer chuckled over this possibility, but agreed "it's a beauty. In fact it's so attractive we are afraid that the voters would immediately assume it is 'plush.' A building can be beautiful and still be built at a reasonable cost."

The 2500 student structure will face west on Goebert rd., a quarter mile south of Golf rd. in Elk Grove township, providing voters approve a $3.9 million bond issue Nov. 14.

ARCHITECTS Samuelson and Sandquist, Chicago, describe the new building as a "compact campus plan," in that the high school will be divided into five units connected by halls. According to the architects, thisgymnasium is regarded as two plan saves money since it allows less expensive types of construction in some units, rather than following completely the requirements of the more expensive academic structure.

The academic unit will be three stories high; the administrative unit (which also includes the library and business education classes and the physical education, music, and Little Theatre unit will be two stories, and the cafeteria and industrial education units will be one story.

The high school will afford some 101 "teaching stations," compared to Prospect High's 92 and Arlington High's 86. A teaching station is, in most cases a classroom, although the stations. The number of stations does not include large study halls.

IN SQUARE FEET the proposed building also approximates its brothers with 255,000. Prospect has 252,000 square ft. of space and Arlington has 248,000.

The building will be unique in some respects. A saw-toothed roof over the physical education, theatre, and music unit is both for "show" and for economy of construction. The roof design will be visible inside the gymnasium, but not in the theatre.

Three corridors are provided between the adacemic unit and the physical education, theatre, and music unit, one on the second floor and two at ground level. These halls also serve traffic to the library on the second floor and to the cafeteria on the first floor.

On the ground level, students may choose to walk outside when moving from the academic unit to the theatre or gymnasium. The second story of the administration unit projects over the sidewalk and provides a sort of canopy.

ONE OF THE most novel approaches to efficiency is present in the academic unit, which will have very wide corridors, with toilets, stairwells, conference rooms, all utility and heating risers, and lockers located in the middle of the corridor. The lockers run crosswise, thus not interfering with hall traffic.

Aisles down both sides of the locker rows will move the traffic. "This locker system is no more expensive than putting them in the old way (in the walls)," according to the architects. "In fact," they report, "this system was used in Willowbrook high school in Elmhurst and proved less expensive."

By putting lockers and corridors in the middle, every foot of window wall can be used in classrooms, which form the entire perimeter of the academic unit.

THE ARCHITECTS are also planning several movable partitions which will allow the walls of some classrooms to be pushed back, creating a large lecture room by combining space.

The library is located on the second floor of the administration unit and is directly accessible to the English and social science departments, who call on its resources most often.

Buses will load and unload along the entire length of the academic unit, which will have three entrances on the loading side.

The cafeteria has space for 750 students and will be constructed largely of glass, allowing a complete view of the inner courtyard. The courtyard is completely enclosed and is adjacent to all but the physical education, theatre, and music unit.

A SINGLE FOYER will serve both the Little Theatre, which seats 500, and the gymnasium, which can be equipped to seat 3000 at basketball games.

The stage of the theater also opens up to the gymnasium, which will be used for assemblies. The music department occupies band and chorus rooms on the second story of this unit.

The industrial education and academic units are both "open-end" so that they could be expanded if so desired.

Samuelson and Sandquist are also architects for the new Thornridge high school, Thornton of Harvey's second building. Thornridge, a 3000 student high school, will be ready in January.

The architects, who say they are "quite proud of the Goebert rd. building's beauty, efficiency, and economy," also designed junior high schools in LaGrange and Western Springs, and two Northern Illinois university at DeKalb.

Anxious Anglers Seek Sea Serpent in Pool

Oscar, a 10-pound catfish of gargantuan proportions, still lurks in a corner of the big Pioneer pool, waiting for an Arlington Heights' Izaak Walton's sharp hook.

For 821 fishermen who dunked their hooks in the pool during the park district's Fall Fishing Days last Saturday and Sunday failed to make contact with the bewhiskered monster. But this weekend, they may try their skill once more—and perhaps, even draw blood.

An adult night will be held Friday for mature anglers to fish under the lights. The pool will be open from 7 to 9 p.m. and children will be admitted only if a parent is fishing too. The regular admission charge will be made of $1 for adults and 25 cents for children.

COMPLETE equipment will be furnished but fishermen may bring their own tackle and bait it they desire. Casting is prohibited, however, because of the danger of hooking another person. That would be too large a fish to swallow.

Fishing is planned between 1 and 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Because the large crowd last week almost paid for the expensive game fish, the admission will be reduced to 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children. Each admission is for a 30-minute shift and a limit of one fish per shift will be enforced.

All kinds of lures, flies, bait and assorted inducements were offered the elusive and haughty trout, which snubbed the fishermen and ignored their offerings. Only 65 fish were landed last week out of a total of more than 400 placed in the pool. The uncaught fishy folk should be a mite hungrier after a week of enforced fasting.

THE largest specimen pulled out of the water was a big catfish landed by John Haight, 12. The fish weighed nearly 12 pounds and John was awarded a Bronson reel and Shakespeare rod by Wessman-Cunningham, local sporting goods dealers.

Bob Sulander, 8, caught a one pound, 8 ounce trout and was awarded a My Buddy tackle box. Ken Quinn, 11, Steven Nienaver, 8, and Allen Blockman 11, tied for third place, with trout weighing one pound, two ounces. Blockman won a colorful wall plaque. (A

A family dinner party was held for Jean, daughter of Vaneta and Ray Kellogg, 1341 N. Wilke, at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Vivian Whitney, to celebrate her seventh birthday October 8. In on the festivities were her brother, Whitney, and aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Probst, Bartlett, and their children, Cindy and Ricky.

A double birthday celebration was held for Joyce, daughter of Jeanne and Arhtur Sadowski, 1119 N. Wilke, who was nine October 11. A family dinner party was held Sunday, attended by her brothers, Tommy, Paul and Jimmy; sisters, Barbara and Christine; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Frohnauer, and uncle, Ray Hottinger.

A luncheon party was given Monday, and in on the fun were Linda Roser, Joan Carlson and Jean Burda, later in the day, the girls were treated to a show, "Darby O'Gill and the Little People", plus "Big Circus", at the Des Plaines theatre.

Friday evening guests in the home of Lorraine and William Ninneman, 1212 N. Chicago, were served birthday cake and ice cream in celebration of the third birthday of Bobby. He received the attention due him from his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Ernest Ninneman, Arlington Heights, cousins, Susan and Phyllis Grupe, Des Plaines, and aunt, Mrs. Bea Frisch, Park Ridge, and her daughters, Patty Jo and Sue Ann. Bobby's sister, Jo, was also on hand.

COMBINING business and pleasure last week were Lorraine and Ray Kunstman, 1309 N. Chicago, who quite unexpectedly spent three days in New York and vicinity. With the business side taken care of, Lorraine and Ray took in the usual tourist sights, enjoyed a performance of 'My Fair Lady", had dinner at Lindy's and the Rainbow Room atop the RCA building, and took in the scenic drive to Connecticut. It was Lorraine's first experience at flying, and while the trip to New York was turbulent, the flight home was smooth. Fortunately, Lorraine's mother, Mrs. Mary Schlicht of Arlington Heights, was on hand to take care of Cassandra and Rae.

An after-school party was held last week for Billy, son of June and Kilburn Visk, 1334 N. Chicago, who was six October 8. Games, prizes, favors, birthday cake and ice cream provided a pleasant time for Joan Kohler, Michael Lindholm, Linda Cech, Jimmy Dean, Roger Gumz, Peter Glatz, Ronald Stanley and Billy's brother, Larry. Invited, but unable to attend, were Richard Hayes and Brad Trowe.

Wishing Billy a happy birthday Sunday at a family dinner party were his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Felix Visk, Walworth, Wisc., and Mrs. Edna DePear, Chicago, as well as an aunt, uncle and cousins.

Polly and George Herbert, 1227 N. Chicago, and their children, George, Sue Anne and Mike, have been enjoying a 5-day visit from George's sister, Miss Anne Herbert, Avon, Conn.

CATHY AND BILL Gunnison, 1407 Clarendon, entertained several couples Saturday evening at a cocktail party preceding a dance at the VFW, sponsored for the benefit of the Little League baseball teams. Enjoying the Las Vegas night festivities along with the Gunnisons were Polly and George Herbert, Miss Anne Herbert, Betty and Bob Gumz, and Julia and Jack Martin. Going on to Grier's Supper club to continue their night out, the couples enjoyed several more hours of dancing before ending up at the Herberts' for an early morning breakfast.

Also having fun at the same affair were Laverne and Bud Reichert, 1208 N. Chicago, and Betty and Bill Hotze, 1210 N. Yale, who agreed that a good time was had by all for a good cause to boot.

Johnny, son of Pauline and John Noerenberg, 123 N. Race, celebrated his eighth birthday Thursday by entertaining Billy Ross and Henry Silver at a dinner party. Of course, Johnny's brother, Tommy, and sister, Susan, were there too.

A combination birthday-supper party was held Sunday afternoon. Wishing Johnny many happy returns were his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lazarus Andrew, and aunt, uncle and cousins, r. and Mrs. Peter Christy, Charlotte and Patty Andrew, all of Milwaukee, and godfather, Thomas Fisekis, Chicago.

Thursday afternoon Bobby, son of Peggy and Thomas McGuire, 1400 N. Yale, celebrated his fifth birthday, and his guests, among whom were his brother, Tommy, Allan Moore and Marty Bloom, were delighted with the Halloween theme.

CHARMAINE and Charles Sayre, 1204 N. Race, are proud of ther daughter, Lauren, who will be 13 this month. She was recently chosen for a 12-week scholarship course at Patricia Vance modeling school, which she is presently undertaking. someday she hopes to make modeling her career.

Billy, son of Paula and William Dean, 1420 N. Chicago, is another of those to enjoy a double birthday celebration, with the first one being held at the home of an aunt in Cleveland, where the Deans were staying while house hunting a week ago. Having lived there before, there were many relatives and old friends on hand to wish him many happy returns.

Although Billy was 5 October 5, his party at home was delayed until last Friday afternoon, when he entertained his playmates, Richard Hayes and Scott Martin, and brother, Jimmy.

Tuesday the Deans left for their new home in Bay Village, Ohio, a suburb of Cleveland. While neighbors here will miss them, they wish them well in their new venture, which came about as a result of a promotion and transfer. Bill will serve as news editor of Steel Magazine.

An addition was made to the Frank Zaucha family October 12, when Laura Marie, 6 pounds 13 ounces, made an early morning appearance in St. Elizabeth hospital, Chicago. Delighted, of course, were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Fortney and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zaucha of Chicago, and Laura's sister, Kathleen.

DOROTHY and Leonard Ukleja, 1421 N. Wilke, their daughters, Eileen, Diane and Janice, and Dorothy's mother, Mrs. Marie Bender, attended a 25th wedding anniversary surprise party for their brother and son, Arthur Wermuth, and his wife, Virginia, in Chicago October 10. A complete surprise, the party had been completely planned and carried out by the Uklejas, Mrs. Bender and numerous other relatives and friends.

Mina Shields, 126 N. Race, entertained at a kaffee klatsch Wednesday afternoon so her new neighbor, Elizabeth Homme, 1264 N. Race, could meet some of her immediate neighbors. Among those invited were Pat Davis, Virginia Pemberton, Jo Diedon, Ann Cardinell and Jean Parks.

Man of the hour last Sunday in the home of Laverne and Bud Reichert, 1208 N. Chicago, was their son, Jimmy, who was celebrating his 11th birthday. After spending the morning playing football, the family, which includes his brothers, Terry, Dennis and Michael, adhered to his wishes of wanting to visit Dell's apple orchard where they all enjoyed picking their share. Later the Reicherts entertained Jimmy's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Witt, Chicago, at a family dinner-birthday party. (A

Wilson School Chief Plagued by Problems

"Nobody knows the trouble I've seen," could well be the lament of the Wilson school superintendent in north Arlington Heights when he contemplates the completion date of his eight-room addition.

Construction delays have probably plagued all school administrators at one time or another, but few can match the seemingly endless delays encountered by Robert Parsons, head of district 24, serving Hasbrook and Virginia Terrace subdivisions.

Realizing the school was heading for double-shift sessions at the beginning of the fall term, the school board sought and won passage of a $115,000 bond issue last February for construction of an addition.

THE COUNTY was late in releasing assessed valuation figures, however, and the bonding house would not approve the bonds until such data was available.

The contractor, meanwhile, went ahead and broke ground for the addition in the middle of May. By June though, when the bonds had still not been signed, he slowed down construction.

The bonds were signed the first week in July and the money deposited with the township school treasurer in August. It was full speed ahead again with construction. But now it seemed that when the bricklayers were ready to go to work, there were no door frames, and when the electricians arrived, they were a little premature.

AS PARSONS puts it, "We had a little trouble coordinating the workmen." Things were finally straightened out, however, and it looked as if the now certain double-shift might last no longer than a couple of months.

The next blow came when the contractor was informed that because of the steel strike, delivery of steel beams for the second floor would be delayed. The beams arrived last week.

"Now," says Parsons, "We're hoping the roof will be on before the first snow so that bad weather won't slow down work." (AF

Civic Unit Sets Opera Program

"Opera Highlights" is the featured attraction of the year being planned by the Greenview Civic association for Dec. 13 at the Prospect high school.

The operatic evening is being directed by Mr. and Mrs. William Fricke, whose group will present excerpts of "The Masked Ball," "La Traviata" and "The Telephone." The group is seeking singers for chorus or solo performances.

An attempt is beng made to secure Dr. Lois Higgins, of the Crime Prevention Bureau for the Nov. 2 meeting to speak on "Narcotics."

IN OTHER activities of the association, a letter is being sent to the Arlington Village hall in protest of Waterman ave. being made a one-way through street, and a report was made of the League of Women Voters' protest of the double park district taxes on the east side of Waterman, it was said.

New street directors for Evanston and Dale aves. are Bad De Fano and Eugene Hlavacek.

At a recent associaton board meeting, Mrs. George E. Nicklaus, executive director of the Northwest Family service, explained the function of her organization.

The social committee expressed its gratitude to all who helped make the recent dance a success. (A

Village in Good Financial Shape

Thursday, Oct. 15, 1959

A low bonded indebtedness and an up-to-date physical plant distinguishes Arlington Heights as acommunity in good financial standing, according to Roy E. Anderson, the village's finance director.

Commenting on his recently completed annual financial report, Anderson noted the village has a relative-cash rather than bond basis and that a $150,000 water main extension project will be paid for on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Another sign of financial strength for the village, noted Anderson, is a working cash fund of $100,000 to avoid short-term borrowing.

The only blemish in the community's financial picture is $368,794 in special assessment bonds that have been in default for many years.

THE BONDS, for which the village acts as trustee, maturly new fire station and public works building and is about to build a new village hall, but is nowhere near the legal limits of bonded indebtedness.

Village in Good—2-36 Bold Insert 66-8

Arlington Heights has outstanding, in fact, only $377,000 in general obligation bonds against a legal limit of $3,340,000.

HE ALSO pointed out that the village hall will be built on a ed in the 1930's. Because of the depression, however, they were not redeemed. The village is currently devising a plan for calling the bonds in.

Anderson, who was recently nominated for president of the Illinois Chapter of Municipal Finance Officers association, notes that copies of the financial report are available free of charge at the village hall. (AF

Find One Oasis in Desert For Handicapped Youth

One class, in Wheeling, is all the help to be found in the northwest suburbs for handicapped children—children handicapped in a special way.

Somehow during or after birth, some children receive a brain injury that impairs part of their perception, speech, or motor coordination.

Such children are called "Perceptually Handicapped." They are not usually mentally retarded, but are unable, because of the injury, to absorb learning in a normal classroom situation.

Last week's story about a boy with aphasia (damage to the part of the brain that controls ability to speak) brought more phone calls from interested parents who were eager to help.

The president of the Mt. Prospect Junior Woman's club told how the perceptually handicapped child was "the project" for all Illinois Junior Woman's clubs.

"WE HAVE BEEN trying to institute some sort of testing program to ferret out such children in our district," Mrs. Barbara McCullaugh, 506 Go-Wanda, explained.

Sunday her group held a candle tea at the home of Past President Mrs. Lois Ristow. The Junior Woman's club sold all its decorated paragon candles to about 80 persons. The result? A sum of $80-85 to be donated to the Fund for Perceptually Handicapped children.

MRS. RISTOW said this money would probably be used for a scholarship, either for a brain-damaged child or to help train a teacher to take over a class such as Wheeling has.

The Mt. Prospect women will soon begin selling trick-or-treat candy to benefit the Brain Research foundation.

From Wheeling came a call from a member of its Junior Woman's club.

"WE WILL be glad to help any club which wants to get this sort of thing started," she said.

The class for perceptually handicapped children—one of four in the state—was the result of the Junior Woman's club work there.

The Mt. Prospect Junior Woman's club is planning a mass meeting for Jan. 28 at the village hall.

All school officials in the Elk Grove, Rolling Meadows, Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Des Plaines, and Wheeling elementary districts will be invited to learn more about the need for special classes for the perceptually handicapped. (B8

Caseworker Emphasizes Role of Parental Love

Love as a dynamic force was vividly illustrated by the suicide of 250 French orphaned babies.

Told recently by Mrs. Alice Anderson, caseworker for the Lutheran Home Finding society at the women's guild of Our Saviour Lutheran church, 1234 N. State, this is what happened:

It was after World War II. The orphans were jammed together in cribs in a large room, with the barest minimum of attention. Although separated by sheets, many died of contagious diseases.

When a baby was hungry and cried, a bottle was placed in its mouth; it was never loved, never cuddled. Out of sheer necessity, food was stuffed into the baby or its diaper was changed.

DAYS WENT BY and lengthened into weeks, and the babies learned the response to crying meant food. Gradually, they lost their interest in the food, and cried just for the sake of crying.

They grew more and more indifferent to the food, became weaker and weaker until finally many of them died.

"It is believed," said Mrs. Anderson, "that these children just committed suicide."

Of those who survived, 10 per cent were placed in foster homes. The remaining 90 per cent became inmates either of prisons or of mental hospitals.

In another tale, this one an experiment, a group of baby rats were completely isolated immediately after they had been born. When it was time for them to mate, they were placed together.

SHOWING AN almost complete lack of interest in each other, a great deal of time elapsed before cohabitation took place. When the baby rats were born, their mothers either ignored them completely, refusing to feed them or killed them.

"This was designed," said Mrs. Anderson, "to prove that motherhood is not an instinct. It is learned by experience, and one only gives what one receives."

The speaker traced the case history of a three-year-old boy, whom she gave the name of "Mike Nelson," and whom she had helped place in an independent boarding home. Father of the boy is serving a prison term; his mother is in a mental institution.

Illustrating "Parent-Child Relationships," the title of her talk, with the background of Mike, his parents and grandparents, the trouble stemmed all the way back to the relationship of Mike's grandparents with Mike's mother.

TRACING A PATTERN of the unloved and unwanted child, who was a victim of a miserly mother and a stern father, both of whom basically rejected their daughter, Mike's mom managed to respond remarkably to her outside world, failing however in her family relationships. She finished high school and was able to hold a decent job.

She failed in first one marriage and then in a second one, and was disowned by her parents. Deprived of family love and security, suffering immaturity, she couldn't make a success of her own family life.

In her conclusions, Mrs. Anderson pointed out that the Institute for Juvenile Research, in analyzing reports on 64,000 children it had handled, said the major causes of behavior problems was caused by the inconsistency of parents' actions before thesir children, rejection and over-protection of the child.

Hostilities, resentments and ill feeling, often stored up during the day were let out on the child at the end of the day, perhaps in contrast to an earlier pleasant relationship. Children often found themselves arrayed on the battleground for affection between parents, with one perhaps being a saint and the other an ogre. One never compensated for the other.

However, the basis for good relationships and healthy upbringing was the genuine love and affection of parents for their children and the feeling of being wanted.

Highway Traffic Fatalities Took Turn for Worse in Area

Highway traffic fatalities in suburban Cook county "took a turn for the worse" in August, the county traffic safety commission reports.

The death toll of 16 was twice that of the preceding month and five higher than in August of last year.

Although the most dangerous months are still to come, there are grounds to hope that 1959 will end with a record low in the area, says Daniel Ryan, president of the county board and of the traffic safety commission.

The eight-month total is below that of the same period of 1958 because of the good showing in previous months of this year. This year through August the death toll stands at 91, compared with 113 in the same period last year.

"Since this improvement has been recorded at a time when highway fatalities nationwide have been increasing 5 per cent, there is reason to believe," says Ryan, "that other factors than mere good luck are at work, including safer highways, better law enforcement, and, most encouraging, better driver behavior."

Here are the accumulated totals for the year through August: Total accidents, 22,625, or at the rate of 93 every 24 hours; deaths 91; injuries, 6,451.

For the same eight month period last year: 19,789 accidents, 113 deaths, 5,824 injured.

Following are traffic statistics for towns in this area with the eight-month total listed first in each column followed by August's report:

TOWN	ACCIDENTS	KILLED	INJURED

Manufacturer Heads Boy Scout Campaign

Fred W. Buhrke, president of the Buhrke Tool and Engineering company, Inc. Mount Prospect, was recently named 1960 finance campaign chairman for the Northwest Suburban Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Buhrke will give leadership to the over-all independent campaigns conducted throughout the northwest suburban area of Chicagoland, with 13 communities to be involved in this year's scout solicitation.

Mount Prospect, Prospect Heights, Arlington Heights, Elk Grove Village, Palatine, Lake Zurich, Niles, Hoffman Estates, Rosemont, Wheeling, Buffalo Grove, Forest River, and Rolling Meadows are the communities which will be solicited directly by the campaign organization of the Northwest Suburban Council this year, according to Buhrke.

FUNDS RAISED in the 1960 scout campaigns will be used to further extend the cub scouting, boy scouting and explorer programs throughout the northwest suburban area. This particular scout council has recently been labeled as one of the five fastest growing boy scout councils of the 537 scout councils in the country.

For the past 50 years, the Boy Scouts of America have made steady progress of maintaining conditions so that any boy who may so desire may become a cub scout, boy scout or explorer. The increased activity of the Community Chest in Des Plaines has been instrumental in making this aspect of scouting's growth a total reality! Scouting in the northwest suburban area has an integral and active interest in the success of the Des Plaines Community Chest.

Sponsoring Institutions play a major part in the development of the scouting program through their active leadership in providing adult leadership, meeting places, maintenance of properties, and sponsorship of scout unit level activities.

THE BENEFITS of the character building, citizenship training and personal, mental and moral fitness phases of scouting probably directly influence the welfare of the community and families without boys directly related to the program more so than those families who have a major proportion of activity in the program, according to national authorities who have a relationship to community welfare. Scout trained men today share responsibility for the major business, industry, church, school, and other professional fields of activities, which contribute to the greatness of the United States.

The Boy Scouts of America is a national youth movement which, for the past 50 years, has served an excess of 25,000,000 persons.

The purpose of the movement is character development, citizenship, training and physical fitness. This purpose is achieved through activities, (primarily in the out-of-doors): an ethical and moral code; and by association with men and women of high ideals.

The Boy Scout program begins with Cub Scouting at eight years of age, and through progressive scouting experiences keeps pace with the development of the boy through his high school level.

The meeting place and the adult leaders are provided by the institution. The adult volunteer leaders serve without financial compensation. The expense of each group (uniforms, equipment, camp fees) is financed by the members of the group. Within the broad policies of the Boy Scouts of America, each chartered institution is completely independent in the operation of its program. Thus scouting becomes an integral part of the church or synagogue, school and community in which it functions. The boy's loyalty remains with his home, church or synagogue and school. Scouting supplements but does not supplant these fundamental institutions in a boy's development.

A surprising fact is that for every four boys enrolled there is one active adult. The average adult volunteer scout unit leader invests an average of 29 hours a month in his scouting job. Other adults give time and energy in varying but significant degrees.

THERE ARE a number of things vital to the success of the program which these sponsoring institutions cannot provide for themselves, viz: organization of new units, training for leaders, program aids, camping facilities, merit badge counselors. These services are rendered by the Boy Scout council and its committees composed of selected volunteers. Through organization the talents of these men and women are directed to the time and place where their help is needed.

The council maintains a Scout business office as a service station for volunteers. It is the connecting link between local institutions and their leaders and the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

The council employs an executive staff of eight trained men who are consultants—not to boys—to leaders and parents of boys in Scouting. These Scout executives represent two-tenths of one per cent of all the adult leaders of Scouting in the northwest suburban council. Scouting is essentially a volunteer movement.

Because of its method of supplying a program, with trained consulting service, to already existing institutions, the cost of Scouting per member is the lowest of any boy's program in the northwest suburban area. Even so, there is a direct ratio of boys served to dollars invested. More boys inevitably means more adult leaders and more supporting facilities. An executive staff man may serve as many as five hundred adult leaders. When the number of boys in Scouting grows and more leaders are required, additional staff is also needed to aid the volunteers in carrying out a quality program.

While the over-all boy membership of the northwest suburban council, at the end of 1958 was approximately 10,000 boys, the anticipated boy membership by 1968 will be in excess of 23,000.

PUBLIC FUNDS suppoort only one of three phases of Scouting's financial program, that being the local council operation, which includes general promotion of the Scout program, training and materials for the thousands of adult volunteer leaders; camping instruction and a minor share of the year-around operation of conducting the camping program of Scouting; all of the sundry activities and events the Scouts are exposed to; the cost of Scout record keeping and supply maintenance at the Scout service center; salaries of executive staff and service center employees; and the cost of the annual quota which is forwarded to the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America. Less than one per cent of public funds contributed, in the northwest suburban council is forwarded to the national organization for service area costs. All other public and other funds contributed to this organization are expended in the interest of local Scouting promotion and activities!

Buhrke is married and has three children. He attended Northwestern University and Aeronautical University. He has been a resident of Mt. Prospect for the past eight years and presently is vice president of the Mt. Prospect Lions club; president of the Mt. Prospect Art League; and is a member of the Northwest Industrial Council and the National Tool and Die Institute.

The Buhrke Tool and Engineering company recently tooled and manufactured reading lights for the Boeing 707 Jet Transport Plane. (B8

Male Quartet Sings Sunday

From a performance before President Dwight D. Eisenhower to a concert this Sunday at 8:15 p.m. in the Arlington high gym, the Revelers male quartet is making musical history.

Opening the season of five concerts for the Arlington Heights Community Concert association, the Revelers currently is composed of Thomas Edwards and Feodore Tedick, tenors; Robert Irvin, baritone, and Edward Ansara, bass.

Among former members of the quartet are James Melton, Frank Parker and Frank Black, who was its director-pianist a quarter of a century ago.

LISTING AMONG their accomplishments the recording of their voices for Urania Records, the quartet has sung in key cities across the continent.

Tedick has appeared on the Broadway musical stage in "Bloomer Girl," "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," "Paint Your Wagon" and in "Arabian Nights.' Also, he replaced Lauritz Melchoir on the NBCs Colgate Comedy Hour and has appeared in both operas and movies.

Edwards has made two nation-wide tours with the "American Ballad Singers," appeared in "Blossom Time," and has sung the title role in Romberg's "The Student Prince," and he has been selected to play the lead in Puccini's "La Rondine."

HANNA SANG leading baritone roles in "La Traviata," "La Boheme" and "I Pagliacci" at Milan's Teatro Nuovo in Italy and sang at the Venice opera house during the International Music Festival. Also, he was a soloist in the Hollywood Bowl's 'Viennese Night."

Ansara sang leading bass roles with the Juilliard Opera theater and appeared in the American premiere of "Le Pauvre Matelot," performed with the Opera department at Tanglewood, led by Boris Goldovsky and worked under the direction of Robert Shaw and the late Arturo Toscanini in Carnegie hall broadcasts, concerts and recordings.

In addition, he sang with the Chautauqua and Long Island opera companies and performed on CBS-TV's "Omnibus" program. (A

Six Injured In Auto Accidents

Two accidents which occurred around twilight Saturday on Illinois 58 a half mile east and west of Illinois 83 resulted in injuries to six persons.

District 3 state police and District 1 Milwaukee ave. sheriff's police investigated the simultaneous traffic mishaps.

Listed in "poor condition" at Resurrection hospital when her foreign auto collided with another car on Illinois 58 a half mile west of Illinois 83 was Mrs. Gertrude G. Dolke, 47, of 1841 Asbury ave., Evanston.

She was proceeding east on Illinois 58 when she collided with an automobile headed west driven by Oren De Graffenreid, 54, of 270 Indian trail, Lake-in-the-Hills, Algonquin. De Graffenreid was also taken to Resurrection hospital for treatment.

SHERIFF'S POLICE described Mrs. Dolke's car as a total wreck. About $500 damage was done to the other vehicle. The mishap occurred at 5:20 p.m.

The other accident which occurred east of Illinois 83 on Illinois 58 resulted in injuries to four persons.

State police identified the injured in one auto as Frank Barber, 28, of 7635 Monroe st., Niles, the driver; Silva Bryan, 22, of 6145 N. Winthrope, Chicago, and Larry Bryan, 28, of the same address, passengers.

Also taken to Resurrection hospital was driver of the other car, Jeanne Kline, 18, of 2645 Girard dr., Evanston, who was cited for traveling too fast for conditions.

Police said the Barber vehicle was headed west on Illinois 58 and the other car east when the mishap occurred.

Police described the Kline vehicle as a total wreck, while damage to the Barber vehicle was estimated at $400. (B-8

THIS ACCIDENT scene was repeated about a mile away at dusk Saturday, October 10, on Illinois 58 near Illinois 83, where another accident occurred at the same time. Overturned car above was driven by Gertrude G. Dolke, 47, of 1841 Asbury ave., Evanston, who is on the critical list in "poor condition" at Resurrection hospital. Driver of the car was also taken to the hospital for treatment. Four persons suffered injuries in accident which occurred east of the above one. (B-8

Illinois Legislature Has Problem in Passing Bills

by W. RUSSELL ARRINGTON
State Senator,
4th Senatorial District

Many inquiries are made of me as to the frequency of the regular sessions of the Illinois Legislature and what compels the adjournment of such sessions by June 30.

It has been very surprising to learn that many persons believe the Legislature meets each year.

This, of course, is erroneous. Our Illinois Constitution provides that the Legislature shall meet in general sessions only once each two years. These sessions are held only during the uneven-numbered years commencing in January.

THE CONSTITUTION does provide that the Governor may on extraordinary occasions convene the General Assembly in special session. This must be done by gubernatorial proclamation which must state therein the purpose for which the special session is to be convened. In such special sessions the General Assembly may enter upon no business except that for which it was specially convened.

There is no provision in the Constitution which requires the adjournment of a regular session by June 30. But the Constitution does provide that no law may take effect until the First day of July next after its passage, except in case of emergency (which emergency must be expressed in the preamble or body of the Act). And all emergency measures require a two-thirds vote of each body for passage.

Since most bills are of non-emergency character, very few of them carry an emergency clause; thus they require only a single majority of each legislative house for passage. Many of them would be unable to obtain the two-thirds vote which emergency legislation requires.

ACCORDINGLY, IF the bulk of the bills introduced in the general session are to be made effective without a full year's delay, they must be passed by the Legislature prior to July 1 of the year the Legislature is meeting.

This almost invariably gives rise to the fictitious practice followed in Illinois (and in practically all the other States) of stopping the clock at five minutes to midnight the night of June 30 in the session years and proceeding right on with the session.

This year of 1959, for instance, the Legislature adjourned theoretically at 11:55 o'clock on the evening of June 30. The Session continued right on, however, beyond this time and considered a hundred or more Bills still remaining on the calendar and did not actually adjourn until 1:30 the next afternoon, which, of course, was on July 1.

WHILE I WAS in Hawaii this past summer, I learned that recently the Hawaiian Territorial Legislature continued in continuous Session for 26 days following June 30, although technically adjournament had occurred almost four weeks before.

Many wonder how such a result can legally occur. The device is as follows: A Journal of the proceedings of each House must be kept each legislative day. When the Houses finally adjourn (even though this occurs after June 30) a committee of each House is appointed to approve the Journal of the day's proceedings. The Journal invariably reflects that adjournment occurred at 11:55 o'clock on the night of June 30. The Committee thereupon approves the Journal and this record stands as the official one. Our Supreme Court has held that the Journal of the Houses constitutes the official record of the legislative proceedings. If such Journal records an adjournment at a specific time, no outside evidence will be permitted to be introduced to show that the actual adjournment occurred at a later time. (ACM

Commuter Threatens Suburb's 'Shut-Eye'

Some 115 early morning Crystal Lake riders may lose some shut-eye if a Barrington commuter wins a complaint against the Chicago & North Western, the railroad has told the Illinois Commerce Commission.

And how it all would affect riders from Arlington Heights to Park Ridge and Edison Park and other points on down the line to the Chicago downtown terminal remained somewhat of a puzzle.

Eugene J. Hanson, 342 W. Cuba road, Barrington, wants the 6:25 a.m. stop restored in Barrington so he can arrive at his desk on time at the Chicago Stock Yards where he is construction superintendent for Swift and Co.

THE STOP was dropped last December, when the railroad hiked fares, dropped stations altogether and instituted other changes.

Ever since then he's had to catch the train at Palatine. His alternatives are to ride the 6:03 out of Barrington (considered an unreasonable departure time by Hanson), or board the 6:42 which he says most always is late and makes him and other members of a Loop car pool late for work.

But to restore the 6:25 stop at Barrington would mean using Train No. 610 to do it. It originates in Crystal Lake and now pulls out at 6:15 with about 115 Crystal Lake riders aboard.

This train would have to start out five minutes earlier for it to stop at Barrington and still keep on schedule, railroad officials told the commission.

JORDON J. Hillman, a railroad attorney, said the North Western has improved service since the changes put into effect last December and also the area is served by an additional early morning train, the 6:42.

A standee problem on Train No. 610 has been eliminated by the new train which arrives in the Loop only 8 minutes behind No. 610, he said.

The case was marked "heard and taken" by William E. Melander, ICC examiner who is to file a recommendation for the commission comissioners. (B8

Among the fortunate ticket holders for a world series game were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mutti. They witnessed the final game at Sox park last Thursday. Their son, Jackie, and guest Billie Kasper were also in the party. After the game they all enjoyed dinner at the Como inn in Chicago.

On September 25 Jackie celebrated his 16th birthday. For the occasion his parents entertained 27 friends and relatives at a buffet supper in their home, 314 N. Beverley lane.

A long weekend was spent at Lundgren lake, 300 miles north of Arlington at Pembine, Wis. by Mr. and Mrs. Bud Scully and their children, Claudia, Celine and Jeanne, 212 N. Brighton pl. Snow and cold weather hampered the Scully's fishing on Sunday, but prior to that they did get in their share.

ONE OF THE junior class floats for Arlington high's homecoming parade was built at the home of Lenore Radosti, 418 N. Beverley lane. The float carried the slogan "I'll send them out of this world" Lenore was one of the many neighborhood youngsters who attended the Homecoming dance Saturday night. Her escort was John Lynk.

Happy birthday wishes are extended to Steve Malaznik, 731 N. Hickory, who was 16 years old on September 25.

Mrs. William Kasper and Mrs. George Brinke attended a buffet luncheon last Thursday at Old Orchard Country club. The luncheon, which was given by the lady Elks of Arlington Heights, featured cards and a "white elephant" sale.

On Saturday Mrs. Brinke entertained at a luncheon in her home, 307 N. Lincoln lane, for eight women who have been friends since their school days. The guests, all former students at Carl Schurz High school, Chicago, meet once a month for lunch at each other's homes. They come from scattered points between Park Forest and Waukegan.

In honor of Bill Kasper's birthday, October 13, the Kaspers and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mutti dined at Simonini's in Algonquin. A previous celebration of his birthday was held Sunday when Mr. Kasper's sister and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Wienkus and Sandra from Berwyn, were entertained for dinner at the Kasper home.

Another birthday celebration this week was for Johnnie Heitz, who was five years old October 12. Johnnie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Heitz, 219 N. Beverley lane.

GUEST FOR ONE week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon McKnight, 211 N. Brighton, was Mr. McKnight's aunt, Elizabeth Blattner, from Olympia, Wash. The Art Museum in Chicago was one of the places the McKnights showed their guest. As Washington abounds in evergreens Mrs. Blattner was particularly interested in seeing the changing fall colors of our trees. The cold rainy weather of last week hampered their sightseeing, but the McKnights did manage several trips to the woods, so Mrs. Blattner could view the trees in their breathtaking autumn beauty. Mrs. Blattner left Saturday for a visit to Washington, D.C. and to the east.

Judie Fitz-Patrick was maid of honor at the recent wedding of Barbara Gay to Pat Harris at the Prospect Heights Community church. All the young people were students together at Arlington high school. Judie's brother, Denny, who is a freshman at Arlington this year was elected to the Student council. (A

State Alters 7 Area Licenses

One driver's license was revoked, four were suspended and two drivers were given probationary permits in the Northwest Suburban area by secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier.

Revoked was the license of Rawson L. Dickinson, 25 E. Stonegate, Prospect Heights. The licenses were suspended for Virginia Moral, 1045 W. Higgins, Elk Grove; Earl C. Tinder, 202 E. Norman lane, Wheeling; Wayne A. Miles, 25 W. 270 Argyle, Roselle, and Peter M. Tarpenian, 252 E. Wrightwood, Addison.

Given probationary permits were William B. Martin, 903 E. Central, Mt. Prospect, and Ronald R. McPherson, 217 E. Irving Park, Roselle. (B8

Q. Even if the wedding is to be a very small, informal one, would it be all right for the bride to wear a white bridal veil?

A. A white bridal veil is always in order, provided, of course, that it is not the bride's second marriage.

"MY DOCTOR . . ."

This possessive phrase is familiar to all.
It represents the profound confidence
American people have in physicians.
But do you really have a family physician?

Even though you may have been fortunate, not requiring medical care, it is stitch-in-time wisdom to establish a "family doctor" relationship.

Simply contact the physician of your choice, requesting that you would like him to serve your family should the need arise.

And if such a need arises, our prescription department is prepared to serve you and your family.

CONSTRUCTION HAS STARTED on Interstate Steel company's new $1,100,000 warehouse and office at 401 Touhy ave., one block west of Wolf rd. in Des Plaines. The new plant on an 11½ acre site close to O'Hare Airport, the projected Northwest Expressway and the Illinois tollroad will have a total of 83,000 square feet of space. Completion is expected by May, 1960.

Improved Carburetors Aid 1960 Lark Performance

PART 3 — Design for Living — BUSINESS BUILDING IMPROVING — SUBURBANITES IN THE NEWS

Engineering changes for Studebaker-Packard's Lark for 1960 will be primarily under the hood — and drivers will feel the improvements, if not see them.

The Lark Six, economy tested by thousands of motorists over hundreds of thousands of miles in 1959, will feature a new carburetor to give its proved power plant more efficient operation and improved performance.

SUPPLEMENTING the carburetor, modifications of the cylinder head combustion design, torque converter, starter and air cleaner, along with new Butyl engine mounts — all add up to livelier response, smoother operation and easier starting under all conditions for 1960.

The Lark V-8, performance tested for the new era of convenience-size cars, will feature modifications of the carburetor and fuel pump and a new distributor — changes that will add greater operational efficiency to a road-proved sturdy and spirited car.

The new carburetor for the Lark Six will have redesigned fuel passages and anti-percolating characteristics. Tendency of the carburetor to percolate will be further reduced by the accelerating pump which will have a ball check design, rather than a disc check device.

A DIFFERENT idle system will assist in improving hot temperature carburetor operation.

These improvements will produce smoother operation at low speeds or when idling following hard driving and improved starting ability when the engine is hot.

Venturi and throttle bore sizes will result in a more solid feeling carburetor, particularly in the moderate speed range. The choke high idle cam will precisely blend the throttle opening to the starting and warm-up characteristics of the engine.

A SINGLE-unit float will simplify float level settings. A change in the float-to-needle leverage will provide more effective buoyancy to the float and assure more uniform fuel levels.

All of these features will result in operational smoothness and maximum fuel economy.

A cylinder head with a modified combustion chamber design will practically eliminate the combustion chamber "rumble" so frequently encountered in high compression engines.

FOR THOSE desiring more power, dual exhausts and four-barrel carburetors are available optionally on V-8 models. With this equipment, the 259.2-cubic inch power plant develops 195 horsepower at 4,500 rpm with a torque rating of 265 at 3,000 rpm.

Both engines operate efficiently on regular gasoline.

Larks for 1960 will display several changes in body design.

A new chrome-finish grille texture for the radiator and air intakes will emphasize alternating horizontal lines of ravied width resulting in more blilliance. The Lark emblem will be displayed on the radiator grille.

TAIL LAMP lenses have been improved to afford better illumination. The sharp intersection of the body side chrome moulding trim has been softened.

Rear seat legroom has been increased from 38 to 39 inches in sedans and hardtops. On all models having split front seats, knee room for rear seat passengers has been increased two inches. Legroom in the front of all models is 44 inches.

Styling of 1960 Lark interiors combines the use of fabrics and vinyl upholstery of finest quality in a wide choice of all-new harmonizing color combinations.

Completes 30 Years With SKF Industries

GEORGE H. GUNDER of Palatine is honored for 30 years of service with SKF Industries by E. R. Broden, president of firm.

George H. Gunder, 675 W. Lanark lane, Palatine, has been honored last week by SKF Industries, Inc., for his 30 years of service.

In ceremonies held at the ball and roller bearing manufacturer's main plant, Front st. and Erie ave., Gunder was congratulated by E. R. Broden, president and chairman of the board of directors, and was presented with an engraved sterling silver vegetable dish filled with 100 silver dollars commemorating his service anniversary.

A service engineer with SKF, Gunder has a degree in mechanical engineering from Engineer's college at Darmstadt, Germany.

Gunder and his wife, Gertrude, have two sons, a daughter and three granddaughters. Gunder includes gardening, metal and woodworking among his favorite leisure time activities.

Convention Hears Official From Oak Park

Delegates to the Wisconsin Savings and Loan League convention heard a report on participation loans by John P. Domeier, president of Oak Park Federal Savings. The 63rd annual convention of the league was held at Wisconsin Dells.

Participation lending is a relatively new practice (authorized in 1951) which permits qualified savings and loan associations to acquire participating interests in the home mortgage loans of other associations. Mortgage funds are supplied to certain parts of the country where there has formerly been an insufficient money supply.

Participation lending, in addition to being a boon to areas of fast potential building growth, is also beneficial to savings and loan associations which are receiving a steady influx of savings money, plus heavy loan repayments.

Domeier's discussion of participation loans included a step-by-step analysis of the procedure involved in consumating such loans.

Brown Completes 30 Year's Service With Edison Co.

Lee H. Brown, 1009 N. Hickory ave., Arlington Heights, has observed his 30th service anniversary with the Commonwealth Edison system.

He started with Public Service company in 1929 as a student in the company training course and later worked in accounting and engineering offices. He transferred to Commonwealth Edison in 1953 and is now an engineer in the station electrical engineering department at 72 W. Adams. He graduated from the University of Iowa in 1926 with an engineering degree.

Fishing, home carpentry and movie photography are Brown's favorite hobbies. During World War II he served with the 12th air force in Corsica. He is a member of St. Peter Lutheran church in Arlington Heights. He and his wife, Mary, have been married 16 years and have lived on Hickory ave., eight years. Their son, Bobby, is a student at St. Peter Lutheran school.

Broadcloths Return To '60 Chrysler Lines

Chrysler cars for 1960 will be displayed by dealers beginning Friday, it was announced today by C. E. Briggs, Chrysler corporation vice president and general manager of the Chrysler and Imperial Division.

He described the new models as "completely new in styling, the quietest operating cars ever built and the roomiest inside since 1956."

"UNIBODY DESIGN and construction have enabled our stylists to create a beautiful low silhouette and at the same time give passengers even more room inside than we have had in the past three years," he said. "We think interior roominess, seating comfort and ease in entrance and exit are going to be tremendously important factors in the sale of cars this year and in the years ahead. Our 1960 models were designed with this in mind."

Briggs said Unibody construction, in which the body and frame is integrated into a single unified structure, together with a new seven-stage rust-proofing process, give assurance of greater durability and lower maintenance costs.

He said the 1960 models are styled in bold, uncluttered lines inspired by the Chrysler 300 series. The shape of the grille opening resembles that of Chrysler's recent model high performance cars. Body sculpturing and trim emphasize length and lowness, with restraint in the use of chrome.

HARDTOP versions of Chrysler Town and Country wagons are offered for the first time and Chrysler's Flight-Sweep deck lid, with a simulated spare tire mount, is available as optional equipment.

Unibody construction has made the new cars significantly quieter, structurally safer, and more roadable than ever before, he said. A lower floor has provided more leg room in both front and back seats. Sills, fenders and all other structural underbody parts of new Chryslers receive a unique new rust-proofing treatment consisting of a seven-stage body dip process which improves rust protection by 500 per cent.

Roomier interiors are decorated in more expensive fabrics, especially the 1960 Chrysler New Yorker, which is being offered with the first all-wool broadcloth interior option since 1954. Broadcloth is available at no extra cost.

BRIGGS said he expects 60 per cent of New Yorker sedans will be built with wool broadcloth interiors this year. He said that many discriminating people are turning back to natural wool for its feel of quality and look of good taste.

A new Astra-Dome instrument panel includes as many as 17 pushbuttons for control of transmission, heater and radio. It groups all controls, gauges and dials directly in front of the driver where he can reach them, leaving the right side of the panel free of clutter for a much roomier glove box.

COMFORT OPTIONS for 1960 include new fully-automatic foam-covered swivel seats which swing out simultaneously with the opening of a door to accept driver or passenger. Superhighway comfort is increased by a new fully-automatic Auto-Pilot option which requires no re-setting after braking. Once the brake pedal is released, Auto-Pilot locks in automatically when the driver accelerates the car to the dialed speed. It is disengaged again by a touch on the brake pedal.

Briggs said that increased comfort in the 1960 Chrysler results not only from greater leg room but from an increase of one inch in seat height made possible by lowering the floor. Hip room in all two-door hardtop rear seats has been increased by four and one-half inches, he pointed out.

THE ALL-NEW Chrysler New Yorker four door hardtop offers more headroom and legroom. Its advanced styling is in the tradition of the Chrysler 300, with massive air-scoop front grille and a minimum of ornamentation. Chrysler New Yorker sedans feature all wool-broadcloth interiors at no extra cost. The Chryslers will be shown on October 16 at Chrysler dealerships from coast to coast.

Red Owl Volume, Earnings Increase

Sales and earnings of Red Owl Stores, Inc., for the three months ended August 29, the second fiscal quarter, established new records, Ford Bell, chairman, and Alf L. Bergerud, president, said in the report to shareholders. Volume was 18 per cent above the corresponding period last year and profits were up 7 per cent.

"The outlook for the balance of the year is favorable," the report stated. "At this time we feel that both sales and earnings will be substantially above last year's figures."

SALES FOR the second quarter were $57,973,724 compared with $49,249,595 a year earlier. Net earnings amounted to $706,209, equal to $1.08 per share on the 654,286 shares outstanding. This compares with earnings of $659,213, or $1.06 per share in the corresponding period last year when 620,336 shares were outstanding.

"Extraordinary merchandising costs were incurred in the second quarter as the result of a plan to develop a more solid sales foundation in several trade areas," Bell said. "While this program affected the quarter's results, it should produce important long-term benefits."

Sales for the first six months of the fiscal year totaled $108,527,627, an increase of 12 per cent over a year ago when sales were $96,952,065. Earnings amounted to $1,093,191, compared with $1,131,124, a decline of about 3 per cent. Per share earnings for the six months were $1.67 on the increased number of shares, compared with $1.82 in the corresponding period last year.

THE INDUSTRY-wide labor dispute which closed Red Owl's Minneapolis supermarkets for four weeks in March had a considerable impact on first half operations.

Over one-third of the Company's $3,500,000 debenture issue has been converted into stock and this has been the principal reason for the increase in the number of shares outstanding.

THERE ARE NOW 12 new supermarkets under construction—six in the Twin Cities, three in Milwaukee and three in Chicago suburbs. Red Owl's entry into the important Chicago area is expected to provide the basis for further large-scale expansion.

New financing for fixtures and equipment is not contemplated during the current fiscal year. However, negotiations are under way for the sale of long-term notes by a wholly-owned subsidiaries to finance construction of several store properties which will be leased to the parent company. (BB

Ford Advances Styling In '60 Models

This 1960 Ford Galaxie Town Victoria shares the all-new styling characteristics of the other Ford models, yet bears unmistakable resemblance to the elegant Thunderbird profile. The new Galaxie is one inch lower than the 1959 model, but has more interior room for six big persons than ever before. The Galaxie also is available as a two-or four-door sedan. All Fords for 1960 have the slim-line, forward sloping front roof pillar that eliminates the "dog leg" for easier entry.

The 1960 Ford represents a styling theme originally created for later use but brought forward because of the spontaneous enthusiasm of company management when they first saw the car in advance studios.

J. O. Wright, Ford Motor Co. vice president and Ford division general manager, said the 1960 Ford was redesigned from bumper to bumper because "we wanted to increase passenger space and comfort and improve the roadability and handling ease and performance."

HE SAID, "After the car originally planned for 1960 was well under way, the advanced styling office showed us some designs for Ford Motor Co. cars even farther advanced than our planned 1960 model.

"One of these was called 'Quicksilver'," he said. "It captured everyone's imagination immediately, and we began to explore the possibility of advancing it to the 1960 models. We were faced with a crucial decision involving millions of dollars.

"When the engineers pointed out that a complete new car also would enable them to design additional quality features into the vehicle, company management gave the go-ahead.

"ONE OF THE most important features of the new Ford," Wright said, "is that it has been 'comfort-engineered.' There is substantially more hip room, shoulder room, leg room and head room in the 1960 Ford than there was in the 1959 model—which ranked far above its competitors in these vital comfort areas.

"With the new body design, the new frame, redesigned suspension and improved power train, the 1960 Ford rides better, handles better and performs better than any Ford in history," Wright said.

Passenger comfort and convenience have been given particular attention in the design of the new Ford cars. New, swept-back windshield pillars have eliminated the troublesome 'dog-leg" found in cars with the full-wrap windshield.

YET, THE NEW model Ford has 17 per cent more windshiled area than last year's Ford, provides better visibility out over the hood, and has a windshield wiper pattern one-third greater than in 1959.

Ford's "posture-perfect" seats permit the driver and passengers to sit in comfort on foam padding and at what Ford research has proven to be the most confortable seating angle.

Adding to the convenience of the new Ford line are such features as a trunk opening that is only 27 inches from the ground, a foot-operated parking brake with the release knob located on the instrument panel, and two-stage door checks.

THE 1960 FORD line includes 15 models that offer a total of six different roof lines. At the low end of the line is the Fairlane series, which includes a two- and four-door sedan and a business Tudor. In the Fairlane 500 series are two models, a two- and four-door sedan. The popular Galaxie series, with its own Thunderbird-styled roof, includes a two- and four-door sedan, plus a four-door hardtop called the Town Victoria.

The Starliner, a new two-door hardtop entry in the Ford line, is one of two special models. The action-styled Starliner features a unique "fast-back" roof that sweeps gracefully back to blend with the elegant rear deck. The other special model is the Sunliner, Ford's soft-top convertible.

Better stability and improved handling have been accomplished partly through a wider tread, but mostly through the widening of the rear spring base. Two full inches have been added to the front tread width and nearly four inches to the rear tread.

LONG THE leader in the station wagon field, Ford in 1960 will offer five different models with a longer load space, greater passenger comfort and more versatility than ever before. Ranging from the two-door Ranch Wagon to the elegant four-door, nine-passenger Country Squire with simulated mahogany paneling, the Ford station wagon line has a model to meet any requirement.

The load space in the 1960 Ford station wagons is nearly a foot longer than last year, and the tail gate opens flush with the floor. With the front-facing third seat in position, there still is stowage room ahead of the closed tail gate. The tail and lift gates can be opened easily with one hand.

All standard Ford engines — both "six" and V-8 — are designed to operate on regular grade gasoline, which saves a dollar a tank full. Ford offers four modern, short-stroke engines for 1960, all of which combine efficiency, durability and economy with the added customer savings resulting from quick and easy service. The full-flow oil filter, standard equipment on all Ford engines, permits Ford to recommend an oil change only every 4,000 miles. A new cross-flow radiator, which directs the coolant horizontally, provides improved cooling.

THE FORD engine line-up for 196o includes the economical 145 horsepower Mileage-Maker Six; the 185 horsepower, 292 cu. in. V-8; the 235 horsepower, 352 cu. in. V-8 with two-barrel carburetor, and the 300 horsepower, 352 cu. in. power option V-8 with four-barrel carburetor.

Illustrating Ford's "quality design" program are such parts as the extended life aluminized muffler that utilizes aluminum-coated walls and heads, a double-thick inner casing and asbestos insulation to slow the condensation rate, reduce corrosion and lengthen muffler life. Mufflers of a new cylindrical shape are located behind the rear wheels on the 1960 Fords.

Ford's Diamond Lustre finish, a super-enamel that doesn't need waxing, is available in a wide selection of solid and two-tone exterior colors, color-keyed to match the interior upholstery trim.

'60 Studebaker Larks On Display Thursday

This is the trim, spirited Studebaker Lark Convertible, a new model for 1960 and the only convertible being offered in the convenience-size car field. With its powered top and attractively styled body supported by a heavy gauge X-frame, the Lark Convertible is offered with a thrifty six-cylinder engine or a more powerful V-8 motor. Purchasers also have a choice of conventional, overdrive or automatic transmissions.

Two new Larks convertibles—plus four new models of four-door station wagons—highlight the 1960 Larks by Studebaker which go on display in dealer show rooms October 15.

Addition of the convertibles and four-door wagons to Lark offerings rounds out the first complete line of body styles in the convenience-size car field.

In announcing the 1960 Larks, Harold E. Churchill, president of Studebaker-Packard corporation, said: "Public enthusiasm for the Lark in its first year on the market prompted us to add new models which will give the buying public a choice of body styles in the convenience-size field previously found only in oversized car selections."

The new 4-door Lark station wagons will be available in L-head six-cylinder and V-8 engine models in both Regal and Deluxe lines. The Lark convertibles will become part of the Regal lines with either six or V-8 power plants.

RECALLING HIS statement of a year ago that the Lark "has been designed deliberately to stay in style indefinitely," Churchill declared buyers resent their new car being made obsolete by each ensuing year's model. "For 1960," he said, "the Lark's distinctive features have been retained as promissed, along with its minimum exterior dimensions and full-size interior roominess."

Churchill said the unusually high popularity of the 2-door Lark station wagons dictated the addition of the new 4-door Lark wagons for 1960. Steadily rising industry sales of convertibles and the absence of a domestic convertible in the convenience-size field were major factors in developing the newest Lark body style.

A new choice of colors will be offered throughout the Lark line for 1960. New nylon, acetate and vinyl fabrics and fresh, new interior designs harmonizing with exterior colors and trims will be standard on the new Larks.

ALL LARK MODELS, including the new convertibles, retain the shorter overall length (184.5" wagons, 175" all other) without useless overhang while featuring the roomy interiors of 1959 Larks which nearly tripled Studebaker's 1958 sales.

Additional rear leg room in 1960 Lark sedans and station wagons has been achieved through new front seat design.

As in 1959, the Lark 4-door sedan is featured in all four model lines (Regal six and V-8, Deluxe six and V-8). The Deluxe six and V-8 engine lines each include 2-door sedans and station wagons. The Lark 2-door hardtop, like the new convertible, is featured in the Regal lines with either six or V-8 engines.

OPTIONAL EQUIPMENT available on all 1960 Larks includes overdrive or Flightomatic transmission, Twin-Traction differential, hill holder, reclining front seats and air conditioning.

Power steering is optional on all Lark V-8's. Power top is standard equipment on the Lark convertibles. Roof luggage carriers and rear-facing third seat are available for all Lark station wagons. Individually adjusted headrests are a new option in 1960 for all 2-door models as well as all other models equipped with reclining seats.

Lutheran Policies Hit Million Mark

The Aid Association for Lutherans, represented by Henry J. Hasz, Elmer Haugen, and William Kaske of Mt. Prospect; James Dreyer of Wheeling and B. Harold Borg of Des Plaines, recently issued certificate number 1,000,000.

Certificate number 1,000,000 brings the total insurance in force to more than $1,500,000,000 for this largest fraternal life insurance society in America.

The history-making life insurance certificate, issued to Mrs. Philip R. Brown, 38, of Gillespie, Ill., was issued on September 30.

The Aid Association for Lutherans issues exclusively home and family protection through ordinary life insurance. The average size adult certificate is $6,245. Wisconsin has the most certificate holders with Illinois and Minnesota ranking second and third.

Lincoln Refines Its 1960 Models

Three series of fine cars for 1960—the Lincoln, the Lincoln Premiere and the Lincoln Continental — are enhanced by styling and engineering refinements aimed at driver enjoyment and passenger comfort.

An elegant profile for the Lincoln and Premiere series is the result of a completely new roof with a town car look; a redesigned instrument panel augments the new look in the interior; a new Hotchkiss rear suspension with leaf springs provides a more luxurious ride and greater handling ease in all models; and a newly designed carburetor contributes to improved performance and smooth idling.

THE NEW ROOF design has resulted in a different shaped rear window with a very fast slope and an additional 177 square inches of glass area for improved rearward visibility. Highlighting the roof is a wide chrome molding around the rear window.

Greater overhead traffic light visibility through the front windshield in the Lincoln Continental has been attained by shortening the front portion of the roof two inches.

Fore and aft the grille treatment on all car lines has been modified. Small squares with chrome center pieces identify the Lincoln Continental, and long, raised aluminum rectangles mark the Lincoln.

NEWLY STYLING front bumpers with rounded guards set in rubber discs located on each side protect the grille and license plate. Directional signals and parking lamps are placed at the outboard ends of the bumper.

A newly-designed tail light assembly on all Lincolns contains parking, back-up and turning lights set in a single bar on each side of the back panel. Lincoln Continental has three groups of lights on the rear panel set in individual round chrome bezels at the right and left of the panel.

Slightly angled rear fins on all models have a chrome molding that extends into the lower back panel forming a continuous line with the rear bumper.

THREE RAISED ribs have been formed in the hood to give it a sculptured look.

Additional appearance changes include a slim tapered chrome molding along the side of all Lincolns, four horizontal chrome ribs in the front fender panels of the Lincoln Continental, as well as distinctive wheel covers for Lincoln and Lincoln Continental.

All around quietness is evident in many of the design changes for 1960. The leaf springs have thick rubber insulating pads at the U-bolt attachment to the axle. Engine vibrations are absorbed by the use of a new butyl-cushioned rear engine support. A 10 per cent more effective dash panel insulation has been developed; located between the instrument panel and the toeboard, the panel has a three-inch backing of Fiberglass.

1960 Edsels Are Bigger, Roomier

FRESH STYLING AND ROOMY INTERIORS characterize the Edsel for 1960. The Ranger four-door sedan, above, is one of seven low cost models which also include a two and four-door hardtop, two-door sedan, convertible and two Villager station wagons. Wide tread design with extra long springs assure a smooth, stable ride. Edsel's six and standard V-8 engines operate efficiently and economically on regular gasoline.

The 1960 Edsel features completely new styling, a new wide-tread, long-spring ride, and a price that is competitve with top models of the "popular three."

Edsel's third year on the market represents its third year of distinct appearance changes. It also marks the lowest, widest, most spacious Edsel in the car's history, Ben D. Mills, Ford Motor Company vice president and general manager of the Mercury-Edsel-Lincoln Division, said.

"WE BELIEVE the 1960 Edsel will appeal to those who want a distinctive car at a reasonable price," Mills said. "The discriminating buyer will find the new Edsel gives him excellent quality and value for his money."

The Edsel has been completely redesigned for 1960, and is one inch lower, almost three inches wider and five and a half inches longer than the 1959 model. The tread has been widened by more than two inches at the front wheels and 3.6 inches at the rear to 61 and 60 inches respectively.

Most interior dimensions have been increased for greater passenger comfort. For example, shoulder room has been increased 2.8 inches and 4 inches, front and rear. Hip room is up 1.8 inches in front and 2.4 in the rear seat. And rear seat legroom is 1.2 inches longer.

THE INCREASED tread, together with a lower center of gravity, make the Edsel one of the most road-hugging cars in the industry. Because of this stability, an Edsel would have to be tilted at an angle of 62 degrees or have its outside wheels lifted more than four feet off the pavement for the car to tip over.

Edsels are offered in two series for 1960—the Ranger and Villager. They include the Ranger two and four-door sedans, the two and four-door hardtops, and the convertible, and the Villager six and nine-passenger station wagons. Both wagons are four-door models.

Edsel has a new body for 1960 and the styling changes are more than skin deep. For example, the "dogleg" has been elimnated by moving the windshield post forward 10 inches to allow the driver or front seat passenger to enter and leave the car without hazarding a bumped knee. Visibility has been increased 17 per cent in the front windshield and 63 per cent in the back window.

WHEELBASE OF the station wagon has been increased two inches to equal the passenger car 120 inch wheelbase. As a result, Edsel wagons are much more spacious. With all three seats installed, there still is more than a yard of floor space behind the third seat for storage. If the vinyl-covered foam rubber cushions that make up the third seat are removed, there are 70.5 inches of floor space available.

The Edsel buyer has a choice of three engines and three transmissions, all improved over their 1959 counterparts.

Basic engine for all Edsels is the 292 cubic inch 185 hp. Ranger V-8. This engine operates on standard gasoline and incorporates a number of improvements for greater economy.

HIGH performance engine for the Edsel line is the 300 hp 352 cubic inch Super Express V-8, which operates best on premium fuel. This extra cost option can be ordered in any Edsel.

For the buyer who wants maximum economy, Edsel offers its 223 cubic inch 145 hp six cylinder engine.

The new Edsel styling is characterized by simplicity and good taste in ornamentaton, and eager curves to the body lines, giving the car a feeling of motion and alertness. A stainless steel strip outlines the leading edge of the fenders and flows back to the outswept finial. Outboard of the grille and recessed in these strips are the parking lights.

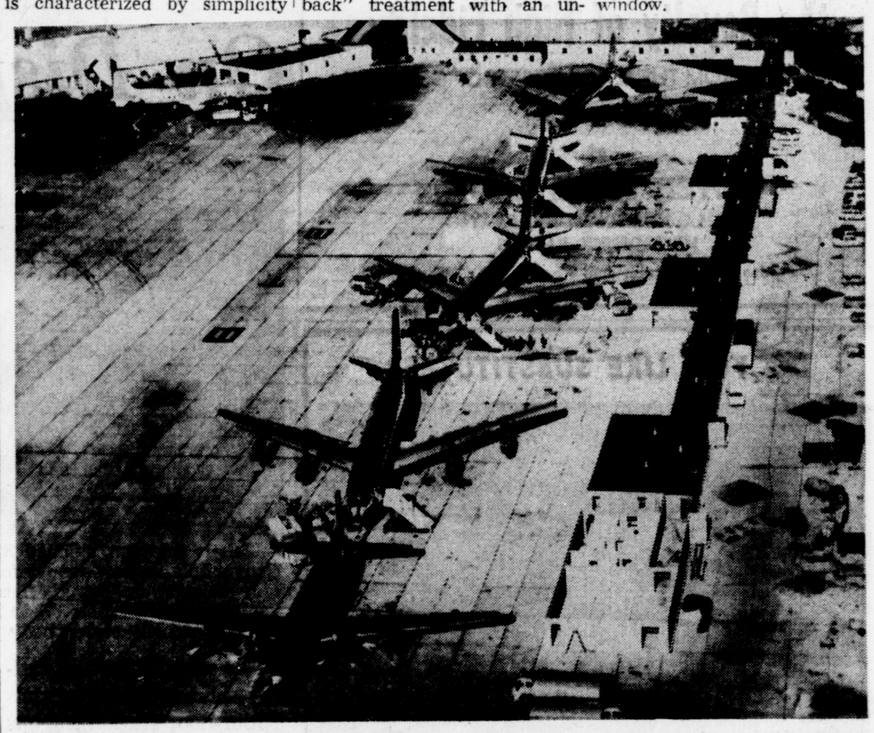
THE CENTER of the die-cast honeycomb grille modifies past vertical treatments into a modernistic hourglass shape which is embellished by the Edsel emblem. The "going away" view of the Edsel also has a different treatment from past models. Tail lights and backup lights are set in upright oval nacelles which are contoured in the sheet metal of the upper quarter panel.

Edsel passenger cars are styled in two contrasting roof lines. The Ranger two-door hardtop has a unique "fastback" treatment with an unbroken flow of line on the roof and rear window areas. Other models have a more pronounced wraparound effect in the rear window.

New Flavor Added To Ann Page Line

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea company announces the addition of a new flavor—Apricot—to their line of Ann Page Sparkle Gelatin desserts. A very pleasing combination is the use of Sparkle Apricot Gelatin with Fruit Cocktail in moulded salads.

A new "Family Size" is being added to the Ann Page Ketchup line. This new size is 20 ounces—almost 50 per cent more than in the standard 14 ounce size. It is felt that this will meet the needs of the larger families and enables the consumer to buy a quality Ketchup at a lower cost per ounce. (BB



RAPID GROWTH OF CHICAGO'S O'Hare International Airport as one of the three busiest pure jet airports in the world (exceeded in daily operations only by Los Angeles International and New York International) is indicated by this aerial view showing American Airlines' newly-opened temporary passenger departure lounges and concourse and typical mid-afternoon lineup of four 707 jet flagships along with two piston-propeller type DC-6s (foreground and upper left). Two of the big jets will leave for Los Angeles, one for San Francisco and one for Dallas. American, which introduced the first pure jet service here last March, is principal jet carrier at O'Hare with 18 daily operations (nine arrivals and nine departures) linking O'Hare with New York and Boston as well as Dallas and the two west coast cities. The departure rooms, each capable of accommodating 150 persons, and the concourse connecting the rooms with the O'Hare terminal building are part of a $450,000 interim construction program undertaken by American at O'Hare to handle jet flights until permanent facilities are ready in 1961. Fifth, uncompleted departure lounge nearest camera will be used by Braniff International Airways. Although O'Hare runs close third to Los Angeles and New York in total daily jet operations, it is American's second busiest jet terminal after Los Angeles.

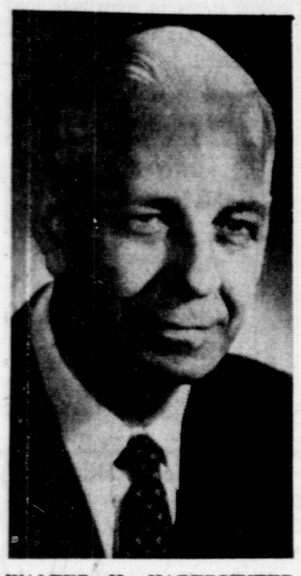
Completes 35th Year



WALTER H. HABERICHTER

Walter H. Haberichter of 22 N. Kennicott ave., Arlington Heights, has completed his 35th year of service with the Peoples Gas, Light and Coke Co.

A group supervisor in the customer accounting section of the data processing department, Haberichter started to work for the utility as a ledger clerk in the customer accounting department. After becoming associated with the company, he studied accounting for two years in the evening division of DePaul University.

Haberichter and his wife, Mabel, have resided in the northwest suburb for 14 years. The couple has one son, William, a senior at Arlington high school.

DR. ANDREW J. OBERLANDER, 420 E. Park, Arlington Heights, medical director of the Prudential Insurance Co., and Dr. Jeremiah Stamler, of Chicago, director of the Heart Disease Control Program, discuss plans for the seventh annual Heart-In-Industry conference to be held Oct. 16 at the Sherman Hotel in Chicago. The conference will focus attention on the contribution industry can make to medical research.

Beta Sigma Phi Learns Use of Wine in Cooking

Guy Armanetti of Armanetti Liquors, who has recently returned from the vineyards and wineries of France, was invited to speak at the last meeting of Lambda Delta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, international sorority. Mr. Armanetti showed films on the use and selection of fine wines from France for cooking with various types of meats and foods and for holiday use.

He also displayed a variety of cheeses to be taken with the wines to bring out their flavor. At the end of the program door prizes were presented and refreshments were served.

The towns of Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Prospect Heights, Roselle and Lake Zurich are represented in the membership of the local Beta Sigma Phi chapter this year. An invitation is extended to call former members of Beta Sigma Phi who are interested in joining a chapter to contact Mrs. Frank Wiedl, FL 8-1239.

The next chapter meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Norman Fletcher of Palatine Wednesday, Oct. 21, at 8:30 p.m.

A rummage sale will be held by Lambda Delta chapter in the Masonic hall in Elgin Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Anyone having items to contribute may call FLanders 8-0116 for pickup.

Eighty-five women were present for the organization's first fall meeting in September. (S

Just Around the Corner from Patty McArdle

Alma Mater, Hail to Thee

Dear Peg:

"They look so young! I'm sure we didn't look that young when we were in school." I exclaimed to Mr. Roberts as we walked past a group of cheerleaders talking excitedly and making their plans before the game began.

"They look younger every year," he replied, I thought, a little grimly.

However, neither this rather terrifying discovery nor the overcast sky was going to dampen my spirits that afternoon — when I was about to see our dear old alma mater Northwestern (favored to win) play against Minnesota. I think I'd seen only one or two other football games, since leaving school and I wouldn't have been there to see one Saturday, if Mr. Roberts, our good friend and Bob's employer, hadn't invited us to go. It was a wonderful treat — even worth seeing that all five children were settled and had something to do during the hours from 11:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. that Mrs. Conder would be taking care of them (Mrs. Conder is a very brave woman). Beside going to the football game, we were to have lunch with Mr. and Mrs. Roberts and a customer of Mr. Roberts' at the very lovely Westmorland country club — this was a treat in itself. Imagine a lunch hour not followed by a general clean-up of spilled milk, smeared peanut butter and sticky fingers!

To the gay sounds of an accordion playing "Go You, Northwestern," Bob and I walked into the lounge of the club, where the Roberts' were waiting for us. Everyone was in a very festive mood, chatting gaily over the prospects of the game. There was not too much time before the bus, chartered by the club to take its members and guests to the game and back, was to leave. So, as soon as we finished our refreshments, we went up to the dining room for lunch. Did I say "lunch"? Lunch was never like this. We had a choice of any kind of salad plate you can think of, followed by a roast beef dinner. Luncheon was rounded out with a large wedge of blueberry pie and coffee. We all waddled on to the bus while the accordion player went through his repertoire of college songs again.

It was really a thrill to be back again in the crowds of jostling, laughing, hurrying people all pouring in through the doors and surging up the ramps of the stadium. It really didn't seem like one marriage and five children, since I was sitting in those bleachers yelling, "fight team fight!" In fact until the blow of seeing how young these college kids looked, I didn't think I'd actually changed much at all . . . I have.

The first half of the game was a little dull, as neither team could push through the line of the other and neither was willing to take any chances so early. However, early in the second half Northwestern scored with a touchdown but didn't make the kick, leaving the team in a rather precarious position. About that time a fine misty rain started coming down. Naturally, I was unprepared, since it was a bright sunny day when we left home that morning. To my delight I found that a football program makes an effective, slant-roofed rain hat, that is, unless you have a husband who seems to have a personal interest in the football players and their numbers.

The last minute and a half was quite exciting. Minnesota came very close to scoring and had they, and then made the kick, the game would have been lost in those last moments. However, they didn't and N.U. emerged victorious again, maintaining their high rating among college teams this year. Go, you, Northwestern!

My love,
Patty

The meeting is open to all college graduates.

District Hospital Auxiliaries Set Fall Meeting

The annual fall meeting of District 2 Women's Auxiliaries to the Illinois Hospital association will be held Thursday, Oct. 22, in Highland Park hospital. Alan B. Campbell, administrator of the new Northwest Community hospital, will discuss "Staffing the New Hospital," which is what he is doing presently in Arlington Heights.

Moderator for the day's meetings will be Mrs. E. Wagner of Arlington Heights, vice president of District 2, who has been active in both auxiliary and hospital work for the new local hospital. Following luncheon a tour of Highland Park hospital will be conducted for officers and members of the auxiliary and hospital administators present at the conclave.

BEAUTIFULLY DECORATED miniature Christmas trees will be sold at the fall bazaar, "Holly Day," presented by the Mt. Prospect Center of Infant Welfare. Mrs. David Grant and Mrs. Walter Busch assemble some of the trees that will be sold November 4 at the Mt. Prospect VFW. Tickets to the bazaar are now available from members. (S

Bruce Wilkerson Marries His College Sweetheart

Bruce Wilkerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Wilkerson of 110 Owen pl., Prospect Heights, took as his bride August 26, Miss Gay Lynn Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley D. Moore of Ogden, Utah.

The First Presbyterian church in Ogden was the setting where the double ring ceremony took place. Rev. A. Cadman Garretson officiated and a reception followed in the church parlors.

A white peau de soie gown was worn by the bride and was embroidered with alencon lace trim at the neckline, with quarter length shirred sleeves. The princess style skirt was accented by lace garlands, with a cascade of lace in deep backfolds, which flowed into a chapel train. A castilian satin cap, bordered with Ceylon beads and seed pearls, held her English silk illusion veil. A purple throated white orchid and sprays of stephanotis made up the bridal bouquet.

A SISTER OF the bride, Mrs. Richard Reberg of Ogden, was matron of honor. She wore a mint green chiffon dress with draped bodice and circular skirt. A beige veil and bouquet of orange gladioli and white stephanotis spray completed the ensemble.

Two college friends of the groom, Gordon Young, Harvey, Ill. and David Feldman, San Francisco, served as best man and usher. Richard Reberg of Ogden, brother-in-law of the bride, also served as usher.

Gary Wilkerson, 4-year-old brother of the bridegroom, was ringbearer.

The bride's mother wore a lilac sheath dress with matching accessories and a white orchid corsage. The groom's mother chose an apricot silk organza dress with matching accessories and also wore an orchid corsage.

OUT OF TOWN guests other than the groom's parents and brother were: Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ekhaml, St. Paul; Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Cunyas, Harry C. Moore, Denver and Richard King of San Francisco.

The groom is a graduate of Arlington high school and a June graduate of Grinnell college in Iowa, where he received his commission as second lieutenant in the air force. The bride attended the same college for two years.

Following a honeymoon trip through Colorado, New Mexico and Texas, the couple are now living in Moultrie, Ga., where the groom is stationed at Spencer air base for flight training.

NOW RESIDING IN AN apartment in Mt. Prospect are newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Anton Groscop, who were married July 18 in St. Matthew Evangelical Lutheran church of Niles. Following the late afternoon ceremony a reception was given in Firemen's hall in Bensenville. The bride, the former Barbara Anne Mueller, wore a full length wedding gown of embroidered tulle with a fingertip veil and carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis. Her bridal attendants were all gowned alike in aqua silk organza and carried bouquets of yellow plumaria. Members of the wedding party were from Chicago, Des Plaines, Morton Grove and Phoenix, Ariz.

Wheeling Jrs. Help Assemble Dressings

Eleven Wheeling Junior Women met at the home of Mrs. Gerald Kiffel Tuesday evening, Oct. 6, to help cut, pin and sew cancer dressings for the Northwest Cook County chapter of the American Cancer society. Mrs. Joseph Schmoeller a 5-year board member for the chapter, demonstrated how to assemble the dressings. She also spoke on the works of the society and the need for volunteers.

Mrs. Schmoeller highly praised the willingness and cooperation of many organizations in Wheeling and surrounding areas, who with the help of their volunteers make possible these dressings, many of which will be distributed to patients in Wheeling and Northwest Cook county.

MRS. KIFFEL, chairman, announced that this recently-formed group will continue as a philanthropic project of the Wheeling Junior Woman's club this year.

Volunteers who helped assemble the dressings were Mrs. Ethan Allen, Mrs. Herbert Balling, Mrs. Kenneth Bjertnes, Mrs. William Hayden, Mrs. Richard Holland, Mrs. Gerald Kiffel, Mrs. John Preisler, Mrs. Robert Steinman, Mrs. Joseph Stiller, Mrs. William Wells and Mrs. James Wieder.

Hawaiian Movies Feature Meeting Of Garden Club

Scarsdale Estates Garden club held its October meeting at 1 p.m. October 14 in the home of Mrs. George L. Kirp, 804 S. Burton Place, Arlington Heights. The program was given by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Haedike, 759 S. Belmont, who talked and showed movies of their 6-week tour of Hawaii during the summer.

The November meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. James Legge, 751 S. Burton place. The program will be given by Mrs. Haberkamp of the Haberkamp's Florist shop, who will give a demonstration on making Christmas decorations and arrangements. Guests are invited.

Marilyn Johnson Is Paul Swanson's Bride

In a 7:30 ceremony August 22 in North Park Covenant church, Paul Swanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sigfrid Swanson, 510 Derbyshire lane, Arlington Heights, took as his bride, Miss Marilyn Johnson, daughter of Mrs. Walter Johnson of Skokie. Rev. Douglas Cedarleaf officiated at the service in a setting of white mums, blue delphinium, palms and candelabra.

A reception was held in the church parlors after which Mr. Swanson took his bride on a wedding trip to Washington, D.C. and Williamsburg, Va. The couple is now at home at 5046 Jarlath, Skokie, where the bride is an eighth grade teacher in Lincoln school.

Six attendants, all wearing ballerina gowns of sheer white organdy over blue taffeta and carrying colonial bouquets of blue and white daisies, preceded the bride down the aisle. Matron of honor was Mrs. Rosella Wahlburg of Lincolnwood; bridesmaids were Eileen Maass of Detroit and Betty Nelson of Chicago; junior bridesmaids were Laura Carlson of Glen Ellyn and Sandra Swanson of Niles; and flower girl was Jan Johnson of Woodstock.

THE BRIDE'S gown was of white tissue taffeta fashioned with illusion neckline, embroidered in seed pearls and sequins. Graduated inserts of embroidered chantilly lace trimmed the gown from the waistline to the end of the train. White amazon lilies and orchids made up her bridal bouquet.

The bridegroom was attended by Kenneth Kettlesen of Crystal Lake as best man and Raymond Swanson of Elgin, Elmer Deis of Minneapolis and David Carlson of Chicago as ushers. Burton Wahlburg of Lincolnwood was ring bearer.

The bride's mother chose a dress of french blue chiffon while the bridegroom's mother chose a rose lace dress.

Out-of-town guests came from Detroit, Milwaukee and Dallas.

Papa Gets Bowled Over

I just never considered that a bunch of old married people, or should I say old bunch of married people, or should I say a bunch of married old people, better just say a bunch of people — married, anyway I never considered that they could get that shook up.

When it was suggested to us that we have a sort of bowling contest where Mama bowls the first ball and then Papa bowls the second, we all clapped our little paddies gleefully and said what fun it would be. It was to be couple against couple and we were all friends, weren't we?

Well, we started out friends. However, as time went on it became rather evident that relations between Mamas and Papas were becoming a little strained. At first there wasn't anything you could exactly pinpoint, just a general air of unhappiness.

I must admit that as a group of women bowlers, our group isn't too bad. But, we certainly were off our game that day. The first indication that all was not well came when the fellas started gently giving us instruction. This we all took goodnaturedly only telling them to hush up every other time it happened.

We don't mind instruction but they weren't bowling too hot themselves and we didn't say anything. Well, not much. When Father threw a gutter ball, him of the 205 game, I didn't say a word. I just laughed nastily. I'm forbearing.

Another Papa kept burbling on and on about all the practice he was getting in picking up spares. He even went so far as to congratulate his Mama on the odd arrangement of pins she left standing. I considered this carrying good nature too far until he finally shouted at her that she was a big, sloppy Swede.

She is not. She is quite little. She is as neat as a pin. She is of Swedish extraction. So she left the seven and the ten pin standing. He wanted the practice, didn't he?

Mt. Prospect Dentist Weds Rockford Girl

The family and friends of a Mt. Prospect dentist, Dr. Derwood A. Janssen, travelled to Loves Park, Ill. October 3 for his marriage to Miss Mary Ann Larson of Rockford. The double ring service was held at 11:30 a.m. in St. Bridget church with Rev. Raymond Gordon reading the nuptials. A luncheon in Rockford' Sweden House followed the ceremony.

The bride, who was graduated from Beloit college, and the bridegroom, who was graduated from Northwestern and Loyola dental school, both come from families of doctors. Miss Larson is the daughter of Drs. Lowell and Marie Larson of Rockford and Mr. Janssen is the son of Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Janssen, 307 S. Emerson, Mt. Prospect.

THE NEWLYWEDS are now honeymooning in Bermuda and on their return will be residing at 1375 Brown st., Des Plaines.

Five attendants in moss green, dupioni silk gowns preceded the bride down the aisle to the white mum-decorated altar.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Chester Cole of Mt. Prospect and bridesmaids were the Misses Patricia Willy of Galena and Diane Janssen of Mt. Prospect and Mrs. Pat Perille of Chicago and Mrs. Donald Moore of Vancouver, B.C. Their gowns were fashioned with bell-shaped, street-length skirts and each attendant carried a bouquet of grapes and white mums. The matron of honor's grapes were in a dark blue shade and the bridesmaids, in green. Matching green silk rose headbands and circle veils completed their ensembles.

Arlington Club Woman Now President of 7th District

For the first time in 16 years, an Arlington Heights woman is serving as president of the seventh district, Illinois Federation of Women's clubs. Mrs. Clarence A. Hendrickson, 743 N. Belmont, Arlington Heights, a long-time member of Arlington Heights Woman's club, has recently been appointed to serve out the remainder of the club year, to June, 1961.

She was inaugurated Wednesday, Oct. 14, in First Methodist church, Elmwood Park and Sunday will be guest of honor at a tea from 3 to 5 p.m. in Pioneer Park field house, Arlington Heights.

ONLY OTHER Arlington Heights Woman's club member to hold the presidency of the district, was Mrs. Burton Noyes, who held the office from 1941 to 1943. Mrs. Hendrickson is filling the office vacated by Mrs. Philip H. Schneider of Chicago.

MRS. CLARENCE HENDRICKSON

Seventh district will conduct a tour of the Chicago Tuberculosis sanitarium Monday, Oct. 19. Mrs. Hendrickson urges all women to observe the safety campaign October 19 to 23. The role of volunteer women in the promotion of safety in local communities will be spotlighted at the women's session and tea to be held Tuesday, Oct. 20, from 9:45 a.m. to noon in the Crystal ballroom of the Sheraton-Blackstone hotel.

The literature department of the district will meet at 10 a.m. October 20 in the Chicago home of the chairman, Mrs. Franklin C. Smith. Projects of this department will include a creative writing contest, support of school and local libraries, children's story hours and the donation of books and magazines to hospitals and homes for the aged. SUCCESSFUL HOMEMAKING

by LOIS SEILER Food Editor

Here is a dessert that tastes as refreshing as its name. Called Toasted Snow Squares, the dessert is low in carories, quick to make and appealing to taste.

The recipe is a favorite of Mrs. Norman L. Esthus of Arlington Heights. She likes the fact that it is a little different and that it can be made a day in advance.

Because it is a light dessert, it can be served either for luncheon or dinner or with afternoon tea, accompaned by cookies.

THE DESSERT consists of a congealed gelatin-egg white mixture which is cut in small one-inch squares. The squares are rolled in graham cracker crumbs, then heaped into sherbet glasses and topped with a flavorful lemon sauce.

Children as well as adults enjoy the Snow Squares for they are attractive in appearance as well as nourishing and delicious.

This good cook who has shared this recipe with us and her husband moved from Norwood park to their home at 315 N. Lincoln lane a year ago. They have two married children.

Mrs. Esthus is a member of the Presbyterian Women's association.

Toasted Snow Squares

1 envelope unflavored Knox Gelatine
4 tablespoons cold water
1 cup boiling water
2/3 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 egg whites

Soften the gelatine in the cold water. Add the boiling water, sugar, salt and vanilla. Stir well. Let gelatine mixture thicken but not congeal.

Add the three unbeaten egg whites and beat at top speed on electric mixer for five minutes.

Pour into a shallow pan, 9 by 9 inches and place in refrigerator until it sets.

Cut gelatine mixture in one-inch squares. Roll squares in graham cracker crumbs and heap in sherbet glasses. Serve topped with lemon sauce.

Serves six.

Lemon Sauce

½ cup sugar
1/3 cup melted butter
1 tablespoon lemon rind
2 tablespoons lemon juice
3 egg yolks

Combine melted butter, sugar, lemon rind and juice and stir over low heat until sugar dissolves.

Beat the egg yolks slightly. Add a little of the hot mixutre to the egg yolks, mix and add the eggs to the hot mixture in the pan. Cook until thick, stirring constantly.

Refrigerate sauce until ready to use. Thin with a little whipped cream or plain cream when ready to serve.

Joan Timmermann Is Bride of Harvard Man

A bouquet of white fuji mums and stephanotis complemented Miss Joan Timmermann's white taffeta gown September 19 when she became the bride of Stefan Stolen Anderson in a 4 o'clock, double ring ceremony in Immanuel Lutheran church, Palatine. Baskets of white gladioli formed the background for the service, which was performed by Rev. Robert O. Bartz of St. Peter Lutheran church, Arlington Heights.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Timmermann, 135 E. Algonquin rd., Arlington Heights, and the bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. T. M. Anderson of Madison.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by two close friends, a college classmate and her brother's fiancee. The girls, Miss Anne Shafer of Chicago and June Hall of Arlington Heights, wore electric blue taffeta street-length dresses with modified scoop necklines, carried bouquets of pink fuji mums and wore headbands of the same flowers.

THE BRIDE'S gown was fashioned with full, floor-length skirt, long sleeves and a modified scoop neckline; her fingertip veil was fastened to a taffeta cap.

(Community Camera (S

Mrs. Timmermann chose a moss green lace sheath dress with gold and brown accessories, while Mrs. Anderson chose a dusty rose lace sheath dress with matching accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of cymbidium orchids.

Philip Anderson of Madison was his brother's best man and ushers were Peter Hearst of Chicago, a Harvard classmate of the bridegroom, and James Timmermann of Arlington Heights, brother of the bride.

The service was followed by a dinner and reception in Mt. Prospect VFW club house with 130 guests in attendance.

The bride, who was graduated from Arlington high school and Lawrence college at Appleton, Wis., and the bridegroom, who was graduated from Harvard university, are residing at 32 Laston rd., Riverside. The bridegroom is now studying at the University of Chicago graduate school of business and will receive his master's degree from there next March.

Barbara Opels Weds Chicagoan Sept. 12

In a recent Arlington Heights wedding the mother of the bridegroom came all the way from her home in Germany to witness her son's marriage. The bride was the former Barbara H. Opels, daughter of Mrs. Michael Opels, 409 W. Wing st., Arlington Heights, and the bridegroom was Hermann F. Mueller of Chicago, son of Mrs. Franz Mueller. Baskets of white gladioli, carnations and mums decorated the sanctuary of Our Lady of the Wayside church for the morning wedding which took place September 12 with Rev. Harold O'Hara officiating.

The bride wore a wedding gown fashioned in embroidered silk organza with val lace scallops at the neckline and circling the hem of the sweep train. Her headpiece was a crown of orange blossoms trimmed with lace and seed pearls, which held a fingertip veil in place. The bridal bouquet was of white roses, gardenias and stephanotis attached to a white prayer book.

THE BRIDE'S brother, Nick Opels, gave her in marriage, and his wife, Betty, was matron of honor. Serving as bridesmaids were Dorothy Magnussen of Arlington Heights, Beverly Henderson of Rolling Meadows and Pat Murphy of Chicago. All were gowned in copenhagen blue silk organza over taffeta, styled with a full skirt and shirred bodice draped into a soft bow. The matron of honor wore white gloves and carried a nosegay of pink feathered carnations centered with a large white chrysanthemum and edged with white satin leaves and white satin ribbon. The bridesmaids wore pink gloves and carried nosegays of pink carnations centered with a white chrysanthemum and edged with pink satin leaves and ribbon.

(Community Camera

Four Chicagoans served as the bridegroom's attendants; Frank Sauer as best man and Heinz Brodersen, Wayne Cole and Mike Stuhl as ushers. Ring bearer was the bride's 3-year-old nephew, Mark Opels, of Arlington Heights.

A WEDDING breakfast was given for the immediate families in the Essen House in Arlington Heights, and an evening dinner reception took place in the Sunset Arms hotel for 125 guests. In the receiving line was the bride's mother, attired in a copenhagen lace over taffeta dress with matching shoes and hat, pink gloves and a corsage of pink feathered carnations surrounding a white gardenia. Mrs. Mueller received in a brown and beige sheath dress with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

After a 2-week honeymoon in Canada the newlyweds are now at home at 409 W. Wing st., Arlington Heights. The bride, an Arlington high school graduate, is employed at the Arlington Heights National bank. Her bridegroom, educated in Germany, works for a painting and decorating firm in Chicago.

Stewardess Barb Schroeder Weds Dallas Man October 3

An American Airline's stewardess, Miss Barbara Jean Schroeder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Schroeder, 100 S. Elmhurst, Mt. Prospect, became the bride of John Taylor Fitzgerald of Dallas, Texas, in a double ring ceremony October 3 in St. Mark Lutheran church, Mt. Prospect. Based in Dallas, where her bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Fitzgerald, reside, the bride was feted at showers both in the southern state and in her home town of Mt. Prospect.

Rev. H. J. Rasmussen officiated at the candlelight service, which took place at 7 p.m. amid a setting of white mums and gladioli.

For her marriage, the bride designed her own gown, which was fashioned of silk-faced satin in a princess style with full back cascading into a large circular train. The bodice of the gown was made with sweetheart neckline and long, tight sleeves. Her crown of satin, designed for her gown, was beaded with pearls and sequins and held her 3-tiered English illusion veil. White butterfly roses with ivy garlands made up her crescent bouquet. Mr. Schroeder gave his daughter in marriage.

MISS NANCY DALLIA of Mt. Prospect was maid of honor and she and the bridesmaids, Miss Ruth Janet Schroeder, a cousin from Clare, Mich. and the bride's roommates, Miss Marge Ruscoe and Miss Barbara Kelling of Dallas, as well as the bride's sister, Miss Dottie Schroeder as junior bridesmaid, all wore electric blue velvet gowns. The gowns were made in sheath style with over skirts of silk taffeta. Their headpieces were crowns of velvet trimmed in pearls and veiling and their bouquets were of tangerine carnation crescents with deep colored ti leaves and natural wheat.

A Dallas friend of the bridegroom, John D. Maclay, served as best man and two other Dallas friends, David Johnson and Jack Smithgart, were among the ushers. Other ushers were Robert Ulhorn of Mt. Carmel, Ill. and James Cunningham of Mt. Prospect.

A BUFFET reception for 125 guests was held in Weller's, Chicago, where Mrs. Schroeder received in a ming blue, imported sheer wool, crepe dress and Mrs. Fitzgerald in a champagne silk and lace dress. Both carried mink stoles and wore cimbidium corsages to complement their ensembles.

Among the guests were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Nagel of Saginaw, Mich. Other guests came from Clare, Mich., Saginaw, Normal, Ill. and Dallas.

The couple left on week's wedding trip to Aspen, Colo. and since October 10 have been at home at 5614 Boaz, Dallas.

The bride was graduated from Arlington high school and attended Northwestern university for two years. Her bridegroom studied at Southern Methodist university and the University of Texas. He is now employed by Byer-Rolnick Hat Corp. in Garland, Texas. (Bak Studio

THE NEW Wieboldt's MEADOWDALE

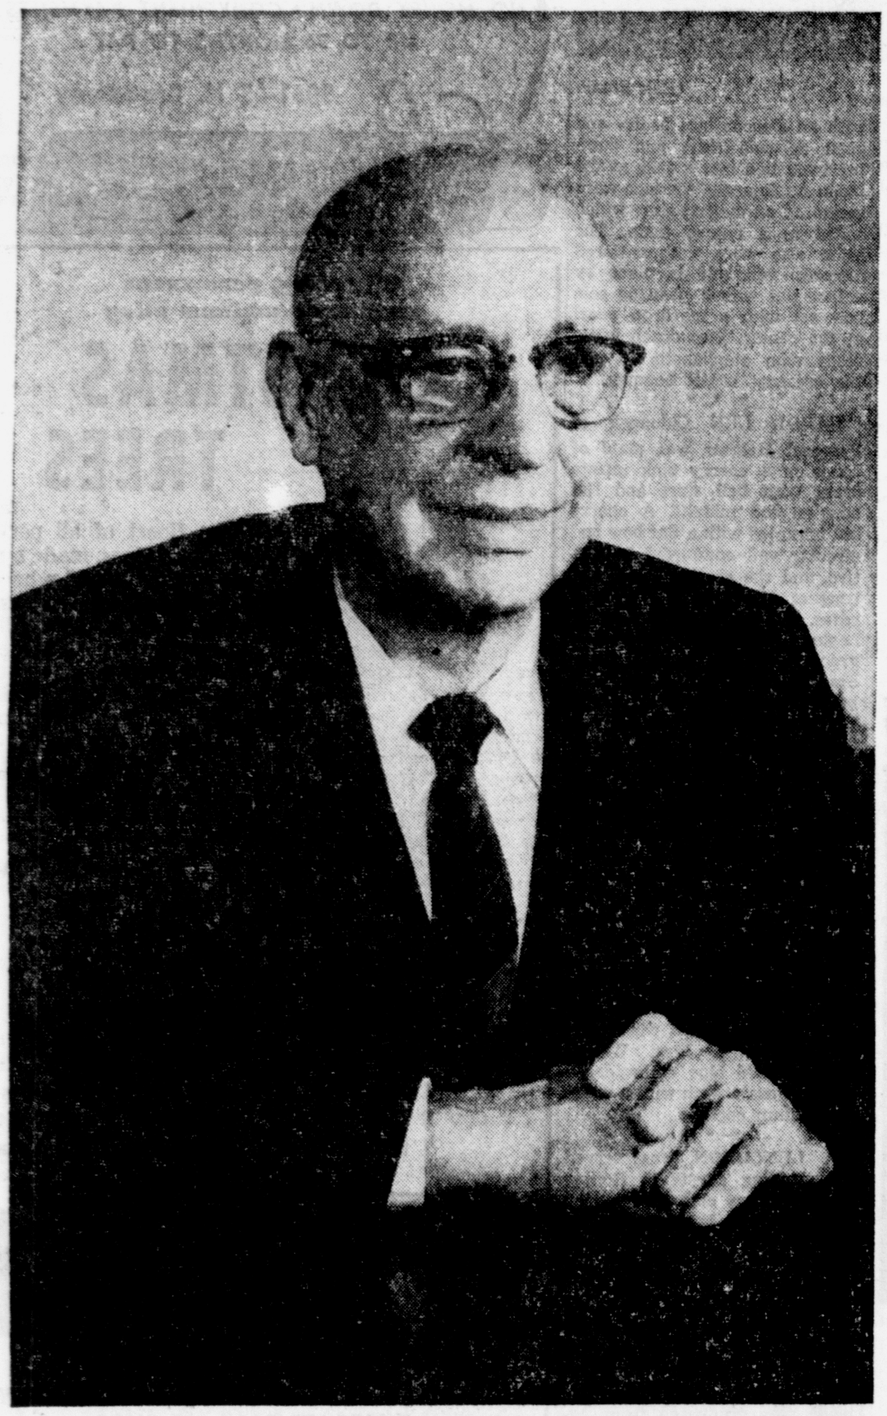
(WHERE YOU LIVE!)



"My father started up in business in 1883.

He rented a 25 foot front general merchandise store on Grand Avenue near Ashland in Chicago. Nothing fancy! By 1897 he had located in his own new 4-story building at Milwaukee Avenue, near Paulina, in what was then the largest department store outside of Chicago's Loop.

Time has been good to us . . . There are Wieboldt's Stores now in Oak Park, Evanston, other Chicago neighborhoods, the Harlem-Irving Plaza Shopping Center—and now this fine new one opening soon at Meadowdale.

To this day, I feel that my father's business philosophy had a whole LOT to do with our expansion. My father was always convinced that friendly service—more than anything else—would bring us success. Over-simple? I guess not. Through 76 years we have grown in size and increased in volume. But we have never let bigness let us lose sight of neighborliness and friendly service.

So plan to come over, as soon as we're open, and shake hands with us. We have a beautiful new store out here with everything you'd need or want. You'll feel at home here—with friends and neighbors on both sides of the counter. Shopping is FUN, and handy . . . And we have the biggest department store here in the whole fast-growing Fox River Valley!" 99

Barbara Jane West Is Sept. 12 Bride

Hyacinth and white were chosen for the color scheme in the early fall wedding of Barbara Jane West, 219 N. Fairview ave., Mt. Prospect, and Philip Swanson of Chicago. The pair were united in marriage by Rev. R. Norman Herbert in Mt. Prospect Presbyterian church September 12 at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight West, and the bridegroom's parents are the Harry Swansons of Chicago. The families and friends of the couple saw them meet at the church's altar, which was decorated with white gladioli and mums for the double ring ceremony. Later a church reception honored the couple and was followed by a dinner for the immediate families at Plentywood wood Farm in Bensenville. The newlyweds then spent a 2-week honeymoon in Virginia and North Carolina and are now at home at 1825 W. Winona ave., Chicago.

THE BRIDE'S four attendants approached the altar wearing hyacinth chiffon dresses with harem skirts and matching satin cummerbunds. Each carried a bouquet of white gladioli florets and vanda orchids. Barbara Maas of Mt. Prospect was maid of honor, Pamela West, the bride's sister and Judith Swanson, the bridegroom's sister, were bridesmaids; Karen Swanson, another sister of the bridegroom, was junior bridesmaid.

Escorting the bridal attendants were the bridegroom's brother, David Swanson, as best man and Harold Friedlund of Skokie, Ronald Martin of Chicago and Ross West, the bride's brother, as ushers.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a formal taffeta and lace wedding gown with a sabrina neckline trimmed with seed pearls, lace bodice and full taffeta skirt falling from a princess waistline. The chapel length train was trimmed with lace, and a seed pearl swedish crown held a fingertip veil in place. The bridal bouquet was of lilies of the valley, gladioli florets and stephanotis surrounding a single white orchid.

Organist was James Wallin, and soloist was Theo Jahnke, who sang "The Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer."

THE BRIDE'S mother received wedding guests in an Eleanor blue lace sheath dress with navy blue accessories and had an orchid and stephanotis corsage. Mrs. Swanson chose a print silk dress and her corsage was of brown cymbidium orchids.

The bride is a graduate of Arlington high school, and the bridegroom from Lane Tech. He is now employed by the Oak Mfg. Co. in Chicago.

JADE AND OTHER imported Chinese articles will be on display, as well as a booth featuring religious items such as prayerbooks, medals, private devotions and first prayers along with St. Francis statues.

A wide assortment of useful gifts including dried flower arrangements, Christmas and holiday decorations, cards and gifts will be displayed. Mesdames Robert Miller and Thomas Merritt, in charge of the refreshment booth, will serve sandwiches, doughnuts, cake and coffee during the day.

The women of St. John Episcopal church invite the public to "browse" at the Holiday Shoppee, the annual St. John bazaar. Under the general direction of Mrs. Armand Bosso, the booths will be supervised by Mesdames Peter Render, Arthur Skelton, Alwin Cramer, Lee Gustafson, John Lee, Mynderse Taylor, Ben Walberg and Miss Margaret Johnston.

ONE OF THE FIRST 49-star flags to fly over the U. S. capitol July 4, 1959, the day the 49-star flag became the official flag of our country, is now the possession of Arlington Heights Woman's club and will eventually be in the possession of the Arlington Heights Historical society. Ownership of the flag is a result of the efforts of two civic-minded and energetic women, Congresswoman Hon. Marguerite Stitt Church, right, and Mrs. Clarence A. Hendrickson of Arlington Heights, president of the seventh district, Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, right center. Mrs. J. C. Fedderson American citizenship chairman, left, admires flag as it is accepted by Mrs. Herman Berthold Jr., president of the local club. Before the presentation, Mrs. Hendrickson hosted the ladies in the photo at luncheon in her home at 743 N. Belmont. Other guests included Mesdames Burton Neyes, Stephen Jurco, Carl Bowen, Edward Carlisle and Miss Ardelle L. Johnson. (S

Prospect Hts. Bride Now Lives in Florida

A bridal pair who met while attending Florida Southern college was married September 12 in Prospect Heights, the hometown of the bride, Carol Jean Koske, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Koske, 602 N. Elmhurst rd. Miss Koske became the bride of George Lesley Walker, son of the George H. Walkers of Haines City, Fla., in a one o'clock ceremony held in St. Alphonsus church of Prospect Heights with Rev. Anthony J. Burke officiating.

White mums and pomponi decorated the sanctuary as Mrs. Barbara Elster played appropriate organ music for the ceremony. The bride came down the aisle wearing a gown styled (Bak Studio with an alencon lace bodice and peau de soie skirt and cummerbund tied into a sash at the back. Appliques of the lace were scattered on the full skirt which ended in a chapel train. The bride also wore a three-tiered fingertip veil held in place by a lace hat with a peau de soie bow set with a teardrop pearl at the center. Two dozen white roses with stephanotis formed the crescent bridal bouquet.

CAROL LEE Chloupek of Prospect Heights was maid of honor in a cherry pink taffeta dress with bell skirt and flat bow on the midriff. A cherry hat trimmed with a flat bow and circular veil completed her attire, and she carried a crescent bouquet of deep rose colored roses. The two bridesmaids, Lesley Simpson, the bridegroom's cousin from Tampa, Fla., and Nancy Kelley, the bride's cousin from Lake Bluff, Ill., were gowned identically to the maid of honor, but carried a crescent of cherry colored roses.

Best man was John Olsen of Haines City, Fla., and ushers were Robert Koske, the bride's uncle from Fox Lake, Ill., and Fred Choate of Park Ridge, a fraternity brother of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Koske wore a beige silk brocade dress with matching accessories and had a white gardenia corsage. Mrs. Walker chose a pale blue embroidered silk organza sheath with a white cymbidium corsage.

A LUNCHEON was served 200 wedding guests in Rolling Green country club, after which the newlyweds left for a week's honeymoon in Florida. They are now at home at 209 Ledwith ave., Haines City, Fla. Mr. Walker, a graduate of Florida Southern and a member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, is employed by the Haines City Citrus Growers association. His bride was graduated from Arlington high school before attending Florida Southern, where she was affiliated with Kappa Delta sorority.

Fashionable Females Delighted with Lark

Fashion goes on a spree this fall—especially for women!

A season of paradoxes, fall 1959, finds the Paris dictates opposing those of New York and the masculine look versus the feminine.

The House of Dior hikes skirts above the knees in the vogue of the '20s, while New York's fashion leaders exhibit ankle-length cocktail dresses!

A revival of the 1930's costumes brings back the Garbo, Lombard, Dietrich era. with women donning 'slightly mannish' suits with slouch hats and trouser-cut skirts.

BUT ONCE THE sun sets, women capture the Jean Harlow aura, provocatively feminine in sequined, clinging gowns with plummeting necklines!

A splash of color runs the gamut from muted, subdued tones of brown, green, red and black to brilliant blue, pink and gold hues. There are fabrics galore, from oriental brocade and drifty chiffons to gay plaids and man-tailored woolens.

Madison avenue elegance is fur-bound—lavish styles with fur trim everywhere!

And, as always, the "All-American" dress—with its casual uncluttered look—is promenaded avidly.

In a season where 'anything goes,' fall fashion offers a woman an infinite choice of costumes to suit each occasion in her everyday schedule. Assorted fabrics, a spectrum of colors and styles—bar none—will project and enhance her every mood.

AND IN SOUTH Bend, Indiana, long an automotive styling center, fashion is making front page news also.

Come October, the Studebaker Lark 1960 is makng its public debut!

And, for a member of the female driving corps, it is a very special car.

Her chauffeuring and the daily short distance stop-and-go driving errands are fun instead of frustration.

Shorter by almost three feet than the average American car, yet having big car roominess, the Lark parks with ease. It provides all - around visibility with no rear protrusions to worry about!

Cornering and left hand turn problems are passe, as this car maneuvers deftly with little effort.

AN EASILY accessible trunk area—compact, yet roomy—simplifies the weekly supermarket shopping. A trunk lid, locking at a comfortable level and opening straight up, facilitates the placement of packages for the woman shopper.

Every woman who enjoys riding and driving comfort will take note of the Lark's six passenger seating capacity.

And, even while wearing fashionable narrow - heeled pumps and slim, chic dresses, milady can get in and out of the Lark without difficulty, as it offers ample head and leg room. Rear leg room in the 1960 models has been increased for added backseat comfort.

Economy-wise, the Lark is ideal transportation for the lady of the house who watches the family budget. It runs efficiently on regular gasoline and removable fender panels lower replacement costs and insurance rates.

For winter driving, there's an under-dash heating, ventilating and defrosting unit providing unobstructed heat distribution throughout the car.

OTHER LARK features convenient for a woman-especally if driving with children-are a handy glove compartment located in the center of the instrument panel which opens out to form a horizontal "table" with built-in cup wells; a sensibly-placed, good-sized ashtray; a centrally-situated inside light and safety padding on the dashboard.

Functional and compact, the all-purpose Larks offer a choice of models to suit every woman's needs: a year-around 4-door station wagon (suburba's choice for outdoor living); a snappy 2-door hardtop (for football weekends and trips to the 'bigtown'); a family-size 4-door sedan (just right for vacation-time traveling); a perky 2-door sedan (a versatile, 'round-about-town' for the smaller family); and a brand-new convertible (the only one available on the smaller car market).

Tasteful simplicity not only identifies a well-dressed woman, but also a Lark. Its clean, uncluttered lines, with a single sweep of chrome accent, are comparable to those of the always-in-style "little black dress" found in every woman's wardrobe.

In keeping with the fall color trends, the all-new Lark 1960 colors are subdued and "grayed off": olive-toned Oasis Green, wine-toned Colonial Red; sand-toned Sandalwood Beige; forest-toned Williamsburg Green; slate-toned Gulfstream Blue; ivory-toned White Sand; plus a sun-toned Jonquil Yellow and a midnight-toned Velvet Black.

The exterior color motif is expertly harmonized with the basic interior color schemes of blue, green, brown, red and black, on both the Regal and Deluxe models. Additional interior color co-ordinates are a black and red combination with a black exterior, black with a yellow exterior and a special tan shade with a leather-like appearance if desired.

INTERIOR appointments are of a new easy-to-clean vinyl upholstery and an all-new nylon shaft loom fabric which makes for longer wearability.

Reflecting the fall fashion paradox, the Lark not only combines masculine tailoring with feminine appeal, but is designed to satisfy individual and family transportation needs economically, efficiently, conveniently.

Given a Paris creation or a New York inspiration and a 'lovely - to - look - at - and - drive' 1960 Lark, a woman is definitely "in" the fall fashion picture! (BB

Arlington Heights:

Arlington Hall (Opera House) will be equipped as a general amusement hall by October 20, and will conduct a Moving Picture Nickel Show and book dates for public and private Social Dances for organized clubs, and home talent entertainments, which gives the public pleasure through the winter months. The hall will be well lighted and heated for all classes of entertainments. Watch the date of attractions.

The Star Lyceum course starts Wednesday evening. Tickets are $2 each, for the course or 50 cents each entertainment.

Prof. and Mrs. D. W. Gamble gave the teachers of the public schools and a few friends a big treat Wednesday. After school they were taken in a bus for a ride which ended in a delightful picnic lunch in Elk Grove woods, with plenty of rugs and cushions, after which they gathered round a cheerful fire and entertained each other with stories, laughter and songs. A ride home in the moonlight appropriately ended the pleasant occasion.

Contractor Jesse E. Hausam has finished his job of excavating over 500,500 thousand yards of dirt, much of it hard pan clay, for the Berbecker block, east of the Herald office. It was a hard job, but he did it in record breaking time, considering laborers are so scarce. (S.W. corner of Davis and Dunton).

Another new Oakland is on our streets. C. H. Patten is the owner and of course, Henry Schoppe was the salesman. But Hank says that the Oaklands look so good that it does not take much work on his part to sell the cars. Oakland owners do all the boosting necessary to cinch sales.

The new postoffice location will soon be a reality. The glaziers have put the large plate glass window in place, contractor Umbdenstock has completed the carpenter work, hung the last doors and it is now up to the Postmaster to make the next move—and all the postoffice patrons will follow. The postoffice has been in its present location twenty years.

After paying all bills there will be about $600 left in the permanent memorial fund. While talking so much about the World War II soldiers, we forgot the veterans of the Civil War. There are not many of them left in Palatine, but such as are still with us, occupied autos of honor.

The line of march included 72 veterans. Nearly a hundred sat down to the banquet table. There is no doubt as to what is the quickest way to even a soldier's heart.

The Red Cross canteen was well patronized and served all alike, except that silver was asked from those not in uniform.

Mt. Prospect is a young, but growing village. They already have their main street paved with concrete and their own electric lights. They will soon have water works and a drainage system. They have three department stores, two large garages, a national bank, three schools, one church, lumber, coal, grain and feed dealers, pickle factory, three green houses and florists, onion warehouses, creamery and milk bottling plant; also the famous Utility Battery factory. All of which employ large forces of men.

Palatine

The newest and youngest business firm in Palatine is the Hackbarth Bros., who on Oct. 1st, purchased the newspaper route of Ray Wilson. The boys say they are going to give Palatine the best newspaper service her citizens have ever enjoyed. They are both used to hard work and with the help of motor-bicycle and "old jerry" they ought to succeed.

Roselle

The road commissioners and supervisors at their recent meeting at Bloomingdale, agreed to preserve the beautiful forest. Commissioner Haberkamp has already had all woodland owners sign up. The final settlement will be made in April in cash.

A bow and tie social will be given in the Friedens church basement Saturday evening. All ladies, young or old married or single, are requested to bring boxes. Remember to put a bow-tie in the box as a souvenir for the gentleman who purchases your box. The ladies also should wear a little bow of ribbon on their waist to match the color of the bow-tie in the box. Be sure to put your name in the box. The essential thing is not the tie that you put in the box, but the good eats. Ice cream, coffee and cake will be served. Everybody come. Heaps of fun can be had at an old fashion box social.

Arlington Heights

The first game of boys' basketball with an out-of-town team was played last Friday afternoon on the home court with the Barrington High School team. It was a fast clean game, both sides playing the game according to the rules. Barrington's winning may be attributed in large part to the expert goal shooting of one of the team. The final score was 25 to 6 in favor of Barrington. The referee for the game was Supt. E. L. Kimball of Palatine.

Mr. August Kimmet, the last Palatine Veteran of the Civil War, passed away Wednesday morning, aged 84 years, 11 months, 16 days. The funeral was held Saturday afternoon from the Palatine Lutheran church. Mr. Kimmet was in good health until ten days ago,

That courtesy that was prevalent forty and fifty years ago, when Mr. Kimmet was a young man, remained with him and when Mr. Kimmet met a member of the opposite sex his hat was tipped with all the gallantry of old. His greatest joy and the greatest holiday of the year was always Memorial Day. He would arise early and be in his place, displaying that reverence for the day that was intended by its founders. For the past two Memorial days, Mr. Kimmet has stood alone as a civil war veteran on Memorial Day programs. The thought that his end was near never troubled him and his smile was as broad as ever.

An insight into the real character of Mr. Kimmet might be obtained from the fact that he went to war when a lad of only 17 years, in place of his stepfather, who was called in the midst of harvest. Mr. Kimmet was wounded, captured in that condition by the Confederates and again, while still in the hospital was recaptured by the Union lines.

August Kimmet was born Oct. 16, 1844, in Hanoover, Germany. When 11 years old he came with his family to America, settling in Park Ridge.

Oct. 7, 1864, he joined the 51st regiment, Illinois Infantry, fighting in the vicinity of Chattanooga, where he was wounded. He was mustered out of service in Texas on Sept. 25, 1865. June 16, 1871, he married Miss Caroline Teufert, of Arlington Heights and moved to Palatine, where for 16 years he was employed at the lumber and coal business when conducted by J. Slade. He followed the trade of carpenter and a general handy man.

At the Village Board meeting Monday night Trustee Harry K. Robinson referred to the fact that the present zoning ordinance was antiquated. He suggested that the village president appoint five men, consisting of two attorneys, one engineer, and two business men, or laymen, to study and formulate a new ordinance. Mayor Goedke will appoint the committee at the next board meeting.

The old Henry Klehm home on Eastman st., Arlington Heights, is being moved this week to make room for the new St. Peter school youth building which will be started next spring. The three story stucco house has been used in the past by the school for additional classrooms and organization meetings. It will be transferred to the southeast corner of Chestnut and St. James sts. where a new foundation has been poured, and will be remodeled into living quarters for St. Peter teachers.

Palatine Masonic Lodge (No. 314 A.F. & A.M.) will celebrate its 90th anniversary Oct. 8 at which time wives and friends will be guests of the lodge members. John P. Mangels, a past master, will be master of ceremonies. Robert Mosser, whose Uncle Robert Mosser, was one of the past masters of the lodge and prominently identified with its growth forty and fifty years ago, will read a history of the local lodge. Special interest will be the exhibits of lodge paraphernalia, dating back to 1859, when the lodge was established.

Pumpkins In Palatine Limelight

With the slogan "It's Pumpkin Time in Palatine,' the Palatine Savings and Loan association will help start the Halloween season.

Beginning Monday, Oct. 19, a pumpkin will be given to every child, accompanied by an adult, who visits the savings building.

"WE think the pumpkin best typifies the harvest season," said William W. Heise, Jr., executive vice president of the Savings and Loan association. "Since October is being observed throughout Illinois as 'Start-to-Save Month,' we would like to help the people of the northwest suburbs get started on their financial harvest. The children of our depositors and friends are cordially invited to help themselves from our mountain of pumpkins."

The mountain of pumpkins will be located inside the front door of the Palatine Savings' new building at Brockway st. and Chicago ave.

Wieboldt Previews Store At Meadowdale Center

Thursday, Nov. 5, Wieboldt Stores, Inc. will open the doors of their eighth department store in the Meadowdale shopping center at Carpentersville, near the juncture of highways 25 (Elgin rd.) and 62 (Algonquin rd.).

"We are going to open our doors for a preview; so our old friends and new neighbors can get a look at our new 'house' out here in Meadowdale," Werner A. Wieboldt, chairman of the board and son of the late founder of the 76-year-old department store chain, said today.

"Then on Veterans' day, Wednesday, Nov. 11," he added, "we'll have our official opening. Wieboldt Welcome ceremonies will be held at 9:00 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 14 in Meadowdale shopping center."

MR. WIEBOLDT emphasized that the new store is a complete department store, stocking everything for the family from fashions to furniture.

The one-story building is of modular construction. It occupies 150,000 square feet. Multiple entrances open onto parking areas for 7000 cars.

This newest addition to the Wieboldt store family is completely air conditioned, with the latest, most modern display features and soft, engineered lighting.

Approximately 350 people from the area will staff the new Wieboldt's Meadowdale store.

WILLIAM A. Wieboldt founded the first store in 1883—a 25-foot front general merchandise store on Grand ave. near Ashland, in Chicago. By 1897 he was located in his own new four-story building at Milwauke ave. near Paulina, in what was then the largest department store outside of Chicago's loop.

This and later expansion saw the building of six more giant department stores in Chicago neighborhoods, in Oak Park and Evanston.

The second Wieboldt department store, at Lincoln and Belmont aves. in Chicago, opened in 1912, and was followed by the store at Ashland and Monroe, in Chicago, in 1925. In 1929, Wieboldt's moved out to Evanston and in 1950 opened a new enlarged store in that community, which is also the home of the firm's general offices. The fifth store, at 63rd and Halsted sts., Chicago, was opened in 1930, and the Oak Park-River Forest store in 1937. The store in Harlem-Irving Plaza shopping center was opened in May, 1957.

Here's HAUGH to Plan a Party

by DOLORES HAUGH

Pumpkin Parade Party

The witching night of Halloween will soon be here and why not invite the little pumpkins in your neighborhood in for a Pumpkin Parade Party?

Invitations

Cut double fold orange construction paper pumpkins and a bat, with wings spread, from black construction paper. Fold the bat pattern in half and make it wide enough that the tips of the wings can be fastened inside the pumpkin so that it pops out when the invitation is opened. Write the following inside the pumpkins:

Hobgoblins all are flying around on Halloween,
Put on your scariest costume
And at our house be seen.
We'll play some games, then
Trick or Treat
Lots of fun — Good things to eat
So when the owl says
"WHOOOOO."
You will know that he means
YOOOOOOU!

State Time, place and tell the mothers to dress the children warmly to they can go out trick and treating. Also that treat bags will be provided by you.

Planning the Party

The children usually have treats and parades at school so why not let them go home and rest a bit before the Pumpkin Parade Party? Have a light supper and have it early, around 5. In this way you will be getting them out early for the Tricks and Treats and also Dad can join in or baby sit the younger ones while you take over.

Be sure you plan your course and give instructions before the trickers start. Take a partner, stay in line, and don't forget to say "thank you." We will stay on this block and when we are finished we will drop so-and-so off at her house. Make the rules simple and repeat them often, but most important, follow them to the letter.

Food

Plan a simple supper of hot dogs, potato chips, hot chocolate and doughnuts. If you prejust serve doughnuts and cider after the Tricks and Treats.

Decorations

Since the children will be in costume, dress up yourself if you have an old costume around or just be a gypsy and wear lots of jewelry and a bright skirt and blouse and a bandana. Your own children will love it and the others will be surprised. Plan on a few pictures or movies if you can; they will provide entertainment next year if you do a repeat Pumpkin Parade.

The table will probably be the focal point of your decorations as the games will be simple and short as supper is to be served early. Use paper, of course, and for everything, tablecloth, napkins, plates, glasses and provide a trick and treat bag which the children can decorate themselves. However, depending on the ages represented, you print on the names so there can be no mix up in loot.

FOR A CENTERPIECE, naturally, Mr. Pumpkin. If you want to make a pie out of yours simply draw the face on the pumpkin with an ink marking pencil. Mr. Jack O. Lantern can be anything by his hat and facial expression. To turn him to a witch use a string mop for hair, and pointed black hat and you have a witch. Add circles of red construction paper, blue triangular eyes, a red oil mop and clown hat and presto, Jack is a clown, others are Hobo or pirate. The children might even copy him onto their treat bags.

For favors use wax mustaches, false wax teeth, but unless you have strong nerves no horns please, sir if you insist, pass them out just before you leave for treating.

To add to the flavor of Halloween, some cornstalks, a scarecorw, and Indian corn or gourds hung near the front door or lamp post outside adds a welcome mat to any guests, and you can leave them up through Thanksgiving if they are well protected against the elements. Varnish the corn, gourds and pumpkins and make the scarecrow from plastic and washable clothes.

Games

Simple games can be played. Let each child while blindfolded tear out various Halloween subjects, from newspaper. Or draw them on a piece of paper on top of their heads. Pin the nose on the pumpkin, find the hidden paper pumpkins, throw the orange balloon in the bushel basket to mention a few.

You can have a pumpkin for each child to take home by blowing up orange balloons and drawing on the features with India ink. Tie them and slip the knot in a slit in a green cardboard leaf. You can use these balloon pumpkins as place cards at the table by adding the child's name on the leaf. The kiddies get a bang out of these balloon pumpkins.

KEEP CLOSE watch on the time and be sure to tell the mothers what time the little pumpkins will parade home, then stick to that time.

If the pumpkin parade starts at your house this year there will be a lot of Pumpkins that will be happy to parade again next Halloween too. Line up Pumpkins, forward march, we're off on a Pumpkin Parade.

It's Anchors Aweigh Tuesday

It will be anchors aweigh as the "World Fashion Tour" presented by the Prospect Heights Woman's club and Doris Kirkeby, Mt. Prospect, leaves port Tuesday, Oct. 20, 11 a.m. at Rolling Green country club. Tourists will be directed to their tables by guides and upon arrival will find their luggage all packed and waiting for them.

Pre-sailing cocktails will be available and luncheon will be served at noon in the main dining room. Seated at the captain's table will be Captain-Chairman Mrs. William Thon Jr., Mrs. Gordon Wells, ship narrator, Mrs. Leroy Koelle, president and Doris Kirkeby, who is sponsoring the tour.

JUST BEFORE luncheon some lucky lady will be selected to reign as "Queen of the Tour"! Her majesty will be wined and dined and showered with gifts galore. Immediately following luncheon the "U.S.S. Doris Kirkeby" will be launched and the World Fashion Tour will begin. In the midst of the journey, passengers will be surprised by a "mystery performance." As the ship docks and the tour continues on through the various countries, sometimes motoring, sometimes flying, it will be noticed that the women modeling the latest in high fashion will bear a striking resemblance to 10 well known Prospect Heights Woman's club members.

The tour is limited to 200 advance reservations. Those desiring to "come aboard" can make their reservations now by contacting Mrs. Edward Brezina, CL 5-5126, or Mrs. Carroll Hardebeck, CL 5-1729.

Trick ,N Treat Candies Benefit Brain Research

Club project chairman, Mrs. Jack Ristow, has announced that the Mt. Prospect Junior Woman's club will participate again in the Brain Research foundation's annual fund drive. Primary sources of the foundation's support come through the sale of Halloween "trick or treat" candy and through general contributions.

In addition to the sale of the candy, another object of the club's participation in the campaign will be distribution of literature aimed at promoting understanding of the objectives of the foundation.

THE BRIAN Research foundation's 1959 fund drive is captioned "Campaign for Understanding," understanding of the need for such and understanding of the individual so afflicted. This drive will benefit millions of Americans, one in every 10 being afflicted with brain disorders, making this the nation's number one health problem.

The fight against brain illness involves everyone. Residents are asked to support the Brain Research fund drive by purchasing several boxes of "trick or treat" candy October 24, the date of Mt. Prospect Junior Woman's club's concerned effort to assist in this campaign.

Centex Is Based Upon The 'Texas Tradition'

Tom Lively Is Sparkplug Of Giant Building Firm

Centex Construction Co., Inc., builder of Elk Grove Park & Shop and developer of Elk Grove Village, is a large-scale operation in the Texas tradition.

The name is a contraction of "Central Texas", where the company was formed in 1950. In Texas, Centex has built houses, apartments, shopping centers and military housing in Dallas, San Antonio, Garland, Mesquite and other areas. It also has an office building under construction in Beaumont.

California has been the scene of considerable Centex activity, too, with more than 3,200 dwellings completed in such locations as San Diego, Chula Vista, Anaheim and San Jose.

In Illinois, Centex built 1,346 units in Lake County Gardens, Waukegan, before undertaking its huge residential-industrial community of Elk Grove Village in 1957.

IN A LITLE more than two years, some 2000 homes have been started in Elk Grove Village, of which more than 1,500 are occupied. About 6,000 homes will be erected on the 1,500 acres of the original purchase, and Centex has acquired another 1,550 acres to the west for future expansion.

In addition, the company is developing the 720-acre Centex Industrial Park east of the residential section, where well over 30 plants have already located.

Other large Centex projects include Air Force base housing at Mountain Home, Idaho, Elgin AFB, Florida, and Blytheville, Ark.

TOM LIVELY

Last week, the Governor of Hawaii presented a certificate to Tom Lively, president of Centex, in recognition of the Dallas firm's many business contributions to the economy of Hawaii, where it is constructing homes on land of the Kanoehe ranch near Honolulu.

The newest Centex venture, patterned after Elk Grove Village, will consist of 10,000 homes and a 50-acre industrial park at University Park, a newly incorporated community near Boca Raton, Fla. Model homes in University Park will open in January, 1960, according to Walter D. Carpenter, general sales manager.

In less than ten years, Centex has built some 25,000 housing units with a total valuation in excess of $400 million. Since 1955, it has annually ranked at or near the top of the list of biggest U.S. homebuilders. Last year, its activity in Elk Grove Village earned the community the designation of "Chicagoland's fastest-growing suburb."

"ARCHITECTURAL Form" magazine names Centex among the 100 largest contractors, based on construction other than its own homebuilding.

The company operates with a nucleus of highly trained supervisory personnel, but employs local subcontractors and workmen at each site. Executives were selected with an eye to their extensive backgrounds in the building business, and the experience of craftsmen goes back well beyond the relatively short history of Centex.

Spark plug of the operation is Lively, the young, vigorous president who rose to the top in a few short years. Lively spends much of his time flying to various parts of the country, scouting out new and promising locations.

Often accompanying him on these junkets is Frank Crossen, vice president, another executive still in his thirties. A former Dallas banker, Crossen assists Lively in arranging financing for the company's multiple projects, in addition to being in over-all charge of the Elk Grove Village development.

E. Lee Higgins, vice president, heads the construction end of the business, maintains close supervision through superintendents at each site. Superintendent for Elk Grove Village homes is Clyde Smith. Shopping Center construction superintendent is Robert Clinkenbeard.

Beauty Salon

Elk Grove Beauty Salon in the new Elk Grove Park and Shop will do its best to help make the women of the village noted for their "crowning glory."

Offering the finest in beauty care for the discriminating woman, the shops is being opened by Larry Barber Shops Inc. Four beauticians on duty are specialists in hair shaping, styling and permanent waving.

Hours of the beauty salon are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays. Wednesdays it will be open from 9 till 9.

Medical-Dental Center Located at Park & Shop

Two physicians and two dentists will share offices in the Elk Grove Medical-Dental center, 15 Park & Shop ln., which opens today with the opening of the new shopping center.

They are: Dr. Donald E. Fox, internal medicine; Dr. E. Jesse Jacobs, obstetrics and gynecology; Dr. Marvin B. Schumer and Dr. Donald A. Froehlke, dentists.

He is affiliated with Bethesda, Illinois Masonic, new Northwest Community and Lutheran General hospitals. Dr. Fox is also an instructor with the University of Illinois, an associate of Cook County hospital, and is medical consultant at the Illinois Psychiatric institute.

While specializing in internal medicine, he says "I would like to think of myself as a family physician."

DR. JACOBS, 33, is married and has two children. He resides at 116 N. Walnut st., Arlington Heights. In addition to his new practice in Elk Grove Village, Dr. Jacobs will maintain his practice at the Arlington Heights medical building, 1430 N. State rd.

A graduate of Northwestern University medical school, he took his residency training at Wesley Memorial hospital, Chicago.

He is affiliated with Evanston hospital and Northwest Community hospital. Dr. Jacobs is a member of the faculty of Northwestern University medical school, Chicago Maternity center, and the Infant Welfare Society.

DR. SCHUMER, of 801 Delphia ln., Elk Grove Village, is married and has two children. He will practice general dentistry.

A graduate of the University of Illinois College of Dentistry, he took his pre-dental studies at the University of Illinois Chicago undergraduate division.

He graduated from dental school in 1957, then spent two years serving in the Army at Ft. Jay, N.Y., and Ft. Sheridan, Ill., as well as at the Nike site in Arlington Heights.

Marquette university where he also attended the school of dentistry, graduating in 1956.

A veteran of the Navy dental corps, Dr. Froehlke is married and has two children. (EG

Corner Drug Store Comes to Village

The corner drug store, an old American tradition, has come to Elk Grove Village.

The corner is at Higgins and Arlington Heights rds. in Elk Grove Park & Shop.

The store is Suburban Drugs Inc., the newest and most completely stocked in the 18-year old chain of eight modern establishments the firm operates in the Chicago area.

GAYLE BANTER, manager said the prescription and drug departments will be the heart of the business, and prescription delivery will be available. In addition, there are complete baby, cosmetic, houseware, toy and notions departments as well as a liquor and beer section.

In addition to Bantner, there are two other registered pharmacists, Ben Altstadt and Robert Kress. Rosemary Ferris is the full-time registered cosmetician.

Bantner moved from Oak Lawn to 780 Crest ave., Elk Grove Village last month with his wife Jane and four children, John, 12; Kathleen, 11; Brenda, 3, and Sharon, 1½.

A graduate of the University of Illinois College of Pharmacy in 1949, Bantner has been with Suburban Drugs nearly nine years.

His off-duty activities include bowling and fishing.

HE'S SUCH a devoted fisher-HEE'S SUCH a devoted fisherman that he even takes his wife along in their 14-foot outboard boat!

Bantner's ability and popularity with his fellow Elk Grove Village businessmen has already been indicated by his recent election as president of the Elk Grove Merchants Association, composed of all the stores and offices in Elk Grove Park & Shop.

Win Your Own Private North Woods Island

From Ely, Minnesota, comes a hearty greeting to Elk Grove Village as the Park & Shop opens.

The citizens of that northern community will be expecting some new "islanders", come next summer, in beautiful Burntside Lake nearby. The vacationing family will be the the Lucky winners of Paddle Island, or Ah-Bwe as the Indians call it, first prize among the 25 giveaways at the shopping center grand opening.

Long before "South Pacific" with its memorable tune of "Bali Hai" set folks dreaming, people cherished their own romantic visions of the perfect private island. The Minnesota hideaway is that ideal spot, surrounded by clear waters and pine forest, in the greatest canoe country in the world.

BURNTSIDE LAKE will remain vacationland and a fisherman's paradise for all time, since it is in the vast, protected area of the Superior National Forest, extending to the Canadian border north and east of Duluth. Now readily accessible by fine highways, the region has a colorful past from the pioneer days of the 1870's.

Then, the wilderness was invaded by prospectors for gold, lured by reports of strikes in the Burntside Lake region. But the gold turned out to be "fool's gold", or iron pyrite. The disillusionment, however, was fore runner to the discovery of vast deposits of iron ore, which in the end proved of greater value than gold itself.

Today, the treasure to be found on Paddle Island is that which Nature alone can bestow — cool waters for swimming, boating, or fishing, wonderful summer weather, and the matchless peace of the north woods.

IF YOU LIKE your winters cold and enjoy fishing through the ice, with some skiing and ice boating, too you'll find good companions on the scene among the year-'round residents of Ely. Each year, there's a Winter Carnival in Ely, with a Pancake Breakfast, winter sports, and the international log sawing contest.

Title to Paddle Island will be transferred to the first prize winner at the conclusion of the grand opening at Elk Grove Park & Shop. The island is about one-third acre in size, rising 15 feet above the lake level, and one-quarter mile from shore.

Anyone except members of the Elk Grove Merchants Association, their employees and families, may become eligible to win simply by filling out a registration form in any Park & Shop store or office.

Shop Center Has 18 Miles of Wire

The people at Monroe Electric co. who installed all the wiring in Elk Grove Park and Shop think you'll get a charge out of this: There's 98,295 feet of wiring in the building.

If that shocked you, consider that this wire, stretched in a straight line from the shopping center, would reach more than 18 miles, or almost to Chicago's Loop.

"Oh my, watt else could be more illuminating?" you ask.

BRIGHTEN UP with another flash from the shopping center's electrical contractor: The 1,474 lamps in the building that range from 40-watt incandescent bulbs to 400-watt mercury floodlamps would turn loose about 4,500,000 candlepower if all were lighted at once.

"Well, I'll be switched," you mutter.

And what about the 25,230 feet of conduits in the building? "That just goes to show you con-du-it." (EG

Larberg to Head Insurance Office

Elk Grove Insurance Agency Inc., managed by Robert Larberg, will be one of the offices welcoming you to Elk Grove Park and Shop's grand opening.

Larberg and his wife Anne live at 549 Charing Cross Road, Elk Grove Village, with their two children, Jan, 15 months, and Tim, one month.

A 1952 graduate of Kansas State college where he was a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, Larberg has six years of experience in the insurance business. He was a special agent for an insurance company in Wisconsin before moving to Elk Grove Village this year and opening his own agency.

HE'S A GOLFER and a sports enthusiast who also numbers among his spare-time activities service on the board of directors of the village JayCees and as secretary of the Elk Grove Merchants Association.

Larberg terms his firm "your community insurance counselor," and says he expects it to "grow with the village and help its residents build a well-rounded insurance program to fit their needs."

He represents Aetna Casualty and Surety co. and National of Hartford, and brokers life and affiliated lines through The Prudential Insurance Company of America. Insurance coverage he offers includes fire, casualty, bonds, marine, automobile, life, accident and health, mortgage protection, compensation and special risks. His office is in the shopping center arcade.

Barber Shop Among New Businesses

Larry Barber Shops Inc. announces its new shop in Elk Grove Village will be open from 9 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. weekdays, 9-5 Saturdays and closed Wednesdays.

Known as Elk Grove Barber Shop, it is an addition to the suburban group that also includes shops in the Rolling Meadows, Golfview Plaza, Prospect Heights and Meadowdale Shopping Centers.

The new shop in Elk Grove Park and Shop has six chairs, and is owned and operated by the barbers themselves. They are up-to-date in all modern types of haircut styles. They make no extra charge for crew cuts, flat tops or children's hair cuts. (E

Hardware Chain Opens Local Store

Elk Grove Best Hardware is the name of one of the new business establishments holding its grand opening today in Elk Grove Park and Shop.

It is one of more than 70 in the Best Hardware group of stores in the Chicago area. Because of the group operation, the store in Elk Grove Village participates in carload-lot buying which permits savings to be passed along to customers.

IT SPECIALIZES in name brand, nationally advertised merchandise that includes Stanley tools, Du Pont paint, Ekco housewares, Beautyware and Wearever products.

Best Hardware features a 60-foot section devoted entirely to gifts, toys and games. There's also a complete do-it-yourself section where handymen can discuss their problems with the store's experts, where projects can be planned and where friendly service is rendered to the home owner who wants to save time, trouble and money.

Dry Cleaner Firm Opens In Center

Gilbert Korer, a man with 20 years' experience in the dry-cleaning business, will manage Elk Grove Cleaners in the new village shopping center.

Korer, vice president of K and K Enterprises Inc., which owns the store, points out that "we operate our own plant on the premises."

"Our quality service and know-how is the culmination of all that is best in fine dry cleaning," he continues, "Modern science with advanced techniques gives you garments that are cleaner and more beautiful than ever before. Now your clothes can have all the brilliance of color, the soft fabric textures, and the smart style lines that they had when they were brand new."

A SPECIAL FEATURE of the cleaning establishment is the "Little Elk," a shoe-shiner who does the job free and easy.

Who's the "Little Elk?"

"Come in and meet him," Korer says with a twinkle in his eye. "You've never met a shoe shine boy quite like him."

Follow Clues and Locate $5,000 Hidden Treasure

Ever have a hankering to hunt for buried treasure?

You don't have to sail the seven seas, run the risk of walking a pirate's plank or lug a geiger counter to locate $5,000 hidden somewhere within a 20-mile radius of Elk Grove Park & Shop.

All you have to do is follow the clues posted in Elk Grove Village's new shopping center stores at Higgins and Arlington Heights Roads. The first clue will be revealed today. They'll be changed each day for 10 days to help you locate the valuable treasure that you can find if ypu turn your imagination loose.

Here are the treasure hunt rules:

1. Employees of Elk Grove Merchants Association members, their families, and the employees or families of their advertising agencies, are not eligible to participate in this contest.

2. The check is hidden within a radius of 20 air miles from Elk Grove Park & Shop.

3. It is accessible to the average ablebodied person.

4. The check, payable to the finder, will not be over 15 feet above the ground, nor five feet under the ground.

5. The contest will be for a period of 10 days, beginning October 15, 1959.

6. The check can be recovered without the use of any tools and without material damage to any property.

7. When the check is found, it must be reported to the Centex office in Elk Grove Park & Shop at once, and produced for verification. The check will be accepted only if presented by a person eligible under the contest rules and who will give an affidavit that the check in mention was first discovered by him during the period named above.

8. It is understood that Elk Grove Merchants Association must be complerely satisfied that all rules of the contest were followed before the check will be cashed.

9. One new clue will be posted daily in each of eleven stores in Elk Grove Park & Shop.

10. The amount of the check will be $5,000 for the first nine days (October 15 through 23) but will decrease to $500 on the tenth day (October 24) and will remain at that figure until the treasure is found.

Clown Set For Center Celebration

MICKEY

Mickey The Clown, a jovial and talented fellow, will be on hand today through Saturday for the grand opening of Elk Grove Park & Shop.

Mickey's comical antics will entertain everyone who is young at heart, for he is much more than a delightfully funny clown. He's a talented magician as well.

Along with his bag of tricks, he'll dispense joy to the small fry with free lollipops, balloons and 500 baby turtles.

He's a veteran performer who numbers among his Chicago radio and television appearances the Totem Pole on WTTW, the Bob and Kay Show on WNBQ, Bob Ellson's WCFL radio program and the Friendship how on WBBM-TV. He also carries out many entertainment assignments for the St. Jude's Police League in Chicago.

When Mickey The Clown is out of costume and away from his grease paint, he's Feliz Kotowski, a delivery truck driver.

Mortgage House To Open Branch

RAY WALTON

Dovenmuehle, Inc., Chicago's first mortgage house, announces the opening of a branch office in Elk Grove Village. With this announcement comes the appointment of Ray G. Walton as manager of the firm's Real Estate Sales and Mortgage Service Operation in this area.

Dovenmuehle, Inc., has been one of the most active mortgage firms in the field of residential lending, particularly on a project basis. Two of the largest village projects in the Chicago-land area—Park Forest and Elk Grove Village—were financed in a large measure by the 115 year old firm. In addition, a sizable number of smaller home projects and individual home purchases are financed through Dovenmuehle, Inc. The firm is also noted for its extensive activity in the field of commercial, industrial, and apartment loans.

RAY WALTON, who recently joined Dovenmuehle, Inc., has been associated with the mortgage industry since his release from active duty with the 8th Air Force in 1945, and is well known among lenders in the Chicago area. He was formerly Loan Service Manager for General Mortgage Investmen's and from 1952-1956 had been Assistant Residential Mortgage Supervisor for Equitable Life Assurance Society. In the early days of the GI home loan Walton was with the Veterans Administration during which period he was in charge of the Evanston Regional Office.

The Walton family including wife Virginia and four children, Raydell, Michael, James, and Tom have been residents of this locality since 1950 and are now residing at 11 Lynnbrook dr., Prospect Heights. (EG

New Shell Station Is In Operation

Robert W. Hoffmann of 122 Tanglewood drive, Elk Grove Village, is the operator of the new Shell service station at the southeast corner of Higgins and Arlington Heights roads.

The station at the edge of the Elk Grove Park and Shop parking lot will participate in the shopping center grand opening this week.

Bob and his wife Elaine, natives of Chicago, moved to Elk Grove Village a year ago. They have two children, Jeffrey Paul, 3, and Pamela Jean, 11 months.

BOB HAS BEEN with Shell Oil Co. as a service station operator for more than 13 years.

His sparkling new station features pick up and delivery service 24 hours a day. He'll make the life of village motorists easier with such other services as lubrication, oil changes, wheel balance, brake relining, tune-ups, radiator repairs and trailer rental. (EG

Family Tradition Behind New Bakery

A family tradition dating back many decades to a small town in Germany is being carried on by George Jarosch and his son Herbert in their bakery in Elk Grove Park and Shop.

George helped his father in the old country when just a teen-ager, getting up early and working in the family bakery before going to school. After coming to this country, he worked in a number of retail bakeries including some of Chicago's leading chain bakeries. For many years he was superintendent for Davidson's Bakeries in Chicago.

From 1944 until 1956, he was in business at 5640 West Diversey Avenue, Chicago. Since that time he's been temporarily retired while looking for a suitable place to open a bakery with his son, Herbert. Besides Herbert, he has two daughters, one of whom is married and has two children, and the other who is a college sophomore.

HERBERT ALSO learned his trade as a teen-ager, working for his father after school and during the summer.

He has baked under all sorts of trying conditions, including a field bakery in Korea while in the army. The spic and span new bakery the Jarosch family is opening in Elk Grove Village tops them all by a wide margin, he agrees.

After returning to civilian life, Herbert married a girl he had met in (where else!) his father's bakery.

The Jarosch family considers Elk Grove Village, after a two-year search for a suitable location, to be an ideal spot.

Camera Enthusiasts Eligible for Prizes

This week's grand opening of Elk Grove Park & Shop will provide abundant excitement and activity for camera enthusiasts who want to click their way toward the cash prize awards in the Elk Grove Village photo contest.

This month's picture subject is "Industry and Business in Elk Grove Village." The word "business" is your passport to picture-taking in the shopping center, Centex Construction Co., the contest sponsor, points out.

The October competition is the fifth in the series of photo contests for amateur cameramen who live or work in the village. Rules may be obtained from the new Centex office in the Park & Shop arcade.

ANOTHER $100 IN prizes is being offered this month to the five persons whose snapshots are judged best by a panel of experts.

Technical expertness, however, is not a major requirement to win a prize. A clever idea expressed in an ordinary snapshot taken with a box camera stands as good a chance of winning as a photograph shot with expensive equipment.

What's more, a new first-prize winner is assured this month because two previous first-place winners, R. P. Czarnecki and Norman S. Burtt, are no longer eligible for top honors in the monthly competitions. One of the contest rules states that no person may win first prize more than twice. Both Burtt and Czarnecki have captured the blue ribbon twice.

The five monthly prizes are $50 for first place, $25 for second, $15 for third and two $5 for honorable mention.

After the series of 12 monthly contests has ended, all prize-winning pictures will be judged again for the $850 in grand prizes — $500 for first, $250 for second and $100 for third.

CAMERA FANS may enter as many pictures as they wish in any monthly contest, although no one may win more than one prize per month.

The final monthly contest will be open only to children under the age of 16, although children can compete in any of the other contests.

Deadline for the October contest is the last day of the month.

In addition to Elk Grove Park & Shop, Centex Industrial Park at the east end of the village is an area for shutterbugs to inspect for picture possibilities this month. Several plants in the industrial park are already in operation and others are under construction. All are eligible photo subjects in the October competition.

The Way We See It

Citizen Committees Vital for Schools

School board members everywhere are finding it increasingly difficult to serve the educational interests of communities, suburban area educators were told last week.

The growing complexity of educational systems and increasing public demands have made it impossible for board members to comprehend and make decisions on many school problems, said Herbert M. Hamlin, University of Illinois professor and consultant to the Illinois Citizens Education Committee.

To relieve the situation he urged the creation of standing citizen advisory committees to study school problems and make recommendations to school boards. Where good committees go to work, he said, school systems improve and teacher morale increases.

We feel Hamlin's suggestion merits consideration by northwest suburban school districts.

Throughout our communities there is a growing interest in educational systems. Machinery is needed, however, whereby citizens can express themselves.

Such expression would not only give fresh insights and offer challenging solutions to educational problems, but would serve to create a sympathetic community reception to higher costs of education.

Community support on bond issues, notes Hamlin, is presently sought by many school districts through the use of citizen committees. Such committees, however, instead of being temporarily organized to gain public support for a new school, should serve on a standing basis and help determine policy through recommendations to school boards.

Among the numerous subjects which citizen advisory committees could study are ability grouping, recruitment of teachers, drop-out rates, extra-curricular activities, the teaching of foreign languages in elementary schools, school finances, enrichment programs, needed physical facilities, teaching aids, and curriculums in general.

Advisory committees could also serve as proving grounds for future school board members, notes Hamlin. Members with an advisory committee background could bring with them an appreciation of the district's problems and goals.

To succeed, warns Hamlin, advisory committees must have the trust of school boards and be kept throughly informed. On the other hand, committee members must take their positions seriously and give willingly of their time.

"The most respected individuals in the community, no matter how busy they are themselves, can be asked to assist in selecting a representative committee of citizens to carry out policy studies for the board," suggested Hamlin.

"Not all the people named will be people the board would have thought of. They will not all be men, or over 50, or parents," he said.

The school board of high school district 214, serving several area communities, has been working with a Citizens' Lay Advisory committee of 50 residents. The committee has been primarily concerned with determining the need for and means of financing a proposed third high school.

Perhaps when its immediate work is completed, it could, with a little regrouping, continue to operate along the lines suggested by Hamlin, and lead the way for area school districts in seeking greater citizen participation in school affairs.

Have Suburbs Lost Their Glitter? Exodus Ending

It must have caused a groan which recoiled from suburban real estate brokers down through village building departments.

"What, people moving back to the city? Ridiculous . . . this is utopia . . . why, those Socialist planners . . . those political machines," one could imagine might have been some of the more deflated or vitriolic responses.

But the mass exodus from city to suburb appears to have lost its Lemming-like lunacy.

For like the Lemming, a little furry member of the rodent family who is the only mammal outside of man to commit suicide, many persons moving to the suburbs have found that the migration was in vain.

The Lemmings participate in a mass migration (which nature intends to thin this species' ranks), and, when confronted with water, keep right on going, instruments of their own destruction.

Likewise, many persons moving to the suburbs have found it financial suicide; others discovered that "utopia" had a somewhat hollow and synthetic ring to it.

But now comes a report made public by the Chicago commissioner of city planning, Ira J. Bach, which indicates that the trend of people moving to the suburbs from the city is ending.

Said Mayor Daley: "As evidence that the exodus to the suburbs may be reversing, we have been told that 50 per cent of the tenants of the new apartment buildings, especially those along Lake Shore drive, are persons who have returned to the city from the suburbs."

The mayor also applauded the report as indicative of the city's winning the campaign against "slums and blight." And this is one area where the suburbs should take note of the need for social planning before the fact.

For one planning expert has predicted that the suburbs of the future will be surrounded by more blight and housing inadequacies than the city proper if the present trend of suburban growth continues.

Two of the more intangible aspects to consider about persons returning to the city are: 1) the city offers much more variety (the view of the lake from the drive is more satisfying to the aesthetic tastes than the neighbor's backyard from the picture window; 2) city living is capitalized by convenience rather than commuting.

This is not to say that there are not positive values to suburban living. But at least — if the latest city building figures could be interpreted as a trend — the suburban migration is beginning to resemble something less than the frenetic search for a false security; it apparently no longer resembles the headlong rush of the Lemming.

Two Sides to Enthusiasm

Content Is More Vital

by MARTIN E. MARTY

It's a full life. Daily, new wonders cross my desk.

This week it was (you'll never believe it) a booklet called, "How to be Enthusiastic All the Time." I showed it to a lady friend of my acquaintance who thought the whole idea wearying. It turns out that there is an institute which exists for the purpose of promoting perpetual and total enthusiasm. ("Associate with enthusiastic people." "Be really sold on yourself." Rule no. 14, and last, "Believe in God.")

I think the ideal of the enthusiasm people is both impossible and undesirable. Enthusiasm as a mood or emotion is to be valued most when it is stewarded best; it must be carefully apportioned and carefully rationed, not thrown around indiscriminately and worn down. I review books: if I review all enthusiastically, no one can sort out a critical word which sometimes must deny virtues of a particular effort. Were I a coach I would hardly dare be enthusastic about all performances, as this would lower the goals which need constant improvement.

YET OURS is a society which demands enthusiasm at all times for all things. The advertiser depends on it; the charm school promotes it. The Defense Department even demanded it a few years ago when it commanded more enthusiasm among its employees for its products and efforts. Eventually a society which enthuses too much shrugs too much, and our next generation is coming to be known as the cool, aloof, uninvolved, unenthused one.

Let's take a couple of illustrations. Every day this week the papers have been carrying more and more news about rigged quiz shows. The conversations on trains and buses and at street corners revolve around the guilt or innocence of the people who used to sweat in the concentration boxes and get paid tens of thousands for their perspiration. Like vultures waiting to sweep in, we are enthused that they are "getting what is coming to them." Or we express enthusiasm for their entertainment, whether it was honest or not.

Both ways we try to cover for our misplaced enthusiasm at the time when the quiz shows ranged on. Weren't we all out of perspective by getting that enthused about total recall and the useless unveiling of knowledge? Now, if we had kept our interest in line at the time, we would not have to retreat or cover so enthusiastically.

THERE ARE other matters in life that I am thankful I don't have to have opinions about. Fabian. Debbie Reynolds. Is Rock n' Roll immoral? Will Princess Margaret marry? Does the engine really belong in the front or the rear of a compact car? Should Casey Stengel retire?

All of these matters deserve comment, some of them interest, but few of them need the enthusisiasm which the press assumes we devote to them. It's a full life, as we said. We all have the right to our private enthusiasms, but let them be different from others.'

I can enthuse over a Haiku poem, a Chicago Bears play, a well executed thrust of a Frisbee, a new building by Saarinen, the smell of a mushroom omelet at one a.m., or a new poem by Alastair Reid. I don't care which are highbrow or lowbrow enthusiasms; I simply want them to be mine, and not manufactured, imposed, or mass-produced enthusiasms. I want the right to withhold myself from some of the enthusiasms invented for me by B.B.D. & O., the Luce magazines, or Mr. Hearst and company. Not much of a personal credo, I agree, but it will help tide me over for a while.

"ENTHUSIASM" is also a word of spotty lineage in Christian discourse. It can stand for a properly total reaction to the wondrous works of God. When this happens, it is focused on God in His faithfulness; it has a direction and a content. It also has represented a heresy which is fascinated by the religious subject, engrossed with the emotions of the man and the virtuosity of his stances before God.

A lot of us are becoming worried that in the age of manufactured enthusiasms this old heresy is again coming into play. We are called to have a religon, to have faith in faith or faith in America or faith in man. Even the billboards are telling us to become enthused about religion.

Let's not pay any attention to them. Lets save ourselves by putting these into perspective and devoting nothing more than interest in them. Let's not be "enthusiastic all the time" about religion. It might save time for us to be enthusiastic about God.

Letters to the Fence Post

Corrections Are Listed

I wish to thank Paddock Publications for publishing the main part of my letter of resignation in a news article. However, I feel obliged to offer some corrections for what were apparently typographical errors and might have confused or misled the public.

(1) With reference to the Joe Berg Foundation science and mathematics tests, the article should have stated, "Of all the eighth grade students in the two high school districts who took the test only three passed, Mary and Leonard being two of the three." The article read "high" grade students and would seem to include the high school students also in this comparison.

(2)To show due respect to a person's name, Mr. Hettich spells his name with an "h," not a "k."

ONE OTHER point which is a mistake in fact is the article's reference to my 3-point program. This program dealt with the basic skills, promotion standards, and advanced students, and was primarily for presentation to the board, not necessarily for publication.

The previous article mentioned along with my letter of resignation was an earlier letter to Stuart Paddock in comment on his editorial on education and was published in the Register almost three years ago.

Pharmacy Week Cites Role

During the past many years, medicine and pharmacy have kept pace with progress being made in our other scientific fields. The week, October 4 through 10, we honor the pharmacist during National Pharmacy Week. This key figure in the health team has a responsibility of compounding medicine and provides the physician with much knowledge on the many new drugs that are coming on the market. The entire pharmaceutical industry depends very heavily on the pharmacist as does the health of each community.

During National Pharmacy Week, we should all take time to say "Thanks" to our local pharmacist.

Bond Issues Hit

Your editorial in today's issue of the Mt. Prospect Herald was read with some interest. I enclose a clipping from yesterday's Chicago Tribune which I offer in contradiction of your contention that the proposed three bond issues are necessary and have been thoroughly studied by our local government.

We, like many others, moved from Chicago to the suburbs to get away from high rents and crowded conditions. However, we feel Mr. Bach's report is not without foundation since many of our friends have already taken steps to dispose of their homes and return to the city. Not the least of their reasons for so doing is TAXES.

We feel justified in questioning whether our local governing body has given thorough, careful and reasonable study to all angles of the projects involved in these bond issues.

Our doubt is based on such actions as their making a 5-year contract with Barrington Trucking for garbage disposal. Some weeks ago your paper carried notice of the village forbidding home owners to dispose of grass clippings in vacant lots. Agreed, many people abused this. Since this Barrington outfit will pick up ONLY two cans per home ONCE a week what are we to do with grass clippings?

Phone calls from numerous people to the village hall gained only the information about the 5-year contract and a rather helpless attitude about the problem. Is this serving the citizens?

Another instance. The village pays the Northwest Mosquito Abatement district for regular spraying during the summer. However, when the southeast section was neglected and report was made to the village hall they expected residents to make long distance complaint calls direct to the district. Is this serving the citizens?

As for the library. We have been told by high school students that many students from neighboring towns use our library? Why should we provide added facilities only to have them used by people outside of our own village? Should not this be checked?

Our taxes are almost double what we were told to expect three years ago when we purchased our property. Aside from property taxes we now are saddled with a sewer tax, which we must pay indefinitely for a system from which we derive no direct benefit. Residents in the south east section paid for a new dual sewer system when their homes were purchased.

Last Sunday's Tribune carried an article dealing with a water system for the northwest suburbs with the ultimatum "pay or else." These projects are fine but what percentage of this village's population can stand the tariff?

This village has had an unusual growth in the last few years but if home owners are going to be burdened with added costs and taxes they will NOT continue suburban living and there will be no need for these added facilities. There IS a saturation point.

Publicity was given to the families living in trailers whose children were crowding our schools but who were not paying their proportionate share of taxes. What was done about that situation?

Let's hear that our "village fathers" did something about getting monies "in" instead of always coming up with projects for money going "out." Let them remember, too, that invariably the new home owner is carrying a mortgage, monthly payment on which cannot be ignored.

No matter what the merit of some of these projects, we, and many others, feel duty bound to vote "NO" right down the line until such time as a stop is put to "pork barrel" spending and taxes at the national AND local level become stabilized.

This country right now is in a highly inflationary spiral because our governments are spending far more than they can anticipate in returns. Where is it going to stop? These projects may be "dreams" to the "village fathers" but they are nightmares to the home owners.

Disillusioned

Seeks Issues

The candidates seeking election to govern our newly incorporated community should be requested to take a stand individually, on what they believe our community should try to accomplish in the beginning of our growth as a village.

The educational and employment backgrounds of all of the candidates is secondary to the main issues the voters want to know about. Such as, why they wanted incorporation, or didn't want it, and why they feel they want to serve. Let us have some of the ideas for the growth of our village and certainly some of the ideas of the candidates who seek to guide the development of the Village of Hoffman Estates.

Sincerely interested,
Mrs. Jayne Andrews

Quotoons

The first thing a college student checks about a letter is to see if there is a check in it.

Few people ever finish paying off a 20-year mortgage — they usually get so disgusted with the house before that time, they unload it on somebody else.

The real enjoyment of leisure consists in sitting back and thinking about the things you did yesterday and could have let go until today.

People who criticize self-made men usually haven't been able to make much of themselves.

The first thing a smart woman does to take good care of herself is convince some promising young man to do it for her.

A sure test of a good deed is whether you did it even though you didn't have to.

Honest Flattery Is Healthy Thing

by LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

Vanity places value on useless, trivial things; pride often leads to insolence, arrogance and disdain. In each of us the seeds of these two character traits are inborn; and in each of us, to greater or lesser degrees, they find nutriment and grow.

People who are proud and vain look at life through eyes that reflect a distorted, unhappy vision. In their mental life, they see others as creatures of a lower order. They are the pride of creation in their own eyes. They are superior, lofty, and if only the world would be more like them, what a wonderful place it would be!

Such people always have their share of faults, though they can not see them; for everything they do they justify by warping their mental attitude into one of justification. They are intensely jealous of those who excel them in any way.

SUCH PEOPLE seldom lead happy lives, because they expect too much from other people, and give nothing in return. They give censure and expect praise. They demand respect, and treat others with condescention. In many other ways, they show their vaunted superiority.

Normal people will not return respect for ridicule. They are more apt to retaliate, insult for insult. You cannot be happy dishing out unwarranted criticism and expect to be loved nor praised for your self-imagined wisdom or greatness. The happiest persons are the humble ones, and the givers. When you speak kindly to another person, almost invaribly you are treated kindly, if you do some one a favor, they generally return it two fold. If you honestly praise other people for goodness, truth and honesty, almost all of them will be good, truthful and honest to you. If you can see yourself just as you are and accept honest prase but reject flattery, if you are humble and kind and thoughtful, you may go through life broke, but you will have the love and respect and kindness of others to cheer you up; or you may become wealthy, because not thinking about yourself overmuch, you have time to concentrate on the things you wish to do.

Then there is the teaching of Jesus: "He that findeth his life, shall lose it; and he that loses his life for my sake shall find it." (B8

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

by Edward Rentz

A meal is not considered a meal in Mexico without Frijoles, beans to us. Generally, they are served just before the dessert, and the favorite way is fried. This dish is prepared by heating fat or oil in frying pan, adding fried beans or mashed, and cooking and stirring until beans are completely dry.

To the Mexican cooking beans is an art. There the beans are not soaked unless they are very old. They are put on to cook in warm water to prevent the skins from getting tough, then simmered — never boiled, with frequent stirring. They are cooked until they begin to break open. Salt is added during the last half hour of cooking.

The October 2 dance of the Swingin' Squares was the liveliest so far with 14 squares, including six guest couples, whirling away to the calls of Don Finfrock and Bing Bengson.

All members are reminded that tomorrow's dance at the Recreation Park field house in Arlington Heights is the annual Halloween costume dance and many prizes will be awarded. As in prior years, almost everyone will be in costume but those not of a mind to masquerade will have just as much fun and are urged to attend. Refreshments fitting the season will be served.

Non-dancers who wish to learn to square dance and qualify for membership in the Swingin' Squares and other clubs should contact Don Finfrock at FL 8-0799 as there is still time to join the beginners class conducted by Don and his wife at the Pleasant Hill school in Palatine.

'Frigid' Yarn Mushes Through Its TV Debut

By LUKE FECK

"The Alaskans" mushed across the television tube last Sunday with Roger Moore, Jeff York and Dorothy Provine. The show has to do with the frozen hinterlands populated only by money-hungry prospectors.

It left me cold.

The obvious talents of Dorothy Provine were usually covered by a parka and so, the real assets of the show were lost to the viewing public. There were at times some relatively clever lines, but they were lost somewhere in the snowbound tundra.

For the most part the plot was hard to follow and should have been condensed into a half hour film. The only purpose this show served was to get the trio together and now ABC has the thread with which to weave some future frigid yarns.

RICHARD LONG and Andrew Duggan initiated "Bourbon Street Beat" last Monday night. This is another one of those detective shows with a jazz theme, yet they probably had more reason for it since their office is located right next to the Absinthe House in New Orleans.

Long is another from the school of flippant private eyes, but he seems to lack the necessary insolence to carry it off. Andrew Duggan had enough sincerity (as an actor at any rate) to warrant more watching. All of the actresses and one of the actors came up with their version of a southern accent—apparently right out of Actors' Studio. Arlene Howell was featured as Melody, Long's secretary, she seemed as phony as her accent. (She is probably a native of New Orleans, or as they say in "Bourbon Street Beat, N'Orlens.)

Despite the accents and an occasional misdirected brawl or two, the series does show promise along with some pretty good Dixieland jazz.

NICK ADAMS bowed in as "The Rebel" Sunday night on ABC. It is a fine show if you like adventure and not much else. In the 24 minutes Adams quickly shot two Indians, wearily got into a well executed fist fight, dramatically tried to shake up the lethargic townspeople, quickly blasted the bad guys with a double-barreled-sawed-off-shotgun, and rather stupidly carried a lighted quick-fuse time bomb down the street.

John Carradine appeared as a rather disillusioned newspaper editor whose stentorian tones and grand gestures provided a delightful interlude. This definitely isn't a "message" show, but it will probably suit you fine if you like fast action westerns.

LITTLE JAY NORTH brought the CBS "Dennis The Menace" to life Sunday night. Jay was cute, troublesome and intrepid as Hank Ketcham's comic strip character. Gloria Henry and Herbert Anderson appeared as Dennis' beleaguered parents.

Towhead North had a nearly indescribable sophistication way beyond his years. His almost adult and exaggerated delivery and poise provided real entertainment. Sunday's edition showed Dennis harassing his neighbor Mr. Wilson and managing to sneak into a movie when he was supposed to have been in bed.

The only character missed was Mitchell's dog, Ruff. This was a fine, funny show.

CAPSULE COMMENTS on last week's televiewing: Too bad the films of the Northwestern-Iowa game were so poor . . . Klu's vaccinations showed up real well in World Series close-ups . . . Arlene Francis is a rather poor substitute for Jack Paar . . . William Lundigan's "Men Into Space" is in orbit—too far out . . . Charley Weaver's "Hobby Lobby" fell flat on its face with nothing to interest the viewer. It wasn't very well produced . . . Lowell Thomas finally put Ralph Edwards down in no uncertain terms on "This Is Your Life" . . . Crosby, Sinatra and Armstrong plus Lee made delightful viewing . . . (A13

Arlington Seeks Fifth Straight Victory

York Dukes Next Hurdle For Cards

Another crucial assignment in Arlington's hazardous climb toward the pinnacle of West Suburban football will unfold Saturday afternoon.

The unbeaten Cardinals, seeking their first WSC grid title since entering the loop, will travel to York for an important battle with the unpredictable Dukes, 2-2 over the season.

Saturday's clash, kicked off by the frosh-soph encounter at 12 noon, will match the Cards with a club which looked impressive in beating Elgin, 21-13, then suffered a startling reversal of form in dropping two of its next three contests.

"IT'S HARD to tell what to expect now," York Coach Alex Naidenovich pointed out. "We played our best game in the opener but haven't done too much since then."

The weather has handicapped

TIME
Frosh-soph game, 12 noon, Saturday.
PLACE
York high school field.
COACHES
Arlington, "Bus" Ormsbee; York, Alex Naidenovich.

York's attack which operates out of the winged-flanker T. Heading the ground game is a fleet 175 pound halfback Jim Elliott, who cracked out 108 yards in 15 carries in the upset of Elgin.

But Elliott isn't the whole show at York with quarterback Jim Suckow, a tentative starter Saturday, a capable runner and passer. Suckow can throw long with Elliott a favorite target.

CENTER JOHN Bullaro, a 175-pound senior, has been a standout on defense and is a hard tackler at his linebacking slot. Rog Moos, a 204-pounder, is also ranked high by the York coach.

The right guard berth has proved troublesome as indicated by the listing of three tentative starters Saturday. Grant Achepohl opened against Downers Grove, but Roy Orr or Earl Niemoth may get the nod against Arlington.

Other boys expected to see extensive action outside of the starters are tackle Mike Young, a 180-pound junior, and guard Rog Ackerman, 150-pound junior.

TWO SLOTS are in doubt at Arlington with Kurt Zimmerman pushing Carl Graf for the right guard berth and Al Westergaard attempting to dislodge Bill McMillan at right half.

John Lopata, letterman fullback, should be ready Saturday to give Jim Ruffer some needed relief. Lopata, a 175-pound senior, didn't suit up against R-B.

"Bus" Ormsbee, Arlington's head mentor, was somewhat disappointed in the team's performance against Riverside, particularly the offensive blocking, but he was encouraged with the squad's determination in those four crucial minutes at the termination of the game.

ORMSBEE CITED the hard-running of Ruffer and Mike Dundy in the 20-13 victory over Riverside and indicated that Roy Klehm and Dan Striegel showed well in spots.

Striegel, a 220-pound senior, played the entire contest and has now played four full games for Arlington without relief.

"Overall, we need a lot of improvement if we expect to stay at the top," Ormsbee summed up. "I hope our lack of depth isn't beginning to tell but several of these boys have had to put in a lot of playing time in four games."

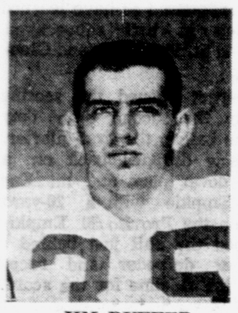
Fans may reach the York field by driving south on Route 83 to the first stoplight south of Rte. 64 (watertower on SE corner of intersection). Turn left here and the school is located about a half mile east.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

By BOB FRISK

SOMEONE ASKED, "Run that one over." The film was stopped and run back ,the same scene flashing on the screen. Another person said, "Did you see that? There's no excuse for it!" Still another spectator requested, "Run that one back and freeze it. I'll tell you when."

In some ways it resembled the private showing of a new movie. The actors were there and so were the directors. It wasn't exactly a Cinemascope production, but then no one seemed to notice.



JIM RUFFER

The occasion? The weekly showing of the Arlington football movies. The actors? The unbeaten Arlington Cardinals. The directors? The AHS coaching staff.

Last Friday evening the public viewed this same production and gave it a favorable report. After all, Arlington had rallied to win its fourth straight game of 1959. But the camera catches — and records — the action for further intensive study by the coaches. And a study of the film will indicate many things missed in the heat of action.

You can catch thosed missed blocks or those key blocks. You are able to recognize missed assignments and point them out to the violators. You give credit where credit is due.

Arlington didn't look good in beating Riverside. As "Bus" Ormsbee stressed over and over again during the showing of the film Monday, "We've got a lot of work to do from here on out if we expect to beat York, Hinsdale, Maine, and Downers and gain the title."

Some of the film's highlights? The hard-running of Mike Dundy and Jim Ruffer with Ruffer's final game-winning touchdown and impressive individual effort. "It had to be an individual effort," Ormsbee pointed out. "He sure didn't have any blocking."

And the film illustrated the fact that Ruffer covered those final nine yards without one decent block.

"You have to credit the backs in this game," Ormsbee continued in evaluating the contest before the players. "They didn't get any sufficient blocking so had to get the yardage on their own."

Although Dundy and Ruffer had some good runs, they too would miss those important blocks. It seemed to work both ways with no individuals really standing out in the 20-13 win.

The film rolled on and we saw Arlington's second extra point attempt fail. "We can't keep missing one every game," Ormsbee inserted. "We're going to need them some day." (Arlington's Dan Striegel, an excellent place-kicker, has eleven conversions this fall but one miss in each of the first four games.)

Most discouraging aspect of the game movie? In addition to the poor blocking, a freak intercepted pass by R-B's John Fistonich probably brought the most disparaging comments. It was interesting to see the speed displayed by Riverside's 205-pound tackle on the 79-yard dash.

But finally Arlington got rolling and pushed over the game-winning touchdown with 1:53 remaining. Dundy and Ruffer showed some hard, determined running on that clinching drive.

As the film concluded and the lights were turned on, Ormsbee commented, "That's it for today, boys. But be prepared for some hard work this week. And lots of it. We'll block, block . . . and block!"

The showing was over, but the work had just begun for another week. By next Monday, several things will have been ironed out but new drawbacks will have cropped up from the York game.

But the camerman will be at York to record the action. The film will be processed, the players and coaches will assemble again on Monday, and there'll be another critical review!

THIS 'N THAT:

Fred Boedeker and Bob Barbour, both 1959 grads at Arlington, are playing football at their respective colleges . . . Boedeker is JV quarterback at Northern Illinois in DeKalb and Barbour is an end with the Northwestern University frosh . . . Jack Zaehler of Prospect Heights is on the Blackburn College cross country team, and Bill Rippberger of Bensenville is a standout on the Knox harriers . . . Fred Hedemark of Prospect Heights is on the Carthage College football team . . . Jack Drinkwater and Joe Augustine, former Downers Grove athletes, are on the North Central grid varsity . . . Another DG product, Larry McKay, is a soph tackle at St. Joseph's College in Rensselaer, Ind. . . . Selected as "Back of the Week" in one publication recently was Pat Solon of Arlington Heights, a member of the Notre Dame high school team.

Here's one for the book. In a McHenry county football game it wasn't the usual dog which scampered out on the field to halt proceedings. A horse bounded out on the field in this case, did a few sprints, then started nibbling grass.

Two frosh grid candidates at Beloit are John Lussow of Arlington and Jerry Haenggi of Mt. Prospect . . . Lussow is a 180-pound end while Haenggi is listed as a halfback . . . In the Crystal Lake, McHenry clash last weekend, there were six intercepted passes in one quarter . . . The talk around the North Suburban concerns a soph fullback on Palatine's varsity, Andy Merutka . . . Merutka is the Pirates' top rusher and should be even more outstanding his final two seasons . . . Coach Mickey Lile's Lake Park frosh-soph football team beat Lisle last weekend . . . Lane Tech of Chicago has an offensive line averaging 217 pounds per man with a defensive unit at 222 .

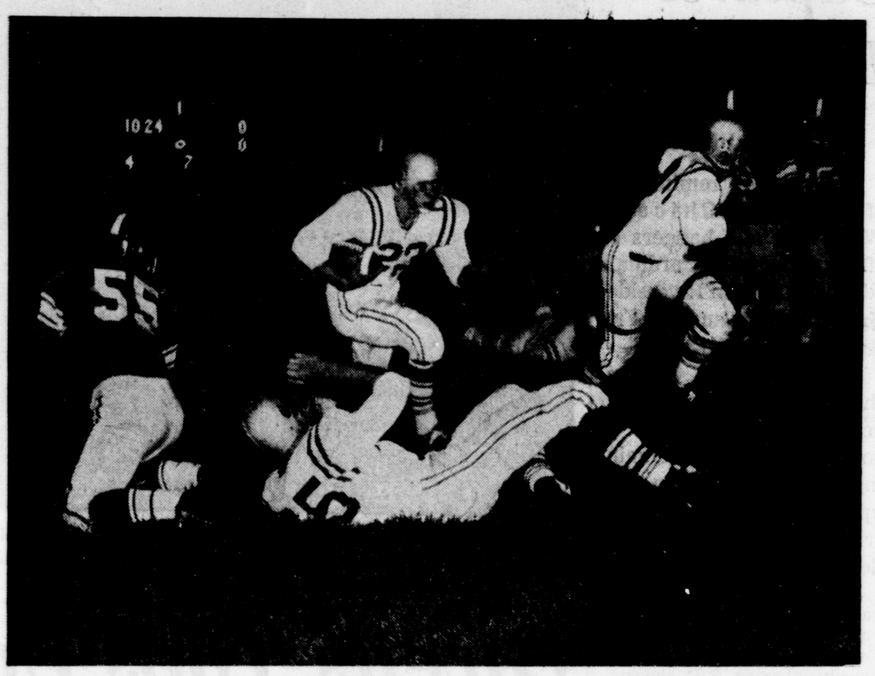
ARLINGTON AT YORK (Saturday afternoon)
Bob Frisk: A little conservative but AHS, 21-0.
Bob Buchanan: Five straight for Cards, 33-7.
Tom McShane: Another Arlington rout, 33-6.

LIBERTYVILLE AT PALATINE (Saturday aft.)
Bob Frisk: The Pirates win again, 20-13.
Bob Buchanan: Libertyville slips by, 13-6.
Tom McShane: No winner here, 7-7.

WILLOWBROOK AT PROSPECT (Friday evening)
Bob Frisk: The Knights roll on, 27-13.
Bob Buchanan: Prospect blanks Warriors, 13-0.
Tom McShane: No contest here: PHS, 35-7.



MIKE DUNDY finds a big hole in the Riverside defense during action in Arlington's exciting 20-13 victory last Friday. Dundy appears ready to step on Roy Klehm (lying on ground) with Buzz Owen (far right) preparing to lead interference. No. 55 is R-B's Bob Simmons.

Interim Battle On AHS Gridiron

by BOB FRISK

Friday evening's football show on Arlington high's field will take on an Interim atmosphere this week.

The fifth of nine straight Friday evening contests on the Arlington field will match Bill Beckman's Prospect Knights with Vic Lesch's Willowbrook Warriors.

Both clubs will bring 2-2 marks into the fray with 1-1 slates in the Interim association.

A 6 p.m. contest between Ted Wissen's Prospect frosh-sophs and the young Warriors will open the festivities Friday with the varsity battle set for approximately 8 p.m.

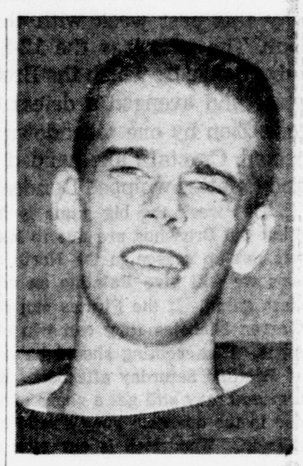
BOTH VARSITY clubs won their initial Interim games last weekend with Prospect crushing Proviso West, 26-6, and Willowbrook edging East Leyden on a safety, 2-0.

The Prospect win was the first for the Knights since the opening rout of the same Proviso eleven. St. Procopius and Glenbrook had dumped PHS on successive weekends.



DENNIS "DUTCH" Leonard scored eight points in Prospect's win over Proviso West with a touchdown and two extra points. Leonard caught two passes Saturday for 20 yards, including a 16 yard scoring effort.

"It was a team victory," Beckman said in considering the second victory over Proviso West. "I was pleased with the adjustment the boys made to the weather and the fact that fumbling was cut down. There was a general improvement over the past two games."

ALTHOUGH Prospect's ground game was handicapped by the weather last Saturday, the aerial attack clicked when used. Fred Lussow passed for two touchdowns and set up another score through the air.

Beckman credited Keith Voigt with playing another steady contest and also indicated that Jeff Rogers called a good defensive game. Both ends, Fred Empkie and Dennis "Dutch" Leonard, turned in impressive performances in the victory.

Empkie is termed by Beckman as one of the most improved players on the team.

WILLOWBROOK'S Lesch saw his club dominate East Leyden in a rain-hampered tilt, decided by only two points.

The Warriors have been playing steady ball throughout the campaign though the weather has handicapped their attempt to show any productive offensive attack.

Lesch has a fleet halfback in Fred Falkner, a 155-pounder who lettered at York high before switching to Willowbrook. In addition to standing out on offense, Falkner is a key defensive performer for the Warriors and an outstanding punter averaging close to 40 yards on his kicks this fall.

FRED LANGILLE, who had been alternating with Tom Jobin at quarterback, will open at the signal-calling slot against Prospect with Jobin at right half. Jobin has played all three backfield positions this fall and may alternate with Langille at quarterback.

Dennis Petersen, a 160-pound senior, has moved Larry Fontaine out of the starting fullback slot though both boys will see action Friday.

What About Those Races?

Glenbrook Spartans Top Interim

Action in the Interim association swings into its fourth week Friday evening with two loop contests on the slate.

Willowbrook's improving Warriors will meet Prospect with East Leyden at Glenbrook. Wheaton and Proviso West will take a week off from league encounters.

With eight loop games remaining in the 1959 campaign, Glenbrook high has the inside track right now for the Interim title.

THE SPARTANS have three loop games remaining but they've already knocked over two key contenders, Wheaton and Prospect. Even injuries to key personnel haven't slowed the Spartans who will face East Leyden, Proviso West, and Willowbrook on successive weekends.

Although Glenbrook has the upper hand right now, Wheaton, Prospect, and Willowbrook are all capable of annexing the title with only one defeat currently marring their records.

Glenbrook will play two of its final three encounters at home, traveling to meet Willowbrook.

Remaining Interim games:

Fri., Oct. 16—Willowbrook at Prospect.
East Leyden at Glenbrook
Fri., Oct. 23—Proviso at Glenbrook
Prospect at East Leyden
Sat., Oct. 24—Wheaton at Willowbrook
Fri., Oct. 30—Wheaton at Prospect

Prospect's Sophs Remodel Offense, Decision Proviso

Prospect high school's frosh-sophs bounced back from three straight defeats last Saturday in astonishing fashion with a stunning 35-21 upset victory over Proviso West.

The little Knights, who had scored only eight points in their three previous games, unleashed a completely remodeled offense that flattened the little Panthers hopes of a repeat victory over the eleven they whipped 20-0 in the season's opener.

Abandoning the straight "T" offense that had failed so miserably, the Prospect youngsters startled the Panthers with a wide open spread with Quarterback Tommy Thomas in the tailback position.

THOMAS REPEATEDLY hit End Jim Anderson with passes that loosened the Proviso defense. And, when the Panthers were sufficiently off guard, the little Knight backs tore off chunks of yardage through their scattered defenses.

Anderson tallied 19 points in the first half to lead the Prospect scorers.

The first touchdown came on a 20-yard pass from Thomas. Another Thomas to Anderson pass netted the extra point.

TWO PLAYS after the ensuing kickoff, Bob Stemm put Proviso back in the game with a 54-yard jaunt. Dick Copeland added the point with a run.

Before the quarter ended Anderson scored again on a 15-yard run. The try for point failed.

It was Anderson again in the second quarter in the most spectacular play of the game. Thomas hit his favorite target with a 35-yard pass, and Anderson scampered the remaining 45 yards to paydirt to cap an 80-yard play.

JUST BEFORE halftime, the little Knights got two more points when Steve Fossler tackled a Panther passer in the end zone for a safety.

Thomas took over in the second half. A three-yard dash around right end by the lanky quarterback made it 27-7 Prospect in the opening minutes of the fourth quarter. Jim Hogarty snagged a Thomas pass for the extra point.

Proviso came back as the game turned into a free-scoring affair.

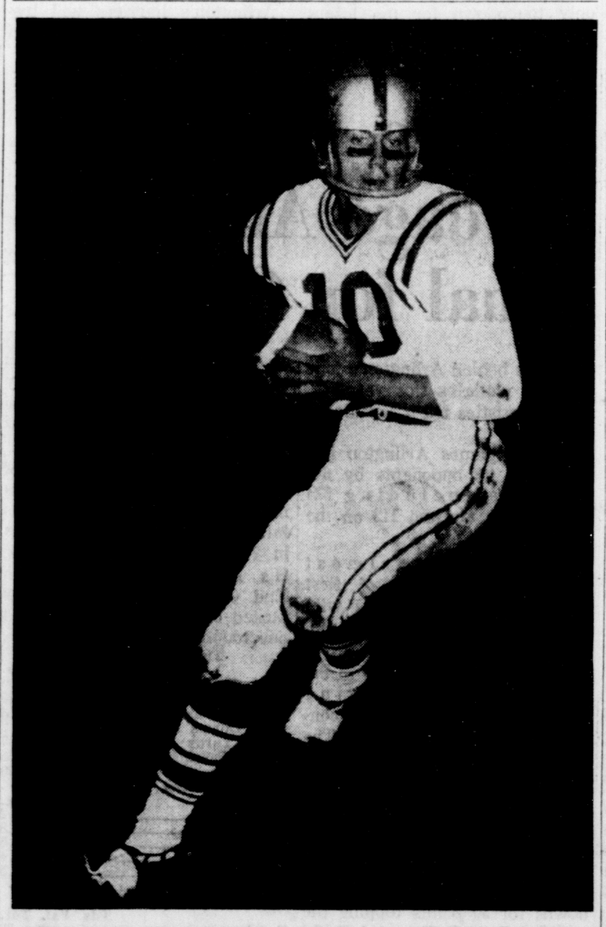
QUARTERBACK Tom Becker scored the second Panther counter on a brilliant fake punt. With the Prospect defenders flat-footed, Becker wove down the south sideline, cut back across the field, and romped into the end zone from the 50. He then passed to End Gerald Beatty for the point.

Thomas scored the final Knight touchdown on a twisting 43-yard run around right end from the spread. Hogarty again caught a conversion pass, making it 35-14.

The Panthers wound up the scoring in the final minutes when Copeland dove over from the one-foot line. End Bill Silhan scored the point on a lateral from Becker.

The little Knights meet Willowbrook on the Arlington field Friday night at 6 p.m.



THIS PASS RECEPTION came on a third and six situation and kept Arlington's first scoring drive alive last Friday evening. Gene Dahlquist picked off George Bork's aerial for a first down on the R-B 19. Four plays later the Cardinals scored

Cardinals, Blue Demons Rule WSC

This is the beginning of the crucial stage for the West Suburban grid leaders.

With a non-conference battle and three loop encounters on the record, the WSC pace-setters now face that crucial final half of the campaign.

Although no team is mathematically out of the title chase yet, four varsity units rank as the class of the loop this fall—Arlington, Maine, Hinsdale, and Riverside.

"Bus" Ormsbee's Cardinals and Ken Olson's Blue Demons currently rate as the teams to beat with the Oct. 30 clash between the two schools possibly determining the loop crown.

ARLINGTON and Hinsdale have the toughest slates remaining among the four leaders. The Cards meet York, Hinsdale, Maine, and Downers on successive weekends with Hinsdale tackling LaGrange, Arlington, R-B, and York.

It's very possible this could be the year when two or three teams tie for the title. Only LaGrange and Glenbard have yet to win a game in loop play and both of these teams are capable of knocking off another league team on a given day.

The weather will play a vital factor in the final four weeks of the campaign with the teams hoping for a break from the weatherman in the crucial phase of the title chase.

Highlighting the coming weekend of action are the Downers at Maine and LaGrange at Hinsdale battles with Arlington due for a rough battle with improved York.

Riverside will host a Glenbard eleven which isn't as bad as the record indicates.

Cards' Frosh Rout Riverside Eleven, 27-0

Jerry Totzke scored four touchdowns in leading Arlington's freshman "A" football team to a smashing, 27-0 conquest of Riverside Monday afternoon.

Totzke grabed one scoring pass from quarterback Chuck Close and added the three other six-pointers on runs of 5, 10, and 15 yards.

Joe Wertheimer gained the three extra points on end sweeps.

Frosh coach Bill Daletski cited the end play of Kendall Layden in addition to the offensive work of Totzke, Wertheimer and Close. Layden picked off three passes for 60 yards in the victory.

Close Games Mark North Suburban Play

The usual close decisions marked North Suburban play this past week with this writer picking three of four. The miss was the 12-8 victory by Barrington at Libertyville by which the Bronchos took undisputed first place and avenged a defeat of a year ago. Woodstock took Zion by one touchdown in a closer game than expected. Crystal Lake handed McHenry its first loss, 6-0, and Palatine whipped Dundee 18-13.

This week the big game is McHenry at Barrington and we think the Bronchos are due to lose after three close decisions in this toss-up season in the North Suburban. For sentimental reasons we will give Palatine an edge over Libertyville in a very close game. If the Pirates can contain the open field running of Warren Nicholas they can win on the basis of recent improvement. Homecoming should be added incentive in the big game at Palatine Saturday afternoon. Crystal Lake is gaining momentum and may still get a share of the title though they lost to Dundee in the opener. They should handle Zion-Benton by a two TD margin. Woodstock is our pick over Dundee's light but speedy eleven.

2 Undefeated Frosh-Soph Teams to Meet

WHILE NO CHAMPIONSHIPS are awarded in frosh-soph ball it is noted that two undefeated teams clash when the young Pirates coached by Dick Gavigan and Chick Anderson meet Libertyville Saturday.

Last week Libertyville crushed Barrington, 40-6. This game, starting at 12:30, should be a dandy and Palatine fans who sometimes pass up the preliminary should try to see both contests next Saturday. It is the best double bill of the season. Attendance at Palatine's first two home games has been excellent with a total take in excess of $2,000. With Libertyville and Crystal Lake the remaining home opponents Palatine looks to all-time record receipts from its first football season in the North Suburban Conference. One reason coaches and school board wanted to make the shift was the better financial arrangement which comes from greater local fan interest and a great increase in visiting fans which follow North Suburban opponents.

Two games we would like to see are Arlington versus Maine, when they break that first place West Suburban tie, and the Freeport at Elgin game coming up this Friday night. Arlington appears to be the class of the West Suburban but there are still four games to be won to prove it. Freeport is rated No. 1 in the state outside the Chicago area. The Champaign News-Gazette is authority for stating that Freeport has the best football team in the past eight years in the Big Eight. This is quite a tribute as this league annually has some of the finest grid talent in the state. Freeport has a line averaging 218 from tackle to tackle and has a great passer at quarterback. Freeport is not particularly fast but they have an aerial attack and tremendous power. So far they have crushed league opponents by three to six touchdown margins. Last week it was 40-0 over Joliet and the week before 27-6 over East Aurora. Bad news for other teams is the fact that four regular linemen and two backs are juniors.

Welty Smiling These Days at Palatine

WHILE FOOTBALL has the spotlight and major publicity during the fall months, cross country is also in full swing. Locally Palatine is undefeated. The Pirates have taken seven straight in the North Suburban and beat Leyden outside the league. Coach Dick Welty is smiling these days as his cross country team has only one senior. Also, he is dreaming of good distance men to bolster the track team next spring, which lost some very good talent by graduation. Up to this week Palatine had met all the North Suburban harriers except Barrington, beating all handily. This year for the first time the league will have a conference cross country meet and Palatine hopes to be the leading contender.

In other leagues around the area, Evanston is all alone on top in the Suburban as it easily beat New Trier for three in a row while East Proviso was stopped for the first time by Oak Park. Warren and Round Lake continue to top the Northwest. Glenbrook, minus a number of regulars, beat Wheaton 14-0, to gain undisputed lead of the Interim Association. Oak Lawn tops the Southwest Suburban group and Argo, usually in the cellar, has come forth as a South Suburban contender by beating Blue Island. Elmwood Park of the Tri-County continues to whip non-league opponents, Thornton Fractional North being the latest, as they get ready for a showdown battle in which they hope to dethrone North Chicago, 1957 and 1958 champ.

Homecomings Not Time When Grads Return

HIGH SCHOOL HOMECOMINGS are not a time when old grads return in great numbers to see a game as is the case on the college level but they serve a very good purpose. The high school event follows the college pattern quite well with activities centered around a big game on a Saturday afternoon preceded by a parade and followed by a special dance. Alumni are not much in evidence except those who did not go to college but it is a good excuse to have a big day with most of the teenagers getting into the act in some capacity. This week at Palatine high the kids are doing a lot of work on floats with each club or special activity sponsoring one. A homecoming queen, Courtney Cunningham, has been elected, with Merlyn Pitstick, Karen Koester, Barbara Pettersen, and Mary Lou Ward as attendants to head the parade, featuring a half time ceremony at the game, and reigning at the dance. It is a big weekend for the band with the parade and a special halftime show at the game.

For the student council, it is a busy week as Brian Olsen ,president, Burt Showers, faculty sponsor, and about 50 members plan and direct the whole event including the pep meeting, snake dance, bonfire, parade and judging of floats, election and crowning of the queen, and the final event, the big homecoming dance, to which the members of the class of 1949 have been extended a special invitation. It is the same sort of weekend in a number of other schools this week if they did not have it last week or plan it for next. Mid October seems to be the best time and on no day in the year do the teenage set hope more for good weather than this one.

Knights Roll; Cards Top Riverside, 20-13

Arlington Captures Loop Tilt

by BOB FRISK

In a fashion reminiscent of the typical Chicago White Sox cliff-hangers of 1959, Arlington's Cardinals edged a stubborn Riverside-Brookfield eleven last Friday evening, 20-13.

Playing before an enthusiastic Homecoming crowd, Arlington had to counter with 1:53 remaining in the contest to pick up its third straight league triumph and fourth straight decision of '59.

Jim Ruffer's explosive nine yard burst terminated a 44 yard Arlington drive to give the Cards the victory over a previously-unbeaten R-B eleven.

Although the hosts dominated the statistics, they could only push over single touchdowns in the first, second, and fourth periods. One sustained drive was halted by a fumble on the R-B two and another was checked by an intercepted pass.

ARLINGTON initiated the proceedings Friday with an impressive 67 yard scoring effort. The running of Mike Dundy and Ruffer combined with key passes by George Bork for the tally. Passes picked up all four first downs in the drive with Dundy getting the six points on a one yard dash.

Roy Klehm intercepted an R-B pass on the Arlington 26 and it appeared the Cards would be off again. But Dundy fumbled on the first play from scrimmage and in one play, the Bulldogs' Dennis Klodner counted.

Warren Stanek matched Dan Striegel's conversion and the score was knotted, 7-7.

ARLINGTON PUT on another long march for its second score with Bork completing five passes in the 65 yard effort. Dundy and Ruffer combined to cover the final 16 yards with Ruffer scoring from the five with 2:30 remaining in the half. The extra point attempt was no good.

It appeared that "Bus" Ormsbee's league leaders were on the march again at the outset of the second half, but Jon Fistonich took care of that. The 205-pound R-B tackle picked off a Bork aerial on the 21 and rambled 79 yards for the tying score.

Stanek's try for the tie-breaker was off to one side and the two clubs battled into the deciding fourth period in a 13-13 deadlock.

AL WESTERGAARD'S fumble checked an Arlington threat on the R-B two, but the Cards weren't through for the evening.

The winning drive started on the visitors' 44. Dundy picked up four and Ruffer added a first down to the 31. In four consecutive cracks, Dundy moved the ball to the 18 from where Ruffer pushed to the 15. On a third and five situation, Dundy slanted for six and a first down on the nine. That was it.

Ruffer scored, Striegel converted, and Arlington had its third straight West Suburban victory.

Prospect Crushes Proviso West Unit

by TOM McSHANE

Prospect high school stopped Proviso West cold last Saturday for the second time this year.

The Panther offense gained not a yard passing and only 49 rushing as the Knights put up a tremendous defense on their way to a 26-6 victory.

The Knights themselves had difficulty mounting much of a rushing attack, but Quarterback Fred Lussow connected on four of six passes for 124 yards and two touchdowns to even the Prospect season record at two wins and two losses.

For the third week in a row the Knight backs were slowed by rain and soggy turf. But Coach Bill Beckman's "mudders" appeared to have learned a lesson in their rain-soaked losses to St. Procopius and Glenbrook.

Prospect opened the scoring quickly the second time they got the ball in the first quarter.

Lussow dropped back on a third down play and hit End Fred Empkie with a 20-yard pass on the Proviso 30. Empkie grabbed the ball just behind a Panther defender and raced down the sideline for the score.

A LUSSOW pass for the point was intercepted.

About a minute later hard-charging Tackle Mel Aukamp threw himself in front of Panther Punter Wolfgang Meister, and blocked a kick. Guard Jeff Rogers scooped the ball up on the Proviso 30 and scooted untouched into the end zone.

Dennis Leonard booted the point to make it 13-0 Prospect at the end of the quarter.

The rest of the half amounted to a kickng duel between Meister and the Knights' George McRae. Strangely, neither team could manage a first down until the third quarter.

Meister punted eight times during the game for a 27.2-yard average. McRae averaged 34 yards on six kicks.

PROVISO GOT ITS score on the first series of downs in the third period.

After a penalty nullified a pass interception and 45-yard touchdown jaunt by Knight Fullback Bruce Andrise, Meister broke over his own right tackle, and shook off several Prospect tacklers before he was brought down on the Knight three by Halfback Keith Grams.

Four plays later Quarterback Bill Soo punched it over from the one - foot - line. Rogers blocked the conversion attempt.

THE KNIGHTS rebounded quickly after the kickoff when Lussow again found Empkie in the open and hit him with a 3-yard pass play to the Panthers' 15.

Halfback Keith Voigt scored five plays later from the six-inch line. Leonard added the point to make it 20-6 Prospect.

The punting duel resumed, and lasted until the final minute of the game when the Knights scored their last touchdown.

Once again it was Lussow's accurate flipper that engineered the score after the Prospect ground attack failed.

The junior quarterback hit Leonard with a high, fast one in the corner of the end zone from 16 yards out to wrap up the win. Leonard's conversion was blocked.

The victory also evened the Knights' Interim association record at one and one for the season. The team will be after its second conference win this Friday night when it faces Willowbrook on the Arlington gridiron to highlight the school's Fall Festival weekend.

TOUCHDOWNS Prospect: Empkie (51-yard pass play from Lussow); Rogers (30-yard return of blocked punt); Voigt (6-inch plunge); Leonard (16-yard pass from Lussow). Proviso West: Soo (1-foot plunge). PAT Prospect: Leonard, 2 (place

Owens Tops Emerson Maintains Clean Slate

On Sunday afternoon, Oct. 11, in the Senior Division of the Mt. Prospect Midget football association, Owens kept their slate clean by turning back Emerson, 32-19. Dave White shook loose for two runs of 60 and 65 yards and scored three touchdowns for the winners. Stoike and Neukrans also scored for Owens. McMahon, Nelson and MacDonald were strong in the line.

Sunset lost their first game of the season to Lincoln by a score of 32-26, Lincoln capitalized on frequent Sunset fumbles in the first half and barely held back a determined Sunset rally in the last half of the game. Touchdowns for sunset were scored by Mke Shanley, Tim Walinski, Bob Coon and Bob Gewecke.

Fairview exploded to win their first game of the season from Prospect, 5-6. Al Koehler and Mike Phillips, with two touchdowns each, and Rick Durgin, Don Jernberg, Tom Clow and Bill Phillips, with one each, were the scorers for the winners. In the other Senior game, the Lions beat Central 19-0 to go into a 2nd place tie with Sunset.

IN THE JUNIOR Division, Central was unable to solve the tricky reverses of the Lions team and lost 20-7 in a hard-fought game. The loss was the first for Central and put them in a four-way tie with Fairview, Lions and Lincoln. Tom Kalawitz, Ricky Lynch and Bob Grady scored for the Lions while Jerry Packard ran 30 yards for the losers lone score. Nick Rutigliano and Frank Dorsak shone on defense for the winners.

Fairview went into a first-place tie with an easy 41-6 win over Prospect. For the winners, the scoring was divided between Joel Martin, Larry Snyder, Ray Clow, Paul Hoffman and Bob Mutert. For Prospect, fullback Mike King turned in a good performance and end Jeff Peeler did an outstanding job on both offense and defense.

Lincoln walloped Sunset, 42-6. Paul Demmert scored the only touchdown for the losers on a 40 yard run while Bill Edgley and Greg Lankus in the backfield and Ed Crosson and Terry Derringer in the line played well in defeat.

IN THE FINAL game of the Junior Division, Owens barely nosed out Emerson, 20-19. Ron McNulty scored two touchdowns and threw a 30 yard pass to Greg Cliffords for the loser's third score. John Steinmiller did some fine running and Leroy Belardinelli and Jim Doran were outstanding on defense for Emerson.

Recent appointments in the Mt. Prospect Midget Football Association are Mr. Al Christensen, 104 N. Fairview Ave., as Equipment Manager, and Mr. Ray Leonard, 402 N. Oak Ave., as Public Relations Chairman.

Mr. Cliff Page is the Chairman of the Big-8 Homecoming Dance to be held on Friday, October 23 at the Mt. Prospect Country Club. For tickets contact Mrs. Shirley Sipiora at 420 N. Prospect Manor Ave., Cl. 3-4518. (Donation $3.00 per couple.)

The Annual Pageant will again be held at Arlington high school field on Tuesday, Nov. 10 at 7 p.m. Donations are $1.00 per person. Mr. Gus Holzrichter of 1301 W. Lincoln Ave., is the chairman.

All games that were called off due to rain on Sunday, October 4, will be played on Sunday, November 1st, at Lions Park.

Arlington Harriers Stop R-B

Soph Rog Frederickson paced the varsity and Joel Martin the frosh-sophs as Arlington's two cross country teams dumped Riversde-Brookfield last Friday afternoon.

Russ Attis' varsity won 23-33, with Frank Bohac's frosh-sophs a 25-33 victor.

In addition to Frederickson, senior Chuck Phelan finished third in the varsity affair with Jim Hendricks fourth; Ron Treabess seventh; and Tim Smith eighth.

Martin's winning time was 8:33 with Larry Weidner, Gary Brodnan, Dan Bedford, and Steve Belcher rounding out the other Arlington scorers.

Arlington's harriers will travel to York Saturday for a meet at 11 a.m.

Passing, Rushing Yardage Almost Equal for Cards

What's behind Arlington's four straight victories this year?

The statistics tell a significant story.

In four games Arlington has outgained its opponents by 647 total yards, including 534 through the air and 113 on the ground.

The Cardinals have almost doubled the number of first downs of their opponents with 56, an average of 14 per game.

ARLINGTON'S versitle offensive attack is exemplified in the fact that rushing and passing yardage for the first four contests are almost equal. The thrusts of Mike Dundy, Jim Ruffer, and Co. have amounted to 642 yards while George Bork has passed for 602.

The scoring is evenly distributed among the three running backs with Dundy's five touchdowns for 30 points topping the parade. Both Ruffer and Bill McMillan have added four scores for 24 points.

Dundy and Ruffer are the work - horses in the backfield with 49 carries each over the quartet of games. But Dundy has picked up 70 more yards for his efforts and has a 6.2 per carry aveage.

Bork, who appears capable of easily passing the 1,000 yards mark in passing yardage this fall, already has 43 completions in 77 attempts for 602 yards. His favorite target has been End Gene Dahlquist who has picked off 20 for 314 yards and one touchdown.

Arlington JVs Stop Riverside

A ten yard run by Mike Koenig with 1:40 remaining in the game and extra point by Tim O'Gorman enabled Arlington's JVs to edge a previously unbeaten Riverside eleven, 7-6, Monday afternoon.

Koenig's run followed a 30 yard pass play from Frank Hermes to O'Gorman, setting up the score.

Riverside had counted in the third period on a 40 yard pass play.

The victory set the Cards' JV record at 2-1-1 for the campaign.

Michigan State had won 15 straight non-conference football games before it lost to Texas A&M, 9-7, in 1959.

Attention 'A' Men

Attention all "A" Men.

Alumni of Arlington high school who won Major "A's" are urged to contact H. W. Grace at the high school by phone or card for their complimentary tickets to the Arlington-Hinsdale game, Friday, Oct. 23.

If the former "A" winners apply by card, they should state the sport or sports in which they won their letters and the years.

Why are people buying Volkswagens faster than they can be made?

Here are some of the reasons:

1. Air-cooled engine can't freeze or overheat. No water to boil over in summer, or to freeze in winter. No anti-freeze needed. No radiator problems.

2. Good control in bad weather. The engine in the back gives superior traction to the rear wheels. In mud, sand, ice, snow, where other cars skid, you go.

3. Torsion-bar suspension holds the road. Torsion-bar springs with individual wheel suspension give uncanny control over rough roads, eliminate swing and sway on curves.

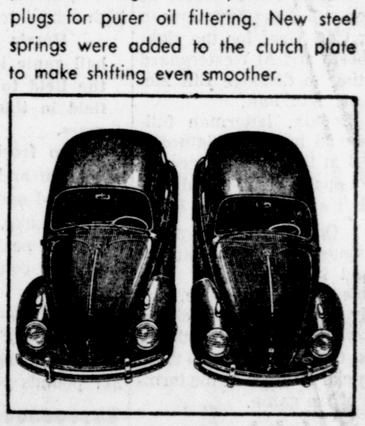
4. Craftsmanship in construction. The VW is made to such close tolerances that it is airtight. You will open a window to shut the door. So tight that it floats in water. More than 3000 inspectors check VWs at each production stage. (2500 VWs are produced daily; there are more inspectors than cars.)

5. 32 mpg and fun to drive. You get an honest 32 mpg — regular gas, regular driving. Shifting is smooth — it floats from gear to gear. The car is agile in traffic, parks where others can't. It holds 5 adults plus a surprising amount of luggage.

6. Service is fast, economical, everywhere. The VW needs less service than other cars and costs are low. Service is available in all 50 states, Canada and Mexico. All technicians are factory-trained and use VW parts and tools.

7. Doesn't go out of style. Volkswagen makes internal changes to make the car better, not to make it obsolete. Among the 80 changes in the '59 VW, for example, permanent magnets were put in the drain plugs for purer oil filtering. New steel springs were added to the clutch plate to make shifting even smoother.



8. The price of a VW is $0000 complete. White walls and radio are optional and so is a side mirror. We think it is the best car for your money in the world. And happily, a used VW sells for almost as much as a new one.

In 1948, we produced 19,244 VWs. In 1958, 553,399. This year, the total will be even higher. Why are people buying Volkswagens faster than they can be made? Now you know. You'll know even better when you drive one. Come in... this week.

International plans

The International Kennel club has just released information regarding the judges picked for its' 1960 show to be held April 9 and 10, at the Amphitheatre in Chicago.

Seventeen judges from nine states and Canada make up the judging panel for the club's 20th annual all-breed dog show and obedience trial, which in 1957 and 1958 ranked as the largest dog show in the country.

Heading the 1960 slate is William R. Proctor, Pittstown, N.J., who will judge Best in Show. The six group judges are: Alva Rosenberg, New York City, who will name the winners in the sporting group; Mrs. Sherman Hoyt, Darien, Conn., judge of the hound group; Walter H. Reeves, Clarkson, Ontario, Canada, working group; J. J. Duncan, Atlanta, Ga., terrier group; Percy Roberts, Norton Heights, Conn., toy group; and George M. Beckett, East Haven, Conn., the non-sporting group.

Judging of the individual breeds will be carried on by all of the above plus others well known for their knowledge of individual breeks. For example, in the working group alone there will be seven judges who will cover all the breeds in this group. Among them will be Gustave Schindler of Port Washington, N.Y., who will judge German Shepherds, which always has a large entry. Boxers and Dobermans, along with some others of the working breeds will be judged by Len Cary of New York City. One of the major jobs in the terrier judging will be handled by Gen. Edward B. McKinley of Lexington, Ky.

All the obedience classes will be judged by Arthur W. Marsh of Ipswich, Mass. It has also been reported that up to date 22 breed clubs have named the International as their specialty show for 1960.

Watch Your Hunting Dog

From now on into the fall any dog resembling a hound or bird dog is a good prospect for the "dog snatchers" who want a dog for themselves or to peddle.

Many a good hunting dog has been taken over a state line, out of local areas to distant points and sold to dealers who don't ask questions.

You can help stop this nefarious practice by keeping an eye on your own dog or, if in the market for a hunting dog, buy him from a reputable seller. You may pay more by getting him from an honest kennel, but at least you will know what you are buying and also will help to wipe out the practice of illegitimate trade in stolen dogs. Also, when you do buy a hunting dog, tattoo him in the ear and on the inner side of the thigh. Keep a record of the number and use it in advertising the loss of the dog, should he be stolen or lost.

Keep It Simple

The naming of a dog or puppy usually calls for some rather important family meetings. A few moments of thought on the subject will pay in the long run, so don't give the new pup the first name that comes to mind to be used as the "call" name.

If he is a pure-bred dog he will have a fancy handle tacked on to him, usually by the breeder, and in most cases it is one that just does not work out for a call name. Sometimes part of the name can be used, however, everyone has his own thought on the subject and will come up with a name which may be far removed from the full registered name.

Regardless, pick a name which all members of the family can say easily and which when used can be heard by the dog when he is called. Don't pick out some name like "Butter Ball" just because sister thinks it is cute. The dog may grow up to look like a tub of lard and with "Butter Ball" as a name it just sort of sounds like something you would rather not have people hear you use.

Barks and Bays

The first official dog show in the U.S., at Mineola, N.Y., October 7, 1874, was limited to pointers and Irish and Gordon setters.

LaGrange Harriers Win Title

LaGrange scored an unbelievably low 32 points to capture the annual Leyden frosh-soph cross country meet in Franklin Park Tuesday afternoon.

The West Suburban conference dominated the 13-team meet by placing Maine second with 71 points, and Downers Grove fourth with 113 points.

Proviso West of the Interim association broke the West Suburban domination by taking third with 84 points. Other West Suburban schools were Riverside-Brookfield seventh with 217 points and Hinsdale eighth with 228 points.

Prospect finished fifth, highest of area entries, with 117 points and Palatine was sixth with 133 points.

Other team scores were Schurz of Chicago 10th with 285, West Leyden 11th with 300, East Leyden 12th with 316 and North Chicago 13th with 373.

Peterson of Proviso West was the leading individual, winning in 9:27.9.

IT WILL BE a lark — a Meadowlark, to be more specific, when the Harlem Globetrotters' basketball team plays at Notre Dame High School for Boys, 7655 Dempster st., Mon., Oct. 19 at 8 p.m. Leading the zanies of the hardwood court as they cavort in their inimitable and hilarious way will be the No. 1 court jester himself — Meadowlark Lemon. Tickets for the evening of fun may be obtained through Notre Dame high school.

Dons Top Fenton Bisons

bu DAVE ESCHLAVEER

Saturday, a confident Notre Dame team will meet North Chicago at the Hawks' field. The powerful North Chicago team will find a tough opponent in the speedy Dons. In the last three games, no tally has been made against them. The latest shutout a 19-0 victory over Fenton, put the Dons' season record at 3-1.

The Dons' kickoff to Fenton last Friday night was not returned far before the Bisons were forced to punt. Halfback Phil Allen returned the kick to midfield and two runs by Phil Creden brought the ball to the Fenton 20. After several rushing plays, Mike Thuis went over for 1 yard and the touchdown. Allen ran the extra point.

Fenton again was held near midfield after the kickoff and N.D. took over. Creden's pass to Bob Anderson was complete inside the Fenton 15. At the start of the second quarter, Notre Dame found itself held at the Fenton three yard line. The Bisons kicked out of danger, but runs by Pat Solon and Anderson brought the Dons back to the 19. After a 1 yard penalty and rushing yardage from Solon and Jim Schrimmenti, the Dons were able to score, with Anderson going over from nine yards back.

IN THE third quarter Fenton was unable to penetrate into Don territory until Creden had scored on a 10 yard run. This made the score 19-0.

Fenton picked up four of its five first downs in the fourth period, but was unable to break through the Notre Dame line. The Bisons had been able to gain only 83 yards compared to N.D.'s 323 with 15 first downs.

This third straight shutout also marked the seventh straight undefeated contest at home for the Dons, in as many games. After an opening loss to Immaculate Conception of Elmhurst, 13-7, the Dons came back to beat St. Thomas of Rockford, 14-0 and Assumption of Davenport, 18-0, before Fenton.

THE SOPHOMORE game was the real surprise of the evening, however, as two touchdowns were scored within the last few seconds. Notre Dame scored with only 13 seconds remaining, to break a 7-7 tie. The extra point proved the margin of victory, as Fenton scored on the first play after the kickoff, but was unable to get the necessary point to tie. Thus the Sophomore Dons picked up their second victory, 14-13.

Preparations are underway for the homecoming game on October 23 with Joliet Catholic. Both schools will present their marching bands in halftime festivities. Floats from neighboring girls' schools will take part in the pre-game parade.

R-B Sophs Decision Arlington

Riverside's soph football team fell behind late in the first quarter, but rebounded and went on to whip Arlington's sophs, 20-12, last Friday evening.

Roland Caranci's Cards counted first on a plunge, but R-B tied the count with 9:10 remaining in the first half on a 31 yard pass play, then added the extra point for the lead.

A 14 yard dash gave the visitors their second touchdown with 4:11 remaining in the third quarter, and the final seven points were the result of a 14 yard run and extra point.

Arlington wasn't through though as Ross Retterer and John Lane teamed up on an impressive pass play for a score late in the game.

On the Frosh Football Front

Maine 11 Unscored Upon in 3 Games

Maine's freshman football scored upon for the third straight week.

The Blue Demons scored in the first period to defeat York, 6-,0 on a muddy field. Earlier in the season Maine beat Hinsdale, 7-0, and Riverside-Brookfield, 32-0.

Hinsdale's frosh rebounded when Coach A. J. Canino's boys dumped Downers Grove, 25-0. In the third West Suburban game, LaGrange defeated Riverside-Brookfield 26-8.

Willowbrook roared in the first and final period Monday and came away with a 35-13 win over East Leyden.

Up North Suburban way Bruening scored twice to lead Dundee to a 19-0 win over Libertyville also defeated Barrington, 19-0, scoring in the first three quarters.

Three Tri-County games saw Fenton on the short end twice, 6-0 to North Chicago and 19-0 to Notre Dame. Glenbard East took a 21-6 decision over Lake Park in the third game.

Cross Country Results

Shutouts Rare In Varsity Meets

No shutouts were recorded in varsity cross country results turned in to Paddock Publications last week as several close meets highlighted the action.

York's varsity topped Downers Grove by one marker, 31-32, and North Chicago picked up a three point, 27-30, triumph over Libertyville.

McHenry nosed out Crystal Lake, 27-28, and Libertyville topped Woodstock, 28-30, with Dunlap of the losers pacing the field in 10:40.

IN THE frosh-soph results for these meets, York routed Downers Grove, 21-42; Libertyville stopped North Chicago, 22-32; Crystal Lake came close to shutting out McHenry, 17-36; and Libertyville blanked Woodstock, 15-50.

Arlington high stopped Riverside in both divisions, the varsity winning, 23-33, and frosh-sophs, 25-33. Maine stopped LaGrange in both classes with an impressive 23-6 varsity win and 21-36 frosh-soph decision.

Glenbard's strong harriers continued to keep pace with Maine in the WSC with a 21-36 decision over Hinsdale's varsity. The Bards' sophs won, 23-33.

IN THE SIXTH annual running of the Bloom Invitational cross country meet, Glenbard West finished third behind New Trier and Lane Tech. Junior Dave Stineback was the Hilltopper's top runner and second finisher in the meet.

North Chicago split with Waukegan, winning the varsity match, 18-37, and dropping the frosh-sophs, 17-42, and Proviso East split with Hinsdale, topping the varsity, 22-32, but falling in the younger class, 23-38.

Hinsdale had previously taken two from Oak Park. The Red Devils' dumped the Huskies' varsity, 24-35, and the frosh-sophs, 23-32.

Cards' Ruffer Shares League Scoring Lead

Hinsdale's Phil Krumb has a new Arlington gridder to share the West Suburban conference scoring leadership with this week.

Last week Arlington's Bill McMillan was deadlocked with Krumb with three touchdowns each. This week the Cards' Jim Ruffer has moved into the scoring tie with four scores.

Four players are tied with 18 points each, including Arlington's McMillan and Mike Dundy. Fourteen of the loop's players have scored two or more touchdowns.

Pentane Captures First Place Tie In Classic Play

Pentane Gas moved into a first place tie in the Paddock Classic traveling league Saturday night by taking three games from Martinetti, while James Stavros took a single pair from Connies. The wins meant both squads are tied with 13-8 records, two full games ahead of Casablanca and Beverly.

Both Pentane nad Martinetti were having troubles with the pins at Gunnell's Saturday night. None of the ten keglers made the 600 bracket, with the hosts winning the middle encounter 837-836. Pentane copped the other two with 942 and 995.

STONE

Jim Perna of Rolling Meadows led Beverly to a double victory over Tommy Thomas Casablanca with a 640 series. For the losers it was Irv Hahnfeldt of Palatine 624 and Ron Fogarett 614. Casablanca won the first with 961. Beverly then took the others with 977 and 942.

THIS WEEK it will be James Stavros traveling to Des Plaines Bowling Lanes to meet Connies once more, Martinetti journeying to Hi-Way Recreation in Palatine to meet Tommy Thomas Casablanca, and Beverly Lanes playing host to Pentane Gas.

700 Bowlers Expected For Two Tourneys

Almost seven hundred bowlers are expected to compete this coming January in the two Paddock Publications Inter-League Handicap bowling tournaments, with competition slated for the second and third Sundays in January as usual.

The tourneys have grown every year, with first place teams of 88 leagues expected to enter the men's event at Beverly Lanes, Arlington Heights, the second week in January.

First place teams of about 50 leagues are expected to vie for prizes in the women's event the third weekend in January at Gunnell's Lanes in Mt. Prospect.

THAT MEANS the leaders of 138 different leagues will be fighting for hundreds of dollars in prize money with about 5,000 league bowlers currently eligible to make the tourneys — providing their teams can climb into first place the lucky days around Christmas time.

Posters and entry blanks are in the hands of printers, sanction applications have gone into ABC and WIBC headquarters. Everything in the red tape department is expected to be in readiness in about two weeks with full details of the tournament to be announced at that Attention Golfer Minus One Shoe! Paddocks Has It!

Anyone seeing a golfer limping around the course minus one shoe, please tell him the shoe can be claimed from the receptionist at Paddock Publications office in Arlington Heights.

It is under her desk.

The spiked golf shoe, by the way, was found on Euclid ave. in Arlington, evidently falling out of a car.

Large Response In Contest To Name Mascot

Prospect high students are showing great enthusiasm over the current Name-The-Knight contest conducted by the Prospect Knights Boosters.

Judging from the early entries, the judges will have a busy time determining the winner of the cash prize offered by the Boosters. The winner of the contest will be announced on November 5 at the 1st Annual Fall Sports banquet at the School for the purpose of honoring the football and cross country athletes and cheerleaders.

The Boosters have also arranged for Coach Frank "Pop" Ivy to be the speaker at this first athletic dinner of the year. Similar dinners will also be held later for the winter and spring teams. Tickets for the dinner are available at the school office at $2.50 each.

Proviso West Harriers Rout Prospect Units

Two strong Proviso West cross country teams blasted Prospect high's harriers last Saturday in both the varsity and frosh-soph divisions.

The Panthers' varsity topped Bob Meissner's Knights, 19-38, with the soph winning, 20-41.

Rog Luedke was the top Prospect finisher in the varsity meet with a third. Doug Vaughan placed sixth with Don Coey eighth; Beck tenth; and Dick Von Kutzleben eleventh.

Gary Marks gained a third for the Knights' sophs with Dick Gay fifth; Schwinn ninth; Powell tenth; and Tom Thompson fourteenth.

AN INVITATION to see Oman's Hardy Mums in bloom—up to a bushel of blooms on one plant. These are outdoor varieties, but they may also be used indoors as decorative plants in homes, stores and offices; plant them out later. $1.25, $1.00 and .85c.

For beauty next Spring, plant our Imported Holland Bulbs now. We have topsize bulbs for best bloom in a selection of varieties and colors: Parrot, Double, Darwin, Darwin Hybrid Tulips, Hyacinths, Snowdrops, Crocus, etc. Grape Hyacinths only .25c dozen.

Also, Double-flowered Peony Roots, Junipers, Ground Covers and others.

Drive to OMAN'S FLOWER FARM, located 3 miles west of Half Day on Route 83, one-half mile south of Rt. 22. Open 8 a. m. to dark every day.

SAVE YOUR DRIVEWAY

Roads and driveways alike crack and break down from exposure to the elements regardless of use.

DRI-PRO-SEAL protects blacktop driveways by restoring natural oils and sealing with a protective coating against sun, water, frost, wind and other elements. The driveway will look like new!

DRI-PRO-SEAL also protects concrete driveways with their many spongelike pores. Fills and seals trouble areas and forms a complete protective film over entire concrete driveway.

Economical too! Average application: 100 sq. ft. for less than $3.

In Appreciation

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Albert E. Kiehne.
In loving memory of our dear son on his birthday, Oct. 8.
He dwells in God's beautiful garden,
The sunshine of perfect peace;
His life a beautiful memory
His absence a silent grief.
Loving Mother and Dad

IN MEMORIAM

Died Octobed 10, 1958.
'Twas just a year ago that God sent His Angels to take him away, after only a short time here with us—"Little Mike," we miss you and loved you so.

Deer Increase In State Might Bring Problems

More than 25,000 deer now roam the woodlands and pastures of Illinois.

University of Illinois veterinarians are glad to see the deer make this comeback. But they are also aware that this growing deer population creates potential disease problems for domestic animals and man, Dr. D. H. Ferris of the University of Illinois college of veterinary medicine wrote in the latest issue of Illinois Research.

The deer population has increased ten-fold in the past ten years. Deer have been reported in all counties, and 33 counties now have populations large enough to permit hunting. With the deer invading all areas of the state, deer disease problems are becoming statewide.

IN THE NORTHERN states, deer are involved in spreading liver rot to cattle. In southern and eastern states, deer harbor anaplasmosis. They also have been suspected of carrying blue tongue of sheep disease.

Researchers have shown that deer are probably not responsible for spreading brucellosis. However, they are now investigating the possibility that deer may act as carriers and spreaders of leptospirosis, a disease that attacks man as well as animals.

Although few Illinois deer have active tuberculosis, veterinarians are concerned about the number of tubercular deer brought into Illinois from neighboring states.

As the deer population grows, further studies will be needed to enable veterinarians to safeguard this valuable animal resource, as well as the health of livestock and man.

Ill. Farm Bureau Women Place in Safety Contest

The Illinois Farm Bureau Women's Committee today was named by the National Safety Council as the second-place winner in the statewide category of the 1959 Carol Lane Awards for Traffic Safety.

The group, working through county Farm Bureau women, promoted the clearing of obstructions from rural road intersections and worked for proper lighting of farm vehicles.

The award is a $500 U. S. Savings Bond and a plaque symbolizing "woman's protective instinct" which will be presented later this year at ceremonies in Chicago.

THE CAROL LANE Awards are named for the women's travel director of Shell Oil Company and are administered by the National Safety Council through a Shell grant.

They were made this year in three categories: rural areas and communities under 25,000, communities over 25,000, and statewide. Three winners have been selected in each category by a panel of judges who are women leaders in safety, club activities and public life.

Mrs. Loren E. Johnston, chairman of the Illinois organization, suggested the two safety projects after learning of rural safety problems at the citizens' leadership conference in Chicago, sponsored by the president's committee for traffic safety.

TWO FACTS arising from that meeting led to the adoption of projects for cleaning corners and lighting vehicles.

First, it was learned through the U. S. Bureau of Roads that an estimated 37,000,000 pieces of insufficiently lighted farm equipment constitute potential highway hazards.

Second, of the 28 per cent of fatal traffic accidents in which "obstruction of view" was a factor, one third were caused by trees, bushes or crops—objects easily removed.

Clearing of corners in rural Illinois was the Farm Bureau Women's project in 1958. The farm vehicle lighting project was added this year. Both campaigns were coordinated with National Farm Safety Week.

AS A RESULT of these programs, 3,504 persons — women, men and teen-agers—surveyed 3,470 corners and helped clear 959 corners of removable obstructions.

More than 2,000 persons worked on the vehicle lighting project, contacting about 1,500 implement dealers and farmers.

These programs will continue, with slight changes, from year to year, officials said.

The method of carrying out projects varies from location to location. Sometimes committees clear corners themselves. Otherwise, getting in touch with the farmers is enough. (FM

SIGN UNDER THESE Wheaton mailboxes encourages the use of safety lights on farm vehicles so they may be more easily seen from the rear. Similar signs were placed by Illinois Farm Bureau women throughout the state.

JOHN GUSTAFSON cooperated with Illinois Farm Bureau women's safety project by putting a light on one of his farm machines. The light cost less than $1.00—the price of a string of wire. Lights came from a junked truck and the bar was picked up in a machine shed and twisted to the right shape.

Feeder Cattle Prices Showing Lower Trend

By L. H. SIMERL

Prices of feeder and stocker cattle and calves were trimmed by $2 to $4 a hundred pounds during the past few weeks. Prices came down because many farmers refused to pay ranchers' early asking prices. The ranchers were loaded with cattle. They had to sell. Killers were not in competition with farmers—prices were too high.

The price decline may—or may not—be over. Either way farmers who need cattle should do some shopping around. Compare quality, prices, weights and methods of computing weight to be paid for. Many cattle may be bought at considerably less than the first asking prices.

THE REBUILDING of ranch herds is about finished. The supply of cattle available for feeding is apparently at an all-time high.

At the beginning of this year, ranchers and farmers had 19,755,000 head of calves under one year old, not counting those being kept for milk. This number was 7 per cent more than the year before and 4 per cent more than the previous record high of four years before. Most of those calves are now yearlings.

We estimate the number of calves dropped by beef cows this year at around 23,000,000 head. This would be 8 per cent more than last year and 3 per cent more than the previous record high set in 1955.

The total 1959 calf crop, including dairy calves, is estimated at 41,300,000 head. That is 2 per cent more than last year, although 3 per cent short of the all-time record set in 1954. The declining number of dairy cows holds down the total calf crop.

While the calf crop is larger this year, slaughter of calves is smaller. Commercial slaughter from January through August totaled only about 5 million head. This is one-fifth less than last year and more than one-third less than two years ago.

IMPORTS OF CATTLE and calves from Mexico and Canada have been a little smaller this year than they were in 1958. From January through August, imports from Mexico totaled 280,000 head, down 9 per cent from last year. During the same period imports from Canada totaled 280,000 head, down 28 per cent. Most of these cattle were stockers and feeders.

Prices for fat cattle may work toward a lower level during the next few months. During the past 10 years, average prices of choice steers were highest in September and lowest in February. February prices averaged about 7 per cent lower than the September figures.

The past year was an exception. Prices of choice steers at Chicago averaged just under $27 from July into December and around $28 in January and February. Peak month was April, with an average price of $30.33.

Cattle prices are at an unusually high level in relation to prices of other farm products. Adjustment to more normal relationships probably is beginning.

Down On The Farm

CARL F. MEES

with Your Farm Adviser

The prices farmers will receive for feed cattle during the next year probably will average about the same as prices for the past 12 months, but profits may be less. This is the opinion of M. B. Kirtley, extension specialist in livestock marketing, University of Illinois.

The percapita consumption of beef at the present time is 80 to 81 pounds. Only in 1956 was the consumption higher — 85½ pounds. In 1951, per capita consumption was 56 pounds, so today people are eating more beef than in the past. The cattle numbers, however, are at an all time high so there may be more cattle coming to market during the next year than in the previous 12-month period.

L. H. Simerl, ag economist, University of Illinois, believes this could lower the price one to two dollars per hundred during the year. He said, also, when the price of cattle come down, the cheaper ones come down first, and percentagewise cheaper ones will decline more.

STOCKER AND feeder cattle decline more than the price of fat cattle. Simerl is of the opinion this cattle cycle will not be as long as some of the previous cycles.

CORN-HOG price ratio is a good guide to future production and prices of hogs. The corn-hog ratio is simply the number of bushels of corn that can be bought with the price of 100 pounds of live hogs. A ratio of 11 (bushels of corn to 100 pounds of hogs) is never the break even point. Anything over a ratio of 11 to 1 should provide profit.

In 1958 the corn hog ratio got as high as 20 to 1. This caused producers to hold back many more than the usual number of sows for breeding purposes. As a result, there will be the largest numbers of hogs coming to market this fall than any time in the past three years.

ALL OF THE 1959 corn crop will be eligible for price support at $1.12 a bushel. If market prices swing around this level, there may be little or no cut in hog production until the farm price of hogs stays below $12 for a few months said a University of Illinois economist.

It looks as if the consumer will have plenty of pork to eat during the next year also.

The big corn crop in prospect has caused much concern among farm people. Since corn makes up about 25 per cent of the calorie intake of livestock, less oats, barley and sorghum will be reduced this year.

This is the picture: there is an increase of 16 million tons in corn, a decrease of 8 million tons in other fed grains so the net result is 8 million tons increase or only one-half the amount of the previous year. The carry-over to next year will not be much more than first two years.

THE FAVORABLE factor is that corn in the corn belt this year is dry already and will grade number 2. This will make it much easier to store or to sell at a discount.

For the first time in six or seven years there will not be a record breaking soybean crop. The crop plus the carryover will be about 600,000,000 bushels or the same as last year.

If you desire more information on the outlook for next year contact my office and request the publication "Livestock Outlook News," written by the University of Illinois, college of agriculture. I will be glad to send you a copy.

Strange Disease Hits Illinois Hogs

An unusual and dangerous disease is racing through Illinois swine herds in counties where hog production accounts for a large share of the farmer's income.

This disease has not been definitely identified. Some outright cases of hog cholera have been found. In other infected herds, signs of other diseases are sometimes present.

Hardest hit areas are Mercer, Lee, Bureau, Henry, Knox and Rock Island counties, where farmers are working against time to vaccinate and revaccinate their hogs against cholera. In spite of this vaccination program, herd losses are high, running from 10 to 100 per cent. New herds are being affected each week.

UNIVERSITY OF Illinois veterinarians believe the current outbreak is the result of several factors.

Farmers have not vaccinated against hog cholera, since recent cholera losses have been not too serious.

It is possible that new infections strains of hog cholera virus may be breaking through vaccination protection. This may be due to unknown factors, such as complicating stress and infections, that may have prevented the hogs from developing a serviceable immunity after vaccination.

It is also possible that the present disease problem may be similar to that of 1950-51. During that period herd vaccination did not protect some swine against the ravages of a variation in the hog cholera virus.

THIS UNUSUAL disease often shows signs that resemble swine flu. After losing one or two hogs, the farmer may notice that some swine have difficulty in breathing. When he assumes that the disease is swine flu and waits for a week to 10 days before taking action, the infection gets a head start.

Veterinarians studying the disease history in a herd may find that revaccinating apparently healthy swine in infected herds may delay the infection but does not entirely prevent its spread.

This destructive disease was first called to the attention of the University of Illinois college of veterinary medicine in July. Not having isolation facilities to work with such contagious material, the state diagnostic laboratory sent samples to the Iowa Veterinary Research institute. Researchers there volunteered to start unraveling this complicated disease problem.

Until research reveals some answers to the problem, veterinarians believe farmers must pay close attention to basic disease prevention practices. They emphasize that frequent moving of swine tends to spread the infection. Such movement is especially critical where large herds are concentrated in limited areas. (Fm

65 Mink To Test Virus Vaccine

Sixty-five mink, enough for a three-quarter-length coat or two full capes, were recently given to the University of Illinois college of veterinary medicine.

These mink have an important job, according to Dr. J. O. Alberts. They must show which of several vaccines will prove effective against a new strain of virus infection that is expected to reach Illinois in a short time.

Entire mink populations have been wiped out by this new virus disease, called virus enteritis of mink, which started attacking mink in central Canada in 1949. It moved east and south through Canada, attacking in different areas with varying degrees of severity. This virus infection may kill only a few young mink, or it may kill nearly all mink in an area.

THE VIRUS crossed into Wisconsin in 1957. It is moving south and if it folllows the spread pattern of most virus infections, it can be expected to enter northern Illinois in the near future. It could cripple the Illinois mink industry, which represents a growing part of the state's economy.

Dr. Alberts and his assistants are working against time. Mink ranchers throughout the country are so concerned about the disease threat that they are considering calling off their exhibitions this year.

This would stop the showing of new mutations so highly prized by furriers. The price of mink might then go as high as —well, not many things can go much higher than the price of mink. (FM

Host

By Richard Armour

A host must be a butler and
Assistant cook, must shake each hand,
Must be a mixer, both of drinks
And people, taking out the kinks
In conversation, filling pauses,
Must, with a laugh like Santa Claus's,
Guffaw at jokes he's heard before
And even, bravely, beg for more....
Butler, barkeep, politician,
Psychologist, perhaps physician
(Or surgeon—he can carve a roast),
He is so many he's a host.

Bridge Night At The Neighbors

By Dorothy Rockwell McWood

We laid our cards aside to see
The dawdling bedtime pageantry
As in pj's our neighbors' mites
Trooped in to kiss and yawn goodnights—
"Goodnight, sweet dreams; goodnight, sleep tight."
But one, the oldest of the four,
Hung back uncertain at the door
To weigh this parent-child routine
Against the fact of new thirteen....
Then, quite resolved, yet at snail's pace,
He came to kiss his mother's face.
He kissed his grandmama, his aunt,
While we who watched joined in the chant—
"Goodnight, sweet dreams; goodnight, sleep tight."
But when he stood before his dad,
It was apparent that he had
In one translucent moment spanned
A world. He offered him his hand.

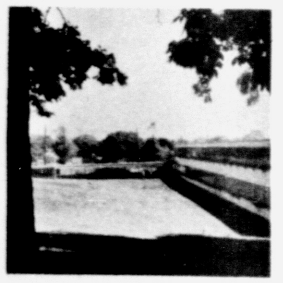
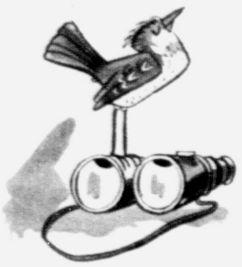
Amy Around The World

In addition to her busy life as author and columnist, Amy Vanderbilt is a woman who loves dancing, is a marvelous cook, is active in her suburban community's mental health association and is the mother of three growing boys. She has a lot of fun, whatever she's doing, and this month shares with us some of the fun she's had in her many delightful trips abroad.

The Grey-Flannel Set At Culture Corners



Here's a major advertising agency that solved its commuting and space problems by moving its entire operation to the suburb in which most of the staff lives. They now have their own building, commute in ten minutes or less, take clients to lunch at the country club; and business keeps growing.

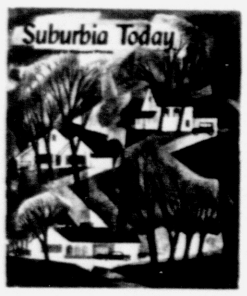


A Bird Watcher Strikes Back

And about time, too. After reading Aurelia Reigner's delightful tale, you may agree with the people who think the expression "Now, there's a queer bird," refers not to any of our feathered friends and their habits—but to those amusing and exasperating groups of people whose questions and barbs have finally goaded this spirited bird watcher into "striking back."

First Allowance

Do you remember what you did with your first allowance? Do you remember how carefully you counted it, over and over again, and how you spent it, and on how many different, wonderful things? Here is the story, in pictures, of what one little girl did with her very own first thirty cents.



Ross Rohrer

Here is the colorful-yet-serene face of suburbia in October, the trees bursting with their final gay glory—just before the first leaf drops. We welcome Mr. Rohrer, an accomplished water-colorist and member of the Chicago Artists Guild, to these pages.

Greatest dishwashing discovery since detergents

NEW FORMULA ELECTRASOL® RESTORES DISHWASHERS TO 100% EFFICIENCY

Science Discovers that FOOD PROTEIN FOAM Reduces Dishwasher Action As Much as 90%
To Cause Spots, Streaks, Film. New Formula Electrasol Eliminates It.

MAKE THIS SIMPLE EGG FOAM TEST! COMPARE YOUR PRESENT DETERGENT WITH AMAZING NEW FOAM-CONTROL ELECTRASOL

OLD-STYLE DETERGENTS CAN'T CONTROL PROTEIN FOAM

Drop pinch of dishwasher detergent you use now into yolk-soiled egg cup. Fill with hot water. Stir vigorously. Note protein foam that can reduce dishwasher action almost to zero.

NEW FORMULA ELECTRASOL STOPS FOAM FORMATION

Now drop pinch of new Electrasol into equally soiled egg cup. Note freedom from protein foam. This means 100% efficient dishwasher performance. No spots! No streaks! No film!

Foam Control Means Spot-Free Glasses

Economics Laboratory, leader in dishwasher detergent research, has proved what scientists have long suspected; that food proteins (egg yolk, milk, grease, gravy, meat, potatoes, etc.) create foam that slows down washing action almost to zero; that ordinary detergents can't control this foam; that spots, streaks and film result; that new formula Electrasol eliminates foam, restores washing action to 100% efficiency. Result? Spotless glassware! Streak-free dishes! Film-free silver! Get new formula, foam-control Electrasol, America's most economical dishwasher detergent, today! It's enthusiastically endorsed by leading dishwasher manufacturers!

We Moved Our Big-City Business to the Suburbs

After the move – from downtown Detroit to Bloomfield Hills – business grew and grew

BY ERNEST A. JONES

BLOOMFIELD HILLS is about the last place in Michigan where you would expect to find a hard-working national advertising agency. Twenty-three miles from downtown Detroit, it is a picturesque region of rolling country and woods and lakes. Here, a generation ago, the famous Finnish architect Eliel Saarinen was commissioned to build George Booth's Cranbrook Art Center. Here today live many of the chiefs of the automobile industry and leading civic figures of Detroit in Tudor manors and modern Swiss chalets and hospitable white clapboard country houses. There is a concentration of wealth and power in these hills, but the atmosphere is still rural. People ride to hounds over the unfenced fields. The big estates depend on their own wells for water supply because the Hills, or "Culture Corners" as it has been called, up to now has no town water.

Why We Took To The Hills

Why would a big advertising agency move to such a suburb? It happened this way: our agency, which was originally located in one of Detroit's skyscrapers, was bursting at the seams. We already occupied three floors of a big downtown building and additional space was not available. A move was definitely in order. The question was, where to move? As a first step in deciding, we took a survey of our personnel —account executives, copy writers, artists and art directors. It turned out that most of them already lived in and around Bloomfield Hills.

James R. Adams, late Chairman of the Board, also lived there and was impressed with the quiet and creative atmosphere—an atmosphere conducive to the inspiration and creation of top-level advertising. He suggested the move to Bloomfield Hills.

We then discussed the possibility with several of our major clients—Pontiac, Cadillac, The Dow Chemical Company, Bendix Aviation and others. All of them were encouraging and, as a result, we literally took to the hills.

Like many a family who wants to move out of the city, we had to build to have a place to move to, and so we put up our Bloomfield Hills headquarters, the first building ever designed for a major advertising agency. It stands by the side of the main road leading through "Culture Corners." It is a long, low, split-level structure of white concrete and broad expanses of glass, set on a 19-acre hillside.

City Facilities, Country Space

Here we are equipped with all of the connections and functions of an agency in the center of a city. A room full of telephone equipment in the basement—automatic and infallible—puts us in instant telephone communication with metropolitan centers all over the country. A direct phone line connects with our New York City offices, and Teletype keep us in close touch with other offices. On occasion we have landed a helicopter on our own grounds to give us 20-minute connections with transcontinental planes out of Willow Run and the Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

There is no traffic problem getting to the new offices, not even for the few of our people who still live in Detroit. They drive out of the city in the morning with the lighter traffic and back at night in the opposite direction to the outgoing stream of traffic. Most of us drive to work in ten minutes in gleaming cars with seldom a speck of city grime on them, and park practically at the door. When clients visit us, we can take them to lunch just up the road at the delightful country clubs or to one of the several excellent local eating places.

By using a helicopter, adman Jones finds visits to distant clients less a chore than a happy adventure.

Business Has Grown

But, for all the apparent absence of pressure, millions of dollars of advertising annually go through these comfortable offices which look out over the wooded hills. Our annual billing has increased 50 percent since the move, and personnel has expanded accordingly.

Since the move, we have even added several downtown Detroit clients, including Michigan Consolidated Gas Company, The Detroit Times, S. S. Kresge Company and Bull Dog Electric Products, and serving them has created no locale problems.

However, just in case you get the impression that we might be too rural, let me note that the agency, of course, has major activity in the large cities, with an eastern division on Madison Avenue, New York, where it is essential that we be located close to TV and radio studios and the other facilities associated with advertising. We also maintain offices in Los Angeles and Toronto.

Further Advantages

When we first explored the idea of moving out, we had some doubts about obtaining the prompt service in printing, photography, engraving and art work, essential to advertising. As it turned out, these so-called problems of production were much easier to handle than we had expected because a small colony of art studios and photographic studios has grown up around us now at "Culture Corners."

I should like to note another important advantage we have found in moving to the suburbs—our new location has enabled us, at a time when business is expanding, to attract talented and valuable people. Pleasant, convenient offices and ideal working conditions provide a strong incentive to apply to us first and, instead of being lost in a skyscraper, our own building in a prominent location on a busy commuting highway has also helped make the agency well-known to those in the profession, as well as to the general public.

Now, The Regional City

For some business, it is essential to be centrally located. But we felt, and later proved, that today a business such as ours could very well get out of the city proper—thus relieving and avoiding the traffic congestion that appears to be stagnating some of our city areas.

We hear a great deal nowadays about the "regional city" from which the suburbs take on some functions, while the city replaces blighted areas with some of the attractions of the suburbs. Take us as an example—Bloomfield Hills, suburb of Detroit, has acquired a major advertising agency and associated businesses, while the city of Detroit is replacing a congested area with a civic center on the river, including a municipal park and an outdoor skating rink.

If this is what comprises a regional city, I am for it—from happy experience.

Copenhagen

For fun in Denmark, start with the Tivoli, the model for amusement parks everywhere. It has everything—honky-tonk, of course, but also sections that are truly elegant. The most ebullient children (mine) can be let loose there with impunity, for the park is wonderfully laid out and carefully guarded. While the little ones whoop it up in the Fun House, their parents can have a true gourmet meal in such restaurants as the Divan II or the Belle Terrace, both in the park.

Before I fell in love with the Tivoli, I had never seen a flea circus. My youngest son was the first to drag me to the "Loppe Sircus" where I found that he was already well known, and quite a shill. We had a grand time watching a charming French flea—Fifi—who balanced on a high wire with the help of a tiny feather fan. Other fleas, of course, played international soccer.

And I will never forget one evening in the Tivoli when I was standing outside the Fun House after having captured one of my boys as he emerged from a barrel roll. Next to me a young Danish father, holding a small sticky boy by the hand, was also waiting for a child to be disgorged from the Fun House. Suddenly he walked away, then, returning out of the darkness, he thrust an ice cream into my youngest's hand, saying in perfect English, "Welcome to Denmark."

Is it any wonder, that of all the posters he could have had in his room, my Stephen has one above his bed of the Tivoli gardens? He looks longingly at it each night before he says his prayers.

Dublin

Dublin is the city in which I have quiet fun of a very heart-warming kind. The greatest fun is gab. The Irish are great talkers, which is no news, of course, but the kind of talk in Dublin is inspiring, amusing, delightful to the ear. I should like to send my sons to school there sometime, to Trinity College, to enrich their vocabularies and their voice tones, as well as to teach them the art of conversation and the turn of an epigram.

The Irish, who claim with some pride that their climate is terrible, are rather insulted when an outsider says he likes it. I happen to. I like the damp clean air, the quick, caressing showers. I never fail to be amazed at the palm trees which remind me that Ireland is subtropical.

I have great fun eating in Dublin. Irish Bay prawns are a delicacy this side of heaven, especially as they are served at the Hotel Gresham in a thin crystal-stemmed glass, the edge of which has been dipped in paprika. Once my two youngest sons ate them in one form or another at every lunch and dinner, for a month. That's solid satisfaction.

I have fun in Dublin doing my Christmas shopping in May. I buy lengths of tweed, linen handkerchiefs, leprechauns (stuffed). I pick up Georgian silver (for modest sums) and lug home my quota of Irish whisky for the Irish coffee drinkers among my friends.

Dublin is another place where I do my fantasy town-house shopping. For about $10,000 I can buy a fine Georgian mansion, perhaps on St. Stephen's Green. The present American Embassy, also Georgian, is soon to be sold. Would that it could be to me.

Granada

Sometimes I think the Spanish gypsies are the only gay and fully satisfied people I have ever seen, and for sheer fun I choose the gypsy caves in Granada, across the valley on the hill of Sacramonte. I enjoy the clever, graceful, wily gypsies wherever I encounter them. (I forgot to mention that one of the attractions of Ireland for me is the gypsies there, known as the "Irish travellers.") Gypsies are born dancing, it seems, and never are too old or too rotund to quit. I could sit for a week in a hard wooden chair supplied me inside a gypsy cave, watching them do the flamenco.

The gypsy settlement outside of Granada is perhaps the largest in the world. They live there in their caves with whitewashed fronts and gay curtains in the windows (a sign of prosperity). I was told that one very successful gypsy dancer has a white telephone in her cave.

A few years back, the Spanish government tried to relocate the gypsies in modern tenements, away from the Sacramonte. They moved out somewhat doubtfully, but almost immediately moved back to their caves. There, they said, they were much safer, cooler in the summer, warmer in the winter and, having only one door, burglarproof. I remember asking one old gypsy whether he owned or rented his cave. He replied that, of course, he owned it—his grandfather had dug it out himself from the mountainside.

London

Fun in London for me means theatre and more theatre. Maybe it's because I understand every word (well, almost every word). It also means wonderful, long bus rides.

I like to go to the Cheshire Cheese for lunch and to Lyons for tea, just as I did as a school girl, when a guinea in my pocket was a lot of money. I like to shop at Fortnum & Mason's for black-walnut pickle to use in the divine lamb hash I learned to make on the Queen Elizabeth, but my schoolgirl passion for their hazelnut chocolate bars has definitely abated.

Mexico City

I'll never forget El Salon Mexico, the great dance hall that was the inspiration for Aaron Copeland's stirring composition based on Mexican folk music. Since El Salon Mexico is far from upper-class, I couldn't persuade any of my Mexican friends to go with me, so I went alone with a guide, who was under some apprehension himself.

Entering Mexicans were frisked for hidden knives and guns and all around the walls of the dance hall were policemen strategically placed to keep the peace. Three great orchestras played alternately so that, at all times, there was music to dance to. The hard core of customers was from the working class of Mexico City. Signs here and there said such things as "Gentlemen are asked not to throw their cigarettes on the floor, as the ladies will burn their bare feet." This time there was no dancing for me. It was below my guide's dignity.

Nazare

All tourists to Portugal make a beeline for Nazare (pronounced Nazaray), "the most typical" fishing port in all of Portugal, and I was no exception. The fishermen of Nazare are descended, they say, from the Phoenicians, and their brightly painted sailboats have been hewn in the same style for the past thousand years—like a watermelon that has been scooped out. The wild plaid shirts that the men wear contrast with the black shawls of the women who sit cross-legged in the doorways, their feet bare, their faces, like the Arab women's, covered with shawls even on warm days. A widow here never remarries and wears black the rest of her life.

But the fun? We entered the small, definitely non-tourist hotel on the square. A children's dance was taking place in the middle of the afternoon. Most of the boys and girls were in the costumes of the area—the boys in plaid shirts of brilliant color and the little girls in pleated or embroidered bright skirts, under which are seven petticoats. I danced, too, and left with the strains of the Vira de Nazare running through my head, and still running, as I write about it.

I TRAVEL OUT OF SEASON

BY AMY VANDERBILT

DRAWINGS BY LOU SCHWARTZ

AMONG my friends and neighbors so many of us are hotfoot travellers that it is strictly taboo, conversationally, to discuss one's travels when meeting socially. Why? Everybody has already been there. I try to combat this difficult situation by being an off-the-beaten-track, out-of-season traveller. I go to the West Indies in the summertime, dodging the hurricanes, travel within the Arctic Circle in the summer, too, and shop for fall clothes in the lovely cool Dublin springtime.

Taking them loosely, alphabetically, in what places have I had the most fun?

Amsterdam

Many people think that Amsterdam is the gayest city in Europe today. I am not ready to concede this, but I will admit that it has several special holds on my heart.

I am, of course, of Dutch descent. My family came from a little town called De Bilt, which is now Holland's weather station. Although I am a sixth-generation American, I still look so Dutch that when I am in Holland, people on the street ask me for directions. I can read and understand the language fairly well (which makes for more fun), although everyone speaks English, too.

Amsterdam was also one of the very first European cities I saw as a child, and I still feel very much at home there. It is called the "Venice of the North," but its forty miles of canals today are simply charming waterscaping. The only boats that go through them are the tourist tour boats. The fourteen hundred houseboats anchored in the canals, which attempt to relieve somewhat the difficult housing situation in Amsterdam, rarely move about.

I have fun in Amsterdam walking and window-shopping—mainly for antiques. I also, in fantasy at least, shop for a town house. Along the Heren, or Gentlemen's Canal, there are 16th- and 17th-century houses that you can buy for as little as 15,000 guilders (about $4,000). Many of them have beautifully stepped gables with cranes in the attic windows for hoisting up furniture. One I especially covet is called "God is myn Burg" (God is my Fortress). I laughed when I saw a modern Dutchman's house just outside of Amsterdam, for in its gable was the legend, "Caveat Emptor" (Let the Buyer Beware)!

It is fun to be in a city where men are men, and know it, are good dancers and handsome, to boot.

I TRAVEL OUT OF SEASON

I cannot leave Portugal without mentioning the Hotel Avis. (Perhaps I shouldn't, for it is coming down.) It was a former private palace and is as world-renowned as the Ritz in Paris and operates somewhat on the same scale in miniature. March through October is the time to go, if they will have you, but royalty will probably have gotten ahead of you for reservations.

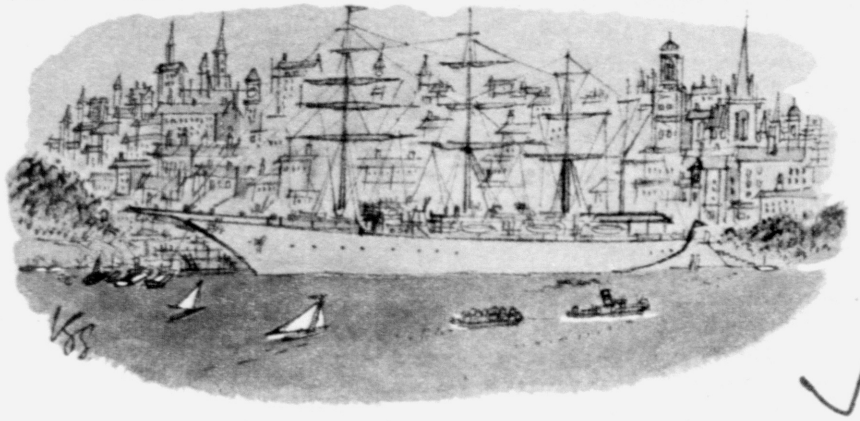
I enjoyed the Avis because I felt thoroughly pampered there. The rooms are all big, high-ceilinged, with balconies. The bed linen is real linen and in the morning up comes your breakfast on Vista Alegre porcelain (which is the Portuguese version of Limoges).

Paris

I have fun eating in Paris, anywhere from the seafood bar at Prunier's (where in wintertime I love sea urchins, called in French "little bears," because in their furlike shells they look like little brown bears rolled up for hibernation) to the Ritz for lunch, if I want to view the international set or have lunch with visiting rich Americans. I like Maxim's on Friday nights because on that night everyone must dress, the dancing is excellent and the food, of course, superlative. But because I like small restaurants best anywhere, I most enjoy the places my French friends take me—places about which they would prefer me not to write.

Well, perhaps there is one I can mention, for it was recommended to me by Mme. Louis Vaudable of Maxim's. It is Au Roi des Coquillages at 81 Boulevard de Clichy. Dinner for four, including wine and service, was $13.50 the last time I was there, according to my notes.

Stockholm



Stockholm harbor is one of the most beautiful harbors in the world. To watch its lights from the porthole of your cabin aboard the "af Chapman" is fun, indeed, as you rock gently to sleep.

We spent three days on the "af Chapman" at a cost of 38c a day! The handsome old vessel was built in 1808 and has been re-outfitted as the only youth hostel in the world aboard a sailing ship.

The "af Chapman" is anchored, more or less firmly, opposite the Royal Palace and is still so elegant that some tourists visiting Stockholm are under the impression that it is the king's yacht. The ship has central heating and air conditioning, with fresh air coming in all summer and warmed air, all winter.

Unfortunately, stays are limited to five days, or adventurous tourists would never stay anywhere else, once they found out about "af Chapman" and its delicious Swedish food. One day my youngest ate 40 Swedish pancakes with strawberries and whipped cream.

You don't have to be a youth hosteler to visit the "af Chapman" and have lunch or tea there. On weekdays they serve 250 lunches on board, from 11:30 to 2, not only to tourists, but to Swedish businessmen, who like to come for a lunch in the sun.

Venice

All Americans, I am convinced, have fun in Venice—except perhaps in the winter when it can be very cold and damp. I have fun viewing the sights on the canals, studying the tourists and the Venetians themselves going back and forth to work and pleasure. I have fun on the Piazza San Marco, feeding the pigeons like everyone else, and I enjoy dinner at the wonderful sea-food restaurant, the Colomba, in a little square behind San Marco. I have fun drinking countless "espressos" in the many cafes around Venice.

Vienna

Everything is enjoyable in Vienna, in my opinion, but I had the most pleasure after a delightful performance of "Tales of Hoffmann" at the great new Staatsoper. With Viennese friends I taxied up to Grinzing, the wine district outside of Vienna, but still within the city limits. There we made the rounds of the Heurigen, the taverns where wine is sold primarily. Here and there, outside these charming Grinzing taverns (some of them dating back as far as 1500), hung evergreen wreaths to indicate that the new wine was ready. Some Viennese come to the Heurigen with their own suppers to go with the wine. My visit was in clear, below-zero, crisp weather. We danced to American jazz before the leaping flames in the fireplace until 4 a.m. closing.

As I look back through these notes, I see that my idea of fun falls into a simple pattern. I enjoy friends of all nationalities, dancing everywhere, music, good food of all kinds, usually eaten under informal circumstances, and foreign shopping.

And yet, perhaps the most fun of all, as I think back on it, is the wonderful time I have at home, when I return, bringing gifts to friends and neighbors, filling this or that corner with the purchases I have made or just sitting around during a long, quiet evening on the patio, remembering where I've been —and thinking about where I shall go next—as soon as the travel season is over.

That sure is

First Allowance

A little girl with thirty cents of her very own and the whole world to spend it in

A LITTLE GIRL'S first allowance isn't merely a handful of pennies, nickles and dimes. It is perhaps the most important money she'll ever have and ranks with the first date, or orchid, or house as a turning point in her life.

With an allowance she is no longer a baby who must ask for everything, but almost a grown-up, capable of choosing what to buy—or to save.

Here is six-year-old Martha Gorun of Evanston, Illinois, in a wonderful world of planning and deciding on her own—at long last A Woman of Property.

Twenty-eight, twenty-nine, thirty. One, two, three, four . . .

A whole apple, and maybe some soda pop.

No, no candy. I promised . . .

Plant A Spring Garden Now— for $25

BY GEORGE J. JAFFE

REGARDLESS of how many times you've thrown in the trowel and cried, "I just haven't a green thumb!"—you're in for the surprise of your gardening days, come next spring, if you do two things. One, plant right now in the fall and, two, plan your garden around the traditional flowers of spring—tulips, daffodils, hyacinths and crocuses. With a little planning now and a minimum of effort, you can have up to 300 eye-catching flowering plants in bloom from March through May, for as little as $25.

When to plant: Bulbs must be planted this fall—September through November in most parts of the country; as late as January in the South and Southwest.

Where to plant: Bulbs will grow anywhere . . . at the base of a tree, around the front or backdoor, edging your driveway, in tiny square plots of soil (any type of soil). Your plan can range from a few feet to a few hundred.

Crocus is especially attractive blooming along the edges of your lawn, around the foundation of your house or garage or in wooded areas. (Though all crocuses like full sun, they're up and away before trees grow enough foliage to shade an area.) Daffodils are exceptionally effective when they are planted helter-skelter in a rough setting or in clumps decorating the front of the house. Hyacinths look lovely in clumps of two or three beside doorways, along garden walks or in a rock garden. Your choice of where to plant your tulip bulbs will depend on where you want height. The most important planting rule about all kinds of tulips is never put them in a single file like soldiers. They're too sparse-looking alone. Plant them in blocks or clumps of six to eight and surround them with other flowers, or place other flowers among your tulip clumps.

Prices and Flowering Schedule (Blooming time will be a few weeks earlier in warmer climates.):

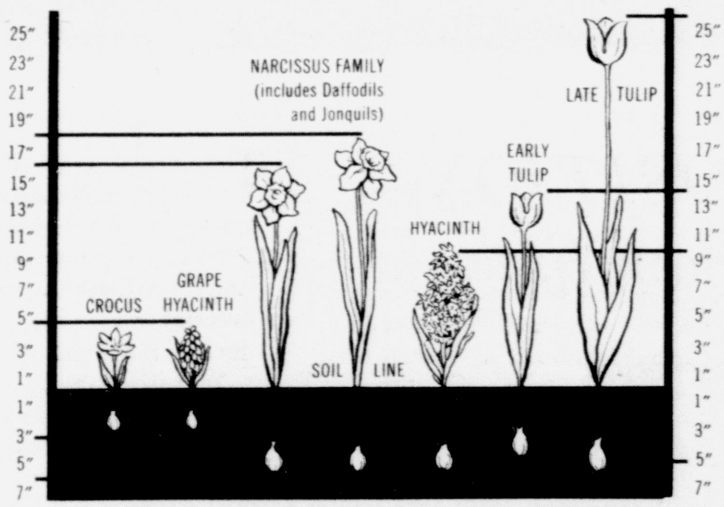
BLOOMING TIME	BULB FLOWER	AMOUNT	ESTIMATED COST
March 15-30	Crocus	50	$ 2.00
April 15-30	Hyacinth	25	6.00
April 10-25	Daffodils (Mixed)	100	8.00
May	Tulips: Darwin & Parrot	100	9.00
			$25.00

How to plant: Try to do your planting of bulbs before the earth hardens in your part of the country. Have in mind pretty much where you want the bulbs. If the ground happens to be dry as you're about to start planting, soak it well before digging. Then, follow these steps: loosen the soil with trowel six to eight inches below ground surface (see planting chart) in planting area; then smooth surface. Arrange bulbs on top of prepared soil with a separate hole for each bulb. If the ground is particularly dry when the hole is opened, drench soil down to where the bulb will sit, or it won't root. Place bulb at bottom of hole with its nose up (important!). Make sure the soil under the bulb is well loosened. Replace soil, then pat or stamp down soil firmly. When an area of bulbs has been planted, you might water over it again . . . Go in the house, relax and forget your garden till next spring!

Fine Points: The bulbs we have been discussing can be left in the ground after they've stopped flowering, unless, of course, you'd like to dig them up to arrange a different garden pattern for the following year. Cutting the flowers while they are in bloom makes for a stronger bulb the following year if the leaves are left on the plant. Nature takes care of watering these plants for you, but should you experience a particularly long, dry spell in your area, you should add water to the soil.

There's no reason why you can't walk in beauty outside your house through all of next spring. The secret is to get out there at the proper time and dig!

Plant these bulbs in the fall, then relax until April, and you will find a mass of bloom in your garden that lasts throughout spring.



Buy . . . Sell . . . or Hold?

Sometimes it is hard to make up your mind about certain securities, particular stocks.

Too many important facts just don't seem to add up.

In such confused times, almost every investor finds it more difficult to make clear-cut decisions—so a lot of them don't even try.

We think that's bad.

Because very often the right answer today means the difference between profit and loss tomorrow . . .

Because there are any number of places an investor can go for the help he needs in reaching the right answers—for him.

Here at Merrill Lynch, for instance, our Research Department gets a steady stream of facts and information from all over the country, works constantly to sort out the important ones, carefully evaluates them all in terms of the investor's interest. So maybe that's why Research can usually come up with a pretty good answer to any question concerning buy . . . sell . . . or hold.

If you'd like to know what that answer would be as regards any particular stock . . .

Or if you'd like to have a detailed analysis of your complete portfolio in the light of your over-all financial situation . . . just ask.

There's no charge of any kind, no obligation either. Simply address—

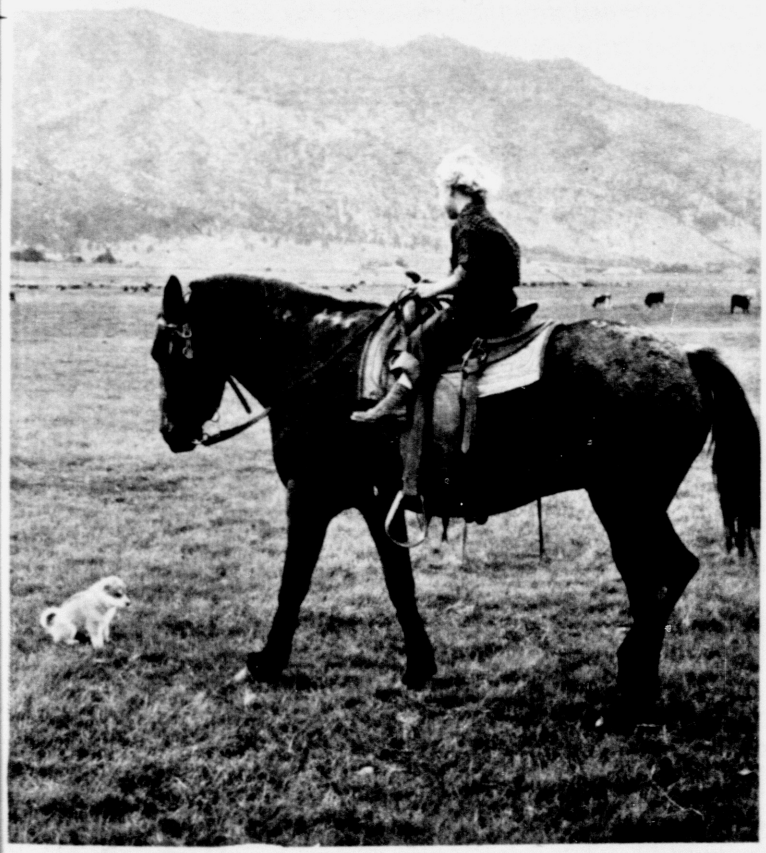
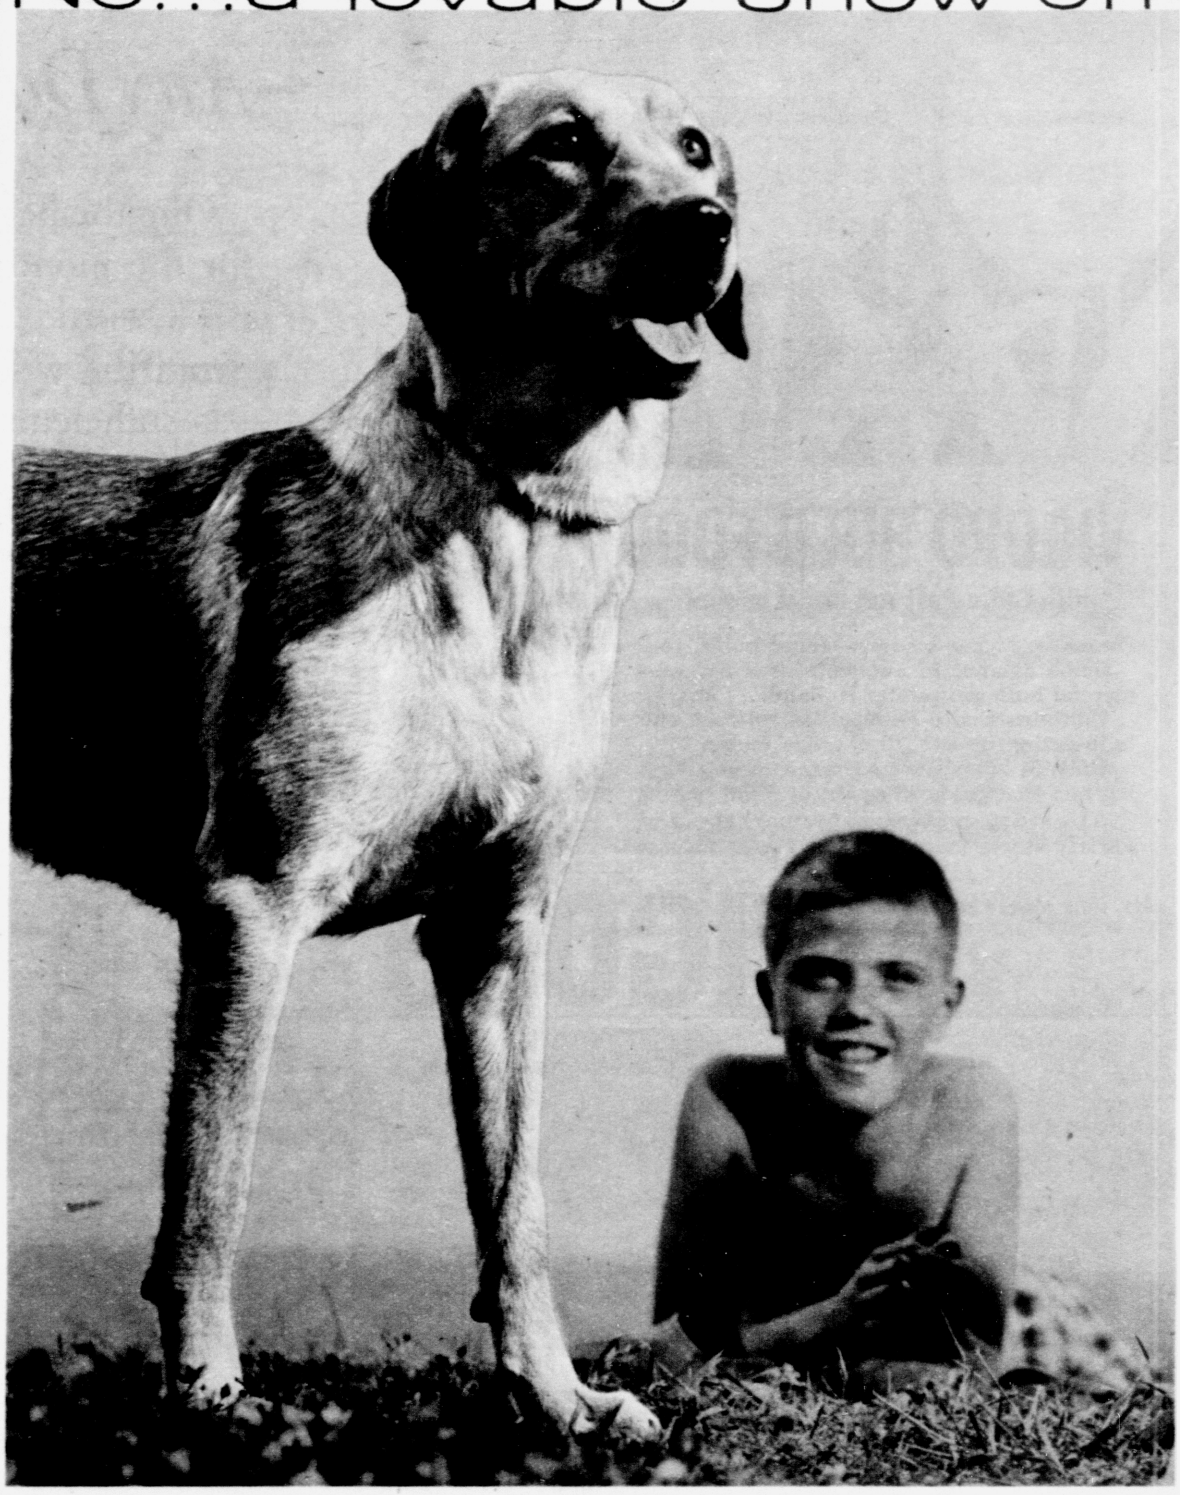
No matter how careful you are about points, there'll come a moment when you'll fall under the spell of a certain velvety muzzle and certain large, limpid eyes and you'll think a kingdom small exchange for such a noble friend.

Dogs, cats, birds, even goats—these are excellent pets, but horses, especially when they are your own, are companions and offer a wonderful sense of mutual adventure, friendship and security that no other animal can.



A SHOW DOG?

No...a lovable show-off



but he gets the food of champions

Ken-L-Biskit!

Why is Ken-L-Biskit the daily diet at America's top kennels?

Why is it the official food at more American Kennel Club dog shows than all other dog foods combined?

Economy? Yes! Cup for cup, kibble-sized Ken-L-Biskit provides more nutrition than most other dry dog foods so you can feed less because this food does more.

Goodness? That's important too. Dogs get more out of Ken-L-Biskit. Rich in meat protein. More digestible because it's baked. There's less waste.

But the real appeal is the fact that dogs eat it up. They like it. They love it! An empty feeding bowl is all the proof you need.

The best fed dogs get Ken-L-Biskit

how to buy a horse

for a sound animal—look, listen, ride—and, if necessary, ask a vet

BY ELLIN K. ROBERTS

JUST AS THERE are three major qualifications to be met by any horse you buy—he must be sound in wind, limb and sight—so there are three major steps for any prospective purchaser: look, listen and ride.

In looking, note his size—you don't want to resemble a peanut when astride nor to have it appear that you should be carrying the horse. Then, starting with his head, watch for fine modeling, small ears, large eyes with no white showing. His neck should be full but not thick and tend to an arch rather than ewe-neck. A broad chest, clearly defined withers, sloping shoulders and a back that dips only slightly (too much and he's "sway-backed") are other points to note.

For hardiness and strength, compactness is more desirable than ranginess, so the distance between the last rib and the hindquarters should be short and the rump nicely rounded. Inspect for lumps or scars on his legs, and while it takes an expert to tell age by his teeth, you can see whether they appear excessively yellow or worn.

To test his sight, toss up a stone from various angles and look for his response.

The listening has two facets. If there is any coughing or wheezing during a workout, go on to the next prospect. And if you don't feel competent to do the judging yourself, call in a reputable veterinarian and listen to him.

Now it's time to mount and ride. Here your main interest is in temperament and training, which will show up in his manners. Unlike automobiles, each horse has individual characteristics, and it's even more important in choosing a horse than in selecting a dog or cat that you pick one with good conformation and a congenial personality, for your safety and your pleasure are at stake.

Ease of motion, alertness, willingness, obedience—don't compromise on these. Try him at all his gaits, alone and with another horse. Beware of a hard mouth and any tendency to kick or rear. Make sure he lets you mount and dismount without fidgeting and that he'll back without tugging or twisting.

Finally, just ask yourself if he's fun to ride. You're after pleasure, remember, not punishment.

If you've been cautious and conscientious in buying your horse, you'll think a kingdom an unworthy exchange for your noble friend.

Suburbia —Any Day!

Our theme for the month: a word from the wife is sufficient

"I don't care what your psychiatrist says — I say you should stay in more and stop mingling with people!"

"I heard him snore now and then throughout the day but your instructions were not to disturb him."

"My goodness! Where did the day go?"

WHEN DONALD HUSTAD built his arched house, he wanted a feeling of space, and he did not want the usual flat ceilings overhead.

"I find them depressing," he observed.

So he made his roof in the form of six vaults, constructed of half-inch plywood, which gains great strength from the thrust of one arch against the next.

Within, the ceilings appear to soar, the sun pours through fifteen-foot windows and from every room you can step directly outside on to a balcony or terrace. Unlike many new homeowners, the Hustads were fortunate in being able to proceed slowly with their interior decoration. Before they had moved any furniture in, they already had rooms full of interest, thanks to views and the shifts of light and shade all day under their vaulted ceilings.

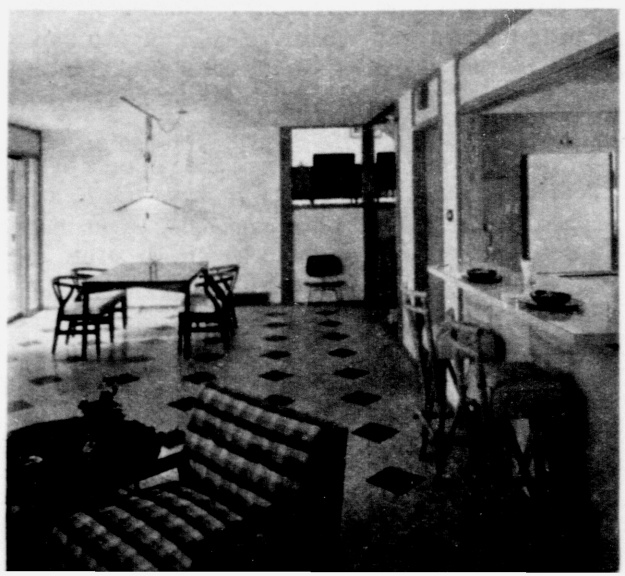
Spacious and dramatic as their house is, it falls in the moderately priced class, having cost under $35,000 to build. Further economy was unexpectedly obtained through the use of sheltering arches and the vast glass expanse, which takes in so much solar heat that even during the heavy Minnesota winters the furnace often shuts itself off for almost half the day. In summer, as the sun swings north, the orientation of the house makes maximum use of shade.

The site Mr. Hustad chose was a steep hillside shaded with magnificent trees. These have been left undisturbed as much as possible and the rustic character of the land has been preserved, emphasizing the natural beauty of the views and giving, in an area which is actually thickly settled, a sense of privacy invaluable to people who live in a house of glass.

Having to adapt to a 35-degree slope, Mr. Hustad designed his house as a split-level with bedrooms at the top, living room at the middle level and family room, dining area and kitchen at the bottom level.

When the house was still in the planning stage he felt sure his vaulted design would accomplish his aims and give a feeling of spaciousness and grace. Having tested the theory in practice, his family agrees. The arched house has already won one midwestern design competition and much admiring attention.

View of the living room, with Mr. and Mrs. Hustad on the balcony beyond. The airy, arched ceiling has, in the words of the architect, "a soothing effect."



Another view of the living room. The solid wall, contrasting with the glass area, is actually a deep closet, cantilevered beyond exterior wall, so that no space will be taken from living room.

Arched House
–Wayzata, Minnesota

Designed by the owner, architect Donald Hustad, for his own family

A view of the Hustad's house as cold weather approaches. The large glass expanses face the descending winter sun, making fullest use of all light and warmth available.

The dining area off the kitchen. These rooms, like all others in the house, open on to the out of doors.

SWISS CHEESE APPETIZER TARTS

To Prepare: 40 min. To Bake: 10-15 min.

Pastry for 2-crust pie (your favorite recipe or a prepared mix)
1½ teaspoons butter
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
½ cup (2 oz.) grated Swiss cheese
1 egg, slightly beaten
⅓ cup thick sour cream
½ teaspoon prepared mustard
⅛ teaspoon salt
Few grains cayenne pepper
1 tablespoon butter, melted

1. Twenty-four 1¾-in. muffin-pan wells (1 in. deep) will be needed.

2. Prepare the pastry; divide into two balls. On a lightly floured surface, roll each ball of pastry 1/16 to 1/8 in. thick; cut 3-in. rounds and fit carefully into the muffin-pan wells so that dough is not stretched. Press edges against rims with fork. Prick pastry.

3. Bake at 450°F about 10 min., or until pastry is golden. Remove pastry shells to a baking sheet.

4. Heat the butter in a small skillet. Add the onion and cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally. Add the onion to the grated cheese and mix thoroughly.

5. Blend together thoroughly the egg, sour cream, mustard, salt and cayenne pepper. Stir in the cheese mixture and spoon about 2 teaspoons into each tart shell. Drizzle with melted butter. Sprinkle with nutmeg.

6. Bake at 350°F 10 to 15 min. Serve piping hot.

ÇAMEMBERT SALAD WITH CREAMY DRESSING

To Prepare: 10 min.

½ cup thick sour cream
2 tablespoons chili sauce
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
Few grains white pepper
1 small head lettuce
¼ lb. Camembert cheese, cut in pieces
¾ cup (3 oz.) shredded sharp Cheddar cheese

1. Blend together for the dressing the first six ingredients. Chill until ready to use.

2. Arrange lettuce leaves on chilled salad plates. Shred remaining lettuce and toss lightly with the cheeses. Spoon onto lettuce. Serve with the dressing.

4 servings

DUTCH APPLE PIE

To Prepare: 30 min. To Bake: 45 min.

Pastry for 1-crust 9-in. pie (your favorite recipe or a prepared mix)
3 to 4 (about 1 lb.) tart cooking apples
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons flour
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup whipping cream
1¼ teaspoons vanilla extract
4 teaspoons butter
½ cup (about 2 oz.) walnuts, coarsely chopped
¾ cup (3 oz.) shredded sharp Cheddar cheese

1. Prepare pastry (do not bake) and set aside.

2. Wash, quarter, core, pare and thinly slice the apples. Turn apple slices into pastry shell.

3. Mix together the sugar, flour, salt and spices.

4. Blend together the egg, cream and extract. Add sugar mixture gradually, mixing well; pour over apples. Dot with butter. Sprinkle nuts over top.

5. Bake at 450°F 10 min. Reduce heat to 350°F and bake 35 to 40 min. longer, or until apples are tender.

6. Remove from oven and immediately sprinkle cheese over top. Serve warm with whipped cream.

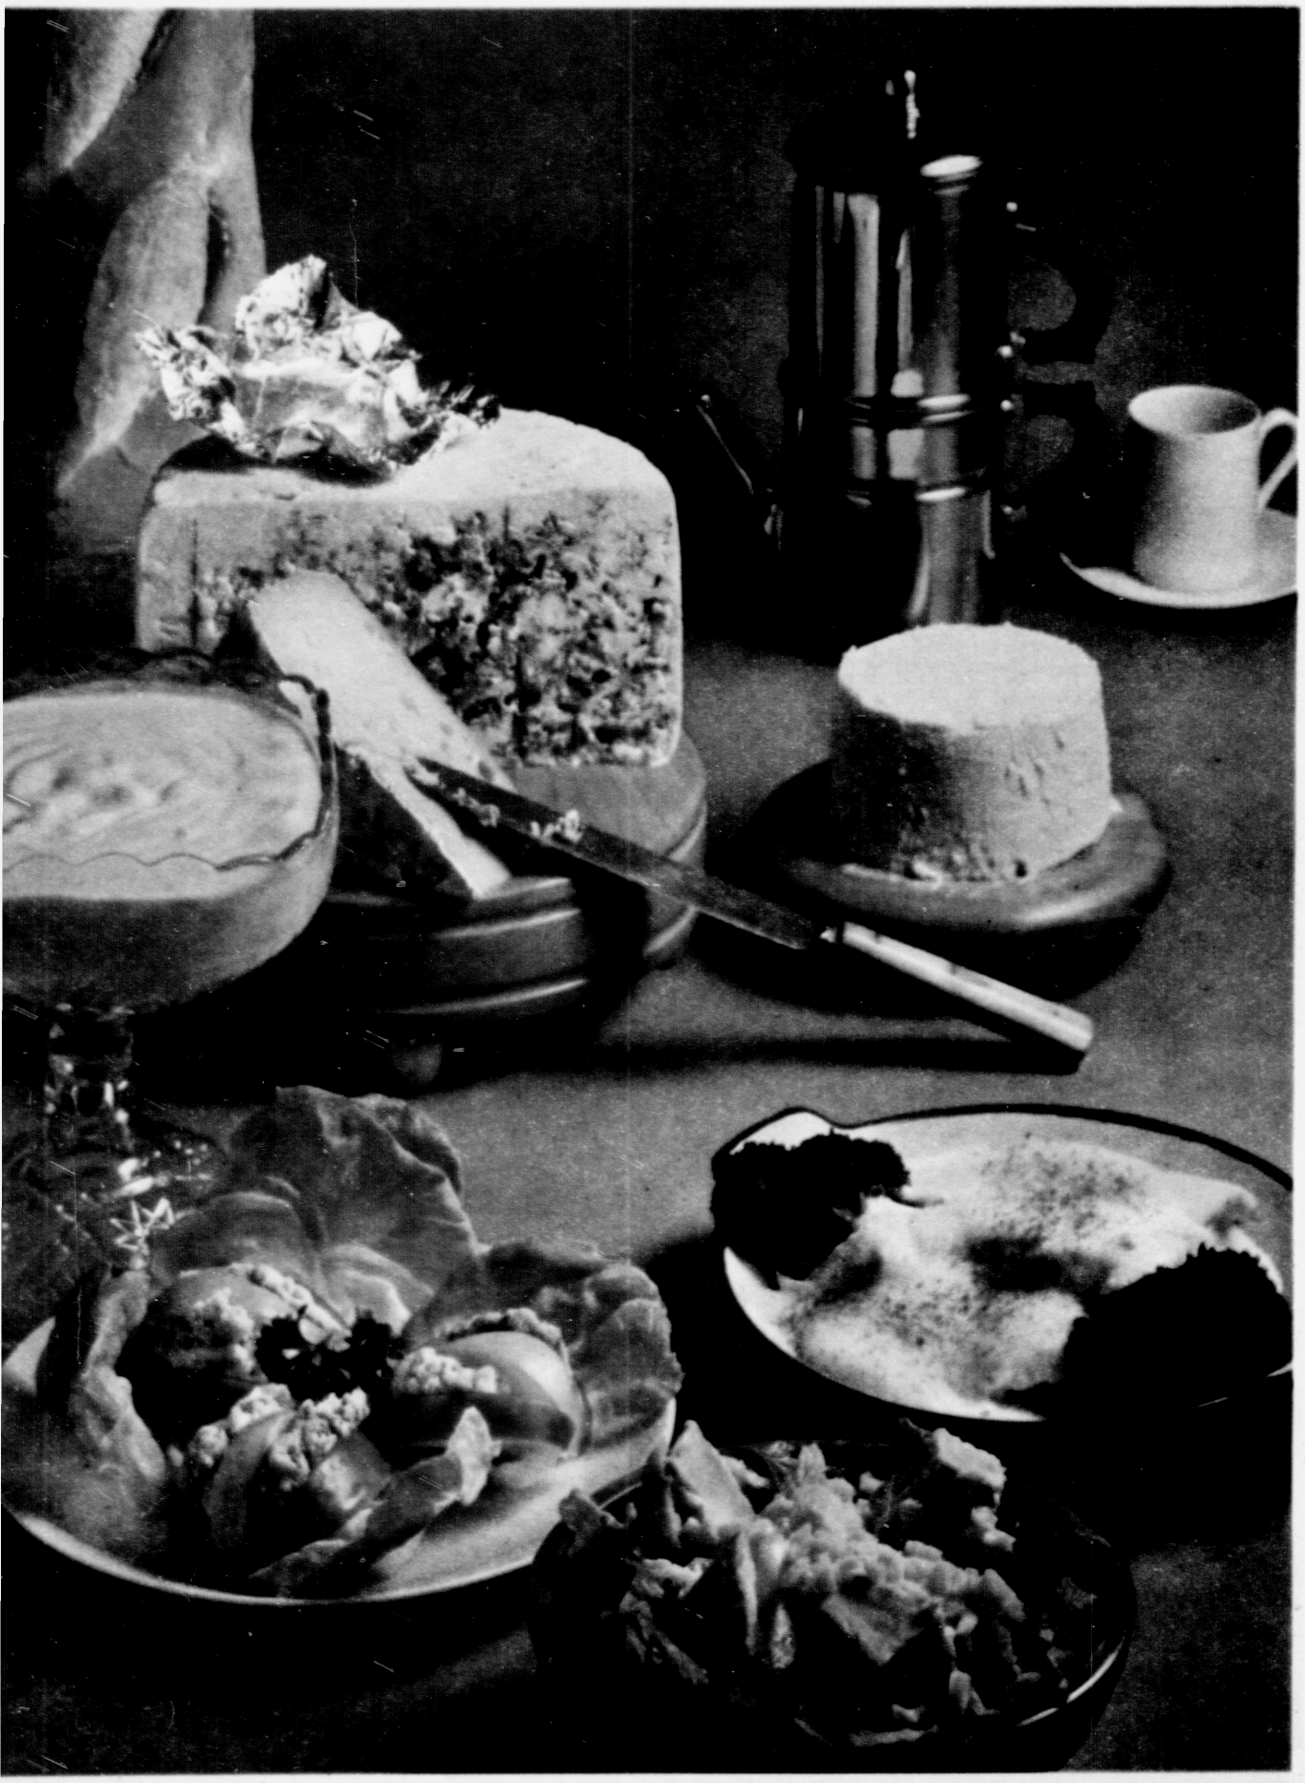
Say Cheese!

Pretty as a picture, these cheese dishes, and they all reflect the flavor appeal of their primary ingredient. How versatile cheeses are for those who have learned to exploit their distinctive flavors . . . alone or in combination with other delicacies. We hope these tempting suggestions encourage you to include cheese imaginatively . . . even daringly . . . in your own creative cookery

Clockwise from top left: French bread, assorted cheeses, tub butter, Chicken Divan, Camembert Salad, apple-pear salad and Creamy Dressing.



MULTI-CHEESE BLENDIP

To Prepare: 10 min.

2 oz. Cheddar cheese, grated
2 oz. Blue cheese, crumbled
2 oz. Port du Salut (Trappist) cheese, cut in pieces
2 oz. cream cheese, cut in pieces
¼ cup butter, cut in pieces
½ cup thick sour cream
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sherry
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
⅛ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 small clove garlic, minced

Using an electric mixer, beat all ingredients together until light and creamy. Chill thoroughly. Serve with a ray of assorted crackers.

About 2¼ cups dip

CHICKEN DIVAN

To Prepare: 25 min.

1½ lbs. broccoli or 2 10-oz. pkgs. frozen broccoli spears
3 chicken breasts, cooked, skinned, boned and sliced
¼ cup butter
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups chicken broth
½ teaspoon marjoram
¼ cup crumbled Blue cheese
½ cup whipping cream, whipped
1 cup shredded Parmesan cheese

1. Set out six shallow ramekins.

2. Cook broccoli until just tender; drain.

3. Heat butter in a saucepan. Blend in the flour and salt. Heat until mixture bubbles. Remove from heat.

4. Add the chicken broth gradually, stirring constantly. Bring rapidly to boiling and cook about 2 min., or until sauce thickens slightly. Remove from heat. Add the marjoram and Blue cheese and stir rapidly until cheese is melted. Blend in the whipped cream.

5. Divide broccoli among the six ramekins. Using one-half of the sauce, spoon some of it over each portion of broccoli. Top each serving with slices of the cooked chicken.

6. Blend ½ cup of the Parmesan cheese into remaining sauce. Spoon sauce over chicken and sprinkle with remaining Parmesan cheese and paprika.

7. Put ramekins in broiler 4 in. from source of heat for 3 min., or until tops are lightly browned. Serve hot.

6 servings

CHEESE FANS

To Prepare: 30 min. To Bake: 10-15 min.

2 cups sifted flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup lard, hydrogenated vegetable shortening, or all-purpose shortening
½ cup milk
Softened butter
1 cup (4 oz.) grated sharp Cheddar cheese

1. Lightly grease twelve 2½-in. muffin-pan wells.

2. Sift the first three ingredients together into a bowl. Cut in the lard with a pastry blender or two knives until mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Make a well in center of mixture. Add the milk and stir with a fork until dough follows fork.

3. Gently form dough into a ball and put on a lightly floured surface. Knead lightly with finger tips 10 to 15 times. Roll into 12 x 10-in. rectangle, ¼ in. thick. Spread with butter. Cut into 5 lengthwise strips.

4. Sprinkle four strips with the grated cheese. Stack the four strips; top with the remaining strip, buttered-side down. Cut into 12 equal sections. Place one section cut-side up in each muffin-pan well. Brush tops with melted butter.

5. Bake at 450°F 10 to 15 min., or until golden.

BOOKS

FIRST on the October list: two entertaining books by people in show business—THE APE IN ME is Cornelia Otis Skinner's disarming title for a round-up of personal confessions. She discusses her inability to stop copying other people's accents, gestures and expressions. And then there is her concern about her height, her horror of forgetting names, her fear of stage fright, her wool-gathering at airports when the planes are late—very chatty and entertaining. (Houghton, $3.00)

GROUCHO AND ME—Here is Groucho Marx in another wonderful act—his autobiography. The book blazes through the lean years to the big time—vaudeville, Broadway, movies, radio, TV. Groucho lovingly recalls his tailor-father; his ambitious mother who kept pushing the brothers into show business; the many odd jobs they've held; the 1929 crash followed by the depression; and the gimmicks they used in their acts (Groucho's cigar for one). (Bernard Geis, $3.95)

FLAME TREES OF THIKA—A pioneer life in Africa seen through the sharp eyes of a six-year-old child. Writer Elspeth Huxley, with her gallant mother, trekked through the dusty desert to join her improvident father who had bought land in Kikuyu country, sight unseen. They learn to love the primitive land, the unsophisticated natives and the few hardy settlers. An absorbing story of stouthearted adventures. (Morrow, $4.00)

WOLFE AT QUEBEC—Christopher Hibbert has done a brilliant job of historical reconstruction on the Battle of Quebec. The reader gets an almost eye-witness account of the campaign: the English caught unawares by French fire ships; neurotic, glory-bent General James Wolfe, with incredible luck, blocking the French; and, finally, the actual siege, which has been called one of the epics of military history. (World, $4.50)

HOW TO LIVE THROUGH JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL—A very practical, down-to-earth guide for parents with average adolescents. Written by Eric W. Johnson, principal of Germantown Friends Junior High School, in Philadelphia. The advice he gives is drawn from his own extensive experience and the findings from questionnaires sent to teachers and students. He discusses students' relationships with their families, study habits, sex education, social habits and other familiar problems, e.g., telephone, smoking, lipstick . . . (Lippincott, $3.95)

DEVIL'S ADVOCATE—In the little Italian town of Gemello Minore, miraculous incidents were connected with the deceased Giacomo Nerone, and Monsignor Meredith, representing the church was sent to find out if he deserved to be a candidate for sainthood. Upon inquiring among those who had known Giacomo, he discovers that all of them are afraid of the past and of what he might find out. The Monsignor uncovers the truth and, in doing so, he learns a lesson in love and finds a new meaning in his life. By Morris L. West. (Morrow, $3.95)

NO BUT I SAW THE MOVIE—Over two dozen hilarious sketches by Peter De Vries about himself, other husbands and wives, neighbors and lovers. Samples from the choice contents: "Jam Today" (a jazz jam session at a neighbor's home), "They Also Sit" (the baby sitters he has known), "From There to Infinity" (escapade of a would-be writer). (Signet, 35c)

FUN FOR THE FAMILY—Want to try some brain twisters? Or magic stunts? How good a detective are you? Whether it's to liven up a party, keep the young amused or pass a quiet evening at home, this book offers hundreds of games, puzzles and magic tricks. Edited and compiled by Jerome S. Meyers. (Permabooks, 35c)

RECORDS

THREE wonderful albums are being issued this month for opera-lovers. RCA, using a new deluxe form of packaging, presents Mozart's MARRIAGE OF FIGARO and Verdi's FORCE OF DESTINY. FIGARO is sung by Giorgio Tozzi, Roberta Peters and several other famous voices joining the Vienna Philharmonic to create one of the finest performances yet heard. The Verdi opera is also studded with stars, almost all from the Metropolitan—Leonard Warren, Zinka Milanov, Guiseppe Di Stefano and others. The third magnificent offering is Wagner's. DAS RHEINGOLD (London.) On this release conducted by Georg Solti, Kirsten Flagstad and George London have attained new vocal heights. Hearing is believing.

VICTOR BORGE: CONCERT FAVORITES—Probably one of the most versatile and imaginative musicians on the popular scene is humorist Borge. Here he proves his ability as conductor as well as pianist. With selections from Chopin, Tchaikovsky, Kurt Weill, Schubert and Strauss, this record is a real family charmer. (Columbia)

RACHMANINOFF'S PIANO CONCERTO NO. 1 on one side and TCHAIKOVSKY'S CONCERT FANTASIA on the other allow Peter Katin to display his remarkable virtuosity. Both of these works have the charm and brilliance of Russia's romantic period. (London)

L'ARLESIENNE SUITES NOS. 1 AND 2—A truly entertaining album. Bizet's lovely melodies, vigorous military cadences and animated dances endear him to all. (RCA). Also on this disc is CHABRIER'S ESPANA RAPSODIE.

PIAF!—In her lastest Capitol release, French torch singer Edith Piaf shows that she still has the old dynamite. Singing an all-French program with gusto, she warms the heart.

GERSHWIN IN BRASS—A revival of Gershwin has brought out some real talent. This features veteran classical-brass players like Mel Davis, Urbie Green, Harvey Phillips and Jimmy Chambers, all of them old Gershwin hands. May be a real collector's item. (Everest)

ZINO FRANCESCATTI playing MOZART'S VIOLIN CONCERTI NOS. 3 AND 4, reveals all of the fire that gained him his reputation. The lyrical perfection of these two pieces make them constant favorites. (Columbia)

AN EVENING WITH LERNER AND LOEWE—The music of "Brigadoon," "Paint Your Wagon," "Gigi" and "My Fair Lady" are beautifully recorded on two RCA discs. The voices are those of Robert Merrill, Jan Peerce, Jane Powell and Phil Harris. And the diction is so good, for a change, you can catch all of the lyrics.

MOVIES

BUT NOT FOR ME—Clark Gable is extremely funny as an aging theatrical producer, who falls in love with a girl thirty years his junior, and then is won back by his ex-wife. Gable, playing a man his own age is well supported by Carroll Baker and Lilli Palmer.

PILLOW TALK—A delightful farce about a song writer (Rock Hudson) and an interior decorator (Doris Day), who become enemies without ever meeting one another, simply by sharing a party line. When Hudson finds out that his best friend (Tony Randall) has fallen in love with Doris, he kidnaps her one night and carries her off—still in pajamas . . .

THE FBI STORY—An interesting documentary on the function of the Federal Bureau of Investigation during the past three decades. James Stewart, portraying one of its outstanding agents is involved with almost every major hoodlum and crime—"Baby Face" Nelson, John Dillinger, "Machine Gun" Kelly, the German espionage agents and the Communist spies.

THE MOUSE THAT ROARED—This technicolor British import starring Jean Seberg and Peter Sellers is a satire on international affairs. A tiny mythical kingdom in Europe, The Duchy of Grand Fenwick, declares war on America . . . and wins! Versatile strategist Sellers plays three roles: prime minister, leader of the army and grand duchess—repeat, duchess.

THE BEST OF EVERYTHING—Career girl Joan Crawford and her friends start out with the "best"—high hopes and promising jobs in a big publishing house. Their opportunities slip one by one, and each life goes from bad to worse. Here are the loves and frustrations of a group of ambitious people—and fine performances by Hope Lange, Suzy Parker, Louis Jourdan and Brian Aherne.

Joan Crawford and Brian Aherne strike up a conversation which leads to romance in THE BEST OF EVERYTHING.

New Yorkers were SHOCKED By The Recent EXPOSE of PATENT MEDICINE PRACTICES

Now You Too Can Learn How To SAVE...

STOP PAYING HIGH PRICES FOR VITAMINS

A recent public service study of Patent Medicines in one of New York's leading evening newspapers, devoted one entire installment to VITAMINS and disclosed many interesting highlights about the sale of Vitamins and Vitamin-Mineral combinations.

One of the startling revelations in this frank article was the wide variance of Vitamin prices.

The following three paragraphs taken from the series, as it appeared, are of particular concern to everyone buying Vitamins.

"Any particular vitamin bottled under one label is, for all practical and therapeutic purposes, the same as if it is bottled under another label. The fact is, most of the Vitamin concentrates consumed in America are produced by only a few companies.

"The list of ingredients in a Vitamin compound is one thing the consumer can almost always depend on to be correct. Any company which fails to label the bottle with the exact formula and amount (or unit strength) of each ingredient risks a seizure by the U.S. Government.

"Bearing that in mind, it is interesting to pick up a few Vitamin catalogs and compare the prices charged by different companies for the same Vitamin compounds."

Following publication of the installment we received hundreds of phone calls requesting copies of the Hudson Vitamin Catalog.

This interest prompted us to tell the entire nation our story.

Hudson Vitamin Products has been serving doctors and nurses for over 25 years and now you, too, can purchase your Vitamins DIRECT from Hudson at savings that are up to 50% and more. Page after page in the Free Hudson Catalog shows tremendous dollar savings on Vitamins, Vitamin-Mineral combinations and Food Supplements.

Here are two examples of Hudson Vitamin savings: a very popular multi-vitamin and mineral formula (sold nationally for $19.50 by door to door salesmen) is sold for only $5.95 through the Hudson Vitamin Catalog, under the trade name of Vitazets.

Here's another—a well known high potency B complex formula with Vitamin C and minerals nationally advertised at $5.95 per hundred . . . only $2.25 DIRECT from the Hudson Catalog.

These are only two examples that you will find in our 32 page catalog that is simple, easy to read and has been a Vitamin buying guide for millions from coast-to-coast.

Write for the Catalog and show it to your doctor if you like — but, by all means, discover for yourself why Hudson has become a DIRECT MONEY-SAVING source for Vitamins throughout the nation. All Hudson Vitamin Products are sold with a complete money back guarantee.

A BIRD WATCHER STRIKES BACK

The Crazy People With The Field Glasses Note Odd Traits In Others

BY AURELIA REIGNER

ONE SUNDAY afternoon this fall, as I was ecstatically identifying a yellow-bellied sapsucker, I heard a passing youngster ask, "Mommy, what is that lady doing?"

"Sh-h-h," came the answer. "She is a crazy bird watcher."

To an old hand like me this was no shock. I accept the classification cheerfully. But I do have an urge to point out that there are a lot of people whom bird watchers find pretty funny, too. These people fall into several general classes.

There are the people who have, themselves, unexpectedly seen a bird and, on meeting me, seize the opportunity to have it identified. "Oh," says Miss Prichett, "I saw a bird only last week. Do tell me what it was. It was little, and it was yellowish, and it was up in a tree."

"Can you tell me any more?" I ask as patiently as I can. "How little was it? Three inches? Ten inches?"

"That's right," she agrees. "Three inches or ten inches."

"Was it yellow all over," I go on, "or only underneath?"

"Well," she says uncertainly, "it was yellowish or pinkish underneath, but it flew away before I saw the topside."

Unfortunately I can't identify this little fellow, and Miss Prichett goes away with an expression that shows clearly I'm not much of a bird watcher after all.

Another group of crazy people really want to know. I know what I am in for when Mrs. Gushmore grabs my arm and burbles.

"You must come out to my place! We have every bird imaginable there. Hundreds of birds! Can you come Wednesday?"

It is sure to be a day during the short spring migration when I am dying to go to a favorite spot for seeing unusual birds, but I will have to go to her place and count two hundred starlings, three hundred English sparrows, fifty crows, with an occasional catbird, robin and song sparrow thrown in.

Then there are the people who are always seeing rare birds they can't identify. Up comes Mr. Sprocket in a dither.

"Say, I had an unusual bird in my yard this morning. Maybe you can help me with it. It was about nine inches long, all red, with a crest, and it whistled."

"Oh," I assure him brightly, "that must have been a fine cardinal."

"Cardinal, nothing!" he comes back indignantly. "I know a cardinal when I see one. I see them all the time. This bird was much redder. Its crest was taller. It whistled louder. I have hunted all through Peterson's guide and this bird isn't in it."

"Oh—sorry, I must dash for my train."

BIRD WATCHER

There are also the people who have seen a rare bird they did identify. Take, for instance, my friend who found an albatross in his back meadow in Pennsylvania, where a polar bear would be just as likely.

"H'm," I said, trying to think of something at all similar that he might have seen, "I'm surprised that a herring gull would wander that far from a river."

"Oh, this was far bigger than a gull. I thought at once that it must be an albatross, so I looked in the dictionary and there was the picture, just like my bird."

"But," I argued, "albatross are ocean birds, and not even of the North Atlantic."

"Sure," he said, "that's why I'm telling you about this—because it is so rare."

By then I realized that I wasn't going to get that bird away from him, so I said, "Oh." Every time I visit that farm we take a walk and he proudly points out,

"There is the place where I found the albatross."

What bothers me is that I am afraid he is having more fun out of birds than I am. Hang it all, I have no albatross on my bird list!

I have a stork, though. In Denmark, while I was on a bus trip to Hamlet's Castle, the bus driver pointed out a stork's nest on a roof. No storks were showing at the moment and at no other place on my trip would it be possible for me to see storks. I mentioned to the young woman sitting beside me that I would like to rent a car and come back to this town the next day. She said she knew nothing about birds but it sounded like fun and she would like to come along. So the next morning we rented a Volkswagen and drove to Hillerød, stopping for photographs and birds along the way. Once in Hillerød we could not find the correct roof. Luckily my companion knew a little Norwegian. She kept stopping pedestrians and asking,

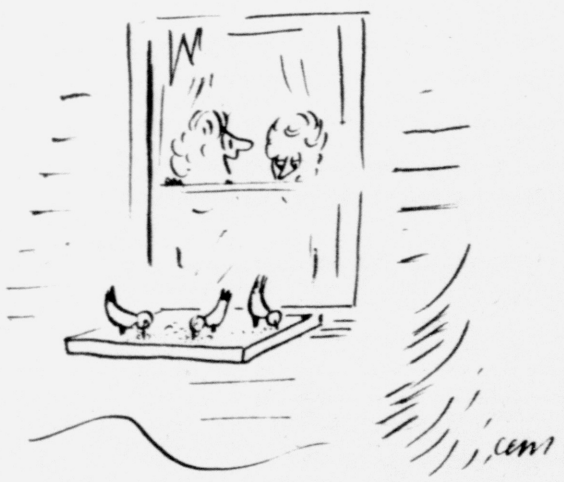
"Where is the home of the big bird?"

Some gave her vague looks and some made gesticulations that we failed to follow. Finally, at a garage, a man said, "Oh, you mean stork."

It turned out that the Danish word for stork is stork! This man jumped on a motorcycle and conducted us to a nest on a low roof. The storks were at home and we had wonderful views of them.

To get back to my list of crazy non-bird watchers, there are people who want to know what you do with the birds after you find them. Bring them back alive, or stuff them? Take pictures? Just look at them? What makes it a hobby, if you don't bring anything home?

Mountain climbers don't bring the mountain back, but no one objects to that.



"One crazy mixed-up day last week I got an owl."

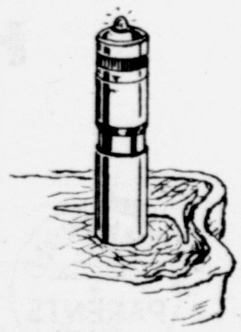
SMOKED BACON

Reminiscent of the old homestead smoke barrel, these choice strips of young pork are given careful slow curing with a unique sweet corn cob and maple wood smoking process. The result is a mellow smoky-sweet flavor, an appetizing aroma and a uniform tenderness. 2 lbs., $2.55; 5 lbs., $5.25, plus 25c postage. Harrington's, Box S.T., Richmond, Vermont.

STEAK TESTER



A small precision-built instrument, "Steak Test'r" will cook steaks exactly as you like them. Dial your preference of "rare, medium, well," stick "Test'r" into the meat, and a signal lights up when done. This automatic steak chef adjusts to 2" thick steaks, is easy to clean and is guaranteed for a year. $4.95 pp. R&F Sales, Box S8861, Prairie Village, Kansas.
